There is no reason why the crippled who are suffering from handicaps comparable to those of children in the categories named should be discriminated against.

There are 8,000 of them in Ontario under the age of eighteen, the Minister declares.

Many, of course, will be able to earn their own livelihood without the assistance of special education.

A large number, however, need training if they are to become capable of supporting themselves when they reach adult years, and at present there are no special facilities through which the necessary education can be provided.

Ontario has made vast strides in the field of social service in recent years, and the present financial situation precludes for the time being the taking on of any additional responsibilities, but the State's full duty toward those who are handicapped by physical or mental defects will not have been discharged until provision is made for the adequate training of crippled children.

It is to be imagined that Hon. W. G. Martin will not hesitate to press that view upon his colleagues in the Cabinet.

SERIOUS ENOUGH.

Failure of the Government Savings Bank of New South Wales to open its doors is a serious matter, even if arrangements are made later on to amalgamate this institution with some other and carry on.

The bank is credited with having deposits amounting to $450,000,000. It has been announced, though not officially, that provision will be made to protect these depositors, and it is well that such plans should be made as rapidly as possible.

The difficulty may be that if the bank does open again there will be a rush to withdraw funds, because confidence has been shaken. Whether plans could be made to meet such a situation without putting an embargo against wholesale withdrawals is something which will have to be considered. A bank, in a weakened condition, with so great an amount on deposit, could not stand up long against a run.

The credit and standing of a bank is a delicate matter to tamper with and is something which must be carefully guarded at all times. It becomes a more serious matter when a government bank loses its reputation to meet any kind of financial weather. It at once adversely affects the standing of the government credit, and this will certainly be reflected in the rate which the government will have to pay if it is necessary to go into the world money markets to float its loans.

Financial stringency in New South Wales had much to do with the trouble of the Government bank, and a government facing that situation can ill afford to pay a higher rate for monetary accommodation.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

CANADIAN CABINETS.

In view of the Cabinet reorganization and reduction hinted at by Mr. Bennett, having in mind, particularly, the establishment of a portfolio of Communictions combining several of the present portfolios, it may be of some interest to review the general course of Cabinet numerical strength since Confederation.

Sir John A. Macdonald started out on July 1, 1867, with a Cabinet composed of himself and 11 Ministers. The portfolios were as follows: Justice (occupied by the Premier), Militia and Defence, Finance, Public Works, Inland Revenue, Secretary of State for the Provinces, President of the Privy Council, Marine and Fisheries, Postmaster-General, Agriculture, Secretary of State for Canada, Receiver-General. The portfolio of Secretary of State for the Colonies was abolished in 1873, in which year two portfolios were added, those of the Interior and Customs, while Sir John also added a Minister without Portfolio (but with Cabinet rank) in 1869. At the close of his first ministry in 1873, his Cabinet thus consisted of himself and 13 Ministers and one Minister without portfolio—a total of 15.

The economy-loving Alexander Mackenzie, who followed Sir John, did not materially alter Cabinet strength, and during the second Macdonald ministry the portfolio of the Receiver-General was merged with Finance and Railways and Canals added. The ministry closed with a Cabinet composed of the Prime Minister, 12 Ministers and two Ministers without portfolio, still a total of 15. Sir John Abbott merged the Presidency of the Privy Council with the Premiership and closed his ministry with a Cabinet, including himself, of only 14. Sir John Thompson assumed the portfolio of Justice, reappointed a separate President of the Privy Council, reduced Customs to a Commissionership and created Trade and Commerce. In 1894, when he left power, he had a Cabinet of 15. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, on the other hand, left office with a Cabinet of 16, in addition to which he had a Solicitor-General, without membership in the Cabinet. A jump was taken during the brief ministry of Sir Charles Tupper, who had a Cabinet of not less than 18 members, together with a Solicitor-General.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier reduced this total to 14 when he took office. Customs and Inland Revenue were continued as Commissionerships and the Solicitor-General remained without the Cabinet. But during his regime, Customs and Inland Revenue were re-established as portfolios and Labor was created. He left office with a Cabinet composed of 16 in addition to a Solicitor-General not ranking as a member.

When Sir Robert Borden took office, he started with a Cabinet of which there were (including himself) 18 members. Three of these were Ministers without portfolio. During the war period he added a Minister of the Overseas Military Forces of Canada in the United Kingdom (with Cabinet rank) and took Mr. Meighen, the Solicitor-General, into the Cabinet. That gentleman, in turn, exceeded all records in his reorganization of 1921 when his Cabinet consisted of 21 members. Four of these were without portfolio. The Presidency of the Privy Council, which had been merged with the Premiership, was again separate. Mr. King reduced this to 19 when he took office in the same year and again took over the Presidency of the Privy Council. By 1928 the total had been reduced to 18. Subsequently, a separate portfolio of Fisheries was added on the eve of the general election. Mr. Bennett formed an administration of 18 members plus the Solicitor-General when he came into power.

What is worth noticing is that, although the population of the Dominion has grown very materially since Confederation (it has indeed almost doubled itself since the commencement of the century), although the functions of government have increased tremendously since Confederation, and although the development of Canada, then confined largely to the eastern Provinces and to the Pacific coast, has expanded enormously, the numerical strength of the Cabinet has not grown in proportion. Sir John Macdonald considered it necessary to have a Cabinet of himself and 11 Ministers, while occupying another portfolio himself. Mr. Bennett's Cabinet boasts 18 members—only five more—and he fills Finance in addition.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Give a man a job.

Yesterday was aviation's day to fill the newspaper columns with stories of disaster—replacing the usual automobile tragedies.

Suppose the Government promises that Mr. Poulliot will have his station built and then perhaps the House of Commons should get some business done.

Another fatal accident in which a buggy carrying no lights was involved is reported from Sarnia. This most dangerous practice could be eliminated if the regulations were strictly enforced.

Give Agnes McPhail, M.P., credit. She is not one who is wasting the time of Parliament with frequent speeches.

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

There were lines of slaves carrying provisions and ammunition to a fleet of ships that was outfitting for a new raid, and another line bearing plunder from the hold of another ship that had but recently come to anchor in the river before the city.

All this activity presented a scene of apparent confusion, which was increased by the voices of the merchants hawking their wares and the shrill bickering of prospective purchasers.

Through the motley throng the Sarian shouldered his way back toward another gate that gave entrance to the palace ground close to the far end of the long, rambling barracks. As this was the gate through which he passed most often he was accorded no more than a glance as he passed through, and once within he hastened immediately to the quarters assigned to David. Here he found both David and Ja, to whom he immediately unfolded a plan that he had been perfecting since he left the garden of The Cid.

"And now," he said, "before you have agreed to my plan, let me make it plain that I do not expect you to accompany me if you feel that the chances of success are too slight. It is my duty, as well as my desire, to save Stellara and Gura. But I cannot ask you to place your plans for escape in jeopardy."

"Your plan is a good one," replied David, "and even if it were not it is the best that has been suggested yet. And as for our deserting either you or Stellara or Gura, that, of course, is not even a question for discussion. We shall go with you and I know that I speak for Ja as well as myself."

"I knew that you would say that," said the Sarian, "and now let us start at once to put the plan to test."

"Good," said David. "You make your purchase and return to the garden and Ja and I will proceed at once to carry out our part."

The three proceeded at once toward the palace gate at the far end of the barracks, and as they were passing through, the Korsar in charge stopped them.

"Where now?" he demanded.

"We are going into the city to make purchases for a long expedition that we are about to make in search of new iron deposits in the back country, further than we have ever been before."

"And where is Fitt?" demanded the captain of the gate.

"The Cid sent for him, and while he is gone we are making the necessary preparations."

"All right,' said the man, apparently satisfied, "You may pass."

"We shall return presently with porters," said David, "for some of our personal belongings and then go out again to collect the balance of our outfit. Will you leave word that we are to be pass ed in the event that you are not here?"

"I shall be here," said the man. "But what are you going to carry back into the country?"

"We expect that we may have to travel even beyond the furthest boundaries of Korsar, where the natives know little or nothing of The Cid and his authority, and for this reason it is necessary for us to carry provisions and articles of trade that we may barter with them for what we want, since we shall not have sufficient numbers in our party to take these things by force."

"I see," said the man; "but it seems funny that The Cid does not send muskets and pistols to take what he wants rather than spoil these savages by trading with them."

"Yes," said David, "it does seem strange," and the three passed out into the street of Korsar.

Beyond the gate David and Ja turned to the right toward the market place, while Tanar crossed immediately to one of the shops on the opposite side of the street.

Here he purchased two large bags, made of well tanned hide, with which he returned immediately to the palace grounds and presently he was before the garden gate where he voiced a low whistle that was to be the signal by which the girls were to know that he arrived.

Almost immediately the gate swung open and Tanar stepped quickly within. As Gura closed the gate behind him, Tanar found himself standing face to face with Stellara. Her eyes were moist with tears, her lips were trembling with suppressed emotion as the Sarian opened his arms and pressed her to him.

The market place of the city of Korsar is a large, open square where the natives from the interior barter their agricultural produce, raw hides and the flesh of the animals they have taken in the chase, for the simple necessities which they wish to take back to their homes with them.

The farmers bring in their vegetables in large hampers made of reed bound together with grasses. These hampers are ordinarily about four feet in each dimension and are borne on a single pole by two men if lightly loaded or upon two poles and by four carriers if the load is heavy.

David and Ja approached a group of men whose hampers were empty and who were evidently preparing to depart from the market, and after questioning several of the group they found two who were returning to the same village, which lay at a considerable distance almost due north of Korsar.

By the order of The Cid, Fitt had furnished his three prisoners with ample funds in the money of Korsar that they might make necessary purchases in the prosecution of their investigation and their experiments.

The money which consisted of gold coins of various sizes and weights, was crudely stamped upon one side with what purported to be a likeness of The Cid, and upon the other with a Korsar ship. For so long a time had gold coin been the medium of exchange in Korsae and the surrounding country that it was accepted by the natives of even remote villages and tribes, so that David had little difficulty in engaging the services of eight carriers and their two hampers to carry equipment at least as far as their village, which in reality was much further than David had any intention of utilizing the services of the natives.

Having concluded his arrangements with the men, David and Ja led the way back to the palace gate, where the officers passed them through with a nod.

As they proceeded along the front of the barracks toward its opposite end their only fear was that Fitt might have returned from his interview with The Cid. If he had and if he saw and questioned them all was lost. They scarcely breathed as they approached the entrance to their quarters, which were also the quarters of Fitt. But they saw nothing of him as they passed the doorway and hastened on to the door in the garden wall. Here they halted, directing the bearers to place the baskets close to the doorway. David Innes whistled. The door swung in, and at a word from Tanar the eight carriers entered, picked up two bundles just inside the gate and deposited one of them in each of the hampers waiting beyond the wall. The lids were closed. The slaves resumed their burden, and the party turned about to retrace its steps to the palace gate through which the carriers had just entered with their empty hampers.

Once again apprehension had chilled the heart of David Innes for fear that Fitt might have returned, but they passed the barracks and reached the gate without seeing him, and here they were halted by the Korsar in charge.

It did not take you long," the guard said. "What have you in the hampers?" and he raised the cover of one of them.

"Only our personal belongings," said David. "When we return again we shall have our full equipment. Would you like to inspect it all at the same time?"

The Korsar, looking down at the skin bag lying at the bottom of the hamper, hesitated for a moment before replying. "Very well," he said, "I will do it all at the same time," and he let the cover drop back into place.

The hearts of the three men had stood still, but David Innes' voice betrayed no unwonted emotion as he addressed the captain of the gate.

"When Fitt returns," he said, "tell him that I am anxious to see him and ask him if he will wait in our quarters until we return."

Turning to the right, David led the party down the narrow street toward the market place. There he turned abruptly to the left, through a winding alleyway and double-backed to the north upon another street that paralleled that upon which the palace fronted. Here were poorer shops and less traffic and the carriers were able to make good time until presently the party passed out of the city of Korsar into the open country beyond. And then, by dint of threats and promises of additional pieces of gold, the three men urged the carriers to accelerate their speed to a swinging trot, which they maintained until they were forced to stop from exhaustion. A brief rest with food and they were off again; nor did they slacken their pace until they reached the rolling, wooded country at the foothills of the mountains, far north of Korsar.

Here, well within the shelter of the woods, the carriers set down their burdens and threw themselves upon the ground to rest, while Tanar and Dzvid swung back the covers of the hampers and untying the stout thongs that closed the mouths of the bags revealed their contents. Half smothered and almost unable to move their cramped limbs, Stellara and Gura were lifted from the baskets and revealed to the gaze of the astounded carriers.

Tanar turned upon the men. "Do you know who this woman is?" he demanded.

"No," said one of their number.

"It is Stellara, the daughter of The Cid," said the Sarian. "You have helped to steal her from the palace of her father. Do you know what that will mean if you are caught?"

The men trembled in evident terror. "We did not know she was in the basket," said one of them. "We had nothing to do without it. It is you who stole her."

"Will the Korsars believe you when we tell them of the great quantities of gold we paid you if we are captured?" asked Tanar. "No, they will not believe you and I do not have to tell you what your fate will be. But there is safety for you if you will do what I tell you to do."

"What is that?" demanded one of the natives.

"Take up your hampers and hasten on to your village and tell no one, as long as you live, what you have done, not even your mates. If you do not tell, no one will know, for we shall not tell."

"We will never tell," cried the men in chorus.

"Do not even talk about it among yourselves," cautioned David, "for even the trees have ears, and if the Korsars come to your village and question you, tell them that you saw three men and two women traveling toward the east just beyond the borders of the city of Korsar. Tell them that they were too far away for you to recognize them, but that they may have been The Cid's daughter and her companion with the three men who abducted them."

"We will do as you say," replied the men.

"Then be gone," demanded David, and the eight men hurriedly gathered up their hampers and disappeared into the forest toward the north.

When the two girls were sufficiently revived and rested to continue the journey, the party set out again, making their way to the east for a short distance and then turning north again, for it had been Tanar's plan to trow the Korsa rs off the trail by traveling north, rather than east or south. Later they would turn to the east, far north of the area which the Korsars might be expected to comb in search of them and then again, after many marches, they would change their direction once more to the south. It was a circuitous route, but it seemed the safest.

The forest changed to pine and cedar and there were windswept wastes dotted with gnarled and stunted trees. The air was cooler than they had ever known it in their native land, and when the wind blew from the north they shivered around roaring camp fires. The animals they met were scarcer and bore heavier fur, and nowhere was there sign of man.

Upon one occasion when they stopped to camp Tanar pointed at the ground before him. "Look," he cried to David. "My shadow is no longer beneath me," and then, looking up, "the sun is not above us."

"I have noticed that," replied David, "and I am trying to understand the reason for it, and perhaps I shall with the aid of the legends of the Korsars."

As they proceeded their shadows grew longer and longer and the light and heat of the sun diminished until they traveled in a semi-twilight that was always cold.

Long since they had been forced to fashion warmer garments from the pelts of the beasts they had killed. Tanar and Ja wanted to turn back toward the southeast, for their strang homing instinct drew them in that direction toward their own country, but David asked them to accompany him yet a little further for his mind had evolved a strange and wonderful theory and he wished to press on yet a little further to obtain still stronger proof of its correctness.

When they slept they rested beside roaring fires and once, when theyawoke, they were covered by a light mantle of a cold, white substance that frightened the Pellucidarians, but that David knew was snow. And the air was full of whirling particles and the wind bit those portions of their faces that were exposed, for now they wore fur caps and hoods and their hands were covered with warm mittens.

What To-day Means To You.

"TAURUS.MM

If May 6th is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 8:30 p.m. to 10:15 p.m. The danger hours are from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. and from 7:10 p.m. to 8:25 p.m.

May 6th promises, according to its planetary aspects, to be a day fraught with some unexpected danger or unsuspected trouble which may unfavorably affect your future. In the evening, conditions undergo a sudden change, and the atmosphere will favor social activities and promote concord.

A child born on this May 6th will be obedient and winsome. It will be trustful and too credulous for its own good. Experience will, in its case, prove to be a good teacher, and, as it matures, it will learn to love all and to trust only a few Its disposition will be affectionate.

Born on May 6th, you are hesitant and afraid to go ahead on your own. There is no excuse for such an attitude, as your intuition is well developed, your mind is keen, and your ability cannot be gainsaid. Notwithstanding these invaluable traits, you, when a problem arises for settlement, just cannot make up your mind. You are very strong on offering advice to others, and can save them, but you are incapable of saving yourself. Many fine opportunities will come your way—more than to the lot of the average person. You will let them slip, because of your lack of decision.

Your disposition is an equable one. Your sympathies are wide, and, in your judgment of others, you always display great toleration. You fill your mind with good thoughts so that there is no room left for bad ones. You are popular with your friends, and loved by all who comprise your family circle.

You have high ideals and sound principles, and delight rather in the simple, than in the ostentatious, life. You are religiously inclined without being dogmatic or wedded to any one form of ritual. Your horoscope denotes a useful life and one well spent. The retrospect will, however, always be tinged with the "what-might-have-been."

Stevens Seeks To Aid Trade With Britain

OTTAWA, Ont., May 6 (C.P.).—Trade relations between Canada and Great Britain were discussed here to-day between Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and representatives of the Federation of British Industries. For the past two or three weeks Sir James Lithgow, Sir Arthur Duckham, and J. M. Mackenzie, officers of the Federation, have been interviewing financial and business interests of Montreal and Toronto. They have sought closer trade relations between the two countries, and to-day they laid their plans before the Canadian Government.

Mr. Stevens had no statement to make following the conference. "The interview was strictly along trade lines," he said.

IRREGULARITY RULES TRADING ON STANDARD EXCHANGE TO-DAY

Higher-priced Golds Are Somewhat Easier While Lower Issues Firm.

HOMESTEAD UP 7.

TORONTO, Ont., May 6.—(CP)—Irregularity was the ruling note on the mining market to-day, with trading in majority of issues at a low rate. Higher-priced golds had an easier trend while lower-priced issues and specialties were firm to somewhat higher.

Noranda sold off on the opening, displaying a net loss from last night of a half at midday. An odd-lot of McIntyre turned over at $24 off 50, Mining Corp. receded 11, Teck-Hughes was off 10 and Nipissing 4.

Sylvanite firmed 3 to 88 and Moffatt-Hall and Gem Lake were up a cent apiece. Other lower-priced golds were steady. Eldorado, under light selling, lost 4 to 66.

Homestead recovered 7 of yesterday's loss to $1.40, Ajax oil was up 4 and Acme firmed a cent. Chemical Research sold off 11 to $3.49 and Commonwealth and Home Oil were down a point each.

NEW YORK LIST BECOMES FIRM AT NOON HOUR

U. S. Steel Declines 3 Points to New Low Since 1924.

BETHLEHEM LOSES 2

Mid-day Rally Fails to Hold as Selling Pressure Renewed.

NEW YORK, May 6.—(CP)—The stock market groped about helplessly seeking a trend to-day.

The midweek business statistics were devoid of positive indications, and the diversity of opinions expressed at the sessions of the International Chamber of Commerce in Washington have not helped to clear the hazy atmosphere in Wall Street. The market was extremely dull.

The list sagged for a time in the morning, then worked back towards its starting point. U.S. Steel was depressed more than 3 points to a new low since 1924, and showed little recuperative power. Bethlehem lost 2. Losses of 2 points or more were fully recovered, or nearly so, in such issues as American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Johns Manville, Case, and American Tobacco "B." Several issues about cut their morning losses in half, including North American, Consolidated Gas, and American Can. Radio was a firm spot, moving up nearly a point. General Electric held about steady.

The market rallied for a time around midday, and losses of $2 to more than $3 in such issues as American Telephone, Johns Manville, Case and Allied Chemical, were about cancelled. Further selling pressure appeared as trading wore on, and the rally failed to hold.

FINANCIAL NEWS MARKET BRIEFS

A Special Service to The Examiner.

(OVER BUTLER HEVENOR COMPANY WIRES)

MINING CORPORATION.

Advices from the north are to the effect that the vein cut on the property of the Ashley Gold Mining Corporation, a subsidiary of the Mining Corporation of Canada, was very rich over a width of four inches, showing free gold and tellurides. This is apparently the vein uncovered when excavating for the power plant site was under way. Samples taken from this vein on surface are understood to have given sensational assays, which encourages the belief that good values will be obtained over stoping width. The despatch concludes it is expected that the vein will develop into something of real importance.

HUDSON BAY MINING.

Despatches from Winnipeg carry interesting information regarding Hudson Bay. It is stated that the gold content of the ore at Flin Flon is in excess of the official estimate, being around $3.10 per ton. It is stated further that the zinc commands a premium of a half cent per pound over the current market price, because of its basic purity.

BIDGOOD.

Good progress is reported in the shaft sinking at the Bidgood, President Erenhouse states a depth of 185 feet has now been attained and sinking is continuing at a rate of about 8 feet per day. It is intended to continue this shaft (No. 2) now to 525 feet and to open up levels at 250 feet, 375 feet and 500 feet.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Winnipeg Review

Wheat market was somewhat erratic within a narrow range during the first period yesterday morning, prices being half to ¾ lower and then quickly advancing to ¾ to ⅞ higher than the close on Saturday, May being the firmest. During most of the day the market held steady at around the closing levels on Saturday. Trade volume was not large by any means, but some locals were inclined to liquidate on the apparent break in the weather while the offerings were being absorbed by local exporters and seaboard houses, with New York interests buying May. There was only a moderate export business done over the week-end and the holiday, the sales being placed at 300,000 bushels Manitobas, but further business was received during the session which was estimated from 200 to 300,000 bushels. Snow was reported falling in Manitoba yesterday but very little moisture had been received in Saskatchewan or Alberta the past 24 hours, the central portions of both provinces receiving no pressure while reports yesterday showed both provinces part cloudy to clear. The demand for cash wheat was fair with offerings light and no pressure on the part of large holders. There was nothing new in the flour situation. Liverpool closed Æ lower to ¾ higher, while Broomhall's foreign crop summary was generally favorable. Australia reported large sales of wheat to Japan while Liverpool reported a good continental demand for Argentine wheat. Reports from Kansas were received telling of wheat fields being infested with Chinch bugs with the possibility of damage because bugs are found much earlier than usual. The Winnipeg futures closed ½ to ⅝ lower for July, Æ lower for October, Æ lower for July.

Coarse Grains. — These markets were all stronger and closed higher. There had been a good business done in barley by exporters the past few days and a small business in rye. Otherwise the coarse grains were generally quiet but offerings in the pit were light throughout the day.

Liverpool cables due ¼ to ⅜ lower based on Winnipeg.

Macassa Mines, Limited Operations Are Resumed

Operations at the Macassa Mines' property, adjoining the Kirkland Lake Gold on the west, were resumed recently. The company had about $150,000 cash on hand and arranged with New York interests by means of options on treasury stock to supply sufficient additionaly funds to complete the development program outlined.

Shaft sinking has been started and will continue through to a depth of 2,500 feet. By arrangement with the Kirkland Lake Gold Mining Company, adjoining, a drive will be made from the 2,500-foot level of the latter property to meet the shaft. Underground exploration will be facilitated in this manner.

The property is regarded as a deep mining proposition and it is probable that further sinking will be carried out as soon as the program outlined above is completed. Officials expect that further financing can be secured.

Macassa is capitalized at $5,000,000, in shares of $1.00 par value, of which about 3,175,000 shares have been issued with the balance available for treasury purposes. The stock is traded in on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, Toronto.

B. T. RECORDS NEW LOW MARK

Consolidated Smelters Drops 10 Points to 90 and C.P.R. Sells Down to 31.

M-H AT NEW BOTTOM.

TORONTO, Ont., May 6.—(CP)—Toronto Stock Exchange market to-day continued its decline into new low ground with such market leaders as C.P.R. Consolidated Smelters, Brazilian Traction dropping prices not equalled in years.

Brazilian Traction made a new low at 15½ where it was down nearly a point from last night. Consolidated Smelters dropped ten points to 90, and C.P.R. sold down to 31, off nearly two points.

Massey-Harris broke through its old resistance point of $5 a share, and made a new bottom price at 4½ a share.

Nickel, and Noranda both declined, the former less than ½ point, Noranda ¾ of a point to 23½. Most of the other stocks usually traded were lower. Ford of Canada was firm at 20¼ but Bell Telephone, Steel of Canada, Page-Hersey Tubes, International Utilities "A" Walkers, lost from fractions to one point. B.A. oil was unchanged at 10¼ but the others in the group were fractionally lower.

STEVENS GETS BIG OVATION.

OTTAWA, Ont., Map 6.—(C.P.)—Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, was given an ovation from all parts of the Commons this afternoon when he rose to speak for the first time in the house since his recent illness. He continued the debate on the resolution of Alfred Speakman, U.F.A., for the establishment of a National Council of Social and Economic Research.

THE BUSINESS BAROMETER

A number of unfavorable factors made their appearance in the past week in the way of industrial earnings reports for the first quarter of the year which served to further unsettle the stock markets with their resultant depressing effect. The MacLean Building Reports added a poor statement on construction for April which failed to maintain the relatively satisfactory showing in March. However, an improvement in grain shipments which found definite reflection in car loadings, and a better volume of business in a number of cities, as indicated by their bank clearings, gave a better tone to the week's record.

Wheat Situation.—This problem is assembling an aspect which is either favorable or unfavorable according to the way one wishes to look at it. On the one hand there is much satisfaction expressed at the more rapid elimination of wheat stocks in Canada this year than last and also at the fact that climatic conditions on the prairies are likely to preclude a large crop with a burdensome carryover. This is pointed to as advantageous especially as regards prices which have already moved above 61 cents a bushel. On the other hand, however, while prices may be stimulated by the above, a small wheat crop means not only smaller revenue for farmers (unless a spectacular rise in price occurs) but greatly reduced traffic for the railways which at the present time cannot afford any further slackening in their haulage.

An encouraging feature of the export situation was the announcement that Germany's wheat import duty had been cut 58 3-8 cents a bushel. This should greatly assist exports to this center. In the week the actual exports from Canada were only about 2½ million bushels but much wheat is en route to ports as the fall of 8½ millions bushels in the visible stocks indicate. A total of 162,452,638 bushels is in store in all elevators on the continent which compares with the Canadian storage this time last year of 182,891,951 bushels.

Railway Traffic.—While earnings of the two railways for the last ten days of April will not be out till this week it is not expected that much improvement will be shown compared with previous weeks. Car loadings, however, began an upward trend in the week ended April 25th. In the eastern division 33,977 cars were loaded, an increase of 925 cars over the previous week but 4,748 cars less than last year. In the western division 16,391 cars were loaded, a large increase being registered in wheat shipments, which is up 717 cars from last week but down 1,642 cars from 1930.

Construction.—While construction for the month of March according to MacLean Bldg., Reports, increased 5 3% over February and 12.6% over March 1930, the record for last April was some $5,000,000 less than in March. Total awards in April amounted to $22 707,500 against $27,311,800 in March.

Bank Clearings.—A mixed trend in clearings was revealed in the week ended April 30th, Montreal clearings being down but Toronto, Winnipeg and other cities showing advances as compared with last year. Montreal clearings were $125,322,533 a decline of over 17% from 1930. Toronto clearings totalled $129,433,345, a gain of 3.59% over last year.

Retail Trade.—The first unfavorable weather for some time occurred during the last week in April and caused a slowing up of retail trade according to reports of Dun and Bradstreets.

ERA OF PROSPERITY IS FORECAST ALONG RAILWAY TO ARCTIC COAST

Major Burwash Claims Vast "Barren Lands" Are Not Barren.

GREAT MINING COUNTRY.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 6 (C.P.).—A future era of prospecting along a railway line built north-westward from Manitoba to the Arctic coast was visualized last night by Major E. M. Burwash, grey-haired wanderer of the so-called "Barren Lands." Attached to the Northwest Territorities and Yukon Branch of the Dominion Department of the Interior, Major Burwash spoke at the annual meeting of the Manitoba Chamber of Mines.

Starting at Flin Flon, a mining camp in north-west Manitoba at the Saskatchewan border, the line would be traced to the northern sea, Major Burwash believed, by way of Athabasca, Great Bear and Great Slave lakes. He told of mining work in these areas and forecast opening of new centres of mining enterprise at numerous places along the rail-line which would traverse the line of a continental geological fault, where the land had cracked open and fallen roughly together again.

Whalers Mined Mica.

Major Burwash told of the first mining enterprise in the northwest half-a-century ago, when whaling crews mined mica on Baffin Land. He went on to mention work at Ranken Inlet, where 100,000 tons of ore averaging nine per cent. nickel has been indicated; at Great Slave, where 4,000,000 tons of lead-zinc ore has been indicated by work in the last ten years; along Mackenzie River basin, where oil pools and coal-outcroppings are known to exist; and at Hunter Bay, on Great Bear Lake, where pitchblende, source of radium, has been located.

The "Barren Lands" are not barren, claimed Major Burwash, who said that great herds of caribou subsist on the luxuriant vegetaion in the northwest country. He looked ahead three or four decades to the time when 3,000 domesticated reindeer, being brought to the area by the Dominion Government, would have increased to 10,000,000 head. This would provide, he estimated, for the yearly slaughter of 2,000,000 animals valued commercially at $25 each for meat and hide.

SHAWINIGAN ISSUE IS DOWN 4½ POINTS

Weakness in Wall Street Unsettles While List on Montreal Exchange.

MONTREAL, Que., May 6 (C.P.).—The downward movements in prices on the Montreal stock market assumed more violent proportions today.

In the course of the first two hours liquidation, fourteen new low levels were established and losses were scored ranging all the way from fractions to 3¾ points among the leaders, while some inconspicuous issues which have been seldom traded in the year broke more sharply. One was a loss of six points in Amalgamated Electric preferred to 12, and 11½ in Famous Players voting trust to 22, this comparing with the last transaction in March.

The sharpest loss among the outstanding leaders was experienced by Shawinigan which was forced down to 39, a drop of 4½ but this was relieved to a small extent by a fractional rally.

The whole list was unsettled by the extreme weakness in Wall street where selling pressure was again in evidence on a broad scale.

Consolidated Smelters, with the annual meeting set for this afternoon, was off 6 at 94.

With the C.P.R. meeting in progress considerable selling appeared in that issue and it broke to a new low at 30½ but in the early afternoon rallied to 30½ leaving a net loss of one point up to that time.

Grain Lower To-Day Due To No Demand

CHICAGO, Ill., May 6.—(CP)—Grains averaged lower early to-day owing to absence of any aggressive buying. Upturns failed to hold, notwithstanding that no moisture of importance was reported from drought districts northwest. Opening at ¼ cent decline to ¼-3-8 advance wheat afterward underwent a general sag. Corn started ½ off to 1-8 up and subsequently held near to the initial range.

Two Women Collapse As Fire Razes Store

TORONTO, Ont., May 6 (C.P.) — Overcome by fright when her husband's novelty store on Bloor street, was gutted by fire early to-day, Mrs. Charles Uger collapsed, while Mrs. W. J. Bell, who occupies an apartment on the second storey of the building, was also overcome. Both women recovered shortly under treatment.

The fire did $10,000 damage to the stock and $500 to the building. The loss is partly covered by insurance, it was learned.

Mr. Uger was in Niagara Falls on business at the time.

IMPERIAL OIL DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED AT MEETING

Shareholders Told Company Will Pay Regular Dividend of 50 Cents Per Share.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

TORONTO, Ont., May 6 (By The Canadian Press).—A large number of shareholders attended the annual meeting of the Imperial Oil Co., Ltd., to-day at which the board of directors of the company were re-elected for the ensuing year and the report of C. O. Stillman, the president, adopted.

It was announced that the subsidiary, International Petroleum Co., at a meeting to-day had declared the regular dividend. President Stillman also reported declaration of the regular dividend of 50 cents per share for Imperial Oil Co., and when asked if the company was likely to pay the bonus of 50 cents, as last year, he replied, "Not just yet."

G. H. Smith, president of the International Petroleum Co., when asked if the company would likely maintain its present dividend rate, replied that was a hard question to answer, although if the price of crude oil got no worse than at present, it would be safe.

SILVER PROBLEM BEFORE MEETING

British Financial Expert Says Attempts to Stabilize Price Are Doomed.

CHINA'S PROBLEM.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6 (CP).—The silver problem assumed increasing importance to-day in deliberations of the International Chamber of Commerce as it faced proposals for an international conference to stabilize the price of the metal and for placing China on a gold standard.

A formal resolution, asking the chamber to sponsor an international conference, was awaiting action of the resolutions committee the measure was sponsored by the Chinese and Indian delegations.

On the other hand, the chamber was warned by Dr. W. H. Coates, British Financial expert, that attempts to stabilize the silver price were "condemned to failure." His recommendation was that China be placed on a gold instead of a silver standard.

The resolutions committee was not expected to act on the silver resolution until discussion of the question was completed in the group assigned to the subject. This group devoted most of its time to the silver question yesterday, but the debate was not concluded.

All of the speakers declared the depressed price of silver is one of the chief contributing factors to the world-wide depression, handicapping trade with silver-using countries, principally China.

The resolution proposing an international conference was introduced by Tsuyee Pei, manager of the Bank of China, with a warning that if the nations of the world do not co-operate to solve the problem China will act independently, and for her own good, rather than in the interests of other nations.

SOLLOWAY BOOKS TO BE PRODUCED

Judge Rules Paris Man is Entitled to Inspection of Records.

OUTLINES ISSUE.

TORONTO, Ont., May 6 (C.P.).—In a judgment handed down to-day at Osgoode Hall, Mr. Justice McEvoy ruled that Charles E. Walker, of Paris, Ont., is entitled to the immediate production of books and records of Solloway-Mills & Company, Toronto brokers.

The judgment was made on an appeal by the brokerage firm from an order of the Master who had made the order for production staying it, however, until the trial of I. W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills on theft charges. This part of the order appealed by Walker is set aside to grant immediate production.

Walker had instituted suit against the company for an accounting of dealings with stocks which he claimed he had purchased. His Lordship giving his reasons for setting aside that part of the order staying production declared "that it is plain that if the inspection is not done properly, the books and documents may, and most probably will, be removed by the Crown authorities outside the jurisdiction of this court, and the plaintiff may never get the inspection he is entitled to get."

The real issue, Justice McEvoy stated, is "whether or not the defendants did actually pretend to buy the stock for the plaintiff and charge him in so doing when in truth the defendants in many cases never bought the stock for the plaintiff at all."

ALWAYS
the backbone of Canadian advertising!

And particularly when selling becomes difficult---when prosperity lags --- when the wheels of industry slow down.

During periods such as these, Canadian business executives depend more than ever on the daily newspapers to sell merchandise.

Why?

Daily newspapers reach and move to action vast groups of people quickly.

No other carrier of the sales message covers a market so intimately, so *completely.

Practically every Canadian family reads a daily newspaper. It is an essential part of their daily life. Without it they would feel a distinct loss. Nothing can take its place. Because it occupies this unique position in Canadian life and thought, no form of selling can supplant the daily newspaper.

It is economical.

It is flexible.

For prompt action on sales plans—for quick customer influence at minimum cost—for real co-operation from the retail trade, the daily newspaper is to-day, as always, the outstanding advertising medium in Canada.

SAFETY COMMITTEE IS GIVEN REPORTS

Convention Details Described at Deloro By A. Kennedy and H. Smith.

MARMORA, May 6.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Reports dealing with the recent convention of the Industrial Accidents Prevention Association and given by A. Kennedy and H. Smith were an interesting feature of the regular monthly meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee held at the Hub on Monday evening.

The impressions given by both speakers concerning this, the best attended of Safety conventions made the listeners feel a sense of true pride in being linked up with so important and progressive a moment as that of Safety First. Messrs. Kennedy and Smith, with E. Hewitt, as foreman with best records in 1930, represented the Deloro plant at this convention at the Company's expense. There was a good attendance at Monday evening's meeting, presided over by R. A. Elliott. J. Rice reported the receipt of five suggestions. W. Mumby who followed, mentioned that two of these suggestions had been awarded prizes. The flag goes to the four departments alternately while the General retains the star.

C. T. Nicholson, for the Inspection committee, brought in a splendid report. W. G. Chrysler will bring in next months report. Prone method practices as given at the Metals were described by H. Rennie and W. L. Rigg, was requested to carry out practices at the Lab. during May. C. H. Buskard came next with his statement of Benevolent Relief Funds. Speaking for the Publicity committee, W. R. Reynolds mentioned that twenty one entries had been received in the Limerick No. 3 contest.

The winning verse was:

"Every last one of us knows
That the Lord has given us toes
That never were meant
To stop failing cement
Or to hack off with axes or hoes."

Mr. Reynolds announced a fourth Limerick contest to be held this month.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 6.—Prices on new cheese were ¼c to ½c lower yesterday, and trading was just fair at these levels, brokers reporting little inquiry. There has been a poor demand this week for new makes, and lower asking prices resulted in an attempt to clear receipts. Brokers were quoting 10c to 10¼c for new large, 10¼c to 10½c for twins, and 10½c to 10¾c for triplets. Prices to retailers were unchanged at 11½c for new large, 11¾c for twins, and 12c for triplets.

Butter

There was only a moderate trade on the butter market, and prices were about steady with those of Monday at 21c to 21½c for No. 1 creamery solids, and 20c to 20½c for No. 2. Brokers were asking the higher levels for high-scoring receipts, but found buyers not too willing to go the extra ½c, though some sales were made. Retailers were offered prints at 1c less, wholesalers reducing their asking prices to 24c for No. 1, and 23c for No. 2.

Eggs

Receipts of eggs were too heavy for local consumption, and with buyers not showing very much interest in storing, brokers were hard pressed to clear supplies. Graded eggs, in free cases, were offered at 16c to 17c for extras, 14c to 15c for firsts, and 13c to 13½c for seconds. Country shippers were quoted steady prices at 14c to 15c for extras, 12c to 13c for firsts, and 9c to 10c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. Retailers were offered supplies at 1c less per dozen, wholesalers quoting 21c for extras in cartons, 19c for extras loose, 17c for firsts loose, and 14½c for seconds loose.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 6. — Predictions of a general break-up of drought conditions in spring-crop territory gave wheat bears an advantage yesterday. Trade forecasts were also that the United States Government crop report due on Friday would indicate a big yield of winter wheat. Export demand for North American breadstuffs was disappointing.

Wheat closed irregular, 1⅛c lower to ⅛c higher; corn, ½c off to ¼c up; oats, at ⅛c to ¼c decline to ¼c advance; and provisions unchanged to 50c down.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 6. — Butter, egg and cheese prices were lower and potato quotations were unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

On the butter market, No. 1 pasteurized, fresh and regraded, was off one-half of a cent at 21⅛ cents a pound and to retailers solids and prints were unchanged at 24 and 25 cents a pound respectively. Receipts were 104 boxes.

Quebec, Ontario, and Prairie fresh eggs, in carlots, were a half to a cent lower. Extras and firsts declined half a cent at 18½c to 19½c and 16½c to 17½c a dozen, while seconds lost a cent at 15 cents a dozen. British Columbia fresh extras in carlots, were quoted at 19½c to 20½c, firsts at 17½c to 18½c, and seconds at 16c a dozen. Quotations of eggs, in cartons, to retailers eased a cent, fresh specials being quoted at 26 to 27 cents, fresh extras at 24c to 25c, fresh firsts at 21c to 22c, and fresh seconds at 18c to 19c a dozen. Receipts were 7,838 cases.

Ontario colored cheese lost one quarter of a cent at 9½c a pound and receipts were 392 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were quoted at 80 cents per 80-pound bag, or 90 pounds bulk, and to retailers 90 cents per 80-pound bag. New No. 1 Florida potatoes were $8.00 per barrel of 160 pounds and No. 2 stock was $6.00 per barrel.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, May 6. — Last-minute buying steadied a weakened wheat market on the grain exchange yesterday. Below Saturday's figures from the opening, prices were bolstered near the close. Final quotations were ¼c higher to ⅜c lower.

Scattered showers and snowflurries on the Prairies and poor export business injected weakness into the trade. Near the final bell reports that frost was feared in the United States winter wheat belt strengthened the quotations.

The May wheat future was quoted at 62¼c when the market ended with July at 63¼c to ⅜c and October 65c to 65⅛c. Cash wheat and coarse grain quotes failed to show anyy appreciable change. Foreign demand for No. 3 Canada Western barley was evident yesterday, and good sales were made.

WEDDINGS

MacMILLAN - RADDON

NORWOOD, May 6.—A lovely wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Raddon on Saturday at noon, under an arch of evergreens, spring flowers and wedding bells, when their younger daughter, Elizabeth Belle, was united in marriage to Malcolm Gerald, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank MacMillan, Rev. G. E. Downing performing the ceremony and Miss Vida MacNaughton, of Peterborough, playing the wedding music. During the ceremony the shades were drawn and electric lights turned on.

The bride was charming in ivory silk georgette with chantilly lace and wore her mother's long bridal veil. She carried a sheaf of Calla lilies and was given in marriage by her grandfather, Donald MacNaughton, of Peterborough. She was attended by Miss Countess Twiss, B.A., of the Norwood collegiate staff, wearing flowered chiffon over pink and carrying a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses. Donald Raddon, brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing blue silk canton crepe and Miss Mary MacMillan, aunt of the bridegroom, who wore flowered crepe de chine. The pink and white color scheme of both reception room and dining room where the wedding breakfast was served, was attractive with bowls, vases and silver basket of cut flowers and tall pink candles in silver holders.

Amid showers of confetti the happy couple left on a motor trip to Detroit and Vermillion, U. S., returning via Buffalo and Toronto. The bride travelled in an ensemble of beige and blue tricotine and wore the gift of the bridegroom, a beautiful fox fur. On their return they will reside at Norwood.

Among the gifts received were several cheques and a handsome floor lamp from the Field Milling Company.

The bridesmaid, pianist and soloist received golf bar pins while the groomsman was presented with a gold watch and chain.

Guests were present from Toronto, Peterborough and Norwood.

Roy King Of Percy Meets With Accident

HASTINGS, May 6 (Examiner Correspondence).—The many friends of Mr. Roy King, of Percy Township, will be sorry to learn he met with a very fainful accident to his foot on Saturday afternoon. Mr. King was in the act of unhitching his horses from the cultivator, and thought he had the traces all unhooked, but unfortunately one trace was still on, and when the horses started they pulled the heavy machine over his foot.

"A Wonderful Furnace"

Pease "Economy" FURNACE

Some large houses are notoriously hard to heat. Even this difficult problem is efficiently mastered by the "Economy"—with perfect satisfaction. Read this letter from Mr. W. Galt, 11 Lamb Avenue Toronto, Ontario:

"I am glad to say that we are getting wonderful results from the Pease Economy Furnace. We did not know what it was to have a comfortable and warm home previous winters. We have a large front room upstairs which we could never heat until this winter, but now we have uniform heat right through the house. Up to the present I have not burned any more coal this winter than previous winters, and furnace does not need so much attention. Dust is a thing of the past. I must say the Pease Furnace is a wonderful furnace. You may use this for advertising."

Two of the many reasons for this unusually high degree of efficiency are the double casings which insulate the warm air chamber and the exceptionally big radiator giving long fire travel. See this furnace for yourself and let us submit a tender.

PRINCESS ILEANA AGAIN BETROTHED

MANY NOTABLES PRESENT.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 5 (C.P.). — Princess Ileana, 22-year-old daughter of Queen-Mother Marie, is betrothed to Archduke Anton de Bourbon, nephew of the late Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary.

The engagement ceremony has been held in the Castle of Umrich near Frieburg, Germany. Those attending included Queen Marie, the Grand Duke Cyril, and Princess Thyra of Russia and the Prince and Princess of Hohenzollern.

Princess Ileana's name has been linked with many a member of European royalty, including Prince of Wales, King Boris of Bulgaria, and Crown Prince Humbert of Italy. These rumors were put to rest in January, 1930, when it was announced she would wed Count Alexander of Hochburg, son of the Prince of Piess. Subsequently the engagement was cancelled under unexplained circumstances.

Archduke Anton is 30 years old and an aviator of note.

TRAINING SCHOOL ON APPROVED LIST

New Regulations Are Set Down For Nurses' Training Schools.

For some years the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario has been trying to raise the standard of training schools for nurses. Up to the present year, there has been no approved schools, all being on the same basis. Since the appointment of the Hon. Dr. J. M. Robb, as Minister of Health, this matter has received the careful attention and recently, out of the eighty odd Training Schools for Nurses in the Province of Ontario, forty-three have been approved and eight conditionally approved. Nicholls Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital are gratified to find the names of their Training Schools on the approved list.

Canadian Lawyers Visiting Cleveland

BUILDING INSPECTOR CLEARED

HAMILTON, Ont., May 6—W. J. Whitelock, building inspector, was completely absolved of any suggestion of his having been "fixed" by H. G. Jones, Toronto contractor, when the Board of Control at a special session yesterday investigated the statement made by William Arthur Hall, in which such an inference was made.

HYDRO LINE STAKED TO HALL'S BRIDGE

Enjoyable Ice Cream Social is Held in the True Blue Hall.

HALL'S BRIDGE, May 6.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Wesley United Church a very successful entertainment was given at the True Blue Hall on Wednesday evening last. It took the form of an ice cream social and concert.

The Rev. T. Wesley was chairman and gave the opening address.

The following items formed the program: Musical selection by the 16th orchestra; recitation, Miss Margaret Northey; a two-act comedy, "Choosing a Wife"; selection by the orchestra; pantomine, "An Interrupted Coutrship." The singing of God Save the King brought the program to a close. Ice cream and cake was then served and a most enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

Mr. John Elliott of Lindsay spent the week end with his sister, Mrs. Shaw.

The line of the Hydro Electric Power has now been staked out the entire way to Hall's Bridge. With the exception of about two all the houses contracting have been wired.

INFIDEL HATED SINCLAIR FINDS

near them. Their idea of a good time is to carve themselves up.

Fez curses and loathes the infidel invader. My hotel man urged me not to leave the European centre alone and said that if I did, not to be surprised if people spat at me. As it happened I have spent the afternoon wandering through the tailor shops and perfume bazaars and nobody has paid the slightest attention except a young man I found trying to give away bibles right in the very pathway to the largest mosque in all Morocco. I'll tell you about this chap later. In the meantime he takes his place as a lad with more courage than brains.

Plenty of Leather.

Casually it seems that 60 per cent. of all the natives in Morocco make, sell or buy leather goods and these charms and smells, others eat and are amazingly cheap, others dope out charm snakes. There is poverty here I suppose. Probably intense poverty but after having walked through native Mexican markets from the Honduras to the American border, nothing in the way of weird smells, foods, or people can surprise me. At least 95 per cent. of the people here wear shoes. In Mexico the percentage in any native district would seldom reach 50.

The charm workers are the wise guys. These are the birds who would peddle bum oil stock or gold bricks in any other country. These are the goofs who would sell you the city hall or a sure cure for baldness if there were no police in Toronto. They feast on sick natives. Sick natives probably feel that Allah has gone back on them. He is doing them in for some dirty trick they must have played on somebody. Very well, what is written is written but but still, perhaps the medicine man can do something about it.

So they go to this high pressure hound of super salesmanship. He asks their trouble. Whether it's a pain here or an ache there, makes no difference. He says a piece of something like Eenie, Meenie, Minie, Moe, he gives them some goofa dust or star powder or salts of Venus or some such non-existent gadget, they give him money and everyone seems happy. Not medicine this. Oh no, the charm giver impresses you that he can't give medicine. It would displease Allah. But what he has given is a secret and sacred charm. It will take away all pain and sorrow, vanish care, bring happiness and contentment. Some fun, eh, kid!

It was interesting to watch this charm worker do his stuff. An actor if there ever was one, a true artist. But the crush of traffic in Fez makes it impossible for anyone to hesitate long. I have picked up at least two words in Arabic while here, "backsheesh" from the beggars and "belak" from the camel men. They scream "belak" from night till morning and from morning till night. It means "gangway—out of the road", and if you don't move its no novel experience to have a camel nip you on the ear. Lead camels are like that. People in their way get bitten.

Carriages, carts and motor cars are all barred in the market place of Fez because the streets are so narrow that they cannot pass and yet out in this milling moving mass of humanity boys manage to stand holding great skeins of silk thread or wool while the others, sitting in the shadows of their tiny shops, weave or knit some attractive garment. How the boys don't get all tangled up in their threads is just a mystery.

Mosques at Every Corner

Mosques here seem to dot every corner. Guides will look you over critically, spit once or twice and inform you that they are barred to all Jews, Christians and jackasses.

Colleges are attached to some of the mosques and on special occasions, Christians are allowed in there but I didn't attempt it. There so-called "colleges" teach nothing but the Koran and boys only are admitted. Girls, it seems, get no education whatever except in certain vague sexual matters. Sons of the wealthy, the sheiks and so on, peg away for nine years at the Koran and then start in to the more serious matters of education, woven around how to earn a living. Since several Fez sheiks have more than 20 sons each, you can see that the higher places of learning are pretty well crowded. These sheiks, rich and powerful as they may be, live in the tiniest of hovels and how they can ever crowd from three to ten wives in there with them must be another Arab rope trick or something. Naturally I haven't been in any of these houses. I didn't bring along a gas mask.

"Gitty-Up, Dad!"
"Easy with the whip there, Son!"
Here's the beginning of a happy and life-long partnership.
Well, why not? They're healthy! They feel fine. Things that bother other grown-ups don't upset Father. Things that are other children don't worry Son.

Clean inside-well outside!

DOCTORS pretty well agree that (barring germ diseases) most illness and headache are due to failure or inability to keep "clean inside."

In blaming this condition for most of our sickness, so they agree on the safe way to relieve it—keeping clean inside by the Nujol type of treatment. Nujol is not a medicine at all. It contains no drugs. It is colorless and tasteless, and children love it.

THEY LOOK IT! -and so can you ★

Two things you have to remember if you want to enjoy "Nujol health."

One. Don't expect results overnight. This is nature's own method and nature is never violent.

Two. Be sure you get Nujol. Your druggist has this pure and drugless product in a sealed package, trade-marked "Nujol" to protect you.

Here's a way to get a result you know is good for you without using drugs which you know are bad for you. Don't you think it's worth trying?

Let's take the "fiction" out of dentifrice advertising

Do you rely on your toothpaste to do the work of your dentist?

The claims made by certain dentifrices, according to highest authorities, work great harm. Millions of persons endanger teeth and gums simply because they believe in the power of a toothpaste to cure this or that disorder.

A few visits to a dentist would undoubtedly banish the trouble. Yet months of "toothpaste treatment" can accomplish nothing.

A toothpaste is not a medicine. It is a mechanical agent and should be used for only one purpose—that of cleansing teeth. Its merit lies in the thoroughness with which it performs this single duty.

Colgate's, we claim, cleans better than any other dentifrice, because it possesses a unique property (low "surface tension"). That's how it penetrates into the tiniest crevices which ordinarily block "heavy" dentifrices.

In these minute fissures, invisible to the naked eye, food particles lodge. If allowed to remain they cause decay. Colgate's floats them away in a foaming, hygienic bath; in this manner providing the full protection of complete and thorough cleansing.

LEAGUERS HOLD JOINT MEETING

Enjoyable Evening Spent as Groups From Trent River, Rush Point Visit Havelock.

CONTESTS STAGED.

HAVELOCK, May 6.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—A joint meeting of the three district Efficiency Leagues, Havelock, Rush Point and Trent River, was held in the United Church basement on Friday evening last, when about two hundred members of the three leagues were present. Rev. Mr. Archer, B.A., presided for the meeting, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The meeting opened with singing of the hymns "Hark 'tis the Shepherds Voice I Hear," and "Tell the Old Old Story," also "Jesus Loves Me." Mr. Hoard led the Devotional exercises. The three presidents, Miss Edith Roberts of Havelock, Mr. Umphrey of Trent River, and Mr. Hoard of Rush Point, each came forward with their respective programs, and the following numbers were much enjoyed.

Vocal quartette by Misses Una Archer, Barbara Fennell, Messers Everett Chiles and Henry Campney.

French recitation, Miss Mildred Redden; Quartette, Come Where the Lillies Bloom, Excelsior Quartette; Scripture reading, 72nd Psalm, Miss Roberts; Topic, Fate, Mr. Umphrey; Vocal solo, "Why is thy heart on the Willow," Luella Keating; Reading, Spirits in Canada, Miss Marion Inkster; Vocal solo, "I Love you Truly, Truly," Miss Roberts; Reading, Stick to your own task, Burnie Barton; Harmonica solo, Mr. Buchanan, "Rainbow Round my Shoulder," "Till the Work's All Done Next Fall," and "Springtime in the Rockies,"; Reading, Milton Hawley; Vocal solo, "Sonny Boy," Mr. Buchanan, Reading, Miss Beavis;

Community singing and a number of group contests brought the program to a close. A sumptuous lunch was afterwards served, and the evening was brough to a close with the Mizpah Benediction by Rev. Mr. Archer.

THE COLONEL'S MAID STAGED IN MARMORA

Play By Carry-on Club of Bannockburn Proves To Be Real Treat.

MARMORA, May 6.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Some excellent amateur acting was witnessed at the Town Hall on Tuesday, when the Carry on Club of Bannockburn presented "The Colonel's Maid," under the auspices of St. Paul's Ladies Guild. This three act comedy was put on with a naturalness throughout that brought much laughter and applause from the audience.

Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne, ably took his part of Colonel Robert Rudd, a hot headed widower of North Carolina, and Harry Gawley, as Colonel Richard Byrd, a widower of South Carolina, supplied all the hostility to the former character that his role called for. Margaret Wilson in the title part was bewitching as Marjorie Byrd, daughter of the Colonel of that name. Wesley McAdams was given a heavy part in impersonating Bob Rudd, Colonel Rudd's son but his acting was of the accomplished type. Ena and Margaret Sandford as Mrs. John J. Carroll, the widow and Julia Carroll, her daughter, put realism into their respective parts. Harold Lloyd, as Ned Graydon, the young gentleman with the faulty memory, was particularly good. Douglas Bailey, in the minor character of James Baskom, Colonel Rudd's lawyer, left nothing to be desired. Last, but not least, Mrs. J. Donley made a real hit in her splendid impersonation of Ching Ah Ling, the Chinese cook. With such an excellent cast, the play is worthy of large patronage wherever it may be taken in this district.

After its presentation, square and round dancing wound up an enjoyable evening.

All Girl Guide Camps Must Be On Mainland

The matter of a camp for the Girl Guides in this Division has been under consideration for some time. Lately steps have been taken to bring this matter to a head, and Mrs. Gordon Ratcliffe of Oshawa, who is one of the Provincial Camp Advisers, has been in consultation with the Divisional Commissioner, Mrs. Claude Rogers, the District Commissioner, Mrs. L. Potvin and Miss Connolly and Miss McCarthy, Captains of the local companies.

Mrs. Ratcliffe accompanied Mrs. Rogers on a tour of inspection of the Rotary Camp over the week-end, as that camp had been offered to the Girl Guides and was under consideration. Mrs. Ratcliffe thought the camp site a beautiful one, and for a holiday camp or a training camp admirably suited for Girl Guides, provided proper supervision of all activities were maintained to satisfy the regulation of the Provincial Camp Adviser who has the granting of all permits for Girl Guide Camps in Ontario.

Mrs. Ratcliffe was well pleased with the cleanliness of the whole camp, and particularly with the sanitary arrangements, water supply, swimming facilities, large playground space, etc.

It is a strict regulation for Girl Guide Camps that they must always be on the mainland, and never on an island. This is a regulation that went into force for the whole Dominion some years ago. A permit to run a Girl Guide camp will not be issued except for mainland location.

In the matter of swimming and boating, the Guide regulations are very strict, but as a result there never has been an accident in a Girl Guide Camp in Canada, which speaks well for the careful supervision of all activities. No Guide, unless she is a good swimmer, is allowed in boats, and then only with the supervisor's consent. While Guides swimming pickets of two as well as the instructor on hand. One of these pickets must be in a boat on the outside of the swimmers, and the other must be on shore keeping count.

Health regulations—a medical inspection of all Guides going to Camp is obtained, and a questionnaire is required of each mother. A resident nurse is in camp who supervises the health of all the campers.

Circulars regarding the camp will be issued to the Guides as soon as the final arrangements are made and the permit obtained.

AN EMBARRASSINGLY CLEAR SKIN AT 72

Fortunes in skin foods? Yes—yet nature's way of feeding the skin is via the blood, the only source of absorption into any body cell, then only if the substance has been digested. If the blood be kept normally alkaline (non-acid) by eating alkaline foods, a clear skin is assured, pink and pimpleless as a babe's. At seventy-two, my skin is clear enough to cause embarrassing comment, yet until I was past fifty I had an unusually bad skin,—pimply and putty colored. Alkaline Roman Meal, by alkalinizing my blood and keeping my bowels emptied after each meal, has worked this magic. Regardless of sex, a colorful, clear skin is a social and economic asset—also an evidence of splendid health. Eat Alkaline Roman Meal freely summer and winter, add fruit and salads plentifully, and you can luxuriate in a skin to be proud of. Write for free sample and for free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," to ROBT. G. JACKSON, M.D., 766 Vine Ave., Toronto 9, Ont.

MIAMI, May 6.—The value of active Kiwanis clubs in the 1,876 communities in the United States and Canada, and the extent of the social service rendered by these clubs, was explained here to-day at the 15th annual convention of Kiwanis International.

"Thousands of community and welfare activities have been completed during the past year," declared Raymond M. Crossman, of Omaha, president of the organization. "Kiwanis has more value than mere gathering together for mid-day recreation! The present strong position of the organization is due to the practical assistance to communities and individuals," he said.

Urban-Rural Relations.

To better relationship between the town and country groups, club delegates were urged to have their clubs sponsor stock and grain contests, exhibitions and fairs, and boys' and girls' 4-H work.

Ernest R. Gelhaus, of Webster, S.D., chairman of the international committee on agriculture, suggested that clubs in agricultural communities fill their membership classification with farmers. "Also invite all the rural people to the weekly meetings. Let them come, see, and hear, what Kiwanis is, and what it can do for both the urban and rural communities," he remarked.

Vocational Guidance.

In vocational work co-operation was asked of every Kiwanian with those young men and women who might be interested in his business or profession. Robert L. Sumwalt, of Columbia, S. C., directing the committee on vocational guidance, demanded that club members realize their responsibilities to the youth of a community. "Each club should have an active committee on vocational guidance," he told the delegates. "Acquire information in regard to the kind of work the world needs to have done, including the requirements, risks, and rewards in each vocation. See to it that young people get this information. Kiwanians should likewise encourage students to learn of their own aptitudes, abilities, and interests as they are related to the choice of a vocation. Both the educational authorities and the young people of the community should be informed that local clubs are eager to aid in vocational assistance."

increases of the present Government as having given an artificial stimulus to production, particularly in the dairy industry, with consequent lowering of prices for dairy produce.

In most of yesterday's speeches this plaint threaded the Liberal pronouncements. L. E. Parent (Lib., Terrebonne) contrasted what he felt was the Government's inaction on behalf of the farmers with the $20,000,000 that had been voted to relieve unemployment generally. Thomas McMillan (Lib. South Huron) characterized the Government's policy as "villainous." When the wheat pool was in difficulties with the banks, the Prime Minister, he said, had gone to the relief of the latter. He counselled Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, to abandon the "millionaires" asserting that the Minister could not fulfill his pledges to agriculture unless he did so.

A characteristic speech from Hon. W. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, featured the debate Mr. Motherwell twitted the Prime Minister with showing his love for Great Britain by raising the tariff against British imports. It reminded him of the fox which, when alarmed, devour its litter because of the animal's intense love for the young ones. Something would have to be done to aid the farmers, and the opposition would be willing to abandon the traditional attitude of an opposition and co-operate with the Government if measures could be approved for the amelioration of the industry.

Bertrand Has Objection

An increase in appropriations for the experimental farms and a larger subsidy for the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto did not appeal to Elie Bertrand (Lib., Prescott) as a good way to assist farming when these were contrasted with a reduction of $300,000 in the amount of indemnification of dairymen whose cattle were slaughtered under the anti-tuberculosis policy of the Agricultural Department.

During the hour devoted to private members' bills, that of J. S. Woodsworth (Lab., Winnipeg North Centre) commanded all the attention. It seeks to amend the Criminal Code with regard to public assemblies by setting forth that the character of the speeches on public affairs shall be the determining factor whether an assembly is lawful or unlawful.

Mr. Woodsworth complained that in various cities throughout the country the police were constituting themselves the sole judges in this respect, and feared that Canadians were becoming infected with "American hysteria" in connection with public gatherings.

Opposition developed from R. B. Hanson (Cons., York-Sunbury) and Col. G. R. Geary (Cons., Toronto South), who contended the provision Mr. Woodsworth sought to introduce in the bill was already part of the Criminal Code. Peter Heenan (Lib., Kenora) supported the bill; but it did not reach a vote by 9 o'clock, the hour when the period given over the private members expired.

In the Senate yesterday Senator J. P. B. Casgrain introduced a bill to provide for the compulsory registration of all persons over 16 years of age. Registration would be followed by the issue of a certificate with the person's photograph and signature thereon. A number of bills sent up from the House of Commons received first reading.

Most of the sitting was devoted to expressions of sorrow at the death of the late Senator G. G. Foster.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Many housewives dislike washing dishes while others would just as soon do this household task as any other they are called upon to do.

One of the disagreeable features of dishwashing is the way the water from the faucet splashes tiny drops of pure or soapy water beyond the sink?

• • • • • • •

The careful worker gets splattered but little but the heedless worker is not so fortunate. The difference indicates that there are ways of avoiding this unpleasant feature in the three-times-a-day process of washing dishes.

• • • • • • •

The water from the faucet should be turned on gradually until the bottom of the pan is covered with at least one inch of water. Otherwise when the gushing stream strikes the pan it will rebound in a miniature fountain.

• • • • • • •

This will not occur if the spray is immediately absorbed in the water partly filling a container. It is important to see that no water strikes a flat or concave dish, spoon, etc., for then the water will fly in a spray oftentimes for several feet.

• • • • • • •

Never force a dish mop or dishcloth into a pitcher, tumbler or any container with a comparatively small opening if the container is full of water.

• • • • • • •

This pressure sends a stream of water gushing out which may be strong enough to go through and apron onto a frock, supposedly well protected.

• • • • • • •

If a dish is held under running water from a faucet while it is being washed, always use mop or dishcloth with the flow of water, never against it.

• • • • • • •

In other words wash down, never up or across the stream of water. Never dash the water from a pitcher or tumbler into the sink. It will send a spray into the air which may sprinkle the person nearby.

OUR MAIL

Dear Anne:

I have long been a silent admirer of your good work. No doubt you wonder why I was silent.

Since I last wrote I have suffered much, but that is not what I came in to talk about. But if I can say something to help Ad Infinitum, I am pleased.

Life is a difficult question. Advice is like snow—the softer it falls, the longer it dwells upon and the deeper it sinks into the mind. Now dear, Ad Infinitum, in regard to this person who imposes on you, do not retaliate; by so doing you would stoop to her level. It may not always seem easy to do this, but remember the encouraging words of Jesus who "was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." He said, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." To walk uprightly, is to have true success; whereas all wrong living is opposed to success. God never requires of us more than we can accomplish. There is always the best, the right thing to do in every situation; and as we are faithful in following the leadings of truth up to our highest understanding, as "the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart" the way is revealed and our efforts are bountifully blessed of God.

Thank you for asking me to write

Yours sincerely,
LUCINDA.

It is nice to have you writing in again, Lucinda, and I am very sorry indeed that you have been ill, but trust that you will soon regain your health. I am sure, too, that Ad Infinitum will be pleased to read your letter.

Anne Wilcox

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

STOMACH ULCER AND CHRONIC APPENDICITIS

One of the discouraging things for patient and physician is to have a stomach ulcer up nicely under careful diet and rest, and then in a short time all the symptoms return.

And yet when you think the matter over, you can at once realize that although the ulcer healed under this care, the underlying cause of the ulcer has not been found or removed.

I know I speak very often about bad teeth and tonsils and how these, by poisoning the blood, are responsible for many conditions including stomach ulcer; but often an ulcer heals up and remains healed after infected teeth or tonsils have been removed.

However that other conditions can cause these stomach ulcers is now admitted. Dr. G. Petrescu, Leipzig, is firmly of the opinion that trouble at the junction of the large with the small intestine causing a slowing up or obstruction at this point is responsible for many cases of stomach ulcer. In cases where there has been chronic discomfort in the stomach, nausea and vomiting with more or less pain, and where the usual treatment has failed to bring relief, operation, has shown not only a stomach ulcer, but a chronically inflamed appendix which hindered the passage of material from the small into the large intestine.

He suggests therefore that in operating for the stomach ulcer that the condition of the appendix and the region just about it be examined and any adhesions or other obstruction removed.

I believe there is a point here for all of us. When there is a feeling of nausea—a "sickly" feeling—with more or less a pain in the stomach, and a feeling of discomfort in the lower right side of the abdomen, it would be well to think about this "slow ess" of movement down there, and hurry things along. Now you are not anxious for an operation but if you would send the body sideways, forwards and backwards, with knees straight, you would help to move the material along in the intestine, and thus get rid of that "sicky" feeling.

If you are too old or can't take exercise for any reason, daily doses of the ordinary paraffin oil, obtained from your druggist, should be of help.

Daring Thief Raids Warehouse in Daylight

Finger Print Caught Him

In Detroit some months ago a young man noticed some packing cases in the doorway of a clothing warehouse waiting to be expressed. On walking round the corner he saw an express delivery truck standing idle.

It was lunch hour and everyone was away. Jumping into the seat he drove back to the clothing warehouse. Calmly signing the express book he loaded the cases on the truck he had stolen and drove away—with several hundred dollars worth of clothing.

So daring was the theft that he might never have been traced but experts found a finger print on the same page as his fake signature in the express book. It proved to be that of a well known gangster. Throwing out their drag-net the police soon caught him.

His finger print was the means of sending him to jail for a long term.

Your Prints on Food—Danger!

This story is not told to warn you against stealing. You are not a thief, you do not need a warning. But you do need to be told of the dangers in finger prints—your prints.

They may bring a dangerous disease to you—in this way. When you touch some fruit, a chocolate or a biscuit, your prints leave germs on the food. In your mouth these germs multiply a million fold and quickly attack your system.

These germs come from touching things other hands have touched—money, a book, a telephone or some playing cards. All day long you run this danger. Life Extension Institute lists 27 diseases which may be spread by the hands in this way. Colds are among them.

Avoid this Danger—with Lifebuoy

While we cannot avoid coming in contact with germs we can avoid the danger of infection by washing our hands with the right soap many times a day and particularly before meals. Not a wash with just any good soap but with Lifebuoy—Lifebuoy contains a germicide. Laboratory tests prove that it will kill or make dormant even deadly germs, where other soaps fail.

Once you have used Lifebuoy, you will realise why millions of people the world over use it for this splendid protection. And Lifebuoy is a wonderful help in caring for your complexion. It is a blend of two delightful palm oils and its soft, abundant, healing lather penetrates deeply into the pores of your skin, making it glow with health.

Protection against Odours

There is no perfume in Lifebuoy, just an extra-clean scent of safety which disappears at once but tells you it purifies and protects. A bath with Lifebuoy before you start the day's work assures you against body odours for many hours.

Why not use a soap which combines so many advantages? You will find it particularly good for children, for it helps to heal cuts and scratches which otherwise might become infected. Keep it always on the basin and for the bath. Let everyone in your home enjoy it and learn to adopt the Lifebuoy habit.

15,000 PEOPLE SEE HOME CLUB LOSE TO PESTS

Skeeters' Star Mound sman Strikes Out Ten Canucks—Good in Pinches.

MILLS RELIEVES BARNES.

Allan's Team Mates Aid With Effective Hitting and Brilliant Fielding.

TORONTO, May 6.—Toronto ushered in the International League season at Maple Leaf Stadium yesterday afternoon in the presence of approximately 15 000 lovers of the diamond pastime, but, sad to relate, our own Maple Leafs failed to make it the expected Roman holiday at the expense of the Jersey City Skeeters.

The Leafs were second best.

They were forced to absorb a 5-to-0 defeat from the clever right arm of J. Allan, Jersey City pitcher, who had a brief trial with the New York Americans this spring, but was recently returned for further seasoning. The Yankees may not be convinced of his major league qualifications, but after seeing him in action against the Leafs, Toronto fans will endorse him unhesitatingly. As in previous appearances here last season, Allan maintained an aggravating mastery over the O'Neillmen, and literally "stole the show." He was aided and abetted by some effective hitting and some brilliant fielding on the part of his teammates, but all he really needed was just one run.

It was an ideal day for baseball, too. A comfortable temperature and a bright warm sun. The fans came early and at game time there were few stretches of vacant seats to be seen. The crowd was larger than that which attended the opening game last season but it was several thousand short of the record for the Fleet Street edifice.

Opposed to Allan was Frank Barnes, the rangy southpaw, who, like his pitching rival, was with the Yankees this spring for a trial. Barnes had turned in two winning performances for the Leafs since his return to the team, but he was outpitched yesterday. He worked the first seven innings and retired in favor of a pinch-hitter, Art Ruble, in the Leafs' portion of the seventh. Art Mills took up the hurling burden from then on and yielded the final three Jersey City runs. When Barnes departed the visitors were in front, 2 to 0. After blanking them for five innings and keeping four hits well scattered over that stretch, the Toronto southpaw was pelted with four ringing drives in the sixth, a triple by Gillis starting the collection which produced the pair of runs.

The occasion was the annual dinner tendered to the players by members of the executive, and during the evening several presentations were made.

Seated at the head table were: Frank Hyde, President of the O.H.A.; W. A. Hewitt, Secretary, and Percy Bond, Allan Schlagel, Moffatt Burr, P. J. Mulqueen, W. A. Fry, M. M. MONTREAL, May 6.—Herb Thormahlen weakened in the sixth inning, and the Orioles came up with six runs to defeat the Royals and spoil the afternoon for an opening day crowd of 14,000 by the score of 8—3. Roy, starting Baltimore hurler, was knocked out in the second, the Royals scoring all their runs in the first two innings. Smythe held them scoreless after that. Thormahlen ran his streak of consecutive scoreless innings to 24 before the barrage of base hits struck him yesterday.

RECORD AT ROCHESTER

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 6.—Rochester lost to the Newark Bears here yesterday afternoon, 4 to 1, in the home opening of the International League. The day was perfect for baseball, and 19,006 fans paid to see the contest. This is a Rochester record, and believed here to be a paid attendance mark for the league.

Al Harvin limited the home club to five hits, and the only tally, obtained on two hits in the second inning. Newark scored an earned run off Bell in the second. In the third, after two were out, errors by Cotelle and Holm and singles by Windle and Rosenberg brought in three unearned runs to seal the verdict in the Bear won column.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 6 (C.P.)—After being closed for the past three years the Stamford race track will operate this year, according to an announcement made here yesterday. W. M. Musgrove, president of the Belleville Driving and Athletic Association, under whose franchise the track is operated, said that dates have been arranged as follows—July 18-25 and August 15-22. Work is being started immediately to rehabilitate the track and buildings and the new manager will be N. H. McCallum, Montreal, who will assume his duties immediately. The opening of the new track is the result of the reduction in daily taxes announced this year by the provincial government.

Baer Falls Before Onslaught Of Risko

Cleveland, O., May 6. — (C.P.)—Young Max Baer, the touted Californian, had anothear reverse to show to-day in his heavyweight campaign.

The Los Angeles lad found the experience of the veteran Johnny Risko too much for him last night and lost a 10-round decision to the one-time Cleveland baker boy.

Baer knocked the Clevelander with a fusilade of strong rights in the first round, but Risko came back to win the second, hold his own in good shape through to the eighth and punch out a winning edge in the last two frames. The two judges, Larry Norette and Herb Williams agreed on the decision. Johnny Kilbane was the referee.

Yesterday's Stars.

Fred Fitzsimmons, Giants — Shut out Robins, 8-0, with three hits, allowing only one man to reach second.

Johnny Watwood, White Sox—Hit single, double, triple and sacrifice in four times up to lead in 7-3 victory over Detroit.

George Earnshaw, Athletics—Held Red Sox to six hits and fanned ten to earn 4-1 victory.

Westley Schulmerich, Braves— Hit homer and triple, driving in winning run with three bagger, to beat Phillies 5-4.

Lester Sweetland, Cubs—Gave Reds only seven hits and drove out single and double to win 8-4.

Ben Chapman, Yankees—Drove in five runs with two singles and double in 18-8 route of Senators.

YANK BATSMEN MAUL SENATORS BY 18-8 COUNT

New Yorkers Pound Four Hurlers For 19 Hits, Including 2 Homers.

EASY WIN FOR INDIANS.

National Race Tightens as Giants Make it Two Straight From Robins.

(By Gayle Talbot, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Where, Boston fans were asking to-day, has this Wesley Schulmerich been for the last three weeks? They had their first glimpse of Wes just two days ago, when he appeared in right field for the Braves and knocked in a run that helped beat the Phillies, 4 to 3. They saw him for the second time yesterday, when he hit a home run in the sixth inning, and then tripled in the ninth to drive in the score that licked the Phils again, 7 to 4.

The big outfielder, who hit .377 for Los Angeles last season, has been riding the bench ever since the Braves got home from the south. The report got out that he couldn't hit a curve ball. Evidently the Phillies forgot to serve him benders the last two afternoons.

If Schulmerich can maintain anything like the pace he set in his big league debut, the Braves can claim a pair of the year's outstanding newcomers. The other is Robert "Red" Worthington, the outfield obtained from Rochester, who has been hitting in clean-up position. He also put one out of the park yesterday, tying the score and paving the way for Schulmerich's winning punch.

Bum Arlett hit his fourth homer of the year in the third, when the Phils scored all their runs off Tom Zachary.

National Race Tightens.

The National League race tightened around the top as the Giants made it two straight from Brooklyn, 8 to 0, and the Cardinals were idle for the second time. Only a half-game separated them to-day. Freddie Fitzsimmons held the Robins to three hits.

Chicago Cubs clung to third place by downing Cincinnati again 8 to 4. They scored all their runs in the first three innings off Frey and Benton. Sweetland's lead was never in danger.

There was another rapid change of scenery in the American League as the Washington Senators took a one-sided trimming from the Yankees and dropped from second place to fifth, just like that. The champion Athletics took advantage of the excitement to move into third place.

In winning their first game from the Senators since early last September, 18 to 8, the Yanks pounded four pitchers for 999 hits, including home runs, doubles, and singles. Babe Ruth cleared the bases with a mighty double in the second inning.

George Earnshaw turned in his second brilliant performance in five days as the Athletics defeated the Red Sox, 4 to 1. He allowed only six hits, one of them a homer by Earl Webb, and struck out 10. His last previous appearance saw him shut out the Yankees. Mule Haas hit a triple and double to lead the champions' attack.

Cleveland held its two-game advantage over the field by outscoring the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 6. Burnett, Averill, and Fonseca held a 17-hit assault on three Brown pitchers, the latter hitting a homer.

Long distance hitting and Urban Faber's fine relief hurling featured the White Sox 7 to 3 victory over Detroit.

Faber allowed only one hit and no runs after relieving Frasier in the fifth inning. The Sox collected 11 hits off three Tigers, including four that village recently The Examiner triples and there doubles.

SPRING DROUGHT IS KILLING OFF THOUSANDS OF TREES ON PRAIRIES

Saskatchewan Government Plants 8 Million Trees Annually Dying of Thirst.

CITIZENS TO RESCUE.

REGINA, Sask., May 6 (SNS).—Thousands of shade and shelter trees in southern Saskatchewan failed to respond to the touch of spring this month.

They died of thirst

They had passed through the mildest winter in a quarter century. They weathered the frost but were killed by lack of moisture.

For nearly twenty years tree-planting has been a big business on the prairies. Government tree-planting cars cover the prairies each spring. A dozen nursery companies have been developed on a big scale. Government nurseries have increased their output until the annual tree planting has reached eight millions.

In cities and towns shade trees have been in demand. In Regina and other Saskatchewan cities, older streets are lined with excellent shade trees for at least six months of the year. Shelter belts are popular on prairie farms and grain growers plant long rows of ash and poplar and elm to prevent soil drifting.

Efforts in many case have been successful. Elsewhere years of effort have been fruitless. Drought kills tree growth just as it makes grain crop failures.

Watering carts have already appeared on the streets of Rigina where tree growth is carefully watched and trees carefully and regularly watered. Twenty year old trees are just as carefully watered as new lawns and many citizens augment civic efforts by watering trees daily.

GLOUCESTER STAGES THRILLING FINISH

Hammond is Big Factor in Snatching Victory From Surrey.

LONDON, May 6 (Canadian Press Cable)—Cricket followers in England got their first big thrill of the season yesterday when Gloucester snatched a last minute victory from Surrey at Kennington Oval when a drawn game appeared inevitable. This morning Gloucestershire replied to Surrey's first inning total of 258 runs with 175 for seven ickets, declared, to which Sinfield contributed 71 not out. Surrey fared badly in their second innings, putting on only 60 runs for six wickets. Parker was in deadly mood, having a bowling average of four Surrey wickets for 25 runs. Surrey, however, felt safe in declaring just after the tea interval when they were 143 runs ahead. Gloucester went all out to win and winning hit came when seven wickets had fallen. Wally Hammond, Gloucester's all-rounder, was the principal factor in their success. He slashed out with great daring, getting 58, not out.

The match at Lords between Yorkshire and the M.C.C. was drawn. Scores were: M.C.C., 112 and 65 for no wickets; Yorkshire, 227 for eight wickets, declared (Wood, 59, not out).

Record Entry For Car Race At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 6.—Seventy-one cars have been entered in the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on May 30. The official entry list closed at midnight on May 1. It is possible that even more entries—mailed from distant points before that time—will be received. It is the largest group of cars ever entered in this historic racing classic. Fifty-three was the previous high mark and this was before the war.

Four previous winners of 500-mile races are on the lists. They include: Ralph De Palma, who won in 1915; Peter De Paolo, who was victorious in 1925; Louis Meyer, who came home first in 1928, and Billy Arnold, last year's winner.

At the Theatres

AT THE REGENT

MARY PICKFORD IN "KIKI"

As the madcap heroine of "Kiki," Mary Pickford has one of the roles in which she delights. It affords her excellent scope for doing all the stunts she revels in; flying into terrible tempers, outting up mischievous pranks, turning handsprings without end and generally causing a lot of fuss.

"Kiki" is the bad little girl of the chorus in the season's hit and falls in love with the manager, Reginald Denny, a bewildered young man who also has on his hands Paulette Valle, a handsome personage who has the star role. Kiki, in an outlandish outfit that includes a very English-looking sad feather boa and an abbreviated skirt, comes to get her job back, after being discharged from the chorus, and essays to vamp the good-looking Victor, who is trying to get away from Paulette.

Kiki camps in his apartment, on the pretext of nowhere to go, and a battle royal between herself and the harassed butler ensues, with renewed complications on every meeting. After going to the length of faking a cataleptic trance, she achieves her object and Victor appears to be hers, as the last fadeout occurs.

Many of the mannerisms that have made the little star famous are noticeable in this picture, which brings into the spotlight Mary Pickford, first, last and always. But it is good entertainment and affords an excellent opportunity of seeing the most noted star of the moving picture screen, in some of the characterizations that helped to make her famous.—Jeanette.

TEAMS COLLECT NINE HITS OFF MOUND HEROES

But Nine Errors Chalked Up to Queen Mary Spells Their Defeat.

WINNERS TAKE LEAD.

Prince of Wales Honors Divided as to Work in the Outfield.

The Prince of Wales nine bowed to Queen Mary School 11 to 8 last night on the latter's grounds before a noisy, partisan crowd of followers. The teams were fairly evenly matched, each outfit collecting nine hits off opposing pitchers. The losers had nine errors to Queen Mary's seven, and the score might have ended 11-10 had a close line-drive which sent two runs in been allowed. It was called a foul, and the runners returned.

The west-enders started right off and got two runs in the first, four in the second, one in the third and another in the fourth innings. But they were blanked the final innings, mostly through the work of McIlmoyle, pitcher. The third and fourth were the only innings the Princes could score in. They crossed the plate three times in the third and five times in the fifth.

The winners played a nice game, fielding particularly good the last three innings. Their hurler, Len White, struck out a fair bunch and kept the nine hits scattered. The only time the opposition really got to him was when they scored five in the fourth.

Good and Bad

Prince of Wales missed a lot of fielding chances, but pulled off a few classy bits of ball chasing too. McIymoyle was hit pretty freely the first half of the game, but tightened up, and required little help from his teammates during the last three innings. When Queen Mary started hitting him in the fourth, his players started booting the ball around. Finally, after four runs were in, Mac struck out the last two. The next frame he tossed out two and struck out the third after allowing one hit. Again in the sixth, the same player threw out one and fanned two.

The teams:

Prince of Wales—Robertson, 3b; Kingdon, c; Menzies, 1b; Roberts, lf; Rusaw, 2b; Platt, cf; Williams, ss; McIlmoyle, p; Hope, rf.

Queen Mary—A. Clark, c; Hanley, 1b; L. White, p; G. Clarke, ss; Mortimer, lf; Harding, 3b; Kelly, cf; Wainman, rf; R. White, 2b.

Montreal Exhibition Co. Outlook Is Very Bright

The baseball season in Montreal opened on May 5th, when the Royals met Baltimore in the initial local game. With the Montreal team only half a game from first position, the local fans turned out in great numbers to welcome the players at the first game and inaugurated the season in an appropriate manner.

In conversation with a prominent official of the Montreal Exhibition Company, Financial Service learned that there is every reason for optimism for the current season, as the management have spared no expense in giving Montreal a baseball team that has been picked by the experts to finish first or second in the International division. The management has done its part, and it is now up to the fans to do theirs.

It is well realized that the weather plays a most important part in shaping the earnings of the Montreal Exhibition Company. Last year was a poor one from an attendance standpoint, as whilst an increase of approximately 15 per cent. was reported up to August, continual rains over the week-ends from August on, cut the total attendance to 207,000. Given fair weather and with the ball team bearing out the opinion of the experts, a gross attendance this year of 3,00,000 could quite easily result, which would turn last year's deficit of $3,700 into a fair-sized profit.

The Montreal Exhibition building is now fully rented and revenue from store rentals has been maintained at a satisfactory level. A new sources of income this year will be from professional lacrosse the games taking place at night under lights specially constructed for such play. This game is known as "box lacrosse" and is played with only seven men a side. Should this new venture prove successful, it is apparent that the Montreal Exhibition Company will benefit handsomely.

The capital stock is made up of 39,500 shares of Class A stock of the par value of $30 each and 25,000 shares of no par value Class "B" stock. The former is entitled to a dividend of $2 a share, but none has been paid to date. Any improvement in the gate receipts with its consequent appreciation in earnings, is bound to lend itself to fair-sized per share earnings, due to the small capitalization. The stock at current levels of around 3, appears to be a very interesting speculation.

OPERATE ON KING OF SIAM SUNDAY.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., May 6. —(C.P.)—King Prajadhipok, who has travelled from Siam to America to have a cataract removed from his left eye, will be operated on Sunday morning at Ophir Hall by Dr. John M. Wheeler of the New York Presbyterian Hospital.

Dr. Wheeler said to-day the right eye, which was slightly affected, has responded to treatment and would not require an operation.

CASUAL COMMENT

The girl softballers are going to have a pretty nice diamond over there in East City. It's just at the end of the Hunter street bridge in what is called the Bowl, and the city has done a good job of fixing it up.

* * * * * * *

Loads of sand have been dumped on it and rolled hard, and the surface is smooth and well packed, just right for fast ball. While this spot was a little too short for some of the men sluggers, it should prove ideal for the girls.

* * * * * * *

And there is a meeting of the Girls' Softball League this Saturday night. It's called for eight o'clock down at Duffus' and the usual big turnout is expected. Opening dates will be decided at this time, and the first games of the schedule will likely be announced.

* * * * * * *

A bunch of the local boxers will go from here to take part in the Lindsay fight show being staged in their Armouries on May 25th. We haven't heard yet just who the Peterborough scrappers will be.

* * * * * * *

See where Lindsay will soon have a new rink. Work on it will begin in a few weeks. It will cost $28,000, and it will be a real one. Of course, it will be used for other things besides hockey and skating. Modern and first class, it hould be a credit to the town.

* * * * * * *

We'd like a new rink, too. But what good it is to wish? The Brock, like poor relatives, will always be with us. There isn't any Frank Carewe in Peterborough to donate a chunk of money to start things off. Oh, well, maybe working conditions are better up there, or something.

* * * * * * *

Maybe it's the summer weather, or maybe it's just that we're disgusted, or maybe it's because we've been asked to; but anyway we feel very much like going and jumping in the lake. But of course, we couldn't do it as there is a lot of work to be done yet.

* * * * * * *

And some more about softball. Two teams, Dominion Woollens and The Examiner, practised at the Oval last night, while Sugar Bowl worked out on Central School grounds. They're all at it hard now.

* * * * * * *

Jack Playford, crack outfielder for the Sugar Bowl, wrenched an ankle in last night's workout. He was chasing a fly in the uneven outfield when he had the accident. That's certainly tough luck for him and for the team, as he may be out two weeks or so.

* * * * * * *

The boys are sure socking that smaller ball. There'll be a flock of homeruns and extra base drives this summer. Outfielders will have to park their bicycles right handy. And pitchers will have to throw the ball and duck their heads, that is if they don't want their hair parted and singed.

* * * * * * *

Pretty fair baseball game at Queen Mary yesterday evening. The homesters won out 11-8 over Prince of Wales, but they had to work for it. And the losers sure threatened in the last inning.

* * * * * * *

They had two on bases when McIlmoyle smashed a hard one down the first base line, which Hanley couldn't get hold of. Two runners came in, but the umpire ruled it a foul ball and they had to return.

* * * * * * *

Both Belleville and Oshawa comment on the Petes' dropping out of the C.O.B.L. The attitude is one of surprise that this town can't run a senior team. Well, we're surprised ourselves.

* * * * * * *

The Kingston sports writer says: It begins to look as though everything is not just the very smoothest in the C.O.B.L. After putting up a holler at the annual meeting of the O.B.A.A. about cities staying in senior company, Peterborough is now seriously considering dropping from the Central Ontario League.

* * * * * * *

The reason given is that most of the good players have signed with intermediate teams. The reason is perhaps as good as any, but if the senior players are now in intermediate, there has been some mighty poor handling somewhere.

* * * * * * *

Still it's some time yet till the opening of the season, and one can never tell what is liable to happen before then.

TO PROMOTE HEAVYWEIGHT BOUT

RENO TO BE SCENE OF FIGHT.

Jack Dempsey is leading figure in plans for promotion of a fight between two of the nation's leading heavyweights in Reno next July 4, just 21 years after the famous Jeffries-Johnson fight.

Jack Sharkey, Ernie Schaaf, Max Baer, Jim Maloney, and Paolino Uzcudun were among the fighters considered by the former champion for the show he will promote in association with Jim McCay and Bill Graham. Tuffy Griffiths, Vittorio Campolo, and King Levinsky also are among those mentioned as possible competitors. Baer and Ancil Holman, his manager, were in Reno to-day conferring with Dempsey.

The fight, scheduled for 25 rounds, will be held at the Reno race track, and will be the city's first ring battle since the historic ring battle of 1910.

CAPONE IS DEAD BROTHER POSING AS THE REAL GUY

Bill Biesel Declares That Al Capone Was Put on the Spot.

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.

By BILL BEISEL

Al Capone is dead!

I have seen documentary evidence in the vaults of the "Real Detective" magazine proving that the smiling good-natured "apple blossom" now reigning as king of the underworld is no more Al Capone than I am. The publisher, J. M. Lansinger, showed me the documentary proof.

For two years now there has been an artificial scar on the face of "Scarface Al," for two years a man with ears as oval as a clam shell has been taking the place of a man whose ears tapered to a narrow lobe for two years Giacomo Calabrese, illegitimate half brother of Al Capone has been posing as his famous dead half brother.

Brown eyes have suddenly turned clear, cold blue, a terse, hard, unfriendly character has suddenly become affable and smiling. And yes, believe it or not the only reliable set of fingerprints, the only set that couldn't be "fixed" shows that the real Al Capone is dead.

Slipped Out Back Door.

Why wouldn't "Al Capone" meet his pal Alfred (Jake) Lingle assassinated Tribune reporter when Jake went all the way to Philadelphia to greet the big shot at the moment he was freed? Why did he slip out the back way when he knew Lingle was waiting for him at the front door and naturally wanted a story?

Why did Capone let a couple of Philadelphia flatties pick him up like a common hood on a charge of carrying a rod? Why did Al Capone who could put the fix on any judge this side of the Supreme Court take the rap and go to jail for a year? Why wouldn't Al see his mother and sister when they came to Chicago to see him?

Why did Capone make only one request of the prison authorities: That Frankie Rio be transferred to his cell.

You've guessed it. It wasn't Al Capone. The imposter needed a year of schooling to take the part of the famous booze and brothel keeper. Frankie Rio was his tutor. He didn't want to be exposed by meeting either Lingle or his mother and sister.

And these are but a few of the clues uncovered by Bruce Pope, one of the investigators on the case who for over a year has been eating, sleeping, and thinking Capone.

"Al Capone was shot early in May, 1929," Pope began. "He was murdered at the instigation of Torrio near Atlantic City, N.J. I have talked with a man who was at his death bed."

"Terrible Johnny Torrio is still the undisputed king of the entire crime world. He is stronger than he was in 1925 when he was shot down before his home and carried terrified to the hospital. He is stronger than he ever was during his entire twenty-five amazing years under Colisimo and as millionaire gang lord in Chicago.

"Our investigators have been watching Torrio's movements for months. We have checked telegrams and telephone calls. We know where he is at this moment.

"Just as Torrio outgrew Colisimo, so Capone outgrew Torrio. This, of couse, is known to the entire world. What is not know is that Torrio finally got Capone and substituted his illigitimate half brother whom he had imported from Naples for that purpose. The year in prison was framed to take care of any changes that might be noticed.

'SUCH HATS THESE MEN WEAR AND SUCH HAPHAZARD COLORS'

Census Takers Survey 'Stronger' Sex and Find Them—Well Weak.

LACK OF INTEREST.

Beau Brummel, you know, carved himself a niche in history as being the best-dressed man in Europe in the nineteenth century. Others vied for Beau's famed place, but to-day in Peterborough he would have only the slightest competition. Men here don't dress well.

Undiscovered or ignored till now, the fact that Peterborough men are not well dressed is brought to light by The Examiner's fashion census.

Lack of interest in their appearance was the most startling disclosure made during an hour's check-up made Tuesday, on men's wearing apparel.

Such hats even on otherwise well-dressed men! Such an overwhelming absence of gloves, either worn or carried! Such an utter disregard in matching of ties and socks with suits and shirts! Such sad-looking shoes!

Smartly attired, many men topped off the ensemble with old, soiled hats. Perhaps it was the sunshine that showed them up so terribly. But there they were, hundreds of them, with dilapidated and distinctly soiled looking chapeaux. Some still clung to their winter "christies."

Nary a straw was noticed—though feminine Peterborough donned straws a month or more ago.

These sorry-looking head-coverings are spoiling many a man's personality, according to fashion census taker on the job yesterday. "Why doesn't he take a look in his mirror before he goes out, so he'd see what everyone else sees?" he demanded.

The Prince of Wales may show a preference for light-colored shirts, but Peterborough men still stick to the more conservative white, the census disclosed.

As for canes, they appeared in the picture so seldom as to be counted negligible. They are not being worn here—or does one say, "carried."

"STRANGLER" LEWIS WANTS RETURN GO

Former Champion Denies That He Bit Deglane in Montreal Match.

MONTREAL, Que., May 6.—(CP)—Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, who lost his world heavyweight wrestling title to Henri Deglane here Monday night, has issued a challenge for a return match, offering his entire share of the proceeds to charity and posting a $500 cash bond with the Montreal Athletic Commission as evidence of his good faith. Lewis was disqualified for biting Deglane's wrist in Monday's match. In a statement to the commission yesterday Lewis declared that he did not bite Deglane and demanded that he be given a chance to meet the new champion again as quickly as a match can be arranged. Billy Sandow, manager for Lewis, asked that the police department examine the tooth marks on Deglane's wrist and compare them with the former champion's teeth. The commission took the challenge and protest under advisement.

GRAF WILL FLY TO NORTH POLE TO MEET WILKINS' SUB IN JULY

Flight Will Clarify Question as to Best Method of Landing Polar Expeditions.

BACKED BY HEARST.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 6 (C.P.). — Dr. Hugo Eckener, master of the Graf Zeppelin, announced to-day that he will start for the North Pole in his big ship about the middle of July to meet Sir Hubert Wilkins who is going up there in a submarine.

This attempt to make a contact with Sir Hubert at or near the Pole, he said, should clarify the question as to whether the airship is the most appropriate means for landing polar expeditions near their destination, picking them up later and providing them with supplies during their stay in the Arctic.

The Zeppelin expedition is to be financed by William Randolph Hearst whose newspapers also are backing the Wilkins voyage.

Carry 45 Passengers.

The Graf will carry 45 persons on the Arctic flight, including Professor Samolovitch, who was aboard the Krassin when it reached the Nobile expedition, and Lady Drummond Hay.

It will take along complete polar equipment, including sledges, boats and Arctic clothing. The time of the start will depend on the progress of the Wilkins expedition.

Because of her greater speed, the Graf will not leave Franz Joseph Land until Sir Hubert's submarine Nautilus is within two days of the Pole. The rendezvous with Sir Hubert will be part of the Zeppelin Arctic expedition which has been in preparation for some time.

MEXICO CITY, May 6 (A.P.)—Frank X. Shields of New York, yesterday defeated Manuel Alosta in straight sets 6-3, 6-0, 6-3, in a singles match of the Davis Cup series between the United States and Mexico.

The match had no bearing on the final result of the series. The United States squad won the first three of the five matches, eliminating Mexico from the North American zone and advancing the United States to the zone final.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

(By Thornton W. Burgess.)

A STRANGE COUNTRY.

The thing that seemeth strange toyou
To others isn't even new.
—Old Mother Nature.

Farmer Brown's Boy and Flip the Terrier had had a wonderful experience. After a bit Flip had become used to the noise of the engines of the great man-bird, as the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest called the aeroplane which, with Cousin Tom at the controls, had carried them away toward the Purple Hills and finally quite over them. He was no longer enjoying this new experience.

Over hills and rivers, broad meadows and great forests, little towns and big cities they flew. Sometimes they were in the clouds and sometimes above the clouds, so that it was as if there was no

Great World. Some imes they were so high that rivers looked like silver threads and boats on them like toys, and sometimes they were so low that it seemed to Farmer Brown's Boy that they were almost brushing the tree-tops. They were not, for Cousin Tom was too careful to take any such chance as that.

Late hat first afternoon they came down outside a big city and spent the night there. They were away early the next morning and outflew a storm. The country began to look strange to Farmer Brown's Boy. There were no hills. He missed them. He hadn't supposed that there could be so much fla country anywhere. Looking down, it seemed to him as if the loved Green Meadows of home had been stretched out in every direction as far as he could see, and from up there he could see a very great distance. Cousin Tom told him that the land wasn't quite as flat as it looked from above. That night when jolly, round, red Mr. Sun went to bed he didn't disappear behind any Purple Hills. Instead he seemed to just slip out of sight over the edge of the Great World.

"Where are we going to stop first, Cousin Tom?" asked Farmer Brown's Boy.

"We are going down in the Southwest, on the edge of the desert country," replied Cousin Tom. "I have some business that will keep me there for some little time and you and Flip will have a chance to get acquainted with the country and the furred and feathered and other people who live there. you won't find Peter Rabbit there, but you wil l find some of his long-legged cousins."

"We will find Reddy Fox there?" asked Farmer Brown's Boy.

Cousin Tom shook his head. "No," said he. "No, you won't find Reddy there, but if you use your eyes and your wits you may see a small cousin of his. You'll see a lot of relatives of the little people you left back on the Green Meadows and in the Green Forest at home, and you will see a lot of little people wholly strange to you. I wonder what Flip will do when he meets some of them. He will have plenty of excitment, will Flip, before we leave to go on our way. And he is going to be a thirsty dog pretty often. If I know anything about it, Smiling Pool there."

So it was that at last Farmer Brown's Boy found himself in country so strange that there was not a single thing familiar to him. Flip kept close to his master's heels, for Flip felt out of place. He didn't know just what to make of things. The big machine in which they had flown so far was housed in a hangar and with Cousin Tom they went to stay at a ranch some distance from the nearest town and very near to the desert.

That night Farmer Brown's Boy heard a sound that reminded him of home. It was the voice of one of Old Man Coyote's relatives, a voice that sounded like many voices. He knew it instantly, because he had often heard Old Man Coyote, who had escaped from a cage in a park and made his home in the Old Pasture beyond the Green Meadows.

Pretty soon he heard another and then another. "his must be Old Man Coyote's country," said he to Flip. "I wonder if we will see some of his relatives while we are here."

FIRST PETERBOROUGH TROOP.

Flag-break and the usual opening ceremony brought the weekly meeting of the First Peterborough (St. John's) Troop to order last Friday. There was a good turnout of members who made a very neat showing during the inspection of the patrols.

After patrol inspection the boys retired to their patrol corners for a period of instruction work under their patrol leaders.

The troop has another project in hand now, namely, an "open night," at which time the boys will be "at home" to the many friends of scouting throughout the parish and city. It is planned at this time to have each patrol put on a short demonstration or skit which will not only be instructive but also amusing. The date is to be May 29th.

The recreational period this week was in charge of the coutmaster.

The campfire period proved to be quite enjoyable. Besides the usual run of songs the boys took delight in telling some very humorous jokes. Another interesting item was a continuous story to which each member had the chance to add one sentence.

The meeting was closed in the usual manner by the assistant scoutmaster.

Ten More Japanese Go On Hunger Strike

TOKYO, May 6.—(A.P.)—Ten more employes of the Japan Dyeing and Weaving Company went on a hunger strike when a worked was discharged, were taken to a hospital to-day because of their weakened condition, leaving 140 still locked in a warehouse refusing food.

Leaders of the remaining strikers have decided to serve bean soup, but declare no other food will be taken. A chimney sitter who ascended the 130-foot smokestack of the dye works several days ago and said he would stay there until the strike is settled, was still up. He gets his food and water on a rope.

A Medical Opinion

"The ideal corrective for 'sour stomach' is calcium carbonate—a potential anti-acid, incapable of disturbing the normal action of the bowels and bladder, impossible of overdosage and perfectly safe to use."

—Your own doctor will confirm this quotation from noted medical authority.

A Powerful Anti-acid—yet Safe

Old-fashioned folks, not abreast with medical science, still take burning soda. Occasional doses may do no harm.

But Calcium Carbonate, in proper form, is the modern anti-acid; 2½ times as effective as soda, and is safe in its action and positive in its relief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the ideal form of Calcium Carbonate combined with other valuable healing ingredients. Medical authorities commend Stuart's formula as the only kind for use with children and best for men and women.

Make This Test!

Purchase a package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from your druggist, use after meals and be convinced that it is not necessary to suffer the distresses of indigestion.

435-437 GEORGE ST. - PETERBORO

THE SON OF TARZAN No 57 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

At the village gates through which the blacks poured in panic, Korak left them to the tender mercies of his allies and turned eagerly to find Meriem. In scores of filthy huts he searched, becoming more disheartened as he found each empty. At last to his mind came the despairing conviction—Merrem had been killed. A wave of rage surged through him against those he believed were responsible for her end. Revenge, at least, was his!

In the distance he could hear the snarling of the baboons mixed with the screams of their victims, and toward them he made his way. Swift, relentless, terrible, he hurled himself upon the savage warriors of Kovudoo. Like a lion he was here, there, everywhere, striking mighty blows from hard fists, with the precision of the trained fighter. Again and again he was upon a warrior and gone to another before an effective blow could be dealt him.

Finally it was the simple superstitious minds of his foemen that decided the combat. This white warrior, who consorted with fierce baboons, who growled and snarled and snapped like a beast was not human! He was a forest demon, a god of evil whom they had offended, and who had come out of his deep lair in the jungle to punish them. It was useless to offer further resistance. Those who could fled, until not one remained alive enough to fight.

Korak, panting, paused for want of victims. The baboons too had tired with battle. And thus it befell that Korak drove from their homes the only people who might have aided him in his search for Meriem. Sick at heart he realized now to the full what she had meant to him. Brooding and despondent he took leave of the baboons, taking his solitary way into the deepest jungle. And all the while Meriem was a scarce hundred miles away.

WHEAT PARLEY IS DRAWING CARD

All Exporting Nations in World to be Represented at London May 18.

RUSSIA INTERESTED.

LONDON, May 6 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—All the wheat exporting nations of the world including Soviet Russia will be represented at the wheat conference opening on May 18 at Canada House here, under the chairmanship of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain.

Indications are that all will send strong delegations. The United States has already indicated it is sending three experts. Russian participation is assured, and the conference, an outgrowth of the world wheat conference at Rome at the end of March, will be enabled to make a thorough study of the world wheat situation so far as it particularly concerns the exporting nations, preliminary to endeavors to reach agreement on some form of orderly marketing of the next wheat crops.

The conference is expected to last about a week and the discussions will be private.

The Major Problem

But before the next wheat crops are considered—if indeed the conference is able to take them up effectively—the major problem before the conference will be orderly disposal of the present wheat surpluses.

Particular satisfaction is felt in Canadian circles here at the decision of the United States to send a delegation. Among wheat men there is a feeling that the present abnormally low prices are largely due to the psychological effect of the heavy stocks held by the United States Farm Board.

Buyers it is stated, hesitate to purchase beyond their immediate requirements, fearing a possible further collapse under United States selling pressure. If, therefore, the coming conference can reach a common understanding for the orderly disposal of the surplus stocks the result will be seen in a general steadying of market conditions.

No proposal has go far been made for the formation of a world wheat pool. There is a feeling indeed that such would be inadvisable in the present circumstances, and would interfere with the normal courses of trade. The aim is rather to steady the market through co-operative effort.

INJURED LAD HOLDS HIS OWN

WOODSTOCK, Ont., May 6 — Charles Snider, nine-year-old Falkland boy, injured Sunday when he stepped in front of a passing auto in Princeton village, still lies unconscious in Woodstock Hospital. Hospital authorities claim there has been a slight improvement in his condition but it still remains critical.

EINSTEIN URGES LEAGUE ACTION

WOULD STOP TYRANNY.

BERLIN, May 6 (A.P.)—Professor Albert Einstein, and the novelist Heinrich Mann, brother of Thomas Mann, have sent a letter to the German League for the Rights of Man protesting against what they call the indifference of the Jugoslavian Government in connection with the murder of Dr. Milan Sufflay, a Croatian, at Zagerb on February 18.

They signed the letter as members of the league's political advisory board, urging that the league act immediately to "put a stop to the unbridled tyranny which is ruling Croatia."

The letter asserts that the name of Dr. Sufflay's slayer is known to the Jugoslavian authorities but that no arrest has been made. It asserts also that the Jugoslavian Government suppressed all expressions of sympathy at Dr. Sufflay's funeral and deported a number of persons from Zagreb soon after the crime.

Pea-Soup Fog Delays Liners From Docking

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 6.—(CP)—A pea-soup fog enveloped New York harbor early today, delaying ocean and coast-wise liners from docking at their piers.

The French liner France, due at quarantine at 5 a.m., was forced to drop anchor off Ambrose light. Two other ships, the Spanish liner Manuel Arnus and the Munson liner Western Ocean made quarantine, but could proceed no further. The fog also layed the coast guard cutter Raritan from meeting the vessels at the scheduled hour for the customs examination.

Man Is Not Drunk Until It Requires Two Officers to Carry Him to Cells

Police and Magistrate Langley had a difficult time in court this morning convincing a local young man that he was drunk last night on Charlotte street. "I don't think a man's drunk until it takes two policemen to carry him in" maintained the young man.

"Well, that may be your opinion, but fortunately the decision as to the varying stages of intoxication rests with judges and magistrates" replied Magistrate Langley.

On the way to the station Stevenson said that his prisoner had said in an offended voice, "You must be drunk, I'm not drunk, it's you that's doing the staggering."

"So, you thought that the officer was staggering and dragging you around?" the magistrate queried of the prisoner.

"If I said them words, I must have been drunk, Your Worship" was the reply. "I plead guilty."

He was given the choice of a $10 fine or ten days on the hill. Last night he only had a quarter in his picket, so being unable to recuperate his fortunes hurriedly to-day he took jail.

General Food Stuffs Has Window Display

A real feat of balancing may be seen in The Examiner's display window just now. The eyes of the observant, taking in the exhibit of products sold by General Food Stuffs will note the precarious fashion in which two cans of Maxwell House coffee are tilted perilously on the edges of a third can. It is a bit off expert balancing that has no trick other than the proper adjustment of the three tins.

The very attractive window has been arranged by F. S. Stratford of Toronto, who went to a great deal of trouble to display the food products, which include packages and cans of Bran Flakes, coffee, cocoa, grapenuts, taploca, jell-o and cake flour. The background is carried out with paper in the cool colors of mauve, white yellow and green with red as a strong accent.

LADIES' AID HEARS REV. WM. McDONALD

Plans Are Laid By George Street Ladies for Mothers' Day Service.

The regular May meeting of the Ladies' Aid of George Street United Church was held in the board room on Tuesday afternoon with a very large attendance, over one hundred being present.

The president, Mrs. W. P. Hetherington, presided. Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard had charge of the devotional period.

An excellent report of the last meeting and of an executive meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. G. C. Staples, and approved. Miss Mary Elliott gave the financial statement in the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. S. Oke, on account of illness. Miss Elliot, corresponding secretary, also read a number of letters of thanks for flowers received.

Mrs. P. Hagerman, for the sick and visiting committee, gave the reports for the past two months. This energetic committee had made 64 calls during March and 67 calls during the month of April.

Miss E. Higgins, for the look-out committee, reported seven calls made.

The society at a previous meeting had decided to take charge of the program of the Sunday school for Mother's Day, so it was arranged to put on a short pageant suitable for the occasion and to give a bouquet of flowers to the oldest member of the society who was a regular attendant of the Sunday school.

The decorating of the church for Mother's Day was left in the hands of the decorating committee.

Two delightful vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. E. Kitney, entitled "The Merry Month of May," and "Roses of Love." Miss Olive Prest acted as accompanist.

Announcement was made of the mother and daughter banquet on Friday evening by Mrs. C. Coon, and the annual congregational picnic spoken of by the president.

The Rev. Wm. McDonald, of Knox United Church was the speaker of the afternoon. He took for his subject The Place of the Ladies' Aid or Women's Association in the Church To-day, referring briefly to its early history and rapid growth until its development into an organization which has proved its worth and has become an important and essential organization within the church.

He went on to say that the modern way of living had given the women of the homes more leisure time and the church has encouraged such organizations as this for their social activities and given them an opportunity to be of real service. He referred to the two types of women — Mary's and Martha's — both with their own particular talents and both loved by the Master.

A hearty vote of thanks was voiced by Mrs. E. Harvey and seconded by Mrs. H. M. Yelland to those taking part in the program.

Mrs. A. J. Thomas, of Toronto, who will be the guest speaker at the mother and daughter banquet on Friday evening, was asked to say a few words. She expressed her pleasure at being present, and hoped to be able to meet all her old acquaintances of George Street. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. McHoull and her group of the social committee.

How Long Will It Take?

A question frequently asked the Chiropractor by his patient is, "How long will it take me to get well?" It is impossible for anyone to answer this question definitely. Many factors determine the rapidity of progress. If you have been failing in health for a period of years it is unreasonable to expect recovery in a few weeks. Your own habits of living, your age, your vitality, must all be considered.

Your Chiropractor can only estimate the time by telling you what has occurred in somewhat similar cases. He knows that actual improvement starts when you begin treatment, however, that improvement may not be apparent to you for a considerable time. Nature requires time to repair diseased tissue. Your Chiropractor knows that when nerve constriction has been relieved natural building up of weakened tissues will take place. He also knows that your fidelity in following his instructions is a big factor in determining the length of time required for you to regain your health.

Steamer Rams Tug - Three of Crew Missing

VESSELS CRASH IN DENSE MIST OFF RACE ROCK

Smaller Craft Almost Cut in Two by Impact Settles Immediately.

FIVE MEN RESCUED.

Four Coast Guard Boats Rushing to Scene Comb Adjacent Waters.

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 7.—Thick fog prevailed early today when the steamer New York nearly cut in two the tug Trimount in Long Island Sound, off Race Rock, the Coast Guard here reported. Five men, including Captain Cecil Bethel of Winthrop, Mass., were saved and three are missing, according to the Trimount Dredging Company of Boston, owners of the tug.

The names of the reported missing are:

Only Bow Visible

The tug settled until only the bow was afloat. The craft was towed into shallower water about three hundred feet from Race Rock.

The Trimount was said by the Coast Guard to have been a rum runner about 8 years ago under the name of Jessie L. M. Kehoe. After seizure she was sold and had since been in towing operations.

The New York bound for this city from Boston, radioed to New London Coast Guard headquarters for aid in searching the waters after the crash. When four coast guard boats arrived, the New York apparently undamaged proceeded on her way to this city with the four survivors.

The collision occurred about a mile west of Race Rock, or about ten miles from New London.

WORK TO START ON PAVING JOB

Thirty-five Men Have Been Engaged to Start on Lift-Lock Hill.

TO LAY WALK ALSO.

Thirty-five of the city's unemployed will start work to-morrow morning on the job of paving Hunter st. from the Westclox to the Lift Locks.

This work just passed the City Council on Monday night, but in answer to the Council's instructions to get the work started at once, City Engineer Parsons has lost no time. Five men with a grader were on the job Tuesday morning levelling the road and partially reducing the hill. To-morrow the larger gang start operations. They were issued with cards to-day and ordered to report in the morning on the job.

A sidewalk will also be laid to the Lift Locks, Mayor Denne said this morning.

CATS DISAPPEAR SEARCH IS MADE

Climate for Cats Around Sherbrooke and Park Streets Been Unhealthy.

The climate for cats around the corner of Park and Sherbrooke Streets has become unhealthy this week. Reports to Dr. Thos. Johnston, representative of the Humane Society, show that the chorus of caterwauls in that neighborhood has been minus four or five voices the last few nights. They have been silenced forever and by a lethal agency that is believed to have been strychnine.

When neighbours lamenting their individual losses discovered that the feline casualties extended over four or five houses all close together, they concluded that this mortality was more than accidentally and Dr. Johnston shares their suspicions. His enquiry this morning paused at a certain house whose occupant is obsessed with a hatred for cats. One of the missing meows was buried in his garden, and because of the complaints which were made to him Dr. Johnston reported to the police, leaving to their discretion the possibility of legal action.

In Air Crashes

Two of Britain's most famous airmen were involved in crashes this week which resulted in the death of Flight Commander Glen Kidston (top), who crashed in South Africa ten days after he had established a record for the London-South Africa route. Flight Lieut. H. D. Waghorn (below) who captured the Schneider Cup for Britain in 1929, was also fatally injured when his plane crashed in England.

FREIGHT CHARGE ONLY DIFFERENCE IN CEMENT PRICE

RETURN EMPTY BAGS.

The freight charge on the return of empty bags to Lakefield is the only computable difference in the cement prices recently submitted to the Board of Works upon which the bid of the Peterborough Hardware Company, agents for the St. Mary's cement company was accepted over the identical price quoted by the Made-in-Peterborough county company, the Lakefield plant of the Canada Cement Company.

Examination of the two bids indicates no difference in price, except the item of the cost of returning empty bags to the manufacturers. And as one citizen remarked in an outburst of irritation at the council's action, "It would have been better to take the bags down to the dump and burn them, if you didn't

$7,000,000 FIRE BURNS ARMORY HOUSES, CHURCH

Four Alarms Bring Most of Apparatus in City to the Scene.

100 FIREMEN OVERCOME.

Panic Spreads Through District—Citizens on Roofs Guard Homes.

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 7 (C.P.). — Fire which raged through the 106th Field Artillery Armory here and caused damage estimated by Captain William Speidel, regimental supply officer of the 106th Artillery, at more than $7,000,000 was completely under control to-day.

The blaze spread during the night to a nearby church and destroyed the structure. Fire officials estimated this loss at approximately $50,000. A heavy rainfall early this morning aided the firemen in subduing the blaze.

At 8.30 a.m. the ruins were still smoldering, but most of the suburban companies, hastily summoned to the scene, were ordered back to their stations. Of the more than 50 firemen overcome by smoke, all but two had been discharged from local hospitals.

The armory occupied one of the highest points of land in the city and a southwest wind blowing from the waterfront, scattered brands over a wide area, causing many incipient blazes.

Most serious was the one which destroyed the American-Scandinavian church, four blocks distant. Many dwellings in the area also were seriously damaged.

Four Alarms

Four alarms brought most of the apparatus in the city to the scene.

Suburban companies were told to stand by for emergency calls. This is the second time in the history of the organized fire department here that such a step has been necessary.

The armory fire origin has not yet been determined. Minute Men of a Legion post were drilling when John D. Marvin, a city fireman off duty, a member of the Minute Men, discovered smoke coming out of cracks in the floor about 10 o'clock last night and sounded the alarm.

At first it appeared to be merely a stubborn basement blaze. But as the rising wind fanned the flames, more and more companies were summoned to the scene.

Roof Falls In

Firemen entering the basement to combat the blaze, were overcome quickly. Within two hours, the flames had mounted to the top of the armory, a four-storey stone structure and lighted up the whole city.

At midnight the roof fell with a tremendous crash and brands were scattered far and wide.

Examiner Relief Fund May Sponsor Vegetable Plots for Unemployed

As a means of anticipating the need of continued relief next winter, The Examiner suggests the practical plan of co-operative gardening by which a harvest of vegetables should be available to those citizens who would undertake it.

A considerable plot or plots of ground could be engaged through The Examiner Relief Fund, which citizens have generously encouraged, and it would be plowed and made ready for the planting of potatoes and other vegetables that are especially needed during the winter. Those who would take advantage of this offer would of course assume entire care and cultivation of their plots until the harvest is gathered in.

If there are citizens interested in this idea The Examiner shall be glad to sponsor it and assist in making it a success. It will be a means of self-help which should be attractive to those who have not gardens of their own and who are willing to spend a little labor and time for their own advantage. Any action will depend of course on the response to this suggestion. Communications from those who may be willing to adopt this plan should be sent to The Examiner.

REV. WM. ALLAN RECEIVES CALL

Dovercourt Church, Toronto, Extends Call to Minister of St. Paul's.

AS YET UNDECIDED.

Rev. William Allan, for six years pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church here, was extended a call to the pulpit of Dovercourt Presbyterian Church, Toronto, at a largely attended congregational meeting of that church held last night.

Having heard the report and recommendation of the Pulpit Supply Committee, a motion was carried unanimously that Rev. Mr. Allan be called at a stipend of $4,800 a year. The pulpit of Dovercourt Church has been vacant since last February, when Rev. Otis Dale resigned to become general secretary in the United States for the Evangelical Union of South America.

No Official Word.

Mr. Allan had received no official word of the call when interviewed today by The Examiner. The first intimation he received of his selection by the Dovercourt Church was a telegram received early this morning from Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. "Congratulations, your new field of labor will be more extended and your opportunity to help others will be much extended," the telegram read. Later, Mr. Allan's attention was called by a member of his congregation to the announcement of the call in the Toronto morning papers.

Asked if he would accept the call, Mr. Allan replied: "That is difficult to say at this time. Owing to Presbyterian procedure, it may take some time before it is decided whether or not I shall go to the Dovercourt Church."

Mr. Allan appeared not to be overmuch elated by the honor paid him by the large Toronto church in calling him to its leadership. He spoke feelingly of the bonds existing between him and his congregation at St. Paul's.

"Following my often-repeated assertion that I would not preach for a pulpit or compete with any other man for a call, I may say that I did not preach for this call, nor did I seek it," stated Mr. Allan.

It is the practice among most Pres-

Pledge to Keep Sober 43 Years Saves Prisoner

BINGHAMPTON, N.Y., May 7 —Warren Coleman, of Endicott, must keep sober for forty-three years.

Arraigned before Police Justice Cameron on Wednesday on a charge of public intoxication, Coleman told the court it was the first time he had been drunk in forty-three years. The judge asked:

"Will you keep sober for the next forty-three years?"

"I will."

FIVE YEAR GIRL DIES OF BURNS

Passerby Wraps Coat Around Tot to Smother Flames as She Runs Down Street.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL.

GUELPH, Ont., May 7.—Serious burns about the body sustained when her clothing caught fire resulted in the death to-day of Marie Schiedal, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Schiedal. A passer-by saw the little girl running along Metcalf street, her clothing ablaze, and he immediately wrapped a coat about her, at the same time tearing off the burning dress. She was rushed to the hospital, but death occurred within a few hours.

There is no explanation as to how the child's clothing became alight. Coroner Dr. L. M. Stuart is investigating, but it is not likely that there will be an inquest.

FIRE RELIEF SENT

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 7 (C.P.)—Nine men left here to-day to join others from the local branch of the Forestry Department who are fighting a bush fire near the shore of Trout Lake about ten miles from here. It is expected the fire will be under control some time to-day. The bush is very dry in some sections at present.

FAMOUS AIRMAN LT. H. R. WAGHORN DIES OF INJURIES

Lands on Roof of Shed Tuesday After Leaping From Crashing Plane.

WON SCHNEIDER CUP.

ALDERSHOT, England, May 7 (A.P.)—Flight Lieutenant H. R. D. Waghorn, winner of the Schneider Cup Trophy for 1929, died at Cambridge Military Hospital to-day from injuries received when his plane crashed near Farnborough Tuesday.

Lt. Waghorn and a fellow pilot, E. R. Alexander, took to their parachutes when their plane went out of control in a high gale. The former landed on the roof of a shed, sustaining injuries to his head and limbs. Alexander was not as seriously hurt.

Wife Maintains Vigil

The flier underwent an operation last night but gradually grew worse. His wife maintained a ceaseless vigil by his bedside until he died. He is also survived by a son.

Lt. Waghorn attained a speed of 328.63 miles per hour in retaining the Schneider Cup for Great Britain two years ago. Starting to fly at the age of 18, he was early nicknamed "Daisy" in recognition of a descent into a daisy field and later was heralded as one of Great Britain's premier aerobatic aviators.

Lt. Waghorn's death marks the 41st fatality in the Royal Air Force since Jan. 1, and follows closely the tragic end of Lieutenant Commander Glen Kidston, who crashed against a mountain in Natal, South Africa, last Tuesday.

Another distinguished airman who lost his life this year was Wing Commander Tucker, Commander of the Mount Batten Air Station, who was killed with others when a seaplane dived into Plymouth Sound, Feb. 4.

Youth Throws Ashes On His Aged Father

In a fit of anger yesterday Edward Leslie, Victoria Avenue, slammed down a pan of ashes upon his 80-year-old father's head.

With ashes in his hair, in his clothing and falling from his trousers, the old man, supported by a cane, limped into the police station to complain about his son. The boy was arrested and lodged in the cells all night.

He pleaded guilty this morning before Magistrate Langley to assault. The Magistrate adjourned sentence for a month to give the boy a chance to improve his home behaviour, and then told him to "go over and shake your old dad's sand and tell him you're sorry—and mean it."

Police said the youth had given considerable trouble and that it wasn't the first time that he had attacked his aged father.

FEX, Morocco, April 7 (Copyright, 1931).—To wander alone through a strange spice-smelling bazaar, 4,000 miles from home and there suddenly come across every day things of home brings a sudden lump to any globe girdler's throat. It happened twice to-day in a four-hour prowl through the souks of the "Holy City."

Streets here twine in and out, up and around so that even a master map maker would soon be lost. On guides to Moorish cities the Arab quarters is always shown in some solid color, usually red, and simply labelled "natives." No white people are expected to go there anyhow and, since the streets have neither definite names nor definite direction, there is no sense in attempting to chart them.

LINDSAY, May 7.—At a meeting of the Lindsay presbytery of the United Church at Fenelon Falls, authority was given the official board of Seagrave United Church to sell Bethel church, the proceeds to go towards promotion work at Seagrave. This church is one of the oldest landmarks in Victoria county, having been one of the first country churches ever erected in Mariposa Township. The advent of the car has meant the closing of the church, as people attending the church now pass by to the larger centres.

GOVERNMENT REFUSES TO ACCEPT PROPOSALS MADE BY LORD HAILSHAM A FEW DAYS AGO

Lord Hailsham Denies That His Move Was An Attempt to Take Away Any Power From the Commons and Asserts Government Trying to Raise 1910 Cry.

LONDON, May 7 (C.P.). — The House of Lords to-day rejected part one of the Government's Agricultural Land Utilization Bill.

The vote was 82 to 31.

They had previously rejected two clauses of the measure dealing with establishment of an agricultural land corporation and with the power of the Minister of Agriculture to acquire land for use as demonstration farms.

By this afternoon's decision the remaining three clauses relating to the Minister's power to acquire land for reconditioning purposes are similarly thrown out and the Bill goes back to the Commons with only the slightest resemblance to its original form.

The sitting opened with the frank and explicit refusal of the Government to accept the proposal made by Lord Hailsham, former Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer, a few days ago. This proposal was generally interpreted as meaning that the Conservatives would be willing to give second reading to the Government's Land Utilization Bill in the Upper House, provided the Government was prepared to adopt the House of Commons they would waive their privileges on the money clause of the Bill.

100 ARE INJURED.

TOKYO, May 7. (AP)—Fourteen persons, all Japanese, were burned to death and considerable property was destroyed in a series of fires which swept various Japanese communities to-day. High winds hindered firemen.

The most destructive fire was at Yamanaka Hot Springs, in Ishikawa prefecture where four lives were lost. Thirty hotels were wiped out at the resort, 100 persons were injured and 4,000 made homeless, including 400 hotel guests. The flames also destroyed 800 frail Japanese dwellings, the business section of the resort, postoffice, police stations, banks, the town hall, a temple and school houses.

Four persons were burned to death in Yokohama by a fire which destroyed the Chinese consulate and 60 dwellings. In Tokyo six persons lost their lives in a fire which swept the thickly populated Shiba ward.

A fire in Toyama city destroyed 47 homes; 53 dwellings were burned in a fire at Akamatsu, Tottori prefecture, and 20 homes were consumed by fire at Tanamura in Wakayama prefecture.

YOUTH CONVICTED FOR BURGLARY

Hamiltonian Remanded For Sentence and Stolen Tuxedo Goes Back.

FACED FIVE CHARGES.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 7 (C.P.).—Robert Jackson was convicted on five charges of breaking and entering today in Police Court, and thereby hangs a tale.

Some weeks ago, Jackson appeared before the court on a similar charge, and Magistrate Burbidge commented upon the suspecious circumstances of the young man being abroad on the streets late at night. Then His Worship added his now famous remark as to persons not wearing dress suits on the streets after midnight being mistaken for vagrants.

When Jackson entered the witness-box to-day, Harry Hazell, acting Crown attorney, suddenly popped a question:

Yes, that's me, smiled the prisoner.

Among the things which you are accused of stealing from Arthur Slack's harberdashers, is it not true that there is a tuxedo? the Crown pursued.

Robert blushed. "I didn't know it was one at the time," he hastened to say.

Jackson was remanded till May 12 for sentence.

The dress suit will go back to its owner.

CONFESSES TO POLICE.

MONTREAL, Que., May 7.—A table knife expertly manipulated enabled Montreal detectives to spring the lock on a bedroom door and catch Henri Roy, 24, alias Lacerte, alleged cigar store bandit, fast asleep with a loaded revolver under his pillow. Taken to headquarters, Roy, according to police, confessed to holding up five cigar stores and a gasoline station, and to an auto theft. He declared, police said, that he was with Jack Edgett and William Wilkinson the night Marcel Dupre, youthful restaurant keeper, was shot to death. Roy told police he had left Edgett and Wilkinson a few minutes before the Dupre shooting. Edgett and Wilkinson face trial for the murder of Dupre at the next term of the Court of King's Bench. Roy will be arraigned to-morrow on the hold-up charges.

Th ecigar store robberies, extended over the period from March 31 to May 1. Roy said he left town for a time after the shooting of Dupre. He was arrested this morning in a Verdun rooming house.

Ontario Heirs Claim Big Irish Estate

FREEMAN HEIRS VISIT IRELAND CLAIM ESTATE

Many Are Resident of Bobcaygeon, Lakefield and Peterborough Districts.

FORTY-NINE HEIRS.

Representatives Left Bobcaygeon Fully Armed They Believe to Prove Claim.

BOBCAYGEON, May 7. — James H. Freeman Bowmanville William J. Freeman and H. O. Parliament of Bobcaygeon, sailed April 30, from Montreal to Liverpool, to claim ownership of the estate of the late William Freeman, Cavan, Ireland. The will of the late William Freeman made or probated in 1821, devised his estate to his wife, Phoebe Ferguson, and his heirs hereafter.

Came to Canada in 1839

Francis Freeman, son of William Freeman, sailed for Canada in 1839. He was a lawyer, as was his father. He taught school in the Township of Smith, and in Peterborough for a number of years, then moved to Bobcaygeon, where his family was brought up, the generations now reaching into the third and fourth. About two years ago Albert Freeburn of Harvey township noticed an advertisement in a paper, asking for information concerning the heirs of William Freeman of Cavan, Ireland. He showed the "ad" to his cousin, William J. Freeman of Bobcaygeon, while the two worked together on the drive of the John Carew Lumber Company. William had heard his father, William Freeman, many times speaking of being a descendant of a William Freeman of Cavan, Ireland. He became interesting, and later several letters had passed, became assured that the Bobcaygeon Freemans were the lawful heirs of the William Freeman.

Forty-nine Heirs

Subsequent searches show 49 heirs of the third and fourth generations. The family tree shows that Francis Freeman, who emigrated, was the son of William Freeman of 1821. He had one brother and one sister, neither of whom married. Frances Freeman had ten children, namely, James and John, who did not marry, and William and Francis, sons, and Mary Ann Freeburn, Phoebe Cummings, Abigail Chamberlain, Elizabeth Jarvis, Margaret Pulleyblank, and Sarah Jane Appleyard, daughters, of whom settled in and around Bobcaygeon, Lakefield and Peterborough. The children and grandchildren of these are now in line to share in this estate if their representatives are successful in Ireland.

The search this year has been going on steadily since January. Two weeks were spent in Toronto obtaining copies of the registrations of births and deaths. It was found that out of the 49 heirs, some thirty-one had not been registered. Of the 49 heirs, 28 are of the third, and 21 of the fourth generation.

The representatives left Bobcaygeon, they believed, fully armed to prove they are the claims to shares in this estate, which, since 1821 has mounted into a considerable sum of money, the exact amount of which has not been ascertained.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 7. (CP)—The Bennett Government's agricultural record was reviewed again by the House of Commons to-day. For the second time this week, the day was reserved for the want-of-confidence motion of J. L. Brown, Liberal member for Lisgar, Man., which expresses regret that the Government failed to implement its promises relating to agriculture.

Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, may take part in the debate, possibly as one of the last speakers. Opposition members have been urging him all session to make a pronouncement on the agricultural policy of the Government. The Brown motion, in fact, drew attention to the absence of a declaration from the minister.

Speakman's Resolution

The House yesterday was engaged all afternoon in discussing a resolution sponsored by Alfred Speakman (U.F.A., Red Deer) which would establish a National Council of Social and Economic Research. Patterned after the existing Council on Industrial and Scientific Research, it would investigate social and economic problems such as the reasons for depressions. No decision was reached by the House.

Two features marked the debate. One was when Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, made his first speech since returning to the House after a serious illness. He was unable to support the Speakman resolution, although expressing the opinion that the discussion might prove beneficial.

The other feature was when Right Hon. Mackenzie King, Opposition Leader, expressed the opinion the powers governing the existing council on scientific and industrial research were sufficiently wide to permit an investigation of social and economic problems. He advised those sponsoring the resolution to request the Government to employ this medium to investigate such problems as distribution, purchasing power, and the exchange values of agricultural products and other commodities.

"Wheat Miners" Are Like the Novice Who is Unlucky in a Game of Poker

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 7 (S.N.S.). — "Wheat miners' and "political farmers" of Western Canada are like novices who play poker, and when the luck turns against them, rush for a policeman with the complaint that the game is crooked.

Such is the metaphor used by Colonel Jim Cornwall of Victoria, one of the pioneers of Western Canada and a prominent mining and financal figure.

"The trouble in the Prairie Provinces began a year or so before the war," says Cornwall. "A class of farmer came out quite different to the pioneer type. They did not love the soil. They came to the West to make money so they could retire in California. They were nothing more than 'wheat miners,' putting nothing into the ground and taking out all they could get.

"With these farmers came the political agitator—the man who stirred up trouble and kept the grousers going. They are still with us, and they spread from the Red River to the Rocky Mountains. They don't believe in their country and they are demanding that the rest of the people of Canada pull them out of the hole they dug for themselves."

PLOWMEN AGREE TO POOL FUNDS FOR INTER-COUNTY MATCH OCT. 13

$1,000 IN PRIZE MONEY.

Plowmen of the Counties of Northumberland, Durham, Victoria and Peterborough agreed last night to pool their funds and hold a district competition here on Tuesday, October 13, the day preceding the opening of the International Plowing Match on the Port Hope highway in North Monaghan.

The meeting last night, in the board room at the Duffus Building, was marked by a spirit of inter-county co-operation that was deeply appreciated by the representatives of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association, who are undertaking a large share of the responsibility for the arrangements of the International competition and farm machinery demonstration.

Victoria County was represented by an enthusiastic deputation who entered into the spirit of the meeting almost as keenly as if the match were taking place in their own county. Among their group were Warden John Elliott, ex-Warden Lovett, who is president of the Victoria Plowmen's Association; Mr. Rich, winner of many plowing prizes; Mr. McFadden, director of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, who has donated a $100 gold watch for this year's international match; Mr. Winter, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture; Mr. Jenkins, and others.

Durham Plowmen

Bruce Sharpe, president of the Cavan and South Monaghan Plowmen's Association; Vern Hunter, secretary; Robert McCamus; Lou Winslow, past president of the Ontario Plowmen's Association; Mr. Summer of Port Hope, Agricultural representative for the County, were among those present from Durham. About fifteen officers and directors of the Peterborough Association attended, including Reeve McIntyre of Otonabee; Reeve Cavanagh of Ennismore; Col. Birdsall of Asphodel; William Thompson, Westwood; Howard Quinn and others.

The neighboring associations receive municipal and other grants for their own matches, but they were confident that no objection would be raised in any quarter against transferring their local competitions to Peterborough as a curtain-raiser for the international contests.

Open to Four Counties

The match on Tuesday, October 13 will be open to plowmen of the four counties. Prize money totalling $1,000 is already available in addition to many trophies and special awards. This event is bound to create a great deal of enthusiasm among the plowmen of the district. It has the hearty approval of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and with everything in its favor, including the enthusiastic support of the men behind it, this inter-country match will undoubtedly be one of the most outstanding co-operative efforts of its kind ever held in this province.

J. J. Duffus was appointed chairman of the inter-county competition with J. B. Nelson, Peterborough's representative of the Department of Agriculture, secretary.

BRIAND'S HOPES HANG IN BALANCE

DISCUSS FOREIGN POLICY.

PARIS, May 7. —(AP)— Foreign Minister Aristide Briand's candidacy for the President of the Republic depends in general opinion on the outcome of the debate on the Government's foreign policy, opening today.

M. Briand intends to reply to interpellators Friday, dealing at length with all problems arising from the Austro-German customs accord and setting forth the principal features of his plan for European economic cooperation which he expects to submit to the League of Nations.

The parliamentary discussion will last all day today and tomorrow, possibly continuing through Saturday.

Following a mass meeting last night in protest against the Austro-German scheme, a demonstration was staged on the boulevards in which shouts of "down with Briand" were raised. A second manifestation is expected to be attempted outside the Chamber of Deputies today.

Nationalist papers charged that the police used undue force in quieting the demonstrators, several of whom were arrested.

France has decided not to increase federal taxes this year.

POWER USERS WILL HAVE 25 P.C. DISCOUNT

Campbellford Town Consumers Only Will Benefit by Commission Action.

FOR PROMPT PAYMENT.

Question Regarding Suitable Building for Storing of Meters Discussed.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 7. — (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — After a two months' delay unanimous approval was given to the motion presented to the Campbellford Water and Light Commission Board by the board chairman, A. L. Riendeau, whereby all users of domestic and commercial current in the town of Campbellford will benefit by an increase of five percent discount for Prompt payment.

This action was taken at the regular meeting of the board held yesterday. This will mean that in future all users of the specified class of power will be allowed a 25% discount for prompt payment. Thirty days arears are allowed under the new scheme, at the end of which service will be disconnected, a charge being made for re-connection when arrears are paid. This action will become effective at the next reading of the meters, according to wards. Commissioner Blue seconded the motion.

When this matter was brought up at the February board meeting it was felt that by increasing the prompt payment discount that it would encourage consumers to increase their consumption and would further aid collections besides rendering a real service to the town.

Before the motion was approved by Mayor J. M. Bygott pointed out that one of the big bones of contention was the giving of this privilege to those outside Campbellford.

Mr. Geo. Wright is Re-elected President at Meeting of Members in Madoc.

MADOC, May 7.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—A meeting called in the interests of the Upper Canada Bible Society to meet in Trinity United Church was held on Wednesday evening, with a small attendance, but representative of the Churches of the village. After devotional exercises, Mr. Geo. Wright, President of Madoc Branch, explained that owing to some misunderstanding or other mischance, the speaker expected was not present, and the election of officers for the new year was proceeded with Mr. Geo. Wright was re-elected by a unanimous vote as president. Miss M. Mackintosh was appointed Secretary, as Mrs. Springham was unable to continue in office, owing to illness. Mr. Wm. Rivers then read from the 119th Psalm, and taking as a central thought, "The entrance of thy word giveth light," dealt with the subject, from three standpoints, 1st in our homes, 2nd, in our nation—Canada, and 3rd, in other countries, which are supplied by the British and foreign Bible Society, of which the Upper Canada Bible Society is in affiliation.

The object of the Bible Society is to give to all people of the world the Bible in their own tongue. It never refuses a request for the Scriptures. Its work consists of translating, printing and distributing the Scriptures. It is an ally of all denominations, an asset to every nation, and a valuable Missionary agency Therefore all Christian people should contribute, and it is suggested that contributions be at least one-tenth of the Missionary contribution.

GOVT'S RECORD

United States held the key to international disarmament. One word from President Hoover and the 1932 naval reduction conference would be a success, he said. If the United States gave a lead, nations would be willing to reduce their land forces 50 per cent. as well.

While several Senators, including Sir George Foster and Senator Carine Wilson, the only woman in the Upper Chamber, spoke favorably of the League, Senator J. P. B. Casgrain was outspoken in disapproval. The League, he exclaimed, was a useless institution, made for angels, not human beings. Nations were not disarming, and France, for one, was increasing its navy.

These opinions prompted Senator John Lewis to say if there was no hope for the League, there was no hope for the human race. If another World War developed civilization would be annihilated, so he suggested the nations adopt the maxim: "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die."

Local Church League Visits At Norwood

NORWOOD, May 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Sunday school hall of the United Church, Norwood, was the scene of a large and interesting gathering on Monday evening, when the Young People's League of Mark Street Church paid a return visit to the league here.

Miss Grace Dayman, president of the Young People's Society, very ably welcomed the visitors while Mr. English, president of Mark Street league, replied and took charge of the remainder of the program. The meeting took the form of a most interesting and instructive debate, the subject of which was, "Resolved that Radio, Moving Pictures and the Press are an Aid and benefit to the work of the Christian Church." Every debater did exceedingly well, showing they had spent much time and thought on the subject.

The affirmative side was upheld by four members of Mark Street, the leader being Miss Mary Terrace, 2nd speaker, Carlysle Ferguson; 3rd speaker, Miss Jean Barringer, while the fourth was Melville Hunter.

The leader of the negative side was Hamilton Humphries; second speaker, Miss Gena McNeely; 3rd speaker, Maynard Bongard, while the fourth was Miss Georgina Beavis. The judges were Mr. Ellis, of Peterborough, Mrs. Reta Packenham and Miss Verna Munroe, B.A., of Norwood. Their decision resulted in the negative side winning by fifteen points.

A very sweet whistling solo by Miss Mignon Mayneord, accompanied by Mrs. Ellis on the piano, was enjoyed. Miss Mayneord also gave an encore to her number. A reading by Miss Mabel Reynolds, solo by Miss Grace Currie and a solo by Mr. Ellis, accompanied by Mrs. Ellis, were also appreciated.

Mark Street young people were fortunate in having with them Mr. Robb, the president of the Young People's Presbytery, who was called upon to address the league. He called the eight debaters of the evening to the platform, with the presidents of both leagues, while the audience gave them a real hearty applause. He also asked for a special offering for the Presbytery to help aid the debating work among the Presbyteries, while in the fall the two champion teams will come together at the annual rally for the final debate at which a cup is to be given to the winning team; this was responded to most freely by all, the collection amounting to five dollars.

Charles Gunstone, of Norwood, had charge of the social part of the program consisting of some good rousing community singing and several splendid games. Steaming coffee, sandwiches and cake were served, which were enjoyed by all and the several cars returned to the city feeling their visit had been both profitable and pleasant in every way.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 7.— Egg supplies were moving better in Toronto yesterday, due to greater interest in storing on the part of large buyers at the low levels. Brokers were quoting prices about steady with those of Tuesday for graded lots, but there was a firmer undertone which will probably continue unless receipts become much heavier. The disposition to store resulted in a fair cleanup of supplies in this city and a better feeling in the market.

Prices

Brokers were quoting graded eggs, in free cases, at 17c for extras, 15c for firsts and 13c for seconds, but there were reports of sales at lower levels. Country shippers were offered prices steady with the recent decline at 14c to 15c for extras, 12c to 13c for firsts and 9c to 10c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Retailers were able to secure supplies at 21c for extras in cartons, 19c for extras loose, 17c for firsts loose and 14½c for seconds loose.

Activity in butter was more pronounced, but brokers were unable to get any better prices than on Tuesday. They were quoting 21c to 21½c for No. 1, creamery solids, and 20c to 20½c for No. 2. Buyers seemed interested in taking care of immediate requirements only and brokers reported receipts increasing substantially.

Cheese

New cheese was offered by brokers at the low in the spread of prices reported on Tuesday or 10c for new large, 10¼c for twins and 10½c for triplets. Retailers were quoted steady prices at 11¼c for new large, 11¾c for twins and 12c for triplets.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 7.—Corn took the lead in the grain markets yesterday and scored a brisk advance that overcame a laggard tendency of other cereals. Cold, wet weather, a big hindrance to corn planting, did much to stimulate buyers. Eastern interests trying to purchase corn for immediate use found that the grain was tightly held, and that apparently beyond question the future delivery markets had been oversold.

Corn closed buoyant at the day's top level, 1c to 2¼c higher; wheat unchanged to ¾c up; oats, ⅜c to ¾c advanced, and provisons unchanged to a rise of 5c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 7. — Butter, cheese and egg quotations continued their decline on the produce and dairy market here yesterday, while potato prices were unchanged.

On the butter market, No. 1 finest pasteurized, fresh and regraded, lost ¼c at 21¼c a pound and to retailers solids and prints eased 1c at 23c to 24c and 24c to 25c a pound, respectively. Receipts were 505 boxes.

Ontario colored cheese was ¼c lower at 9¼c a pound in light trading, receipts being only 35 boxes.

Carlot prices of fresh Ontario and Prairie eggs were lower, extras and firsts losing ½c at 18c to 19c and 16c to 17c a dozen respectively, while seconds were unchanged at 15c a dozen. Fresh British Columbia extras and firsts also declined ½c at 19c to 20c and 17c to 18c a dozen and seconds remained unchanged at 16c a dozen. To retailers, fresh firsts, in cartons, dropped 1c at 20c to 21c, while fresh specials at 26c to 27c, fresh extras at 24c to 25c, and fresh seconds at 18c to 19c a dozen remained unchanged.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes in carlots were quoted at 80c per 80-pound bag or 90 pounds bulk and to retailers 90c per 80-pound bag. No. 1 stock of new Florida potatoes were $8 per 160-pound barrel and No. 2 brand was quoted at $6 a barrel.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 7. — Fractional advances occurred in wheat prices yesterday, although trading was extremely dull on the Grain Exchange. Ranging throughout the day within ¾c, quotations at the close succeeded in showing an increase of ⅛c to ⅛c above Tuesday.

Scattered selling of the deferred month by Chicago interests and a few purchases for foreign account were the only signs of life appearing in the pit. Export trade overnight was very light, but demand for Canadian wheat is expected to improve shortly.

Unchanged to slightly below the previous close described cash wheat and coarse-grain values. This part of the market was also inactive, although a fair demand appeared for barley on behalf of export interests.

Bunker Is Blamed For Death Of His Son

TORONTO, Ont., May 7 (C.P.).—A coroner's jury held Wilbur N. Bunker responsible for the death of his three-year-old son in a verdict returned following an inquest into the child's death here last night.

Bunker was found on April 23 last by neighbors huddled in the corner of the bathroom at his home with neck and wrists gashed. In the bathtub was found the body of the child lying in several inches of water.

Jeans And Hubble Peer For Solutions Of World Mysteries

PASADENA, Cal., May 6—Two minds, bent upon vast distances, communed to-day over the threshold of man's knowledge of the universe. They were Dr. Edwin Hubble of Mt. Wilson, who from the turret of the world's largest telescope explores distances inconceivably greater than any other man sees, and Sir James H. Jeans, British astronomer, perhaps the world's most daring thinker in his expressed views about the changing universe.

Their discussion hinged upon the red shift of estra-galactic island universes. This to-day is one of the foremost questions in astronomy. It is the thing that made Prof. Albert Einstein change his mind about a stable, finite universe.

Jeans today met Dr. H. A. Kramers, professor of theoretical physics of the University of Utrecht, in a lecture before the Carnegie Institution of Washington astronomers. Kramer explained his work which led to the discovery of the Raman effect, the principle of incoherent scattering of light.

declaring that all expense and worry had been born by the people of the town. Commissioner Blue also favored giving the discount to the town users only.

Chairman Riendeau stated that he himself was in favor of giving the discount to all the users, saying that the farmer thought he should get the same privileges as the town users but as it was the wish of the board to allow the discount to those only in the corporation limits, the motion would read to that effect.

Engineer R. Scott, speaking on the subject pointed out that all users of town power in Seymour township were under special contract.

Meter Building

Mr. Scott brought to the attention of the board the question of a proper place for the storing, repairing and testing of meters. He read a letter from the government inspector in which that official stated that the Campbellford storage was not a suitable storage for this purpose and did not comply with the Inspection Act, and urged that this matter be taken up by the board.

This brought a reply from Chairman Riendeau, who stated that he hoped in the near future that a proper place would be obtained for this purpose, pointing out that arrangements had been made for the renting of the old town hall for the purpose of a storage and garage for the Commission. He suggested, however, that with some re-modeling this building could also house the office of the Commission, pointing out that it was for the board to decide if the site was suitable for this purpose. He thought also that the town council should be approached to see if they would consider joining up with the board on this project and having the offices of the town clerk in the same location. At present the hall was only rented as a storage for the Commission Board.

Mayor Bygott, speaking in regard to this matter said that he thought that the board should talk the matter over with the finance committee of the council, and suggested that both bodies examine the property. He stated that he was calling a meeting early next week and would try and arrange that the matter be taken up then.

Chairman Riendeau assured Mayor Bygott that the board would co-operate financially with the scheme. Mr. Scott thought that the question of getting together wih the council on this project was a step in the right direction.

Town Grant

The question of a grant from the Water and Light Commission to the town was broached by Mayor Bygott. In seeking information on this matter he stated that he wanted this information before the rate could be struck for this year. He pointed out that the council was making every effort to bring the rate down below fifty mills this year and asked that the board generously consider this request.

Chairman Riendeau declared that he was willing to give what he could to the town at the same time pointing out that the Commission must carry a sufficient balance for emergency. He intimated, however, that the town could figure on a $15,000 grant from the board this year, Commissioner Blue favoring this figure.

The question of arrears amounting to $1,812.35 was brought up and discussed, it being the feeling of the board that the collection of these arrears be left to the manager; he to use his own judgment in the individual cases.

CANADA'S NATIONAL LOAN.

A central committee headed by Sir Charles Gordon, president of the Bank of Montreal, has been formed by the Federal Government for the purpose of pushing to a successful conclusion the coming Dominion of Canada conversion loan.

Planned to take care of more than a billion dollars, this national loan is a matter of the greatest importance to the whole country, which explains the formation of a strong organization which will seek support for the loan on the same scale as that accorded the Victory Loans.

The successful handling of this big operation will solve one of the most pressing financial problems with which the Dominion Government has to deal, and general co-operation is expected in view of what is involved.

The personnel of the committee, which includes many of Canada's leading financiers, is a guarantee that the campaign will be carried on with vigor, intelligence and undoubtedly with marked success.

BADLY TIED UP.

Instructions sent out by the chief counsel of the Board of Pension Commissioners at Ottawa in regard to proceedings before the pensions tribunal would seem to indicate that the hearing of cases is to be further tied up.

While veterans are complaining that at the rate the machinery is now working it will be ten years before some of the appeals already registered are heard, the chief counsel has laid down new rules that will further complicate matters.

The tribunals and the appeal court have been struggling to get from under the thousands of cases with which they will have to deal.

It may be, as a Barrie veteran pointed out in a speech the other night, that there is too much law and not enough common sense about the administration of the Pensions Act—if such is the case, the latest instructions calling for rules of evidence are not likely to speed up the process.

The whole plan looked reasonable when it was adopted by Parliament in the spring of 1930, but it is not working out well—whether the fault lies in the system itself or in the manner in which it is being administered, or in both, is something that in the interest of the veterans themselves and of the whole country should be determined as speedily as possible.

TOO BIG A PRICE.

The fact that the annual meeting of the Dominion Fire Protection Association is to be held in Toronto tomorrow suggests obviously the thought that there is every need of such an organization in this country.

Figures supplied by the association are a ghastly indictment of Canadian carelessness in the matter of guarding against fire hazards.

Let this fact sink in: Last year 233 people lost their lives in fires in Canada.

The majority of those citizens would be alive today were it not for their own or somebody else's carelessness.

On top of this appalling sacrifice of human life there was a staggering property loss.

$46,000,000 worth of Canadian property was part of the price the fire fiend extracted from the people of the Dominion last year.

The Dominion Fire Protection Association believes that at least half of the annual fire waste is preventable; other fire experts place the proportion of fires that could be eliminated as higher than that figure, but it is generally agreed by all who have studied the subject that greater care in the matter of fire hazards would materially reduce the number of fires in this country, save many lives and effect a marked reduction in the annual fire loss.

233 lives and $46,000,000 in property loss is too heavy a price to pay for lack of ordinary precaution.

SETTING A NEW RECORD.

When it comes to a question of wasting time, the present session of Parliament promises to set a new record.

That can be realized in the light of the rare spectacle of the Senate complaining because it has not had enough work to do.

After the debate on the address, finally terminated after it had been dragged out to an unheard-of length, there was some hope that the House might be able to get down to business.

That expectation has been blasted, however, by a want of confidence motion, fathered by a western Liberal, which has allowed members from the Prairie Provinces to cut loose with another avalanche of complaints as to conditions in the West.

This topic was worn thread-bare during the preliminary debate, as a contemporary points out, is being argued all over again on this motion, and will have to be dished out once more when the budget debate gives the necessary opportunity.

This particular want of confidence resolution is a sheer waste of the time of the House and an obstacle to the transaction of business.

It is developing no new ideas, and it has no hope of being carried; all that it is doing, in fact, is to allow a group of members to say all over again what they have already said at wearisome length, and will say for a third time when the budget comes down.

If all this talking could help the people of the West it would be justified, but the unfortunate part of it all is that nothing of a constructive nature can be pushed forward when the channel of business is jammed by motions that can get nowhere.

SO WE SAY A LOUD BAH!

Gradually we become accustomed to almost anything at all, but now and then we run across things which make us blink.

This for instance: A. F. Gorton, who provides raiment and victuals for himself by dealing in weather notices in California, was giving an address in Washington the other day when he predicted that it would be possible to tell 25 years in advance what the weather is going to be.

Of course, Gorton is a specialist, but we cannot help recalling that a specialist is really only a common man away from home. Basing our conclusions on that rule of thumb we are inclined to be very skeptical regarding this prediction.

We get weather reports every day now, and they speak in terms of depressions and areas of high and low pressure and many other things which we never could clearly understand. We accept them in faith, believing that a depression must exist even if we cannot see it. Even those reports which seek to tell what is going to take place a mere 24 hours in advance are not more than 72 per cent. perfect. So how under the sun is any man in his right senses going to give us weather reports 25 years in advance?

What's more, we don't want them 25 years in advance. We like that little weather story day by day; it is an interesting thing to put in the paper and people look for it. Then, too, it would utterly destroy the old family almanac with the yellow cover. Joyfully do we read that almanac in spare times, telling as it does of limping and hobbling men being restored to the vigor of perfect health, and of fading women again tracing their steps toward the full bloom of abundant beauty.

No, we are not going to be carried away by this 25 years in advance weather report. Not by a jug full. We think this Mr. Gorton was talking through his hat. —Stratford Beacon-Herald.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

Of national importance is the announcement recently made by Mr. Bennett that a measure is to be introduced at Ottawa intended to create a system of unemployment insurance upon a contributory basis with the Dominion Government, the Provincial Governments and the workers themselves bearing their shares of the cost.

It may be easily understood that, in spite of the discussion upon this subject that has been under way for a great length of time, further study is required before such a system is put into force, and the Prime Minister is correct in urging that some delay shall take place before the measure becomes law.

The method which he proposes to adopt is to make use of the returns from the decennial census as a basis for the investigation. He will then summon a federal-provincial conference at which the terms of the contributions will be discussed, and should a definite agreement be reached upon this question, he will proceed to put the necessary legislation into effect.

Mr. Bennett mentions some of the difficulties that must be faced before reaching a decision upon this momentous question:

"Among the questions which must be considered were: What should be the amount of the premium charged? Who should be insured? Should the plan include only industrial workers or what classes of workers? Should administration be by the State or commission? Into the question of premiums must come the subsidiary questions as to average employment of the insured and the amount required per week during unemployment.

"Differentiation between classes of workers was another question. Should a carpenter who, in this climate, was frequently unemployed in the winter, receive the same benefit and pay the same premium as the office worker? Then there was the question of interest on the funds. Some insurance companies computed the earnings of their reserves on no more than 2½ per cent. basis. What basis would be necessary for this fund? 'We are dealing here,' said Mr. Bennett, 'with a problem of the first magnitude. We are not dealing with something that can be done to-day and undone to-morrow. We are dealing with a problem, the success of which is predicated on our skill to look 50 years into the future.'"

The question of unemployment insurance does, indeed, demand searching investigation and the most careful planning, since Canada will be laying the foundations of a system that will prevail for many years and that may well be subject to abuse and lead to undue strain upon both national and provincial resources if the structure is built in a faulty manner.

In view of the advocacy for a number of years by those who are now in opposition of the establishment of some contributory system of unemployment insurance, it is not at all likely that the Government will meet with any obstacles from that source, since there seems to be rather general agreement that some provision should be made for dealing with recurring periods of unemployment by other means than by the distribution of direct relief or the inception of public works. But it will be futile to embark upon such a scheme unless the Provinces as a whole are willing to enter into it upon a contributory basis. The situation which followed the introduction of old age pensions, with some Provinces becoming parties to the agreement and others refusing to do so, should not be repeated.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"We cannot go much further in this direction," said Ja, "or we shall all perish."

"Perhaps you are right," said David. "You four turn back to the southeast and I will go yet a little further to the north and overtake you when I have satisfied myself that a thing that I believe is true."

"No," cried Tanar, "we shall remain together. Where you go we shall go."

"Yes," said Ja, "we shall not abandon you."

"Just a little further north, then," said David, "and I shall be ready to turn back with you," and so they forged ahead over snow covered ground into the deepening gloom that filled the souls of the Pellucidarians with terror. But after a while the wind changed and blew from the south and the snow melted and the air became balmy again, and the light increased, though the midday sun of Pellucidar was now scarcely visible behind them.

"I cannot understand it," said Ja. 'Why should it become lighter again, although the sun is over further away behind us?"

"I do not know," said Tanar. "Ask David."

"I can only guess," said David, "and my guess seems so preposterous that I dare not voice it."

"Look!" cried Stellara, pointing ahead. "It is the sea."

"Yes," said Gura, "a grey sea; it does not look like water."

"And what is that?" cried Tanar. "There is a great fire upon the sea."

"And the sea does not curve upward in the distance," cried Stellara, "Everything is wrong in this country and I am afraid."

David had stopped in his tracks and was staring at the deep red glow ahead. The others gathered around him and watched it, too.

"What is it?" demanded Ja.

"It can be but one thing," replied David; "and yet I know that it cannot be that thing. The very idea is ridiculous. It is impossible and outlandish."

"But what might it be?" demanded Stellara.

"The sun," replied David.

"But the sun is almost out of sight behind us," Gura reminded him.

"I do not mean the sun of Pellucidar," replied David; "but the sun of the outer world from which I came."

The others stood in silent awe, watching the edge of a blood red disc that seemed to be floating upon a gray ocean across whose reddened surface a brilliant pathway of red and gold led from the shore line to the blazing orb, where the sea and sky seemed to meet.

"Now," said Stellara, "we can go no further;" nor indeed could they for east and west and north stretched a great, sullen sea and along the shore-line at their feet great ice cakes rose and fell with sullen roars and loud reports as the sea ground the churning mass.

For a long time David Innes, Emperor of Pellucidar, stood staring out across that vast and desolate waste of water.

"What lies beyond?" he murmured to himself, and then, shaking his head, he turned away. "Come," he said, "let us strike back for Sari."

His companions received his words with shouts of joy. Smiles replaced the half-troubled expressions that had marked their drawn faces since the moment that they had discovered that their beloved noonday sun was being left behind them.

With light steps, with laughter and joking, they faced the long, arduous journey that lay ahead of them.

During the second march, after they had turned back from the northern sea, Gura discovered a strange object to the left of their line of march.

"It looks as though it might be some queer sort of native hut," she said.

"We shall have to investigate it," said David, and the five made their way to the side of the strange object.

It was a large, heavy, wicker basket that lay inverted upon the barren ground. All about it were the rotted remnants of cordage.

At David's suggestion the men turned the basket over upon its side. Beneath it they found well preserved remnants of oiled silk and a network of fine cord.

"What is it?" asked Stellara.

"It is the basket and all that remains of the gas bag of a balloon," said David.

"What is a balloon," asked the girl, "and how did it get here?"

"I can explain what a balloon is," said David; "but if I were positive that I was correct in my conjecture as to how it came here, I would hold the answer to a thousand questions that have puzzled the men of the outer crust for ages." For a long time he stood silently contemplating the weather-worn basket. His mind submerged in thought was oblivious to all else. "If I only knew," he mused. "If I only knew, and yet how else could it have come here? What else could that red disc upon the horizon of the sea have been other than the midnight sun of the arctic regions."

"What in the world are you talking about?" demanded Gura.

"The poor devils," mused David apparently oblivious of the girl's presence. "They made a greater discovery than they could have hoped for in their wildest dreams. I wonder if they lived to realize it."

Slowly he removed his fur cap and stood facing the basket with bowed head, and for some unaccountable reason, which they could not explain, his companions bared their heads and followed his example. And after they had resumed their journey it was a long time before David Innes could shake off the effects of that desolate reminder of one of the world's most pathetic tragedies.

So anxious were the members of the party to reach the cheering warmth of the beloved Pellucidar that they knew, that they pressed on toward the south with the briefest of rests; nor were they wholly content until once more their shadows lay directly beneath them.

Sari, lying slightly east of south, their return from the north took them over a different route from that which they had followed up from Korsar. Of course the Pellucidarians did not know these points of compass as north or south, and even David Innes carried them in his mind more in accordance with the Pellucidarian scheme than that with which he had been familiar upon the outer crust.

Naturally, with the sun always at Zenith and with no stars and no moon and no planets, the Pellucidarians have been compelled to evolve a different system of indicating direction than that with which we are familiar. By instinct they knew the direction in which their own country lies and each Pellucidarian reckons all directions from this base line, and he indicates other directions in a simple and ingenious manner.

Suppose you were from Sari and were traveling from the ice girt sea above, Korsar to any point upon Pellucidar you would set and maintain your course in this manner. Extend the fingers of your right hand and hold it in a horizontal position, palm down, directly in front of your body, your little finger pointing in the direction of Sari—a direction which you know by instinct—and your thumb pointing to the left directly at right angles to the line in which your little finger is pointing. Now spread your left hand in the same way and lower it on top of your right hand, so that the little finger of your left hand exactly covers the little fingers of your righ hand.

You will now see the fingers and thumbs of your two hands cover an arc of one hundred and eighty degrees.

Sari lies southeast of Korsar, while The Land of Awful Shadow lies due south. Therefore a Sarian pointing in the direction toward The Land of Awful Shadow would say that he was traveling two left fingers from Sari, since the middle finger of the left hand would be pointing about due south toward The Land of Awful Shadows. If he were going in the opposite direction, or north, he would merely add the word "back," saying that he was traveling two left fingers back from Sari, so that by this plan every point of compass is roughly covered, and with sufficient accuracy for all the requirements of the primitive Pellucidarians. The fact that when one is traveling to the right of hisestablished base line and indicates it by mentioning the fingers of his left hand might, at first be deemed confusing, but, of course, having followed this system for ages, it is perfectly intelligible to the Pellucidarians.

When they reached a point at which the city of Korsar lay three right fingers back from Sari, they were, in reality, due east of the Korsar city. They were now in fertile, semi-tropical land teeming with animal life. The men were armed with pistols as well as spears, bows and arrows and knives; while Stellara and Gura carried light spears and knives, and seldom was there a march that did not witness an encounter with one or more of the savage beasts of the primeval forests, verdue clad hills or rolling plains across which their journey led them.

They long since had abandoned any apprehension of pursuit or capture by the Korsars and while they had skirted the distant hinterland claimed by Korsar and had encountered some of the natives upon one or two occasions, they had seen no member of the ruling class with the result that for the first time they had fallen into the clutches of the enemy they felt a sense of unquestioned freedom And though the other dangers that beset their way might appear appalling to one of the outer world, they had no such effect upon any one of the five, whose experiences of life had tended to make then wholly self-reliant, and, while constantly alert and watchful, unoppressed by the possibility of future calamity. When danger suddenly confronted them, they were ready to meet it. After it had passed they did not depress their spirits by anticipating the next encounter.

Ja and David were anxious to return to their mates, but Tanar and Stellara were supremely happy because they were together, and Gura was content merely to be near Tanar. Sometimes she recalled Balal, her brother, for he had been kind to her, but Scurv and Sloo and Dhung she tried to forget.

Thus they were proceeding, a happy and contented party, when, with the suddenness and unexpectness of lightning out of a clear sky, disaster overwhelmed them.

They had been passing through a range of low, rocky hills and were descending a narrow gorge on the Sari side of the range when, turning the shoulder of a hill, they came face to face with a large party of Korsars, fully a hundred strong. The leaders saw and recognized them instantly and a shout of savage triumph that broke from their lips was taken up by all their fellows.

David, who was in the lead, saw that resistance would be futile and in the instant his plan was formed.

"We must separate," he said. "Tanar, you and Stellara go together. Ja take Gura with you, and I shall go in a different direction, for we must not all be captured. One, at least, must escape to return to Sari. If it is not I, then let the one who wins through take this message to Ghak and Perry. Tell Perry that I am positive that I have discovered that there is a polar opening in the outer crust leading into Pelluciadr and that if he ever gets in radio communication with the outer world, he must inform them of this fact. Tell Ghak to rush his forced by sea on Korsar, aswell as by land. And now, good-bye, and each for himself."

Turning in their tracks, the five fled up the gorge and being far more active and agile than the Korsars, they outdistanced them, and though the rattle of musketry followed them and bits of iron and stone fell about them, or whizzed past them, no one was struck.

Almost at the summit and within the reach of safety, Tanar and Stellara found their way blocked by a sheer, cliff, which, while not more than fifteen feet in height, was absolutely unscalable; nor could they find footing upon the steep ravine sides to the right or left, and as they stood there in this cul-de-sac, their backs to the wall, a party of twenty or thirty Korsars, toiling laboriously up the ravine, cut off their retreat.

SOME DEBT

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—The Canadian National capital returns have been tabled at Ottawa in response to a demand by a Conservative member.

They make a ghastly show—over 2,000 millions owed by the people of Canada who bought the railway. Meighen did that. I voted against it because Canada was being fed in chunks of raw flesh to the financial lions but I got censured by the party at home and the masses who pay for it in the long run didn't know any better than to censure me also. They will think differently now; that is if they are capable of thinking.

With the collapse of business the C.N.R. deficits are terrible. The people must meet them all. The lions demand it and the victims can't help it. Poor things!

J. H. Burnham.

SHOPPING IN PETERBOROUGH

To the Editor, Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I see by The Examiner that your merchants are going to have a meeting on Friday night to discuss matters for the summer such as half holidays, early closing, etc. It may be possible that business is still so good that your store keepers can disregard the signs of the times. Peterborough is a fine city, and is looked upon as the business centre, as well as the tourist shopping centre for this district. You are advertising yourselves as the gateway to the Kawartha Lakes, and in the past one half day each week you are not open to do business, and you know the tourist business is worth going after these days, and you lose as well a lot of business from the district. If you close at 5.30 this means 4.30 for anyone shopping in Peterborough outside of the city. It is your business of course what you do, but what with parking by-laws, daylight saving, early closing, and other things, it seems to us outside who wish to shop in Peterborough that our opportunities are getting less each year.

There are a great number of people nowadays looking for work and the man who has a job had better look after it, and the merchants of Peterborough just at present should cater in every way to hold the business they have at present. There is not a super abundance of it floating around.

Every country store hopes you will have early closing, daylight saving, and half holidays galore, as their business about doubles during the time these regulations are in effect.

Can you not arrange to let those stores remain open that desire to do so?

However, as I said before it is really none of my business, so go to it. I am not worrying where to buy stuff I want. I am much more concerned in selling what I raise on my farm.

Yours truly,
Rural Route No. 8.

THE CEMENT PURCHASE

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In The Examiner of May 2, I read a news item to the effect that the City Fathers have again bought the cement for city work from St. Mary's, Quebec.

Regardless of your square deal editorial about the same thing some time ago, they have done the same thing over again. I don't know why. It may be that they have some reason, political or otherwise, for the small difference in price should not be any consideration, when the trade balance between the cement employees and your city is summed up

I am only an employee of the Lakefield plant and since your editorial last winter, I have done a little investigating about the same, and will give you a few facts from the viewpoint of the employees:

In normal times we have about 140 employed at plant 7. Of this number there are about 60 who go to Peterborough once and sometimes twice a week. Nearly all of them take friends with them who buy supplies too. A large percentage buy for other families too, who are unable to go.

I have averaged as nearly as possible the money left in Peterborough by the employees and a conservative estimate would be $900 a week when the plant is running full time.

This seems a large sum to be spent in the city from employees of one company of another town, but when you consider the number of cars bought, the household necessities and the theatres and also that Peterborough is our only large buying point, being only nine miles away, it doesn't look so big.

What the Cement Company spends in Peterborough I could not say but in your editorial, if I remember rightly, you stated ten thousand dollars yearly and I estimate that you have not overstated the amount.

I have spoken to a large number of employees and they are certainly peeved. As one remarked, "It looks to me as though they were letting us know that our trade was no good to them and that they did not want it. I wouldn't mind so much if it had been a company anyways near, but to send to an outside province with a plant at home is certainly a slap in the face. If they won't deal with us, then why should we deal with them?"

The Cement Company has one peculiar feature. It is like one large family from the officers down to the employees. They are loyal to their Company and to each other to a degree second only to their loyalty to King and Country. So when you hit one, the whole family is hit and we, the employees can only come to one conclusion, that when Peterborough sends out of our province for cement when we manufacture the best grade in Canada right at their door and when times here are so hard, the city doesn't appreciate or care for the money we spend there.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
Square Deal.

PIVOT ISSUES SUPPLY ACTION

S. P. R. Sells Down to 27 5-8 From Colse of 31 3-4 Last Night.

NICKEL UNCHANGED.

TORONTO, Ont., May 7.—(CP)—Without displaying real weakness, except in the case of Canadian Pacific Railway, the Toronto stock exchange market conceded fractions in most groupings this morning. The volume of the market as a whole was again exceedingly small and the list embraces only the pivotal issues.

The break in C.P.R. came right at the opening when the local market was brought into line with London, which had witnessed a reaction in C.P.R. before the markets on this continent opened. Last night the stock had closed at 31¾; this morning it sold down to 27 5-8 which has not been duplicated since 1902 when the old stock got down to 110.

Smelters, a week spot and down to a new low for the past five or six years at 90 yesterday, opened around 92 this morning and later climbed to 94. In late sales yesterday Smelters had rebounded to 95 so that at 94 it was off a point.

International Nickel was unchanged at midday at 14½ in light trading. Noranda was firm at the opening but dipped later and sold off more than 1½ points. Brazilian Bell Telephone and most of the oils were unchanged, although N. A. oil and Imperial both opened fractionally lower.

Page-Hersey dropped a couple of points to 78 and Ford of Canada was easier at 20 1-8. Standard Paving lost one point to 11.

Smelters To Make Its Bonus Payment

MONTREAL, Que., May 7 (C.P.)—Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Limited, will make its regular half-yearly bonus payment in stock rather than cash, it was announced at the annual general meeting of shareholders yesterday by J. J. Warren, president, in the course of his address. Payment of the usual $5 bonus will be made by the allotment of one share for each 20 held. The regular dividend of five per cent will be made in cash.

The Consolidated president, Mr. Warren, said that lead producers of the world had been successful in reaching an agreement with respect to the lead output, with the exception of those in the United States, while efforts are are now being made to bring the nine producers into an agreement.

Mack Truck Has Lost in Quarter

NEW YORK, May 7.—Mack Truck, Inc., for the quarter ended March 31, reports a net loss of $178,737 after depreciation, etc., as compared with a net profit of $490,709, or 64 cents a share on 763,320 shares of common in the first quarter of 1930. The company issued the following statement:

"Operations during the first quarter continued at a very low rate during January and February, but with a somewhat increased volume during March, with resultant operating profit for that month.

"During the first quarter, general selling and factory expenses had been materially reduced to conform with the lower rate of operations. The company has no bank loans. It has cash on hand of approximately $5,000,000."

E. H. Simmons Warns On Stock Swindles

NEW YORK, May 7. — In times of uncertainty, as at present, the security swindler seeks a harvest and business must be vigilantly policed. E. H. H. Simmons, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, said Wednesday.

At the ninth annual meeting of the New York City Bureau at the Yale Club, he praised the activities of the Better Business Bureau and added:

"Unfortunately, credulity is not destroyed by depression. With many people, disillusionment is only too apt to produce an intense and unreasonable craving for easy cures and magical remedies."

GILLETTE SWITCHING.

NEW YORK, May 7. — Although relative firmness of Gillette Safety Razor reflects primarily the activity of a bull pool in the stock, it also has been favored of late by switching. One of the senior executives of the company, according to report, has been shifting part of his preferred stock holdings into the common. This stock, once a prime investment for New England, has gone through a very severe deflation, in line with forecasts made here many months ago. The bear group which had been active in the stock long ago completed its operation and now the stock is left free to discount the company's new prospects since its merger with a former competitor.

FREIGHT RATE CUT

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 7 (C.P.).—A reduction in ocean freight rates has resulted in a decline in the price of export copper amounting to approximately 9 cents a ton.

The rate cut has made the export price of metal 9.775 cents a pound C.I.F. European base ports compared with the previous price of 9.80 cents.

BANK CLEARINGS.

Bank Clearings, week ending May 7, 1931.—Toronto, $143,070,855; Brantford, $1,168,975; Sudbury, $814,480; Kingston, $867,224.

PARTY STATES POLICY CHANGE

AIM IS 400 CANDIDATES.

LONDON, May 7 (C.P.)—An important change of policy was announced to-day by the New Party under Sir Oswald Mosley, wealthy young Socialist and former member of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's Cabinet.

Instead of fighting all by-elections as they occur, the party will conserve all its energies for the next general elections. Sir Oswald, when he formed his party some weeks ago, announced they would contest all by-elections and a start was made in Ashton-under-Lyne, when a Conservative recaptured the seat from Labor in a triangular fight with official Labor and New Party candidates.

The announcement was made along with the statement that the party did not intend to contest the by-election in Gateshead caused by the death of Sir James Melville, Labor member.

Some Labor members were inclined to blame the intervention of the New Party for the loss of the Ashton seat to the Conservative Party.

It has been frequently stated that the aim of the New Party is to put 400 candidates in the field in the general elections. Such a number, however, would appear to be beyond the reach even of the wealthy Sir Oswald, unless his party receive a greatly increased measure of popular support before the election comes.

In the last five years Edinburgh decreased its street accidents 40 per cent, while the rest of Scotland showed an increase of 33 per cent.

President Dying Signs Diplomas

WACO, Tex., May 17. — In a dying condition Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor University for more than 20 years, cheerfully set himself to the task of signing diplomas for this year's graduating class as a farefell to the student body.

At commencement time surgeons predict Dr. Brooks will be in his grave. He is suffering from an abdominal malady and has been told he has only a few weeks to live.

In spite of warnings that his strength will be unduly sapped, the university president has completed the signing of 100 of the more than 400 diplomas to be issued. He will continue until the task is completed or his strength fails him.

From his bed at the Central Texas Baptist Sanitarium he sent a message of courage to the students yesterday. He said he realized the end was near, but wanted his students to "carry on."

Winnipeg Review

Special Service to The Examiner through the courtesy of E. J. Bawlf Company, Grain and Stock Brokers, of Toronto

The wheat market yesterday generally speaking, was rather a dull, featureless affair, but prices held firm within a narrow range. Export sales overnight were confined to a few scattered loads, but during the first half hour there was a good class of buying going on that was credited to seaboard or New York interests. Opening prices were unchanged, but after the early demand was satisfied the market eased off, prices falling 3-8 to ½ under Tuesday's nights close. On this recession there was again fair support offered by exporters, and one house reported having worked 450,000 bushels for export.

Saskatoon reported another dust storm and these two features helped to strengthen up the market, and prices reacted to the highs of the day.

Flour business was generally very quiet. The stock market was weak, and this had some influence, creating a further lack of confidence in all commodities as well as securities.

Liverpool closed 3-8 lower and Buenos Aires was unchanged to 1-8 higher at mid-day. Canadian exports the past week were reported at 6,372,000 bushels and since July 1st 195,467,000 bushels as compared with 134,712,000 for the same period a year ago. U.S. Exports last week were 1,147,000 and since July 1st 129,625,000 bushels.

Country marketings in Western Canada Tuesday were 247,000 as against 81,000 a year ago.

Feel friendly to wheat but advise watching weather conditions very closely

Coarse Grains.—Were all firm. There was further export business in Barley, while there was fair buying of Rye by export interests.

Liverpool cables due 3-8 higher based on Winnipeg.

C.P.R. SUFFERS 3 1-2 POINT DROP

SMELTERS UP ½ POINT.

MONTREAL, Que., May 7.—(CP)—The unsettled tone of the Montreal stock market at the opening to-day was continued throughout the morning session.

Canadian Pacific Railway stock apparently due to the dividend announced late yesterday, suffered a price decline right at the opening, when the common shares sold off 3½ points from yesterday's close to touch a new low at 28.

Consolidated Mining and Smelting, eased off fractionally at the opening, but recovered to 94½ at noon for a net gain of ½ point. Brazilian was off ¼ at 16, Nickel dropped ¼ at 14¼, Dominion Bridge fell off 7-8 to 31 7-8, Dominion Glass yielded 2 points at 108, Montreal Power lost ¾ at 54, National Breweries was off 1¼ at 28½, Power Corporation lost 1 point at 52, Quebec Power dropped 1¾ at 35¾, Shawinigan lost ½ at 41, and Sherwin-Williams picked up 1 point at 30.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 7 (C.P.).—Prime mercantile paper 2¼ to 2½ per cent.

Foreign exchange steady; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents) Great Britain, 4.86 3-8; France, 3.90 7-8; Italy, 5.23½; Germany, 23.80½; Canadian dollar at 1-16 of one per cent. discount.

BELL TELEPHONE TO ISSUE 10,000 ADDITIONAL SHARES

The announcement that the Montreal Stock Exchange will list 10,000 additional shares of $100 par value of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, on official notice of issuance, has resulted in a number of enquiries reaching Financial Service as to the exact reason why the Company is deciding to issue additional stock at the present time.

In some quarters, it has been taken to mean that the Bell Telephone Company of Canada is negotiating for the acquisition of a number of small telephone units in the Province of Quebec and the new stock will be utilized for such a purpose. In fact, it has been long rumored that the Bell Telphone has been after control of the Quebec Telephone and Power Corporation.

In conversation with an official of the Bell Telephone company of Canada, Financial Service was informed that there was no truth in any of the rumors that the company was issuing new stock for the immediate acquisition of other companies. It was stated that the company from time to time gave notice of the issuance of new stock, the shares being kept in the treasury and disposed of when and as seen fit by the management. Whilst no denial was made of possible future negotiations between the Bell Telephone Company and other independent units, it was intimated that there was nothing in the immediate situation to warrant the expectation that merger negotiations were in progress.

At present market levels for Bell Telephone, the 10,000 shares to be issued have an approximate market value of $1,420,000.

Rain In Wheat Belt Weakens Grain Price

CHICAGO, Ill., May 7 (C.P.).—Rains in Canadian spring wheat territory tending to relieve drought anxiety, gave an early downward impulse to grain prices today. The moisture, however, was of only a scattered sort. Opening 1-8 to 5-8 cents off, wheat afterward continued to sag. Corn started at 5-8 decline to ¼ advance and subsequently a general setback.

LOSSES FEATURE STANDARD TRADE

Noranda Declines Point and Half to $22.50 Under Selling Pressure.

TECK-HUGHES DOWN 20

TORONTO, Ont., May 7.—Light selling characterized trading on the mining market today, losses predominating in all sections of the list at mid-day.

Noranda was under pressure, price declining a point and a half from last night to $22.50 when taken. International Nickel was quiet but Hudson Bay eased 10 to $4.40. Sudbury Basin and Ventures recovered 5 apiece, but Sherritt Gordon was off a point at 79.

Teck-Hughes saw some fairly heavy liquidation just at noon and was down 20 to $7.70. Mining Corp. declined 6 to $2.14. Other higher-priced golds were steady. In the cheaper golds Moffatt-Hall was fractionally higher, but Dominion Explorers, Macassa, Big Missouri, Gem Lake and Premier dropped from one to four cents each.

Ajax Oil, yesterday's strong spot, lost momentum on the opening and dropped 10 from the previous close. Sarnia was off a like amount to 65. Chemical Research regained 49 to $3.60 and small advances appeared in Acme and Nordon.

Crude Oil Output Increased In Week

NEW YORK, May 7. — American Petroleum Institute estimates that the daily average gross crude oil production in the United States for the week ended May 2, 1931, was 2,475,100 barrels as compared with 2,424,300 barrels for May 2, 1931, was 2,475,100 barrels for the preceding week, an increase of 50,800 barrels.

The daily average production east of California was 1,948,600 barrels, as compared with 1,896,200 barrels, an increase of 52,400 barrels.

Economic Situation Reviewed By Congress

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 7.—(AP)—A general resolution summarizing the world exonomic situation and suggesting ways of improving it was in the process of formulation to-day in a series of meetings of national committees of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Although differences of opinion were apparent, especially over suggestions for a continuing study of war debts in the light of the decline in commodity prices. Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the United States section, said "everybody is working toward a common end and when it comes to a show down, to-morrow or Saturday, there will be no differences of opinion."

Pulpwood Industry Likely Go To South

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 7.—Dr. Charles A. Herty, industrial consulting chemist, believes the newsprint and wood pulp industry will shift from Canada and New England to the south. He displayed sample paper made from southern slash pine trees at the exposition of chemical industries yesterday.

The sample paper, he explained, was pulped by the ordinary sulphite process by the Federal Department of Agriculture and so far has proved successful. This indicated that shlash short leaf and long leaf pine hitherto considered useless for newsprint, could not be utilized.

Paper makers considered southern pines contained too much resin for pulp, but new tests, Dr. Herty explained, showed that pine contained little resin the first 25 years of its life.

In the warm southern climate, pine would grow much faster than Canadian spruce, Dr. Herty pointed out. He estimated the present growth covered 150,000,000 acres.

THREE CANADIAN BANKS INCLUDED IN 20 WORLD'S LARGEST

The California Bank of Los Angeles has again issued an interesting little list of the hundred and fifty large t banks in the United States and the British Empire. In the list, size is measured in terms of the amount of deposit liabilities of the banks.

In the list, as given, the largest bank in the English-speaking world is Chase National Bank, of New York, which, following the amalgamations of the past year, passed the Midland Bank for the first time; after the Chase National Bank, three Joint Stock Banks of London—Midland, Lloyds and Barclays. Fifth place is occupied by the National City Bank, while the other two of the Big Five, the National Provincial and the Westminster, are seventh and eighth.

The Royal Bank of Canada is ranked thirteenth, with the Bank of Montreal immediately below it and the Canadian Bank of Commerce in the nineteenth place.

Bigness in banks, however, is not a matter of the first importance, and some question may be raised as to whether the importance of a banking institution is best measured by its deposit liabilities.

"Walking In Sleep" Man Falls 3 Stories

NEW YORK, May 7.—"Guess I was walking in my sleep."

So Edward Wesson, 27, son of David Wesson, head of the Wesson Oil Company, yesterday explained his fall from the third storey window of his home in Montclair, N.J. He was confined to Mountainside Hospital suffering a broken arm and numerous bruises and lacerations. Physicians said he had not been drinking.

New York Man Has 3 Sons Over Six feet

NEW YORK, May 7 (C.P.).—Byron C. Hawley read a newspaper account of a boy of fifteen who had reached the exceptional height of 6 feet 2 inches, and emitted a snort of disgust.

"Now, I have three sons, the shortest 6½ feet, and I never thought anything of it." Mr. Hawsaid. "Just accept it as a matter of course."

The Hawleys assay thus: F. Lee, 16 years old, 6 feet 7 inches, weighs 195 pounds; Edwin J., 19, 6 feet 6 inches, weighs 245; Byron C., Jr., 21, 6 feet 8 inches, weighs 208.

The father is 6 feet 1½ inches. His father was 6 feet 2, and his mother 6 feet.

Copper Prices Are Lowest In 37 Years

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 7 (C.P.)—Sales of copper by Custom Smelters at 9 cents a pound, delivered, were reported yesterday.

The price represents a decline of a quarter of a cent from the Smelters' previous asked price of 9¼ cents and is the lowest level the metal has reached in more than 37 years. Sales however, are extremely slow, and producers are largely unwilling to sell at current prices.

Meanwhile trade circles reported officials of several of the leading copper companies and banking interests closely affiliated with them have discussed a plan for further reduction of copper production at mines operated by American companies.

POLICE PROBING WOMAN'S DEATH

Autopsy on Body Found Near Elizabethtown Reveals No Foul Play Signs.

MONTREAL BELIEVED HOME.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N.Y., May 7.—The investigation into the death and identity of the young woman whose body was found in a forest near the road south of here on Tuesday had taken two short steps forward today.

An autopsy had revealed no evidences of foul play and the authorities were following a faint clue which led them to Montreal.

A woman, whose description closely matched that of the body, spent the nights of March 5 and 6 at an inn here. She was alone and the almost illegible entry in the inn's register of guests was believed to be "E. Baupre." The woman gave Montreal as her home. She left March 7. Montreal has been asked to try and identify such a person.

The District Attorney said the medical examiners found nothing wrong at their autopsy. There was no clue to the identity in the clothes.

The authorities were trying to decide whether the woman died on the bed of boughs beside the road or whether the body was carried there.

BRITISH FORCES SUFFERED THROUGH LACK OF SUPPORT AND INTERFERENCE AT HOME

So Says Major Gerald French in Book on the Lift of Earl of Ypres.

TAKEN FROM DIARY.

LONDON, May 7.—By Thos. T. Champion Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—"The only thing that surprises me is that the British empire finds any men to fight for her. There is never a word of hope or encouragement from any source—nothing but grousing and complaining." This bitter entry is taken from the diary of Field-Marshall the Earl of Ypres—Sir John French—commander of the British Expeditionary Force at the outbreak of the great war and commander of the British army on the Western front until the end of 1915, who died in 1925.

The entry is produced in the book on the life of the Earl of Ypres by his son, Major Gerald French, published to-day. On his account Major French says: "To put the matter in a nutshell, throughout the whole period of his service in command of the British expeditionary force my father was severely handicapped by lack of support and undue interference at home."

Sir John French resigned in December, 1915, and returned home, to be raised to the peerage as the Earl of Ypres. During his term as commander, the chief events were the retreat from Mons, the Battle of the Marne and subsequent advance to the Aisne, the transfer of the expeditionary force to Flanders the desperate fighting in the autumn of 1914. Generally called the first battle of Ypres; the successful Neuve Chapelle offensive undertaken in March, 1915; the second battle of Ypres in April 1915; the abortive operations near Festubert a few days later and the important victory in the region of Loos in September. It is generally conceded that his forces suffered greatly from lack of artillery ammunition up till the last three months of his tenure.

Major French's volume throughout shows itself to be a work of filial piety and probably will do little, if anything to alter the opinions of those who consider themselves qualified to judge the conduct of operations in France during the first and vital year and a half. This is confirmed in part from the reviews by military correspondents of the great newspapers.

The Manchester Guardian concludes its review: "French is not amongst the worlds greatest soldiers, but he stands high among soldiers of the Great War, Which was singularly barren of genius in high places. He was a pre-war soldier and the masses of the Great War overwhelmed him as they did so many others.

"But at a great hour of imperial destiny his country turned to him to lead its army. So long as men do not forget the old contemptibles, they will not forget the man who led them."

Peterborough Girl Honored by Queen's

KINGSTON, Ont., May 7.—Announcement was made at Queen's University to-day that Miss Dorothy Bamforth, of Peterborough, has been chosen for the student exchange with European universities. Miss Bamforth, who received her degree of Bachelor of Arts yesterday, will go to university in Germany.

PURSE IS FOUND IN EMPTY CANOE

Girl Owner and Companion Both Missing Since Last Night.

TORONTO POLICE PROBING.

TORONTO Ont., May 7. (CP)—A canoe half filled with water and containing a woman's purse was found to-day by lifesavers on patrol at Sunnyside beach. The name of Annie O'Rourke, Inglewood Drive, was found in the purse and investigation revealed the girl had been missing from her place of employment since last evening.

At her employer's home it was learned the girl had been keeping company with Edward Hind, of Rusholme Road. Visiting the latter's home police learned he had not been seen since last night.

The canoe which bore the number 2221 corresponded with the number of a boat rented from a livery near the beach last night, the police leanded. The boat however, had not been turned in.

Business Not So Good Declares Dog Catcher

Similar to others, Mark Pengilley, the city's efficient dog catcher, admits that "business is not so good."

Mark said that his daily average is still low—about two dogs. Morning is the quiet period of the day for him, there being few pups around loose then, he states. But in the afternoon things "perk" up as the canines are unleashed to gambol upon neighbors' lawns and flower beds.

Several dogs, mostly mongrels are in the pound, but Mark can't find any owners for them. There is one sad-eyed setter of good breed who also seems disowned now that he has got in the dog catcher's clutches.

Mark states that he is kept busy uncovering dog owners who have been slow in securing tags for their pets.

Even though his business is dull, Mark is not letting up in the performance of his duties, and is on patrol for hours each day.

BATTLE THREATENED BETWEEN PEERS AND BRITISH PEOPLE

further argument or discussion unnecessary, and I must ask Lord Hailsham to accept it as final and conclusive.

Lord Hailsham in reply specifically stated that he had not, and was not now, challenging any privilege of the House of Commons. He frankly recognized the privileges of the commons based on the constitutional position accepted 200 years ago were undoubted. He was equally emphatic that his proposal was not capable of any such interpretation.

—Did Not Challenge Constitution

"I have not challenged the constitution" Lord Hailsham said. "I am not going to be misrepresented as having challenged it. The position I take is that I accept fully the privileges of the commons. They have the absolute right to insist on their privileges. It is quite untrue to say that I asked the government to waive its privileges."

Lord Hailsham charged the government was endeavoring to repeat the tactics of David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, of 1910, by raising the cry: "The peers or the people" to obscure their own failures.

It succeeded in 1910, Lord Hailsham went on but I don't think you can fool all the people all the time. We cannot prevent the government from saying to the people there is some constitutional issue between the peers and the people. All we can do is make it clear that if they say it, they are saying what is not true. I make it quite clear here and now that the issue is not raised in any shape or form.

The Peers would discharge their duty, but they did not desire to challenge the expressed will of the people, Lord Hailsham continued. At the same time that did not mean they were prepared to accept any measure which "any disreputable body is able to get by gerrymandering through the Commons."

Strike Note of Warning

Both Lord Beauchamp and Lord Buckmaster from the Liberal benches struck a note of warning.

Lord Beauchamp declared the Conservative majority in the House of Lords was not entitled to transfer Liberal or Labor legislation by amendments into Conservative legislation. Those tactics had been pursued against the Liberal Government years ago and had resulted in the passage of the Parliament Act, which provides that legislation rejected by the Lords becomes after law two years.

But if similar tactics were again pursued in the House of Lords, Lord Beauchamp continued, he would not be surprised if the Government asked for amendment of the Parliament Act to reduce the time in which a bill automatically becomes law over the veto of the House of Lords.

If the issue was again carried to the people, he was sure the House of Lords would meet with another rebuff, Lord Beauchamp warned.

Lord Buckmaster described Lord Hailsham's proposals as very unwise. He could not think that after 21 years—which had seen the rise of the Labor Party from a small group into the responsibility of office—the opinion of the people had changed.

"The chances are that the verdict of 21 years ago would be repeated," Lord Buckmaster concluded.

Census Is Finished In Spite Of Hold-Up

LONDON, May 7.—(C. PP Cable)—Newspaper charges that the recent census of the United Kingdom was spoiled because 2,000 enumerators, drawn from the ranks of the unemployed, had become dissatisfied with their pay or other conditions and had abandoned their task, were brought up in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Greenwood, Minister of Health, said the census enumeration had now been completely carried out. He admitted 2,000 enumerators had withdrawn before and during the taking of the figures, but that was only a small percentage of the total engaged.

The scale of payment consisted of a fixed fee of $10 with a compilation fee of 75 cents per hundred persons, and an additional allowance in rural areas, he informed a questioner.

ENGINEERS' MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada will be held to-night in the Paragon Hall at 8 o'clock. The entertainment will take the form of a debate by the members of the student and junior sections, followed by a bridge.

WIDE-OPEN, LEGAL GAMBLING DRAWING THOUSANDS TO RENO

Divorces, However, Still Main Attraction—Roadhouses Seldom Raided.

CITIZENS PROTEST.

By Frank Chamberlain

(Special to Examiner, Copyright, 1931.)

RENO, Nevada May 7.—The bus that carries passengers from San Francisco to Reno had hardly backed into the garage on the main street of the "biggest little city in the world" when a portly old gentleman stepped up to me and said, "Brother, can I fix you up with whiskey while you're here? The first drink's on me, just to prove it's real stuff. I can supply it by the pint, quart or gallon."

Reno is like that!

If you can picture a Canadian city considerably smaller than Ottawa—open "high, wide and handsome" with a dozen establishments as big as a sandwich shop carrying on craps, roulette, draw and stud poker and what-have-you just as they do in the Casino at Monte Carlo; and on the outskirts of the city half a dozen roadhouses where legalized gambling, open drinking and dancing goes on all hours of the night—you'll catch something of the outside appearance of this city of 18,00 people, nestled at the base of the High Sierras.

Some of the residents here can't understand what "all the shouting is about. Gambling has gone on here as far back as they can remember, they say. They can't understand what newspapers from the Pacific to New York are raving about. Just because a few of the live wires of Reno thought it was time not to be hypocritical about things, but come right out into the fresh air with what's been going on, isn't any reason for people to get all "het up" about it, they claim.

Anyway, Reno's flo ing population has jumped from 900 to 2,000 and last Saturday night the hotels turned away more than 600 visitors. Nobody seems to know whether the legalizing of gambling brought them or whether to blame the new state law which requires only six weeks' residence here before application for divorce proceedings can be filed.

Don't Like Prohibition.

The State of Nevada, with its some 75,000 people, never did like the idea of prohibition, and so they simply didn't pass a State Prohibition Law. Now and then the Federal Government sends a little posse to Reno—not the capital, but the principal city—just for the appearance of things. Four of them dropped into the Silver Slippers roadhouse two nights ago and arrested the proprietor and two others, but I have been assured that such a thing won't happen again for some time.

If you were to listen to hotel-keepers, lawyers, safe owners, garage keepers and real estate men you'd think that the whole city is in ecstasies over the two new laws. But clergymen, bank managers and conservative citizens deplore the relaxing of laws, and declare that Reno is no longer a fit city in which to bring up their children.

Legalizing of gambling has created talk of "boom days." Talk centres around a proposed million dollar casino to be located at Reno Hot Springs, ten miles out of the city. A new racetrack is hinted at.

More than one citizen told me that it would be only a question of time before other states will follow the lead of Reno, particularly in its liberalizing of divorce laws. Arkansas and Idaho have reduced their residence requirements to three months. Similar laws are under consideration in three other states. The New York legislature has before it suggestions designed to increase the number of cause of action for which divorce may be granted.

The gambling, too they say will spread eastward. Perhaps to Quebec—and then Ontario. Just how much truth there is in the prediction may be revealed in future articles.

In the meantime, Reno is a happy place. As long as you don't shoot anybody, steal anybody's money or get fresh with some other fellow's girl—well, it seems as if the sky's the limit.

PUP'S TENACITY LEADS TO DEATH

FALLS 400 FEET INTO TREES.

LAKEWOOD, N.J., May 6. (CP)—Tige forsook a landlubber's life yesterday for that of an air sailor. The choice was fatal, for somewhere in the sandy, scrub-pine waste which surrounds the naval air station at Lakehurst, Tige lies dead, a victim of his greatest virtue.

A true dog of the sea, Tige had a 9-months-old English bull pup's penchant for tugging at rope-ends, and his friskiness made him the favorite mascot of the air sailors at the station. Dangling ropes were his hobby and the strength of his jaws was the marvel of the men.

Those bulldog jaws were his undoing when the J-3 took off for a short flight. As the naval airship was pulled from the hangar onto the field, Tige snatched a rope-end in his teeth and togged as valiantly as any of his human friends holding the craft to earth until the motors started her aloft.

Tige Hangs On

Every member of the landing crew cast off when the signal was given. Tige was too young yet to have learned all of the seaman's vernacular and no one thought to translate the order into the language Tige understood. Perhaps he mistook the order as a call to make fast. In any event, Tige clapped his jaws the tighter and hung on as the ship left the ground.

For five minutes the pup held on and was swung back and forth in the air as the dirigible gained headway. Soon the ship was 400 feet over the green sea of pines. Tige wiggled and clawed the air for support, but there is a limit even to the strength of a bulldog's jaw. Tige had to let go. He hurtled down into the leafy green sea.

Friends at the station made a diligent search for their mascot, but he had been swallowed up in the waste of sand and pines and could not be found.

REV. R. S. SCOTT NEW MODERATOR

Former Minister of Omemee Presbyterian Church Elected on First Ballot.

DUTTON GIVES ADDRESS.

ORILLIA, May 7.—Rev. R. S. Scott, of Cannington and formerly of Omemee, was elected Moderator of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston on the first ballot. Three names were submitted. The Presbytery of Barrie had nominated Rev. Mr. Scott; the Presbytery of Peterborough, Rev. A. C. Stewart, of Toronto; and the Presbytery of Guelph, Rev. C. E. Kidd, of Gananoque. The new Moderator was introduced to Synod by Rev. J. S. Shortt, of Barrie and Rev. J. A. MacInnis, Orillia. He was welcomed by the retiring Moderator, Rev. M. B. Davidson, of Galt.

Rev. J. A. MacInnis presented an invitation from Dr. S. J. W. Horne, Superintendent, to visit the Ontario Hospital. After the party had viewed the work of the institution they were taken by motor to Glenmawr Camp, where the summer school work of the Synod is carried on.

Welcome Extended.

At the morning sederunt, J. B. Johnston, Mayor of Orillia, and Rev. Mr. MacInnis, extended the welcome on behalf of Orillia. The congregation of Ayton was transferred from Saugeen Presbytery to the Presbytery of Bruce, and the congregation of Cooke's Church, Markdale, from Owen Sound Presbytery to Orangeville Presbytery. An overture from the Presbytery of Guelph in regard to revision of the book of rules and procedure was sent to a special committee. A notice of motion dealing with the question of names of church officials and college professors was referred to the Presbytery of Toronto.

Mrs. McLellan of Toronto, President of the Ontario Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society, brought greetings from that organization, and presented a brief report of its work. The organization has a total membership of 34,654. Total receipts last year were $138,254, cost of administration being only $1,470, or less than 1¼ per cent.

Evening Session.

The evening session was given over to the reception of reports on Sabbath school and young people's work, the budget and mission. Rev. John MacNab, of Toronto, presented the first report, which dealt with the statistical growth of work for young people in the different Presbyteries. Special mention was made of summer camp work, and it was urged that leaders in young people's work take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded.

Rev. G. S. Lloyd, of Midland, presented the Budget report. While more money was contributed for the Budget in 1930 than in 1929, there was still a deficit. James Dutton of Peterborough delivered an address full of optimism for the wiping out of the deficit in 1931. If the people were willing, it was not impossible to raise and exceed the $600,000 Budget set for this year.

From Far Formosa.

The Synod's report on missions was presented by R3v. C. E. Kidd, of Gananoque. Rev. W. M. MacKay, Superintendent of Home Missions in Northern Ontario and Eastern Manitoba, told of the call to the Church from the newer settlements. There was need for men and more men, and there was no place for suggestion of retrenchment in a Church that was living and virile.

G. W. McKay, home on furlough from the Presbyterian Church's Mission in Formosa, and son of the pioneer missionary, the late Dr. George Leslie MacKay, told a thrilling story of events in connection with his mission. The spread of the Gospel in Formosa had been marvellous. Next year is the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the Formosan Mission, and the fiftieth year of the establishment of their college. The native Christians are planning to celebrate these events by erecting a church on the spot where George Leslie MacKay landed, and establishing a college library. Rev. Allan Reoch of Manchuria told of the new work recently undertaken there, established by Rev. Jonathan Goforth.

Here's a Room that PAYS its OWN RENT

. . . ONCE upon a time it wasn't a room at all. It was just waste space beneath the roof. Then we learned how easy it was to make use of such places with TEN/TEST and we converted it into a recreation room.

But it was afterwards that the big surprise came. In building the room with TEN/TEST we had put insulation between the roof and the rest of the house. Heat no longer escaped. The house at once became more comfortable and the coal bill came down.

Now, every year the saving in fuel represents a nice tidy rent from the room, and we have the room too. We killed two birds with one stone . . . we got another room and we reduced our fuel bill by practically one-third — all with TEN/TEST.

BRIDGEWATER CAMP INITIATES FIVE BOYS

Trail Rangers From Tweed Attend for the Occasion.

TWEED, May 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — A most enjoyable evening was spent at Bridgewater by a number of Trail Rangers from Tweed. The occasion was initiation night at the Bridgewater Camp, five boys receiving full initiation, and these were duly accepted into the camp. Rev. Mr. Price, pastor at Bridgewater, who has had a great deal of experience in C.S.E.T. work, has a real live wire group of boys, and they are making rapid strides in the work. After the initiation ceremony Mr. Price addressed the boys of both camps, giving them good sound advice and inspiring ideas which will go a long way in helping these boys to live up to their pledge.

Rev. Mr. Cook and Messrs. Patterson and Kerr each in turn gave short addresses, after which all were invited to Mr. Price's home, where a delightful lunch was served by Mrs. Price. Pancakes were the principal item on the menu, and judging from the way they disappeared they are a favorite dish with the men and boys. After thanking Mr. and Mrs. Price for the repast, all joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows."

ROSENEATH, May 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—A large number of friends and relatives gathered on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock to pay their last respects to Susan Elizabeth Jackson, wife of Mr. Gordon Black, 68 Bellwoods Ave., Toronto. The funeral service was held at the home of her mother, Mrs. William Jackson. This being the second bereavement in the home during the week, the service was very touching and solemn. Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., read passages of scripture from the 23rd and the 90th Psalms and took his text from St. Matthew 26, 10. His words were full of comfort and sympathy which will long be remembered.

The late Mrs. Black was well known and very highly esteemed having been raised in the village. She had a host of friends both young and old.

Heartfelt sympathy is extended to her sorrowing husband, her aged mother and three sisters, Mrs. John Steele, Mrs. John Tilley and Miss Jemima Jackson all of Toronto.

For over sixty-one years their family circle was unbroken until the death of Mr. Jackson on Sunday and his daughter, Mrs. Black on Saturday following.

Her remains were taken by motor to Toronto where the funeral was held from her late residence, on Tuesday to Westminister Memorial Park cemetery.

MISSIONARY IS STONED BY ARABS

was noon. I stood outside. The Arabs were fairly rocking and screaming with laughter.

Getting Homesick.

The last time I had seen that very picture was in Berlin. I poked my head inside just long enough to catch a title. It was English. The Arabs could not read one sentence, but who needs to read in a Chaplin picture? Right next door to this movie palace stood these familiar signs, "Quaker Oats", "Sunlight Soap", "Royal Baking Powder", "Jello." I was marvelling at these when a fat greasy Arab sitting on a camp stool outside the shop said, "Puzzled, aren't you?" I nearly jumped. It was the first English word I'd heard all day.

He looked at me smiling and then said, "talk for a minute. I want to try my experiment." I was only too glad to talk. Usually am, my friends tell me. I talked. He listened. "Canada", he said, "you come from Canada—that right?" "Right, first guess' I said, "you go straight up to the head of the class." He smiled happily, "I don't often miss them," he said, "it's my hobby. I sell English and American goods and I try to spot the district where English speaking people come from. It's great fun." But before telling what district people come from this chap must first decide if they speak English at all or not. He seldom misses.

"Well tell me," I went on, "how many English speaking people stopped here to-day, wasn't I the only one?" "You, not a chance. You're the ninth I've guessed right."

"Well surely the others had guides or dragomen or something?" "No, not all of them. There were three young chaps like you breezing around alone."

And there I've been in North Africa ten days looking for a pal to bump around with and never even remotely got trace of one before. I decided to wait with this fellow until somebody else hove into view. They all seem to pass this way sooner or later and as soon as they spot the Chaplin picture they stop short as if seeing a ghost. We waited and chatted. This man told me his interesting story. But nobody else showed up and as it was growing dark, I had to duck away before the evening call of the muezzin. It would be very bad to be stranded in the Arab quarter of Fez alone after dark.

This guesser of tongues had travelled throughout the world as an Arab acrobat. He played in Canada many many times. He played everywhere and then when he got too fat for trapeze work, he came back to his native Arabia and opened a bit of a shop selling things he had learned to use along the way. A bachelor in a land of harems, he lives alone content to sit and guess people's home town now that he has seen all and done most things.

Courageous Missionary.

The second familiar sight faced me going home. On the edge of the Arab section was this ominous sign, also in English, "Prepare to Meet Thy God." I stopped again. A slim blond English chap walked out. "Hello," he said, "step in. It's just tea time." I stepped into a room about twice the size of a steamer trunk. Bibles were spread all over the place. Most of them were in Arabic. There were also testaments, small biblical tracts and a large plate of bread and jam. I ate with this incredulously zealous young missionary who has spent four terror stricken years in that hovel trying to Christianize the native and failing.

He has been stoned dozens of times, twice so badly that he spent a week in hospital. He is loathed and despised by the natives. Nobody has ever come to get one of his bibles which he gives away free. Every time he walks the streets in his jaunty English flannels people spit on him. He gets used to it and sticks it out there in that cupboard of a room all entirely and absolutely alone. He writes home to his mother in England. He draws a pound a week for his job and once a month or so he goes into the market place and teaches the story of Jesus.

He never gets finished with these meetings. Some fanatic always comes and smashes them up but next month he carries on as usual. He has more courage than a regiment. More nerve than a canal horse but I'm a bit doubtful about the value of his job. He admits that in four years he has not made one convert that he is really sure of. "But I am doing the Lord's work. Someone must do it" he assured me. I have a hunch that this lad would appreciate a letter or two from Canada. His name is George Dines, care of the English Post Office, Fez, Morocco.

SUCCESSFUL SALE HELD AT NORWOOD

Tidy Sum Realized by United Church Young Women's Auxiliary.

NORWOOD, May 7.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The Young Women's Auxiliary of the United Church held a very successful afternoon tea and sale of Hwaiking lines and novelties on Saturday afternoon. The long table looked very pretty with its white cloth centred with a large black bowl of lustre ware and candle sticks to match, filled with spring daffodils and tall tapering lighted yellow candles giving a very pretty effect to the table. Mrs. (Rev.) R. F. Stillman and Mrs. R. G. Lawlor poured tea, while the girls waited very effectively on the ladies, as they came and went, during the afternoon. The girls realized a nice sum to add to their treasury for the work of their organization.

Saint Andrew's L.A. Meeting At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, May 7.—(Examiner Correspondence).— Mrs. J. Albert Brown was hostess for the May meeting of the Ladies' Association of Saint Andrew's United Church, the gathering being at her home, Tupper street, on Tuesday afternoon, with the president for the current term, Mrs. J. L. Byam, in the chair.

Mrs. Offa Williamson read the scripture lesson in the opening devotional period, and Mrs. Weston Fallis presided at the organ. Mrs. G. Locke reported making a number of calls on sick and shut-in members of the congregation, her territory covering the east end of the village. The other visitors are: Mrs. A. J. Henderson, west end; Mrs. Fred Smith, centre; Mrs. Stuart Fallis, Fallis Line; and Mrs. Edgar Fallis north of the village and on the Seventh Line.

After some discussion it was decided to hold a strawberry festival on Friday, June 26, at the home of Mrs. J. L. Byam. The Boneka Bible class will be asked to repeat their play, "The Spinsters' Convention" on that occasion, and the committee appointed to secure musical numbers for the program included: Mrs. J. McKnight, Misses May Duncan and Pearl Burnham. Mrs. C. C. Garside invited the ladies for the June meeting at her home.

The treasurer, Miss Duncan, was authorized to pay the expense incurred in papering the kitchen at the parsonage. The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer in unison.

Following the business meeting afternoon tea was served the committee in charge having Mrs. J. McKnight as convenor, with Mrs. G. Raper, Mrs. E. J. Thornton, Mrs. W. West and Mrs. R. H. Edmunds assisting. The tea tables were very attractive with floral centres, and daintily-embroidered tea cloths, and a number enjoyed this pleasant feature of the occasion.

At six o'clock hot supper was served, and the tea-tables were filled again and again, this evidently being a popular undertaking judging by the fact that several of the business men of the town, with many others, came in for the appetizing and substantial meal.

The president, Mrs. Byam, assisted the hostess in receiving the many guests, and Mrs. F. A. Kidd was another helper with the committee looking after the service of the hot meal, at the supper hour. The funds of the association were considerably augmented by the afternoon's activities.

MRS. BERTRAM OF STONEY CREEK WILL SPEAK A T HAVELOCK MEET

Election of Officers is Feature of Women's Institute Meeting.

OTHER BUSINESS.

HAVELOCK, May 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The regular meeting and election of officers of Havelock Women's Institute was held in the council chamber on Monday afternoon, when there was a goodly attendance of the members, and the meeting opened in the usual manner with the president in the chair. It was decided to hold a business meeting on the regular day next month, and dispense with the lunch.

The summer speaker, Mrs. Bertram, of Stoney Creek, will address the members here on Monday, June 8, and the members of Belmont Women's Institute are to be invited to be present at this meeting. It is expected that a program will be prepared, and lunch will be served. Having the business meeting on the first Monday as usual will give the members a better chance to enjoy the company of the visitors, and the speaker. The subjects chosen for the talk by Mrs. Bertram are "Conducting a Business Meeting, and How to Utilize the Talent of the Members," also "The Rural Library." It was decided to have the meeting in the upper hall, and to have the council chamber scrubbed before the next meeting.

A letter was read from Miss Hopkins, who will again conduct coaching classes for the girls of the district, to prepare them for the forthcoming judging competition, which will be held this year at Norwood on June 16. Miss Hopkins spoke of the value to the girls of these classes, one of which will be held here on May 14, the other date to be decided on that day. A letter was read from Mr. Yuill, secretary of the local Chautauqua Committee, thanking the ladies for the splendid work done in connection with the recent Chautauqua, and advising them of the forwarding of $17.50 to be used for library purposes. There was also a letter from Mr. Putnam of the Department of Women's Institutes regarding the summer series and the coaching classes.

Mrs. John Armstrong volunteered to entertain the speaker during her stay in Havelock, or in the event of not being able to do so herself will see that Mrs. Bertram is looked after while here.

Dental Report.

The report of the committee to investigate regarding the recent dental clinic was submitted by Mrs. Bonney. Mrs. Lancaster and Mrs. Cross were appointed to interview the parents of children requiring work done who are unable to pay for such work, and report at a future meeting regarding the same.

A discussion arose over the salary to be paid for secretarial work. It was thought that as the work of the recording secretary was rather onerous there should be a recording secretary, and also a corresponding secretary. After a great deal of discussion it was decided to divide the duties, and to have the work gratuitous. There will therefore be, in future, a recording secretary, a corresponding secretary, and a treasurer.

A number of small matters were cleared away to make way for the incoming officers. The auditors' report was read and delivered by Mrs. Bonney, who reported everything in good order. Mrs. Bonney and Mrs. Coates were auditors.

At this juncture, the president, Mrs. Hubel, gave a brief resume of the year's work and accomplishments.

Mrs. A. Anderson took the chair for election of officers.

Officers Elected.

The election was all by acclamation and resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Clarence Hubel; 1st Vice-Pres. Mrs. T. P. Lancaster; second vice-president, Mrs. L. Hagerman; recording secretary, Mrs. William Bullied; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Cross; ecretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. A. C. Allan; district director, Mrs. W. Johnston; branch directors: Mrs. F. Breckenridge, Mrs. McCutcheon, Mrs. J. Bedford, Mrs. Davies, Miss Wright; relief committee, Mrs. Anderson; sick committee: West Mrs. Jamieson (East), Miss McBurney Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Rice (centre), Mrs. Bonney (country); auditors: Mrs. Bonney and Miss Wright.

A meeting of the officers will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Cross on Saturday evening, May 16, for the purpose of drawing up programs for the year. The attention of the members was drawn to the need of a family in the community who were recently burned out.

It was decided to hold a community shower on Saturday afternoon next. Any person interested in helping out in this matter will bring donations to the council chamber during library hours. Anything useful in the way of furniture, cooking utensils, or any other article necessary in the home, bedding, clothing, etc., will be accepted and forwarded to the family.

Library hours are from 2 till 4 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening.

A letter of thanks was ordered sent to T. P. Lancaster through whose good offices the lecture in Home Beautification and Rock Gardens by J. F. Clark of the Department of Horticulture was obtained for this district.

The business of the meeting being concluded, a dainty lunch was served, and the meeting adjourned until June 1. Hostesses for the day were Mesdames Allan, Hoard, Jamieson and Scott.

COLIN LEES IS MADE INSPECTOR

Son of Richard Lees is Appointed School Inspector for South Renfrew.

WALKERVILLE PRINCIPAL.

WINDSOR, May 7.—Colin W. Lees, B.A., B. Paed., principal of the Hugh Beaton Public School, Walkerville, received word Tuesday from A. H. U. Colquhoun, Deputy Minister of Education, that he had been appointed public school inspector for South Renfrew, his duties to commence on September 1 next. Mr. Lees will succeed Dr. G. G. McNab, who is being transferred to another inspectorate.

Name Mentioned.

Mr. Lees' name has been prominently mentioned for some time in connection with the forthcoming appointment of an assistant to John E. Benson, M.A., local inspector.

"In view of my appointment to South Renfrew, which I am accepting to-day," Mr. Lees said, "I will not be a candidate for the local position, although I greatly appreciate having been considered for it. I am very sorry to leave the Border Cities but feel that it is my duty to accept the Renfrew appointment. I particularly appreciate the happy relations I have enjoyed with the members of the Walkerville School Board and the splendid support I have received from the parents in South Walkerville where the Hugh Beaton School is located."

Born in Brampton.

Mr. Lees was born in Brampton, Ontario, and received his public school education in St. Thomas, where his father, Richard Lees, was a member of the Collegiate Institute staff. His Collegiate and Normal School courses were obtained in Peterborough where the family moved after the father had been appointed school inspector for Peterborough County.

Mr. Lees, Sr., retired from the latter position only last year. The son secured his B.A. from Queen's University, Kingston, and his B. Paed from the University of Toronto. For two years he was principal of the Millbrook Public School and later served as supervising principal in Kelowna, B. C. In September 1929 he came here from Ottawa to take charge of the new Hugh Beaton School, one of the Border's finest educational institutions. Mr. Lees has achieved a splendid reputation in local teaching circles and his departure from the Border will be generally regretted.

The newly-appointed inspector resides at 694 Windermere Road, Walkerville. He is married and the father of two boys and two girls, all of whom attend Hugh Beaton School. Mr. Lees is a brother of Dr. H. Hislop Lees, a well-known local physician.

MARMORA CHURCH MEN'S CLUB ACTIVE

St. Paul's Members Enjoy Splendid Program of Talks and Music.

MARMORA, May 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — The good attendances which have been marking the meetings of the Men's club of St. Paul's Church were sustained on Wednesday evening when the bi-monthly meeting took place. The president, C. H. Buskard, occupied the chair for the business part of the meeting. Final arrangements were made for attendance at divine service at St. Mark's, Bonarlaw, next Sunday evening.

The program commenced with a request number, community hymn singing. After the singing of these hymns the story of how they came to be written was told by W. J. Cottrell. The hymns selected were "We Love the Place, O God," "Our Blest Redeemer, Ere He Breathed," and "Rock of Ages." Then followed a violin solo, "Elegie," by Jules Massenet, T. S. Jones being the contributor. Current events having been ably portrayed by W. R. Reynolds, T. L. Jones gave another pleasing violin solo, "Norwegian Dance" (Edward Greig). A. V. Yates, who acted as pianist for the evening, in his own versatile manner, then gave a sketch of some musical experiences while on active service. T. L. Jones was called upon for another selection, played "Souvenir," by Franz Drdla.

Rev. F. H. Howard gave a very helpful talk in which he recited several short poems containing what he termed "borrowed wisdom," and caused the gathering to enjoy more than one hearty laugh over his apt humor. Light refreshments were served at the close.

"Rinso is really economical" says Mrs. B. McCarthy

"Talk about white! Those creamy Rinso suds work magic. The clothes are much whiter now than when I used to scrub and boil them!

"After a good soaking the clothes are so sweet and clean, I never use my washboard any more.

"Rinso is really economical, too. It goes much farther than other soaps. For dishes, woodwork, floors—nothing beats Rinso!"

MRS. B. McCARTHY

Much easier on the clothes

Rinso saves the clothes because it gently soaks out the dirt. There's no scrubbing or boiling.

Cupful for cupful, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps . . . because it's granulated, compact. And such creamy suds! Recommended by the makers of 37 washers for safety and whiter clothes. Get the BIG package.

VALUABLE ARMOR COMES TO ONTARIO

LONDON, May 7 (C.P. Cable)—The Royal Museum of Ontario will be enriched by a valuable suit of armor captured by the Earl of Pembroke at the battle of St. Quentin in 1558. The suit was purchased by Professor Currelli of the museum at Tuesday's sale of the arms and armor collected by the late Sir Henry Burke, a distinguished authority.

Another acquisition for the Ontario Museum was a steel headpiece belonging to the Knights Hospitallers of the 15th century, found in the old castle of the knights at Rhodes. A third purchase for Ontario consisted of 18 sets of spurs, dating from William the Conqueror to the 14th century.

The Earl of Pembroke, like other early war commanders, was doubtless not averse to laying his hands on anything likely to prove valuable or useful, but it appears that of all the armor he received in the spoils of war he kept only five suits for himself, one of them now going to Ontario.

WORK STARTED UPON HIGHWAY

Activity Centres Around Hilton on Section of Brighton-Campbellford Road.

ONE DETOUR.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 7.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Work on the Campbellford-Brighton highway has commenced on the southern portion, with much activity being shown in the Hilton section. The plans for this portion of the road call for eighteen bridges and culverts between Brighton and Orland, the work being done by the McNamara Construction Company under contract.

At Cedar Creek cheese factory a fill is being made, material for which is being obtained from a cut south of the factory. The course of the highway is diverted at the Hilton town hall, a detour being made east at this point and north to concession 3 coming out at the cheese factory.

At present, fifteen men, two surveyors, five trucks and a steam shovel are on the job.

So far no word has been received as to when the continuation of work on the north end of the highway will commence, although the citizens of Campbellford are looking to see this portion of the road finished this year.

$12,000 EXTENSION STARTED ON CHURCH

Old Heating System to be Moved at St. John's, Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 7.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—A twelve thousand dollar extension was commenced this week on St. John's United Church, Campbellford, the work being under the supervision of Harvey Donald.

This work includes the building of a twenty by twenty-two foot addition to the north west corner of the present church building for the purpose of housing a new steam heating plant. The old heating system will be removed from its present location in the basement, this portion of the building being made over into an auditorium. Its present use as a Sunday School room will be continued, rolling partitions being installed to accomodate individual Sunday school classes. The floor will also be lowered, giving more heights to the basement.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Rheumatism So Bad Could Hardly Walk

Mrs. Wm. Knenig, R.R. No. 8, Guelph, Ont., writes:—"For years I suffered with rheumatism, and my hands and feet used to swell so, at times, I could hardly walk, and could not sleep or rest for the pain. I used different kinds of medicine, but got nothing to do me any good until a friend told me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. Now I have no more pains and the rheumatism is all gone."

MISSION CIRCLE.

Golden Links Band in Millbrook Decide to Postpone Play.

MILLBROOK, May 7 (Examiner Correspondence) — The president, Miss Marjorie Sayles, entertained the Golden Links Mission Circle for its May meeting at her home, Waverly Apartments, on Tuesday evening, also taking the chair and conducting the opening devotional period.

Miss Jean Burnham read the scripture lesson and all joined in singing the prayer hymn, "Speed Thy Servants, Saviour Speed Them." Miss Mary Burnham presided at the piano for the meeting.

After considerable discussion it was decided to postpone the play, "The Spinster's Return," which the Circle had intended giving this month, until fall as intervening events apparently leave no free date for the entertainment at present.

The chapter from the study book, "That They May Be One," dealing with the origin of French missions in Canada, was taken up by the president and the meeting closed with the 'Watchword' in unison.

A pleasant social hour was enjoyed at the close. The June meeting will be held on the second Tuesday of the month, at 8 p.m.

YOUNG PEOPLE MEET.

Rev. W. W. Jones Gives Interesting Talk to St. Andrew's Society, Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, May 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—The meeting of the Young People's Society on Monday evening was held in the basement of Saint Andrew's Church, and was under the auspices of the Christian Fellowship committee, Miss Jean L. Burnham, convenor, taking the chair.

Miss Mary Wood sang a solo, "Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing," to the great enjoyment of the listeners, and Olver Brock contributed an interesting reading on "Big Game."

The topic from Rev. Stanley Jones' book, "The Christ of Every Road," was taken by the leader in charge, the subject of Pentecost being dealt with in an informative and inspiring manner.

The pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., addressed the meeting regarding matters of interest to the young people, with constructive suggestions on future activities, and in the absence of the president, B.B. Dawson, no new business was introduced, the secretary, Miss Dorothy McDowell, calling the roll, and reading the minutes.

The treasurer made a report on receipts from the recent entertainment given by the Dramatic Club of Knox Church, Peterborough, under Y.P.S. auspices, a fair amount having been added to the funds on hand, used to meet current claims, and for missionary contributions.

Next week's meeting will be under the missionary department, Miss Mary Wood convenor.

What To-day Means To You.

"TAURUS"

If May 7th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11:50 a.m., from 3:15 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. The danger hours are from noon to 1:45 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The astrological aspects of May 7th are negative, and denote things that should not be done rather than indicate things that should be done. Routine work should occupy your attention; speculation avoided; no risks accepted, and travel, if possible, eliminated.

Children born on this May 7th will be slow both in mental and physical development. They will, however, tread the path of sure and steady progress. By no means brilliant, they will win through by their stick-at-itiveness, and will out-

Born on May 7th, you seem to assume a gruffness of manner in order to hide a tender heart and a kindly spirit. To those, who have not glimpsed beneath the surface, your aspect is forbidding and your mannerism ungracious. You could achieve much more if you would give natural expression to your emotions, and not endeavor to suppress them. Courtesy begets courtesy, and kindness is generally reciprocated. Why be ashamed of feelings that, if known, would only do you credit?

You possess no ordinary degree of intelligence, and are the soul of integrity You are sentimental and romantic, but. persist in masquerading as an iceberg. Your mate, if you have one, could tell a different tale. Your children, if you have any, know that your bark is loud, and that your bite is harmless.

You are keen on helping others. The assistance you so freely give is robbed of much of its charm by the way in which it is offered. You are a hard worker, but a poor executive. You can never bring yourself to say the word of encouragement that means so much to workers, although you are the first to recognize good service by monetary reward A little praise often secures more than an increase of pay.

DENIES SWEETS HARMS THE TEETH

Doctor Explains Candy Spoils Appetite For Foods Essential For Healthy Teeth.

DIET MAIN FACTOR.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 7 (C.P.).—The belief that candy and other sweets harm the teeth belongs with other fallacious theories, Dr. W. McKim Marriott, of the Washington University School of Medicine, said in an address here to-day. What sweets really do, he explained, is to destroy appetite for foods essential to healthy teeth.

Dr. Marriott spoke at the annual convention of the Maryland State Dental Association.

Diet, not heredity, is the biggest single factor affecting teeth, he said, pointing out that the savage transplanted to civilization, yields to the same oral afflictions suffered by persons of a long line of civilization.

The best teeth in the world, said Mr. Marriott, are those of the Zulus of Africa, the Eskimos of the polar regions and the Maoris of New Zealand. "Savages who have never heard of a tooth brush, paste or mouth wash."

One of Old Dixie's Greatest Delights is Canada's Favourite Today

YOUNG rabbits cooked in sherry wine or quail roasted in grape leaves—these were dishes that made the old South famous for food. But, served at the Maxwell House in Nashville, Tennessee, there was a wonderfully rich and smooth coffee with a fragrant goodness known in districts far from Dixie.

Today, you can enjoy this same famous blend of choicest coffees. For in these modern times wherever you go you will notice that Maxwell House has become Canada's favourite coffee —so smooth is it—so satisfying—its fragrance providing an alluring background to skilfully blended flavour.

Its Fame Spread North

Southerners took Maxwell House Coffee on their travels. Or they sent it to appreciative Northern friends. Then came insistent demand. Now you may get it in vacuum-packed tins packed in the Canadian Maxwell House plant, ensuring the same freshness when opened as if it had just been ground. All good grocers have Maxwell House in the blue tin.

Always Fresh in the Familiar Blue Tin

It is impossible for coffee to be fresher than Maxwell House because vacuum packing protects its rich fragrance and flavour. Newly opened, the coffee is just as fresh as when it left the grinder.

The season at Chemong Park is getting under way, although few of the cottages are occupied to date. The Pavilion is open and Mr. and Mrs. H. Forier and their family are living in the park. Mr. Daniel Sullivan, according to his yearly custom, has been there for some time now, and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Ray and Miss Jean Ray occupied their cottage all winter, constituting a record in this way. Mrs. M. Pope, possibly the senior resident of the summer colony at Chemong, who has been spending her summers there for the past forty years, is in her own home at the Park. Mr. and Mrs. H. ## "AUTUMN CROCUS" COMPOSED BY GIRL

Miss Dodie Smith, Under Name of "C. L. Anthony," Makes Hit in London.

LONDON, May 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Miss Dodie Smith, who as "C. L. Anthony" has burst into fame as writer of a play that has been acclaimed in some quarters as the hit of the season, "Autumn Crocus," at the Lyric Theatre, and has been received generally by the critics as a very worthy production, has been found by a News-Chronicle representative at her desk in a little office in a picture and toy store in Tottenham Court Road, London, "trying to carry on business as usual amid the distractions of her new celebrity."

"The character played by Miss Fay Compton in 'Autumn Crocus,'" says The News-Chronicle man, "is that of a schoolmistress from Eccles, Lancashire. Miss Smith herself was born in Bury, Lancashire, and she has already had to assrue people that this tender love story does not arise in any way out of her own experience. Her father was a business man in Bury, but she came to London when 13 and later studied for the stage. Then she played small parts with a number of companies, 'but,' she said, 'I was a very bad actress and never got anywhere.'

"Part of her work in the store is to buy pictures and toys in foreign markets, and her fateful visit to the Austrian Tyrol followed upon a business trip to Leipzig Fair. There she saw the flower that she calls 'Autumn Crocus.' She wrote the play in two months, during her spare time. 'Don't call it inspiration,' she added. 'This play just dropped into my mind, so complete that, apart from a few alterations in the comedy scenes, I should have difficulty in patching 't anywhere.'

"Meanwhile, Miss Smith is not convinced that one first night success means a livelihood, and she is sticking to pictures, and toys at present."

Confidence was expressed that working conditions were improving and that times in general would soon be much better.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

There are many girls in Peterborough who do not sew and there are a great many who do, so that the fashion for handkerchiefs to match party frocks plays well into the hands of the latter.

• • • • • • •

The color should match the frock and it can be of the same material if that is georgette, chiffon, or light weight crepe de chene.

• • • • • • •

An extra third or half yard of material will make two handkerchiefs and the cost of making these handkerchiefs is but a fraction of the sum asked in shops.

• • • • • •

Edges of handkerchiefs can be rolled and overcast with fine thread or silk and have no other finish. Or a lace edge can be added.

• • • • • • •

The size of the textile suggests the width of the lace, narrow for large centres, wider for smaller centres. Insertion of lace may be let into the textile as an inner border.

• • • • • •

The lace is not apt to be high grade, but it must be light weight, sometimes termed cobweb lace. Fine footing may be substituted for the lace.

• • • • • • •

At least one corner of the handkerchief is ornamented. The decoration may consist of an irregular square, oblong, oval, etc., medallion of lace. Or lace and embroidery may be combined.

• • • • • • •

For instance, one handkerchief I saw had lace let into the corner. The lace surrounded a square of the textile. On this square wee roses were embroidered, one in each cornr. Then there was a green trailing stem outlined, connecting the roses and making an inner square outline.

• • • • • • •

Of course when making the handkerchiefs, one must be very careful, indeed, to cut away the textile beneath the lace and to overcast the raw edges of the lace.

• • • • • • •

An embroidery hoop should be used while working the flowers and stems. A monogram or initial can be embroidered in the very centre of the lace outlined square which should be large enough to permit of this lettering.

UPON THIS HILL

Upon this hill the world is at our feet;
Let us rest now and watch the day go by,
One who sees here the dawn's pale ranks retreat
Needs must await the sunset's pageantry.
This hill, remote and inaccessible,
Is like a bit of some bright world unknown,
A charmed world wehrein no care can dwell,
Which we, together straying, call our own.

Upon this hill let us see day go by,
But we must leave before the moon comes up;
I could not ever see the moonbeams lie
Below us in that valley's verdant cup
Or hear one wakened lark's note, sweet and low,
And then go back to that old world we know.

"THESE HARD TIMES"

"The hard times and scarcity of money makes it more important than ever to economize. One way I save on clothes is by renewing the color of faded or out-of-style dresses, coats, stockings, and underwear. For dyeing, or tinting, I always use Diamond Dyes. They are the most economical ones by far because they never fail to produce results that make you proud. Why things look better than new when redyed with Diamond Dyes. They never spot, streak, or run. They go on smoothly and evenly, when in the hands of even a ten year old child. Another thing, Diamond Dyes never take the life out of cloth or leave it limp as some dyes do. They deserve to be called "the world's finest dyes!"

EVANGELIST PAYS VISIT TO THE CITY

A. N. O'Brien, Missionary of the Gospel Movement, Heard in City.

Nearing the age of three-score and ten and travelling throughout Canada and the United States "depending upon the Lord" for his living, the itinerant "missionary" of the Gospel Movement, A. N. O'Brien of Duluth, Minnesota, paid his respects to Peterborough Tuesday, during which time he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mulligan, 804 George street. Mr. O'Brien came to this city from Chicago both to pay a personal visit and to hold a service with those striving for a free and simple Christianity.

Mr. O'Brien tells a short but interesting story of his life. He was born in Noel, Hants County, Nova Scotia. His mother was the daughter of Lieutenant-Governor Archibald of Nova Scotia who also had a hand in the organization of the province of Manitoba. Mr. O'Brien attended Park College in Missourie and entered the Presbyterian ministry after passing through the Theological Seminary in New York city.

Asked as to why he left the Presbyterian faith, Mr. O'Brien said, "I saw the need of the preaching of a simpler, purer Christianity, away from the rigid organization of the various churches." Referring to his travels he said, "I trust in the Lord for my living; I am never in want because I have complete faith that He will provide for His children." The preacher stresses the importance of being saved, and this necessity, he said, was not recognized as much as it should be. His following is of the simplest, therefore, reminiscent of New Testament times.

Mr. O'Brien stated that his faith had the baptism and the Lord's Supper, but maintained that anyone of the saved could conduct these services. The Bible was referred to as being the foundation of the whole faith, and its preaching to all was part of the activities of the Gospel Movement.

Following the service held at 8 o'clock Tuesday at 804 George street, Mr. O'Brien started out for Springville, Campbellford, Kingston and perhaps Montreal. His ultimate destination is New York city where there are from 30 to 40 groups of Gospelites.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WASTE CAUSES TIREDNESS.

We can't expect to feel every day as if we can "lick the world," that there isn't anything we can't do — that life is one great glorious gift to human beings. As Chesterfield said, "An attack of indigestion, a sleepless night and a rainy morning can make a coward out of a man who would otherwise be a hero."

Now I'm thinking about the hero part, or about that feeling of well be ng that makes us feel that we can tackle the impossible; I'm thinking about our ordinary everyday life, and our ordinary everyday job.

How do we feel about our everyday work?

Does it loom up as something hard, something too heavy to be borne, something that is simply too much for us and we'll have to quit it?

Now if it is the regular work we've been doing fo years, and yet it seems too much for us, what is likely the matter?

There is like'y too much waste matter in the system.

I don't mean simply the waste from our food which is lying in the large intestine, although is more likely to be the cause than any other one thing, but the wastes that are absorbed into the blood from other sources also.

Now these wastes may accumulate from the body itself when in ufficient food is eaten; they may come from an insufficient amount of rest; from too much food: from an insuffic ent amount of exercise which allows wastes to accumulate, instead of being burned up. Wastes are poison and that is why the poisons from any infection in the system likewise takes the "fight" out of most of us. An infected tooth, infected tonsils, infected sinuses, infected gall bladder can all so load the blood with wastes that it has a continuous fight on its hands trying to rid itself of these poisons.

Our white corpuscles in the blood will be increased in numbers and fighting all the time aga nst these poisonous wastes.

It is therefore not strange that our physical, mental and moral strength is lowered when these wastes are too abundant for our circulation to remove them from the body.

So if you lack ambition, are "fed up," don t feel like doing your ordinary work because it seems too much for you, you'd better take a look at yourself and your daily habits as to sleep, food, and exercise, and also have your doctor and dentist look you over. There are wastes of some kind in you that will have to be removed if you are going to feel like yourself again.

BISHOP-ELECT IS CONSECRATED

Rt. Rev. J. J. O'Sullivan is Consecrated Bishop of Charlottetown.

CEREMONY IN HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 7 (CP). — A long procession of surpliced priests, monsignori and bishops this morning at 9:30 marched through a guard of honor, composed of members of the fourth degree, Knights of Columbus, to St. Mary's pro-cathedral, escorting Rt. Rev. J. J. O'Sullivan, Bishop-elect of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, to the ceremonies of his consecration. There were present some of the most distinguished representatives of the Roman Catholic Hierarchy in Canada, a group including fifteen bishops and seven archbishops.

The consecration was the first of such a nature to take place in Hamilton since Rt. Rev. T. J. Dowling, late Bishop of Hamilton, was enthroned in 1887 as Bishop of Peterborough. Bishop O'Sullivan is the first native son of this city to be so elevated by the church. He left Hamilton seven years ago to become president of St. Augustine's seminary, Toronto.

His Excellency, Most Rev. Andrew Cassulo, D.D., Apostolic Delegate to Canada, acted as consecrator at the ceremonies. His two assistants were Most Rev. Neil McNeil, Archbishop of Toronto, and Rt. Rev. J. T. McNally, D.D. The apostolic delegate was vested in full pontificals of red, the color of the day.

The apostolic mandate was read, and the bishop-elect was questioned as to his faith. After the examination, the bishop-elect vested for mass, and with the consecrator at the main altar, Bishop-elect O'Sullivan read the mass simultaneously with him.

The ceremonies of consecration proceeded after the mass. The staff of office was presented and the ring blessed and placed on the hand of the new bishop.

Rt. Rev. James Morrison, D.D., Bishop of Antigonish, N.S., delivered the sermon. The ceremonies concluded when the bishop, carrying the Crozier, retired to his chapel, reciting the last gospel.

Sir J. Jeans Will Use World's Biggest Eye

MOUNT WILSON OBSERVATORY, Cal., May 7.—Sir James H. Jeans will peek through the world's largest eye to-night to see what he can see about the universe going to pieces.

It is seven years since the British astronomer looked through the biggest telescope ever built, the 100-inch mirror reflector, and much has been revealed since then.

He will spend only one night on the mountain, for he is to appear at the California Institution of Technology tomorrow to tell Dr. Robert A. Millikan and other physicists why he thinks the cosmic ray is proof the universe is being annihilated.

He comments with a smile that there will be plenty of time to give more thought to the subject, for the sun will not give up the ghost for a hundred and fifty million years or so, it being only about seventy billion years old now and of course, these figures are approximate.

Public School Pupil Puts It All Over Some of the Old Hands in Fishing Game

Here's one for Webber Turner, "Pete" Lang, Max Swanston, Al Phillips, Herb Routley and so on down the line of fishermen who weren't so lucky May Day and over the week-end. And if Mr. Gravestock was out along the trout streams with discouraging response from disinterested fish he will probably also sigh for his youth and its luck, its boy lore and thrills.

Rod McGinness of Central School is one of the eternal boys to whom Longfellow must have dedicated his poems to youth. Last Saturday, it is related, he went fishing somewhere in the vicinity of Omemee, and with a cheap line and some bent pins, and specially selected bait provided by nature, he hooked eighteen trout.

On the other hand, it is told of Webber Turner that on a week-end expedition, armed with formidable hooks and other equipment, trick bait and so on he returned home with an empty bag. On some green bank Webber exercised his patience, whistled his theme song "You Were Meant For Me" in all the keys on and off the scale, and was finally confounded by seeing some stranger with an ordinary outfit get the fish. The other members of his party were not much more successful. However, the season's young yet, and if Webber goes after fish, he'll get them just as he goes after business.

It is further told of Rod McGinness that his teacher had occasion to require a survey of his pockets a day or so ago, and among the treasures they yielded were a Yo-Yo, and an armory of fishing tackle of his own contriving, including cord lines, pins and hooks, and an extensive collection of flies and beetles that trout leap for, and tackle manufacturers vainly try to imitate with life-like effect.

At the Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

"TRADER HORN"

Africa as an unknown quantity is rapidly disappearing. The lure of the Dark Continent finds itself broadcasted from the microphone and reflected in the klieg lights that fringe the moving picture studios. "When Africa Speaks" gave a marvellous idea of the animal life of that strange country, and now we have "Trader Horn," filmed from the book written by Ethelreda Lewis from the adventures related to her by Aloysius Horn.

It is quite a stupendous picture, with a quality of reality about it projected mainly by that central figure Harry Carey, who plays Trader Horn, and his black gun-bearer, Renchero, played by Mutia, a giant black from Kenya Province who, it is said, has been gun-bearer to many famous hunters, including the Prince of Wales, and whose first picture this was. But his acting was extraordinarily real. The big black who is one of the heroes of the picture must have taken his part very much in earnest.

Here is the veldt and jungle of Africa, and here its beasts: lions and tigers, jackals, hyenas and leopards, the ferocious rhino that charges and kills; the tall, silly-looking giraffe with its "seven-leagued boots"; the antelope and wart hog and wild-beeste. The fight between four lions, disputing a kill, while the carrion birds gather on high and the humans watch from ambush, is very realistic, while the many croodiles and their hoarse, grunting cough recall the legend of Africa that makes the 'croc' its scavenger and river-cleaner.

The native scenes are furious and weird, with their sullen, unending jazz music and the throbbing, sinister beat of the war-drums. Trader Horn and his companion, the lad from South America known as Peru, go into the jungle to find Nina, daughter of a missionary whose husband had been killed many years before and the child abducted by natives. The warlike savages have made her their white goddess and she rivals in fury and temper even their wildest witch men. At a "ju-ju" gathering, when the warlike Masai go on the warpath, she orders the death of the white men, but later relents and goes away with them. Their adventures in reaching safety, through the aid of pygmies, those tiny and friendly men of the African forests, form the basis of the many startling and terrible scenes in the picture, in which nothing, apparently, has been spared in getting realistic and vivid effects. The girl speaks Swahili and that strange and unknown tongue adds the last bit of realism to the lurid scenes where the savage tribes lash themselves into murderous fury by vicious dances and music.

It is recalled that, in the making of "Ben Hur," the picture was shot three times. The slaves in the first take, meant for showing in Philadelphia, wore a good deal of drapery. In the second, for New York consumption, they wore loin cloths, while the third picture, shot for European use, showed them in the original "sunshine," as the missionaries so discreetly term it. The natives in "Trader Horn" do not appear in "sunshine." They wear rather long breech-clouts.

It is one of those intensely interesting and absorbing productions that should not be missed. "Trader Horn" will be at the Capitol Theatre for the balance of this week.—Jeanette.

BISHOP'S LETTER RAISES STORM

Spanish Officials Take Message, Urging Catholics to Elect Deputies, as Affront.

CLAIMED POSITION GRAVE.

MADRID, May 7 (A.P.)—Archbishop Pedro Segura's pastoral letter urging Catholics to participate in the coming elections for a constituent Parliament aroused considerable discussion to-day in religious and political quarters.

The Archbishop, Spain's highest ecclesiastical authority, said in his letter from Toledo yesterday, that Catholics should elect deputies "Who will defend and guarantee the rights of the church," which he described as being in a "very grave" position under the Republican Government.

Catholic observers interpreted his message as a defense of the church's rights rather than an affront to the regime as seen by some officials. He was urging the election of all representatives who would protect Catholicism, it was said, rather than distinguishing between the candidates of any one party.

Marcelino Domingo, Minister of Public Instruction, issued a statement saying that the letter did not appear to be in accord with ecclesiastical opinion in other countries where republics have been established in place of monarchies.

Regular Monthly Meeting Helen Roger Auxiliary

The regular monthly meeting of the Helen Roger Auxiliary of Knox United Church was held Monday evening, May 4th, at the manse on King Street, with the president, Miss Colin, presiding.

PROVINCES' COUNSEL IN RADIO CASE OPENS ARGUMENT BEFORE COURT

W. N. Tilley Claims General Regulation Necessary to Avoid Chaos.

SECOND DAY OF HEARING.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 7. (CP) — General regulation of radio over the whole of Canada is necessary to avoid chaos, it was argued before the Supreme Court of Canada to-day on behalf of the Dominion Government. At the opening of the court W. N. Tilley, K.C., continued his argument against the claim of the Province of Quebec to the right to control radio broadcasting in that province.

Shortly before noon the argument for the Dominion was concluded and Charles Lanctot, K.C., counsel for Quebec, began the argument on behalf of the Provinces. He did not deny that the Dominion should have some control over radio but insisted low power broadcasting stations in provinces were essentially matters of local concern and should be subject to the control of the provincial legislatures.

Not Sufficient Reason

The fact that messages from them might be picked up outside the province or that they might interfere with interprovincial or international broadcasts was not sufficient reasons for taking away the control which under the law belonged to the provinces. It did not make them any the less local works and undertakings.

It was the second day of he hearing of the radio reference and several more days will likely lapse before the case is completed. The case is to decide whether the Dominion or Provincial Governments have control over radio broadcasting. The chief champion of the provincial claim is Quebec.

In order to secure the best results from radio, Mr. Tilley said, the allocation of wave lengths had to be regulated by the Dominion Government so that by international agreement they could be fitted into an international system. Broadcasts from a point within a province had an effect far beyond the borders of the province.

Interfere Over 6,000 Miles.

It should be remembered, said Mr. Tilley, that stations had an effect far beyond the area in which they could be heard. A 5,000 watt station had an interference area of 6,000 miles although its area of good service extended only 100 miles and the area of poor service was 1,000 miles. Thus a station could interfere all over the North American Continent and effectively prevent the use of the same wave length by another station. To avoid this all stations had to be subject to general regulations.

Under the British North America Act the Dominion was given charge of trade and commerce, counsel continued. The Dominion then should certainly have the right to take steps to adjust the situation now existing between Canada and the United States. There were 96 wave lengths in all. Canada had only 5 to itself and a share in 11. In the United States there were more highly powered stations, pouring advertising into Canada.

byterian churches to call for a leet, a list of candidates for office, when a minister is to be selected for a pulpit. Later a selected list of condidates is made and the new minister is chosen from this short leet after they have each been heard by the congregation.

Mr. Allan said that the Dovercourt Church had acted in an almost unique manner in looking over the available men for their pulpit. A committee was appointed to hear the various ministers.

Twice Visited St. Paul's.

"Unknown to me, this delegation twice visited St. Paul's and heard my sermons," he said. "The second time they interviewed me and stated that they were prepared to present a recommendation to the congregation that I be the unanimous choice."

Mr. Allan said that before any steps were taken to calling him to the Dovercourt Church, he desired to see the church. Last Sunday he preached there, not for a call, but for a supply as an opportunity to see the church.

"At that time nothing was said of the call either by any members of the congregation or myself. The first I knew of the call was the telegram from my close friend, Mr. Gordon, this morning," he said.

During Mr. Allan's term at St. Paul's the church has experienced a great forward movement, and is one of the leading churches of the city, with a large congregation. It has often been repeated at church meetings that the congregation has raised more money during the past six years than during any other period in the 96 years' history of the church. The church itself has seen many visible improvements: a new organ was installed, and the interior of the church re-decorated. The manse has also been re-decorated.

FREIGHT CHARGE

want the bother of returning them, merely as a matter of showing to our county neighbours that we have some real interest in their material welfare."

At the meeting of the Board of Works last Thursday night it was stated that the price of the Made-in-St. Mary's cement was two cents a bag cheaper than the Made-in-Peterborough cement, but an examination of the two tenders this morning shows no such disparity. Apparently the two prices are the same.

Lakefield's Letter

A letter to the city Council from the Lakefield company includes the following paragraph which may be of interest to those citizens who are convinced that the Made-in-Peterborough slogan so frequently sounded during the last year should apply to Peterborough county industries, and especially to the main factory in Lakefield:—"We have not had the pleasure of supplying the City of Peterboroough (with cement) for some years. We do feel that we are entitled to this business in view of the fact that our cement plant at Lakefield is really a local industry, and the city of Peterborough unquestionably benefits by having the plant there. We purchase in Peterborough a great deal of our requirements for the mill, and we think that the city should reciprocate in the matter of their cement business."

Cement Cost $8,000

At the city hall this morning it was ascertained that the city's cement bill last year was around $8,000, and the bulk of this sum was paid for Made-in-St. Mary's cement. An employee of the Made-in-Peterborough (county) cement company told The Examiner some time ago that the payroll of the Lakefield plant last year included a number of employees who lived in this city and went up and down to the village to work. It was also stated, and the amount was quoted as an approximation that Lakefield people, including employees of the Made-in-Peterborough cement company spent $60,000 in the city of Peterborough last year, and in contrast with that business the city of Peterborough spent about $8,000 with the Made-in-St. Mary's cement company.

One comment on the Council's purchase of Made-in-St. Mary's cement was to the effect that if the city had to pay the cost of returning the empty bags to Lakefield, and there is no doubt of this fact, the bags could be loaded on a Board of Works truck on some quiet day and take them back to the Lakefield mill at a comparatively small cost.

TAX UPON LAND PASSES HOUSE BY 59 MAJORITY

Proposal in Report Stage Draws No Strong Tory Attacks.

LIBERALS GIVE SUPPORT.

Heavy Fire Expected After Text of Measure is Announced.

LONDON, May 7 (C.P. Cable) — Though the House of Commons, by a vote of 389 to 230 last night adopted the Government resolution providing for the tax on land values, at the rate of a penny per pound of capitalized values, this important measure is to travel a rough road before it has complete Parliamentary approval.

The proposal is now in the report stage, during which amendments will be considered and various suggestions discussed in the framing of the complete bill. After this, the complete bill will be brought up for first reading. The resolution as adopted last night provides for imposition of the levy during the next financial year.

Tory Amendment

The Conservatives will submit an amendment excluding from the valuation of land affected by the bill any value that may be due to improvements made by the present owner or his predecessors. Some of the prominent Conservatives will support this amendment, but the Government, having Liberal support on this measure, will probably carry the bill through the Commons.

Neither in the Conservative Party ranks nor in the Conservative press has a strong attack yet been developed on the measure, but the reason for this is that the text of the bill has not yet been issued. Some Conservatives last night expressed sardonic surprise when Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Leader of the Liberals, stated that he had not yet seen the bill. One of the main lines of attacfi will be on the ground of public economy.

The bill will probably yet become a highly controversial issue between Conservatives and Laborites, and between the House of Lords, which is expected to reject it, and the Commons. But the adoption of the preliminary resolution was effected last night without any fireworks. The Liberal Leader, who had unsuccessfully sought to introduce somewhat similar proposals more than 20 years ago, was frank in his support of the measure. He ridiculed the contention that it meant the nationalization of land. "A penny in the pound is going to be a slow process of nationalization," he said.

SMALLER PROFITS ARE REVEALED IN 1930 IMP ERIAL OIL OUTPUT

Earnings in Canada Were $11,453,765 as Compared With $20,951,803 Last Year.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

TORONTO, Ont., May 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Larger sales in 1929 and considerably smaller profits are revealed in the 1930 report of Imperial Oil, Ltd., brought down at the annual meeting of shareholders to-day. Earnings in Canada for 1930 were $11,453,765 as compared with $20,951,803 in 1929. Earnings from investments outside of Canada were $9,105,838 as compared with $7,593,641 in 1929, making aggregate earnings, after allowance for income tax, of $19,020,360 or 71.61 cents per share in 1929. The balance sheet shows total assets of $242,159,163.97. Current liabilities total $8,991,131.28 unappropriated and surplus reserve is $103,733,601.47.

Decreased earnings are attributed to world-wide conditions and continued over-production of crude which drastically reduced prices and depreciated inventories. Imperial wrote its inventories down by $4,234,687.91 and in addition, following regular accounting practice, charged $4,927, 225.74 to operating expenses and credited it to reserve for depreciation on plant and equipment. In his report, president C. O. Stillman points out that although a larger volume of products were sold gross income from sales was about $5,000,000 less than in 1929 and that the average wholesale price of gasoline last year was 1.03 cents lower than in 1929.

Money Paid Out.

For wages, taxes, materials and freight charges along the company paid out $43,632,730 in Canada last year. Total dividend payments for the year were $26,545,160 being made up of the regular dividend of fifty cents plus a special dividend of the same amount.

Mr. Stillman's report ends with a note of optimism as follows: "During the current year it will be the policy of the company to make all necessary commitments for expansion and improvement of its plant and equipment and it is intended to spend a large sum of money in this connection. This policy is based upon the reasoned belief that the period of re-adjustment in which we are now is the prelude to an era of normal prosperity based upon economically sound and enduring foundations."

Oil Mining.

In the Canadian west drilling was confined principally to Turner Valley and the adjacent parts of the foothills, the report says. Footage drilled was 56,409 feet against 90,104 in 1929.

Nineteen out of 20 wells were completed successfully but results were disappointing. Of Alberta's total production of oil 1,368,411 barrels, Imperial and its subsidiaries produced 894,531 barrels or 65 per cent. Gas supplied for consumption in Calgary was 6, 222,797,000 cubic feet as compared with 5,845,524,000 cubic feet in 1929.

Combined production of crude oil in Colombia and Peru was 30,112,837 barrels as compared with 31,205,663 in 1929. The report said demand for gasoline and other products supplied by the company in the South American markets has been encouraging.

ORIGINALS DISCOVERED

MOSCOW, May 7 (C.P.)—Discovery of eight orignal manuscripts by the poet, Pushkin, was reported at Ulinovsk.

Movie houses, circuses and skating rinks in Paris had receipts last year totalling more than $26,000,000, an increase of $1,500,000 over that of 1929.

Propose Beer Shops For Kaffir Drought

Herizog Government May Establish Kaffir Beer Canteens in Johannesburg.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, May 7.—(By the Canadian Press)—The Hertzog Government, through the Native Affairs Department, states that with a view to reducing the sale of illicit liquor the Government considers the time has arrived to establish kaffir beer shops on the Reef and in Johannesburg.

The City Council is uncertain whether it would be agreeable to establish one or two such canteens in Johannesburg itself. The Native Affairs committee of the City Council is considering the question.

A proposal to establish beer shops in Johannesburg was rejected by the Council in November, 1928. One councillor states that the Government clearly determined to establish beer canteens. If the Council did not establish its own canteens, such establishments would be thrust on the city which would have no control over them and would derive no revenue from them.

EXPLORERS SAFE IN BELGIAN CONGO

Recent Floods Had Raised Fears For Party Under Dr. Arthur Torrance.

STUDYING PRIMITIVE LIFE.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 7. (AP) The Belgian Colonial Department received official word from Buta, Belgian Congo, to-day saying that the Torrance exploration party was in good health, setting at rest reports that the members had drowned during the recent floods.

The group, led by Dr. Arthur Torrance, left Buta on April 29 enroute to French equatorial Africa by way of Bangassou to study primitive life.

James R. McCarthy, a friend of Dr. Torrance, said recently he had received a cablegram from Buta telling him that the expedition had been engulfed by floods and the leader lost.

The expedition is operating under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institute of Washington and several New York Institutions. Dr. Torrance is a member of the Royal Society of London and the Explorers Club of New York. He is a native of Great Britain and his wife is said to live in California.

PAINFUL PILES

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protuding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

CLEAN-UP NEEDED AT QUEEN'S PARK

ALEXANDRIA, Ont., May 7. (CP) The need for further development of Ontario's power sites "after Queen's Park has been cleaned out" was stressed by Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal Leader, when he addressed a meeting of 500 Glengarry Liberals here last night.

"We are developing only 36 per cent of our hydro power possibilities" he said. "We should have more electric power but while I believe in public ownership, until we clean out Queen's Park I do not see much used of developing those sites. The Hydro Electric Commission in Ontario has become nothing but a party adjunct for the Conservative Government. That condition must be corrected."

Turning to Dominion affairs and the last Imperial Conference, Mr. Hepburn said Canada's trade was falling off daily because "Premier R. B. Bennett went over to England and shook his fist under the noses of the British consumers." He went on to say that as a result of the restricted trade policies "it does not look as if we will be able to sell our surplus products at any price."

John D. McRae, was elected by the gothering as President of the Glengarry Liberal Association for 1931.

NAME CHAIRMEN FOR COMMITTEES

MEETINGS BRIEF.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 7 (C.P.). — Organization meetings of the dozen select standing committees of the House of Commons which will function during the present session, were held yesterday. Meetings were brief, the selection of chairmen was the important business done. It is particularly interesting this session because committees are functioning for the first time in the life of the present Parliament. There were no committees during the brief emergency session last summer. Members of Parliament frequently make their mark first in committee before being chosen for important work in the Commons Chamber.

Names of committees and of chairmen appointed to-day follow:

Raymond Rogers and William Costello were sentenced to two years in Portsmouth Penitentiary on three charges, that of assaulting E. Reynolds of Dundas, stealing a motor car, and assaulting Constable Arno.

SIR R. LINDSAY HAS NO WORRIES OVER U. S. RELATIONS WITH BRITAIN

British Ambassador Has High Praise for Canadian Minister to Washington.

VISITING TORONTO.

TORONTO, Ont., May 7 (C.P.)—Relations between Great Britain and the United States are so good the British Ambassador at Washington "sleeps on both ears." This was the confession of Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to the United States, who arrived in Toronto yesterday.

Sir Ronald, well over six feet tall and weighing more than 200 pounds, considers his task in the American capital as an easy one and says, "Relations were never better between the two countries."

Present day economic difficulties were described by Sir Ronald as an "indigestion of commerce," but he regarded the future with an optimistic eye, having confidence in the healing power of time.

Sir Ronald believes that Major Herridge, new Canadian Minister to Washington, whom he met some time before the appointment was announced, has a personality which will serve him greatly in the diplomatic world of the capital.

1,000,000 Builders May Go On Strike

LONDON, May 7 (A.P.)—Labor disputes in the building trades may result in a strike of 1,000,000 men unless an agreement is reached tomorrow concerning expansion of the working week from 47 to 48 hours and a reduction in the pay scale for piece work and overtime.

Representatives of forty unions involved have agreed to modification of the piece work reduction but they are holding out for an additional hour's work a week.

Toronto Ends Losing Streak By Beating Pests 6-2

OPPORTUNE HITTING WINS 2ND GAME AT HOME FIELD

Cantrell Holds Jersey City Skeeters to Four Even Hits.

SOME HEAVY HITTING.

TORONTO, May 7. — Guy Cantrell supplied the Leafs with some fairly pleasing pitching at the Fleet Street baseball parlor yesterday afternoon, and the men of O'Neill went out and evened the present series against Jersey City, and incidentally ended their four-game losing streak. The final score was 6 to 2, in Toronto's favor.

Cantrell walked the first two Skeeters to face him, but he settled down after that and went the route, limiting the visitors to four hits, two of which produced the only Jersey City runs in the sixth inning.

The Leafs did not do a great deal against Walter Brown, a husky right-hander, who, in the opinion of one veteran fan, looked and pitched like Doc. Adkins, the old Baltimore hitter, but what they did do was sufficient to charge him with the defeat. He worked for seven innings, during which the Leafs collected six hits good for three runs. The other portion of the Leafs' total score was compiled from the offerings of Charles Perkins, a southpaw, and Kennar Graf, a slim righthander.

Rogell Hits Home Run.

Perkins came to the Jersey City hilltop after Walter Brown had been removed in favor of a pinch-hitter. Perkins was sent to the Skeeters by the Philadelphia Athletics. Against the Leafs he lasted less than an inning. Billy Rogell greeted him with a lengthy home run over the left-field fence, and Strong followed with a ringing single in the same direction. After that, Perkins evidently decided the best way to keep the Leafs from tiring out his outfielders was to walk the batters, and when he had issued three passes and forced in a run, he was derricked in favor of the slim Mr. Graf. Graf wild-pitched the third and final Leaf run of that inning in, but managed to retire the side.

The Leafs made a total of eight hits and put them to the best use. "Chick" Shiver, Ken Strong, and Manager O'Neill featured this display. They collected two hits each, Shiver and O'Neill getting doubles. It was O'Neill's double that paved the way to the winning margin. The score was tied when he led off in the seventh with a two-baser in deep left.

He promptly called Joe Rabbitt off the bench to run for him and the strategy was successful. Joe was sacrificed to third on a neat bunt by Cantrell and then he made a noble sprint to reach home safely on Morehart's short fly to Max West, whose throw to the plate was a trifle wide, much to Rabbitt's satisfaction.

Rain caused the postponement of the Chicago-Cincinnati engagement at Chicago and cold weather spiked the Indians and Browns at St. Louis.

BIRDS WIN OUT EXTRA FRAMES

Montreal Royals Drop Second Straight Decision to Orioles.

NEWARK BEATS ROCHESTER.

MONTREAL, May 7.—The Baltimore Orioles captured the second straight game of their four-contest series with the Royals here yesterday afternoon, 8 to 7. Catcher Linton hit a home run first up in the tenth to decide the verdict. The Royals had previously rallied twice to tie the score at 3—3 in the fifth, and 7—7 in the ninth, but bad base-running by the locals lost them the decision. Stroner led the Orioles at bat with a triple and a single which knocked in four runs. Smythe, who won the decision against the Royals on opening day, again got credit for the victory.

KEYS WIN CLOSE STRUGGLE

BUFFALO, May 7.—Rallying stubbornly in the late innings, Clarence Rowland's Reading Keys finally subdued the Bisons here yesterday afternoon in ten innings by a score of 6 to 5, thus squaring the series. The Keys won out on the strength of a long home run clout by Partridge in the tenth. Matthews, who had singled, scored ahead of the hitter. However, only a marvellous catch by "Rabbit" Whitman saved the Keys from defeat when the Bisons rallied again in their half. With one run home and runners on second and third, Whitman negotiated a one-handed leaping stab against the right-field wall to rob Stover of an extra-base hit and end the game.

WINGS LOOK LIKE HUSTLERS

ROCHESTER, May 7. — Newark scored five runs in the first inning yesterday with the aid of three hits and four errors and protected that early lead through the rest of the game to beat the Rochester Red Wings 5 to 4. In addition to the errors by the Wings, there were mistakes in the field which made the team look like a rank busher outfit. Ira Smith gave ten hits, but he allowed only one earned run. Billy Zitzmann substituted for Joe Moore when Moore hurt his leg and saved a possible defeat just after he took his post as he speared Holm's vicious liner. Rochester had seven hits off Rhodes and Myles Thomas.

Bearcats Are Winners In Keene Ball Game

KEENE, May 7.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The baseball season opened in Keene on Tuesday evening when an enthusiastic bunch of fans watched Hugh Renwick's Bearcats and Arnold Nelson's aggregation. Five innings only were played, the score at the end of the period being 27-4 for the Bearcats.

The officials of the league are having some difficulty in drawing up a satisfactory schedule as there are five teams to consider.

The lineups were as follows:

Keene—O. McCarthy, c; G. Nelson, cf; Roy Richardson, 2b; S. Miller, ss; C. Robertson, 3b; A. Nelson, p; M. Richardson, lf; Fred Whalen, 1b; Jack Gall, rf.

MR. JINX PAGES MR. RUTH.

Is the Babe again the victim of the jinx? Sports scribes of baseball recall incidents that prove that ever since the "King of Swat" became one of the big timers misfortune has been camped right in his heels. The present injury which has kept him out of the game recalls that of July, 1925, when he was playing against the Chicago White Sox. Racing after a fly ball he wrenched his side in a similar manner and was absent from the line-up for a few days. That, however, was only a flea-bite compared to the injuries he had earlier in the season. While returning from training camp with influenza he fell head first while getting off the train. Later an abscess had to be removed from his back. Looking back over each season heavy colds and infections have been his lot ever since he broke into the big leagues. There is, however, one thing that is certain, and that is he's not getting any younger and injuries of this nature have disheartening effect on him, very pronounced since he has been convalescing.

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 7.— The war has begun in earnest between Primo Carnera and his managers, William Duffy and Leon See, on the one side, and the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois on the other. The oversized Italian heavyweight and his managers yesterday filed affidavits in Federal court replying to the request of the Illinois Corporation for an injunction restraining Carnera from boxing Jack Sharkey at Ebbets Fields, Brooklyn, June 10. And in these affidavits they unleashed a few legal wallops as powerful and ponderous as the one the "Ambling Alp" takes in the ring.

GIANTS LOSE SERIES CLOSER BY 1-0 DECISION TO ROBINS; BIRDS WIN IN OVERTIME TILT

Cardinals Victimize Pirates in Thirteen Innings 6 to 4.

CLOSE HIT GAMES.

Simmons and Foxx Star as Athletics Defeat Boston Sox 10-3.

(By Gayle Talbot, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer)

If the St. Louis Cardinals could arrange to play nothing but extra inning games the remainder of the season, they likely would romp home in front of the National League field by a longer margin than they did in 1930.

Thus far Gabby Street's Red Birds have engaged in three extended sessions, and they have yet to lose a decision. Twice they beat out the Chicago Cubs in overtime duels, and yesterday they victimized the Pirates in 13 innings, 6 to 4. In seven rounds of overtime their opponents have been able to score but once.

In contrast, the New York Yankees have indulged in four extra period affairs and have yet to win one of them. Had they done as well as the Cards, they would be leading the American League chase.

Charlie Gelbert, shining light of the last world series, was the hero of yesterday's victory over Pittsburgh. The Card shortstop tripled in the thirteenth and scored on Martin's single. He then came through with a brilliant assist to retire the Pirates in their half after they had filled the bases on relief pitcher Jim Lindsey.

Two National league hurlers had the unhappy experience of pitching four-hit games, yet being charged with defeats. Bill Walker, Giant southpaw, held the Brooklyn Robins to a quartet of blows, only to come up on the losing end, 1 to 0 when the Dodgers grouped one of them with a walk and an outfield fly in the seventh inning. The Giants nicked Phelps and Quinn for five hits, but couldn't score.

Willie Sherdel of the Boston Braves was the other unfortunate flinger. The Phillies got to him for only four hits, but one of them was Buzz Arlett's fifth home run of the season. It came in the seventh with one on, so the Phils won 3 to 1.

The Yankees finally won a series from Washington by taking their final, 10 to 7, in a three-hour slugfest. Babe Ruth and Lyn Lary each contributed a homer to the Yanks' 14-hit assault on three pitchers, and Cronin and Bluege did likewise for the losers.

Simmons Leading

Led by Al Simmons, who cracked two doubles and three singles in five trips, the Athletics enjoyed a field day at the expense of the Boston Red Sox. Home runs by Foxx and Cochrane helped make the score 10 to 3. Earl Webb hit one off Rommel, who went the route for the Mackmen.

Roy Johnson, Detroit rightfielder, hit two doubles and a single, drove in four runs and scored one himself as the Tigers made it two out of three from Chicago, 9 to 4. Two White Sox errors contributed to the Tigers' scoring.

Winnipeg Toilers Win From Ontario Grads

WINNIPEG, Man., May 7.—(CP)—St. Catharines Grads, who succumbed to the deadly shooting of University of British Columbia in the Canadian finals last week, found another western basketball team they couldn't beat last night. Winnipeg Toilers, whose title hopes also were shattered by the B. C. Collegians, defeated St. Kitts 29 to 25 in a hard-fought exhibition game.

Toilers trailed the eastern champions by 15 to 13 at half-time, but thereafter mastered the Grads with a dazzling offensive drive throughout the last 20 minutes.

VETERANS AND SUPPORTERS ARE OPTIMISTIC REGARDING REVIVAL OF NATIONAL GAME IN THIS CITY

Campbellford, Norwood and Other Villages in District Likely Make Up Loop.

FOUR TEAM LEAGUE.

Officers Will Be Elected at Saturday's Meeting—Workouts for Week.

A number of lacrosse enthusiasts met in the Board Rooms of the Duffus Bowling Academy last night to get a line on prospects for a team in Peterborough this year affiliated with a district league. The matter was thoroughly threshed out and various angles of the situation discussed in the two-hour session held. A strong team will represent this town, and will likely go into an intermediate league with Campbellford, Norwood and either Hastings or Havelock. The election of officers was put off until the next meeting, Saturday, when more of the young players will be on hand.

While Oshawa would like to associate with Peterborough and district in lacrosse, it was the general opinion of those present last night that some of the villages would object to the long trip. Norwood is said to be forming a team again, and Campbellford will be a sure entry. What team will comprise the fourth is not known yet, but there should be little difficulty in getting a four-team league going.

A good number of lacrosse players are working out three times a week under the eye of Coach Jack Creighton, and confidence was expressed that this city could put a strong contender on the field once more. Those turning out to the practises include both experienced players and newcomers, and the latter are made welcome too, though some of them are not yet good enough to catch on with the team.

District Invited

Doug. Miller occupied the chair, and those present decided to call another meeting after the practise Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds. At this meeting, when there will be more of the actual players present, the election of officers will take place, as well as other business. In addition to Campbellford and Norwood, other villages like Millbrook, Hastings, Havelock, etc., are invited to join in this proposed league. They should get in touch with Jack Creighton, through The Examiner.

Playing equipment and sweaters came in for a great deal of discussion, and a committee was chosen to make inquiries as to price and report back at the next meeting. Finances, also, was one of the questions talked over, and while it was pretty well settled as far as those attending the meeting were concerned, the subject was shelved for the next session.

Two well-known oldtimers who were present were Lou McCoy and Ed Dillon and each was confident that people would like to see the game revived around here, and they thought that a real good team could be rounded up here to represent Peterborough.

A practise for to-night and another one for Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds were arranged, and Bill Meagher, Jack Creighton, Ed Dillon and Lou McCoy will look them over at the latter workout. All players will be requested to come out in uniform.

After several other matters connected with the local club were cleared up, and with nothing further to be done until Saturday, the meeting was adjourned.

Cricketers Selected To Play Against Grove

The following members are selected to represent Peterborough in the return engagement with Grove School and Masters at Lakefield on Saturday afternoon next, and are requested to meet at the Paragon at 1.30 sharp. Those with cars will please assist in transportation. F. Dyer, Jefferson, Mitchell, Langley, Binks, Segar, Hamilton, Mawhood, Combes, Horsfall, Dr. Hewitt, Stuart, Dainton, Howard, and Dunkerley. A practice will be held on Friday evening at 6 p.m. at the Oval and all are respectfully asked to put in an appearance at that time.

CASUAL COMMENT

The president of the Peterborough Cricket Club, Mr. Hamilton, has been in communication with Belleville, wanting to arrange games if there is a cricket club in that city. However, he has been informed that it is unlikely that such a club will be organized this summer in Belleville.

* * * * * * *

And from Belleville we hear a few unpleasant truths. The sports writer down there says: There does not seem to be much civic spirit in Peterborough. At the O.B.A.A. annual meeting, they were all enthused over the prospects of senior ball. What a difference four weeks can make!

* * * * * * *

And he adds the dig: After their experience last fall, they should realize that, united we stand, etc.

* * * * * * *

It seems that Kingston is willing to operate with just the two teams in the league, providing that Belleville will take on some of the American teams they bring over the line. They could play in Belleville one day and Kingston the next.

* * * * * * *

The Belleville writer thinks this would be all right, only the question is: Will exhibition games pay in the Quinte city? At any rate, the Gerowmen still have hopes of going to the Olympic games in California. They figure they have a pretty smart team and should win.

* * * * * * *

Bob Elliott is rather peeved because the Petes had to drop out. He has spent a lot of his time and money getting the league going again this year, and he was counting on Peterborough. Tough luck, Bob, we were, ourselves.

* * * * * * *

King George and King Edward Schools are tangling this evening on the latter's grounds in their first meeting since the Public School schedule began this year. If they aren't rained out, those two outfits should put up a great battle.

* * * * * * *

The Kiwanis Juniors will practise Friday night at King Edward School grounds at six o'clock. Manager Jack Deannard hopes to have a good turnout so that he can begin lining up his team.

* * * * * * *

The newly-organized lacrosse team here has been greatly strengthened by the presence of Gordon Hartwell, formerly of the Wallaceburg lacrosse club. He has been working out with this team lately.

* * * * * * *

Gord is a nifty stick-handler and is thoroughly experienced in the game of the gutted stick. He should prove valuable to the Petes this summer.

* * * * * * *

The lacrossers who attended the meeting last night are an enthusiastic bunch. It seems as if no odds are too great to be surmounted to put the game back on the sport map here.

* * * * * * *

The fellows are willing, and anxious, to give of their time and money and ask help from no one in their uphill fight to revive lacrosse. It's just love for the game and nothing else that attracts them, and is the reason for the enthusiasm. They know there is neither money nor any appreciable fame for them, but that doesn't matter.

* * * * * * *

* * * * * * *

They're practising tonight at six and Saturday afternoon at two down at the Exhibition Grounds, and all players are advised to be on hand. There will be a meeting after the Saturday's workout in the Manufacturer's Building on the grounds.

C.O.B.L. Likely to Carry on This Year With Belleville, Kingston and Motor City.

Petes May Change Decision.

Oshawa baseball club notified President R. E. Colling of the Central League yesterday that they propose to enter a team this year. Yesterday Peterborough club informed the president that owing to difficulties they will be unable to occupy a berth, and prospects looked bad for the resumption of activities with Belleville and Kingston to carry on.

Peterborough was the first to enter, and with the Belleville club favorably situated, were willing to enter, provided there were sufficient teams to guarantee a satisfactory league. Kingston finally agreed to come in, and with the three teams it was decided to proceed, and a schedule was drawn up. Peterborough then dropped out and it was felt inadvisable to carry on with two teams. Oshawa then stepped into the breach to-day, and it may be possible to go ahead.

There is still a possibility that Peterborough may come in, and R. A. Elliott, president of the O.B.A.A., will confer with Peterborough in an effort to have the officials of that club reconsider their decision.

Davis Cup Matches At Toronto To-Day

TORONTO, Ont., May 7.—(CP)—Four Davis Cup trial matches are to be played today. These are the first of a three-day series of contests from which will emerge the players to represent Canada in the second round of the North American zone of the cup competition against United States.

Three of the matches scheduled today are singles while the fourth is a doubles test. Marcel Raineville, Montreal and Walter Martin, Regina will start the trials in the first match this morning. Weather conditions were unfavorable and it is probable the games will be postponed. A drizzling rain set in early this morning and gave no promise of letting up.

International Golf Series For Women

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 7.—Arrangements for an official series of women's international golf team matches between the United States and Great Britain have been completed, H. H. Ramsay, president of the U. S. Golf Association, announced today. The first competition for a trophy to be known as the Curtis cup will be held in Great Britain.

Inauguration of the new series for women golfers of the two countries along the lines of the now famous Walker cup competition for men, follows negotiations that have been carried on for some time between representatives of the women's committee of the U. S. G. A., and the Ladies' Golf Union, of Great Britain.

Details remain to be worked out, Mr. Ramsay said, but the probability is that the Curtis cup matches will be played every two years alternately in the United States and Great Britain, as is the case now with the Walker cup competition.

The Curtis cup is the gift of the misses Margaret and Harriet Curtis, of Boston.

FLIP LOSES HIS BREATH

Who does his best finds no disgrace
If he doth lose a well run race.
—Antelope Jack.

Flip was as excited as a small dog very well could be. Farmer Brown's Boy was taking him for a walk and it was the first good chance Flip had had to really stretch his legs, and they needed stretching. Anyway, that is the way he felt. It was a strange country they were in. At least it was strange to Farmer Brown's Boy and to Flip, though, of course, it wasn't strange at all to the people who lived there. It was in Arizona and they had come with cousin Tom by airplane, for the latter was an aviator. Now they were to spend some time on a ranch and Farmer Brown's Boy was as eager as Flip to get acquainted with this new land.

It was on the edge of the desert and Farmer Brown's Boy, used to the cool green carpet of grass on the Green Meadows at home, spreading shade of many trees, and the many shades of green of bushes and vines and young trees, could see little of beauty in this land o sand and heat. Growing plants there were, but they were very different from the plants back home and they grew in clumps or singly. The coarse grass grew in bunches. In time he was to find beauty there, but at first it was all merely odd and strange.

Flip was so happy that he raced around in circles as fast as he could go and then back to his master. After a while he began investigating every bunch of grass or plant along the way. Suddenly as he poked his inquisitive little nose under a bush someone jumped out from under the other side and bounded away as if in no hurry, just no hurry at all. Flip started after, but when he got where he could get a good look at this stranger he stopped from sheer surprise.

"That must be one of Peter Rabbit's cousins," thought he, "but who ever heard of a Rabbit with such long legs? And those ears! Why, Jumper the Hare back in the Green Forest doesn't know what long ears are. I didn't suppose there were such ears. No, sir, I didn't I suppose that he thinks he can run. Well, I'll show him a thing or two about running. Yes, sir, I'll show him a thing or two about running."

With this, Flip set to down to running and at the same time barking. He was so excited he had to bark. He always barks when he is excited. Now, Flip can run fast for a short distance. Yes, indeed, he can run fast and he is rather proud of it. There wasn't a doubt in his head that he would make this big rabbit run as he had never run before. I suspect that he really expected to catch this fellow if he didn't find shelter in a bramble-tangle or a hole or a hollow log, and none of these things seemed to be handy.

But pretty soon Flip stopped barking. It took too much breath to bark. He needed all his breath for running. You see, this stranger didn't appear to be hurrying at all, yet Flip couldn't gain an inch on him. He travelled in great bounds that took him over the ground surprisingly fast, yet seemed to be doing it so easily that it was no effort at all. He bounded so high sometimes that it seemed as if he must have springs in his long heels.

He wasn't grayish brown like Peter Rabbit, nor was his coat the color of Jumper the Hare's in summer. In fact, as he ran he looked to be largely white. Farmer Brown's Boy wished he would sit still long enough to allow his real colors to be seen, and presently, having gotten far ahead of Flip, he did stop. Then it could be seen that while he was white beneath and part way up his sides, his back was yellowish and so was his throat and the top of his head. His ears, the biggest ears Farmer Brown's Boy ever had seen on an animal of his size, were buff color in front and whitish behind. For the rest, he was more or less grayish, which, at a distance, looked more white than gray. His tail was white underneath, but blackish on top to about the middle.

"I know who you are," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "You are Antelope Jack, one of the Jack Rabbit members of the family." He was right. It was Antelope Jack.

MODERN POETRY OF HIGH CLASS

W. J. Funk Claims More Good Verse Being Written Than in "Golden Ages."

HAS NEW GAME.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 7. (CP)—In support of one of his pet theories—that more good verse is being written now than during any of the so-called golden ages of literature—Wilfred J. Funk, businessman-poet, has devised a new game.

It is a guessing game.

It consists of reading aloud the work of the Elizabeths and Victorians and the verses of contemporary poets, without revealing the authorship, and then guessing who wrote that.

There is, for instance, this line: "Old sounds born of the gossamer rain—"

Swinburne might have written it, but he didn't. It appeared the other day in the light verse column of a magazine with a large and non-literary circulation.

"I'll take two of Edna St. Vincent Millay's sonnets and put them up beside two of Shakespeare's" Mr. Funk said to-day. "If the authorship is not known. "I'll defy anybody to tell which are Miss Millay's and which Shakespeare's.

"I think Hoffenstein compares very favorably with Heine, and there's as much bite and satire in Dorothy Parkers' verse as there is in Pope's—and a lot more beauty.

"Among readers of poetry there's so much name worship. We go down on our knees at the mention of Wordsworth's name. Yet some of the finest poetry that has ever been written is appearing all the time in newspapers. It was contributed, a good deal of it, by businessmen who had to get it out of their systems. They didn't get any money for it. They only wanted to see it in print."

Suffered With Breaking Out a Year. Healed by Cuticura.

"For a year or more I suffered with a breaking out on my forehead. It started with a rash but kept getting worse until my forehead was covered with small, red pimples. The irritation was so severe that I used to scratch at night and my forehead was disfigured very badly. The trouble was so severe that I lost many nights' sleep.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. I purchased more and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Olive Casman, 9633-109 A Ave., Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 15, 1930.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address Canadian Depot: J. T. Welt Company Limited, Montreal.

LIFTS you UP

When you're tired and weary and out of sorts after a long day's work, just break the golden seal of a bottle of Canada Dry and pour its liquid sunshine into your glass.

Cool and dewy, it sparkles there with bubbles dancing in its depths. Just to see it is an invitation to cheer up and taste it. And, as you sip its wonderful flavour, how it picks you up, invigourates you, helps you keep fresh and smiling to the end of the day!

For, with all its lovely amber colour, its delicate bouquet and its champagne-like flavour, this fine old ginger ale has a quality even more important. It is pure and healthful and good for you.

For this Champagne of Ginger Ales is made by a special process. All the natural goodness and flavour of the pure Jamaica ginger root are retained. A secret method of carbonation gives it a lasting life and sparkle. Ultra-violet rays insure absolute purity of its water. These are the reasons why Canada Dry is such an invigourating drink when you are tired and thirsty.

At 3.30 in the afternoon or 3.30 in the morning a sparkling glass of Canada Dry is a welcome sight indeed. Canada Dry now comes in two sizes—the familiar 12-ounce bottle and the new five-glass magnum.

DENIES ALFONSO ISSUED ORDERS

Marquis Detenta States He Was Not Asked to Get Guerra to Head Monarchist Ticket.

KING WANTS CO-OPERATION.

MADRID, May 7.—(AP)—The Marques Luca Detenta today denied published reports that former King Alfonso of Spain had asked him to persuade Jose Sanchez Guerra, former Premier, to head a Monarchist ticket in the coming parliamentary elections.

"The king has not given me any order," he said in a statement. "The King desires only that the Monarchists shall not put difficulties before the Republican Government and that they collaborate with the Government on such patriotic matters as require it."

The Duke of Maura, former Minister of Labor and a brother of Minister of Interior Miguel Maura, considers it possible that the monarchy will be restored by the vote of the people.

"There is operating a great reaction of Monarchical elements," he said. "It is also possible that chaos may come, but afterward would come the restoration. At the elections we will see what happens."

The Republican Government has has scheduled the election for a constituent Cortes in June.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 58 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burrough

After selling Meriem, the native chief demanded of the girl's new masters that they leave his village next morning early. He told them of her savage mate who would surely attempt her rescue. The Swedes needed no urging to hasten on toward the Sheik's country. Already they were gloating over the gold they would receive from him in exchange for the lovely prize luck had thrown across their path. Two days they marched

During his hard trek across the African plains, Malbihn feasted his eyes upon the face and figure of the beautiful captive. His desire to possess her for himself became even greater than / greed for the ransom money. The fourth evening they pitched camp. Meriem began to give up hope. Why did Korak not come to her? She had been left alone until near midnight when Malbihn entered her tent. The look of a beast was on his face.

Like a trapped creature Meriem shrank from the approaching man. She saw his hands extended, claw-like, to seize her; heard his breath come quickly. Then she screamed—loud and shrill, once twice, a third time before Malbihn could leap across the tent and throttle her cries with his brute strength. Then she fought him. Beneath her rounded curves, and fine, soft skin lay the muscles of a young lioness. The man found her desperate.

But Malbihn was of giant strength and stature and he was brutal. Slowly he subdued the girl's fighting fury. Meriem still fought back but she was growing weaker from the choking fingers at her throat. Her cries had awakened Jenssen. Long suspicious of his partner, he guessed rightly what might be happening. With a muttered curse he dashed from his tent. Out in the jungle, another heard faintly the screams and broke into a rapid run.

TORIES VICTORS IN SCARBOROUGH

MAJORITY IS 2,189.

SCARBOROUGH, Yorkshire, May 7. (C. P. Cable)—With a slightly reduced majority the Conservatives retained the traditionally-Conservative division of Scarborough and Whitby in yesterday's by-election.

The result was announced today. H. P. Latham, Conservative, was elected with 21,618 votes against 19,429 for J. Ramsay Muir, Liberal candidate, a Conservative majority of 2,189.

In the last general elections Captain Sidney Herbert, Conservative member since 1922, was re-elected with 20,710 votes to 17,544 for H. P. Gisborne, Liberal, and 4,645 for H. D. Rowntree, Labor, a Conservative majority of 3,166.

Captain Herbert recently retired from the House on account of ill-health.

Lloyd George Active

The straight party fight in the Scarborough election was in strong contrast to some of the "stunt" campaigns in recent by-election. The Liberals made a determined effort to put Scarborough in the Liberal column and Mr. Muir, who is an authority on history and former professor of modern history in Manchester University, received the energetic assistance of Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George. The vigor of the Liberal fight was reflected in an increase of nearly two thousand in the Liberal vote while the Conservative vote increased by less than a thousand.

Mr. Latham, the new member, is only 26 years of age. He was the youngest member of the London County Council on his election to that venerable body a few years ago. He unsuccessfully contested Rotherham in the last general elections.

There are still five vacancies in the House of Commons.

IN MEMORIAM.
WINTERS.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Sophie Winters, who died May 7, 1930.

Lumber Yard Burns With $17,000 Loss

BONDFIELD, Ont., May 7. (CP)—A half million feet of lumber, two cars of pulpwood and about 200 ties were destroyed in a fire that started in the lumber yard owned by Matt Boivin here early to-day. The loss, which is partly covered with insurance, is expected to reach $17,000.

While the fire was raging the C.P.R. station was in imminent danger but was saved by the timely arrival of an auxiliary train with fire fighting equipment. Pumper and hose were dispatched from North Bay although the bucket brigade of Bondfield greatly assisted in subduring the flames which were visible at North Bay, 22 miles distant. Although the cause of the fire is unknown it may have been the result of tramps sleeping in the lumber yards.

Satrap's Treasure Sought in Greece

ATHENS, May 7. — Two brothers whose grandfather was attendant to Ali Pasha, the satrap of Janina a century ago, are digging in a Janina backyard, seeking buried treasure.

Ali Pasha is supposed to have hidden a fabulous hoard, and recently among their grandfather's papers the brothers found what they believed a plan of the satrap's secret vault. The grandfather was Ali Pasha's closest companion, when he was killed in 1822, and apparently the only possessor of the secret to the hidden wealth.

Ali Pasha, according to legend, had nine men dig the vault, then put them to death. Preliminary excavations have uncovered a tunnel in which nine skeletons were found.

AIRMAN SIGHTS LOST EXPLORER ON WAY HOME

Scientist is With Party of Four on Foot Headed By H. G. Watkins.

DROPS PACKAGE OF FOOD.

Captain Ahrenberg Finds Deserted Igloo Shortly After Party Had Left.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press)

ANGMAGSALIK, Greenland May 8.—A dog sled trailed by four men, winding through the ice crags of Greenland today took Augustine Courtauld, youthful British scientist, back to safety and human society after a winter spent alone on the Greenland ice cap.

Of the three men with Courtauld the leader is H. G. Watkins, chief of the British Arctic air route expedition which last fall left him in an igloo on the ice cap with the promises to return in March to relieve him after a winter spent in observance of meteorological conditions.

Watkins, who searched in vain in March and April for the igloo which was Courtauld's winter home, yesterday morning—two months late—kept his promise, found Courtauld, in whom hope of rescue must have begun to fade, and started back with him over 105 miles to the expedition's base, at Sermelik Fjord, 35 miles inland.

Six Expeditions Started

Watkin's success was attained as six expeditions to rescue Courtauld were got under way. Had Watkins failed, or been a few hours later, success would have rested with the most spectacular of these expeditions, that of the Swedish civilian pilot, Captain A. Ahrenberg, who flew from Malmoe, Norway, and found the Courtauld igloo a few hours after Watkins had taken Courtauld away.

THREE EMPLOYES WERE DISMISSED

Trent Canal Employees Basis of Questions in House of Commons.

REPLIES MADE.

The dismissal of four local employees of the Trent Canal staff, who are also ex-service men, has been recorded in the Hansard reports of Parliament in the issue of Wednesday, May 6.

Pritchard has been re-engaged as foreman on two months' probation.

2. If so, why were they dismissed? Ans.—For continued unsatisfactory services.

3. How long have they been members of the Trent Canal staff? Ans.—Curtis, April, 1926; Allen, June, 1921; Cruikshank, July, 1914.

5. Were these men replaced by men who have seen no war service? Ans.—No.

Berengaria Aground Near Gravesend Bay

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8 (C.P.).—The Cunard liner Berengaria, from Southampton, with 468 passengers, went aground to-day in Gravesend Bay.

Offices of the Cunard Line in New York reported the liner as not in distress. Ploughing through the heavy fog and rain she ran aground in the soft mud on one side of Ambrose channel.

Since she was held only by the bow, it was believed the ship could ease out with the assistance of tugboats as soon as high tide was reached.

Forged Cheques Passed in Lindsay

LINDSAY, Ont., May 8 (Examiner Correspondence). — A "rubber cheque" artist plied his vocation in Lindsay on Thursday, three merchants falling victims to his smoothness. He is believed to be the same individual who, claiming to be a resident of Peterborough, endeavored to pass a cheque in a local bank on Tuesday. The stranger forged the names of three well-known farmers and purchased goods in the stores of H. Brimmell, H. Williams, and the Neill Shoe Store.

LABOR RETAINS ST. ROLLOX SEAT

Scottish Nationalists Are Highly Pleased With Their Candidate's Total.

Victor's Majority Reduced.

GLASGOW, Scotland, May 8 (C.P. Cable)—Labor retained the St. Rollox division of Glasgow in yesterday's by-election with a greatly reduced majority.

The result, announced to-day, was as follows:

William Leonard, Labor, 10,044.
J. A. Kennedy, Conservative, 8,662.
Miss E. Campbell, Scottish Nationalist, 3,521.

St. Rollox has been a safe Labor seat for nine years. The by-election was necessitated by the death of James Stewart, Labor member, elected in the last general elections, when the vote was: Stewart, 10,445; Forman, Conservative, 11,430; Middleton, Communist, 613.

The candidature of the Nationalist candidate was perhaps responsible for a huge shrinkage in the Labor majority. The Labor vote was 9,401 below that in the last general elections, while the Conservative poll was reduced by only 3,768. The total poll yesterday, 22,227, compared with a total vote of 31,488 in 1929.

Trade Unionist.

The new member, Mr. Leonard, is president of the Scottish Trades Union Congress this year. He is a woodworker, and has been prominent in the Trades Union movement for many years.

Miss Campbell was unable to attend the counting or declaration of the result because she had been unable to get leave of absence from her school duties with the Renfrewshire County Council. But her campaign was highly gratifying to the Nationalists, who saved their deposit by several hundred votes.

Robert Gray, a member of the Scottish Nationalist Party Council, declared the result showed that an ever-increasing number of Scottish voters were "finishing with English political parties."

"It is sufficient encouragement for us to carry on with the fight for Scottish independence," declared Mr. Gray, "and we are more than ever convinced that Scottish Nationalism will triumph in a very short time."

HON. ROBERT WEIR OUTLINES POLICY IN AGRICULTURE

Want-of-confidence Motion Defeated by Largest Majority of Session.

VALLANCE ANSWERS.

Minister Takes Slap at Both Mackenzie King and Motherwell.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8 (C.P.) — Having voted down a non-confidence motion aimed at the Government, Parliament to-day continued the voting of money to carry on the affairs of State during the present fiscal year. By the largest majority of the session, the Bennett Government yesterday emerged victorious from an attack on its agricultural record. The majority in favor of the administration was 46.

The division was on the want-of-confidence motion of J. L. Brown, Liberal Member for Lisgar, Man. It expressed regret the Government had failed to implement its promises regarding agricultural and had failed to better conditions facing the farmers. Liberals, together with two of the Laborites, J. S. Woodsworth and Angus MacInnis, voted solidly for the motion, with the Conservatives and the majority of the U.F.A. Members opposed.

Account of Stewardship

Breaking his long silence in the House, Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, came to his own defence in the closing hours of the debate. Recounting the steps taken to counteract the distress conditions gripping the farmers of the country, he gave an account of his stewardship since assuming office last August.

In a rapid, staccatto form of speaking, Mr. Weir covered many of the problems affecting agriculture to-day and when he resumed his seat, prolonged applause greeted him from the Government supporters. Later, in the Government lobby, further cheers broke out when he left the chamber for a brief period.

How the British market was being developed for Canadian cattle, negotiations with steamship lines and ranchers and of the success attained so far, were detailed by the Minister. He discussed the butter market, claiming that until a few weeks ago, the Canadian market price had been sustained through efforts of the Government by the eight-cent duty against importations under the British preference and verbal agreements with Australia and New Zealand. When describing the negotiations designed to enable Western farmers to secure bank credits, Mr. Weir said a definite offer of assistance had been made by the Dominion. By arrangements with Western Ministers of Agriculture the exact terms of the offer were being kept secret.

No government realized the ex-

PROVINCES' CASE HEARD IN COURT

Quebec Counsel Asks Same Rule for Radio as Laid Down for Aviation.

EXCEPTION MADE FOR WAR.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8 (C.P.).—The building and operating of radio transmitting and receiving sets are property and civil rights belonging to all citizens, Charles Lanctot, K.C., counsel for Quebec, argued to-day before the Supreme Court of Canada. It was the third day of the reference before the court to determine whether the Provincial Legislatures or the Dominion Government should control radio broadcasting.

Since it was a civil right to use radio equipment, the only authority competent to limit or regulate the exercise of that right by a citizen was the Provincial Legislature.

Furthermore, Mr. Lanctot continued, the space above the soil, under the law, belonged to the owner of the soil to some extent. But insofar as it was public property it came under the control of the Legislature of the Province.

"We say," he continued, "whether the space or air or ether above the soil be public or private property, the only athority competent to authorize the passing of waves over the land is the Provincial Legislature."

Radio Similar to Aviation

Claiming there was a close similarity between radio and aviation, Mr. Lanctot asked the Court to apply to radio the same rule they had laid down in the reference on aviation a year ago. In that case the Court refused to recognize the Dominion's claim to complete control of the field of aviation. It was held the operation of airplanes was primarily a matter of property and civil rights, although in the larger field of international and interprovincial aviation, the Dominion had certain rights.

Many operations in one Province, wholly under Provincial control, had an effect in another Province, Mr. Lanctot argued. This was no reason for limiting Provincial control because radio waves passed out of the Province.

"When our fleet went into the South Pacific," said Mr. Justic Newcombe, "We were told the Germans jammed the wireless. They prevented our ships from communicating with one another by their interference. Do you say you should have the right to jam Ontario's wireless?"

"In case of war," said Mr. Lanctot, "I am prepared to admit the Dominion should take control of all radio. The Dominion has power to do this under the Act."

"It is not only in case of war," said the judge; "It is a question of one Province unintentionally or intentionally interfering with radio in another Province."

With regard to the Dominion's obligations to fulfill international treaties, Mr. Lanctot said the Dominion was not required to enact legislation to fulfill the treaty in respect to a Provincial matter unless the Province failed to do so.

ARREST CLERK IN CLEVELAND

Youth Suspected of Embezzling $5,000 From Bank at Brantford.

WAIVES EXTRADITION.

CLEVELAND, O., May 8.—Suspected of embezzling $5,000 from a bank at Brantford, Ont., Jack Percell, 18, was held here to-day for Canadian authorities. Police said he confessed he had embezzled the money over a period of several months by forging withdrawal slips of the bank's customers.

W. P. Fetterly, Toronto, a bank adjustor, planned to return Percell to Brantford. The clerk waived extradition.

Percell took the money, police said, intending to "buy autos and see the world." He was arrested after attempting to cash a draft for $2,500 on another Canadian bank. The draft was found to be valid, but it was claimed the funds drawn upon had been deposited from the amounts taken in the alleged embezzlements.

SHARP REMARKS STIR FIRE CHIEFS

Double Loss Caused Through Inefficient Fire Inspection.

KINGSTON CHIEF PROTESTS.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8 (C.P.). — Criticizing a Fire Chief of an Ontario town as being responsible for fire losses doubling what they should be, J. Robertson, of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, brought strong protests from delegates attending the Canadian Fire Marshals' Association here to-day. The loss, Mr. Robertson charged, was caused through inefficient fire inspection.

Mr. Robertson's remark brought hasty criticism from Chief Armstrong of Kingston, secretary of the Fire Chiefs' Association, who said: "I think that Mr. Robertson's remarks are entirely uncalled for."

Chief Guerin of Kitchener, representing the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs, declared: "I am awfully sorry I will have to carry back the remarks of Mr. Robertson to the Fire Chiefs' Association when I submit my report."

When Chief Armstrong, of Kingston, was asked if Mr. Robertson's remarks referred to the Limestone City, he declared, "They certainly do not."

LABOR RETAINS SEAT.

GLASGOW, Scotland, May 8 (C. P.). — The Labor Party retained its parliamentary seat for the St. Rollox Division by a reduced vote in a by-election, the results of which were announced to-day. W. Leonard polled 10,044 votes against 8,662 for the Conservative candidate. At the last election the Labor majority was more than 7,000.

KILLERS INDICTED FOR MURDERING OFFICER, DANCER

Crowley and Durniger Sleep Soundly After Battling 200 Police 3 Hours.

GIRL BADLY FRIGHTENED.

Police Commissioner Describes Capture as Most Sensational in 30 Years.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8.—Francis "Two-Gun" Crowley was indicted today by the Nassau County Grand Jury for the murder last Monday of Patrolman Frederick Hirsch, while Rudolph Duringer, Pistol pal of Crowley, was indicted by the Bronx Grand Jury for the murder, April 27, of Virginia Brannen, young taxi-dancer from Maine.

Duringer's indictment followed a few hours after he had confessed the killing in the line-up at police headquarters.

Mr. McLaughlin said Duringer, who was taken over the course of the fatal ride to-day, would be arraigned later to-day.

Both Sleep Soundly.

The two confessed killers Francis (Two Gun) Crowley, and Rudolph (Tough Red) Durniger, slept as soundly as babes, the police said today, after standing off 200 policemen for three hours in the most audacious resistance to law New York has known in years.

Crowley, hunted since Monday for the murder of Policeman Frederick Hirsch, was at Bellevue Hospital, the only casualty of the gun fight, in which more than 500 shots were fired. Three slugs from police guns were removed from his body early to-day—one from each leg and another from his wrist.

Durniger, confessed woman killer, "slept like a log," his keepers said. When he was asked what he wanted chops, and plenty of them."

Durniger has admitted it was he who slew the young taxi-dancer, Virginia Brannen, after a wild gin-scented ride in the early morning hours of April 27.

The third person in the fourth floor, walk-up apartment where the police with guns, bombs and axes effected the Crowley-Durniger capture, as 20,000 men and women watched in the streets below, was the comely but now frightened Helen Walsh. She was taken early to-day to Long Island, scene of the Patrolman Hirsch slaying, to which she was a witness.

Commissioner Gassed.

A slender girl in a house dress, she stood with the two young gunmen as they held out during the early evening hours of yesterday against the bullets and bombs of the police who were led by Commissioner Mulrooney in person. The Commissioner was slightly gassed during the siege. He said to-day that in 30 years on the police force the capture was

Manager Dies Half-An-Hour After Hold-Up

Staff of Dominion Bank of Canada Branch, Suddenly Confronted By Three Men With Levelled Guns, Throw Up Their Hands on Desperados' Order.

P. B. R. TUCKER, EVIDENTLY NOT HEARING COMMAND, FAILS TO RAISE HANDS AND RECEIVES HAIL OF LEAD

Trio Cooly Gather Up All Money in Sight, Estimated Between $6,000 and $7,000, Rush to Auto Waiting at Curb and Disappear—Police Dragnet Out.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 8 (C.P.). — Bank Manager P. B. R. Tucker was shot and fatally wounded by bandits who held up and robbed a branch of the Dominion Bank of Canada of an amount estimated at between $6,000 and $7,000 here this forenoon. Mr. Tucker died of his wounds half an hour after the robbery occurred.

Three armed men suddenly appeared in the bank, which is situated at the corner of Sherbrooke and Notre Dame Streets, at 10.30 a.m. With guns levelled, they commanded members of the staff to throw up their hands and the request was complied with by all except Mr. Tucker, who evidently did not hear the order.

One of the trio fired at the manager several times ,and he fell to the floor. The bandits coolly gathered up the money and rushed to an automobile waiting at the curb with engine running.

The robbery was witnessed by two persons other than the members of the bank staff. A window cleaner, working at the bank, saw the entire scene, and a woman passing the bank at the time saw the hands of the staff in the air. She immediately telephoned the police from a neighboring store.

Work Fast.

The robbers worked swiftly, evidently on a pre-arranged plan. After the hold up they entered a car standing at the curb and drove east on Notre Dame and south on Furby, towards Portage Avenue.

The bank had been opened only a few minutes, when the robbers entered, ordering the entire staff to throw up their hands. Two of the gunmen went to the back of the building and vaulted the counter, climbed over the counter at the front while the third member of the gang front.

Mr. Tucker, the manager, was walking towards his office when the robbers appeared. Rather hard of hearing, he evidently did not understand the command. One of the robbers immediately opened fire, wounding the manager twice in the stomach. He was taken to the general hospital immediately but died shortly after arrival.

WINDSOR STUDIES RELIEF SCHEMES

Frank Mitchell is Visiting Several Cities in Province of Ontario.

BEING PREPARED.

With a current expenditure of more than $1,000 a day in direct relief to their citizens who are out of work and reduced to absolute need, the Council of Windsor has decided to begin now preparations for next winter. Frank Mitchell, Industrial Commissioner, whose acquaintance with Peterborough grows through the local transportation service, was in the city this morning on a mission of enquiry into relief methods that is taking him across the Province as far as Ottawa with incidental investigations in London, Hamilton, Sarnia, Peterborough, Kingston, and probably several other cities.

"We might as well anticipate now next winter's problem," said Mr. Mitchell to The Examiner. "Industrial production is not increasing to the extent we have all been hoping for, and production means employment. We have a big job on our hands and we want to handle it in the most efficient way we can. So, I am looking over the way other cities in the Province handle their relief. So far I have been impressed especially by Toronto's system, but I may find other ideas here and elsewhere.

That $1,000 a day for relief applies only to Windsor and not to the Border Cities as a group, and it is only for direct relief such as food and fuel.

"Our job in Windsor is made heavier by the 10,000 commuters that used to go across the border to work in Detroit. They have been turned back on us, and a lot of them are on our hands. But, we are never beaten on the border. There is a fine spirit among the people of Windsor, and we will come through all right."

Mr. Kizer had the store and goods partially covered with insurance, while a small amount of grain was put in the mill yesterday. The loss is expected to be heavy.

COUNTRY IS COOL

By GORDON A. SINCLAIR

FEZ, Morocco, April 9.—(Special to The Examiner, Copyright, 1931)—The French Foreign Legion decked themselves out in their gayest 'Beau Geste' uniforms to-day, trotted out their Sunday go - to - meeting band and invaded the market square to be inspected by the United States ambassador to Paris for no good reason at all.

The ambassador, who is not a soldier, seemed awkward and upset in this inspection business. He tried to look formal and knowing and officious about it but only succeeded in showing that he too had been carried away by the romantic history of these reckless fighters who work a full month for one cent and red wine, and are supposed to be lads with a good future behind them.

Legion headquarters is in Marseilles, where more recruits are now offering themselves than can be handled; African headquarters is in Sidi Ben Abbas, or some such place.

Martial Law in Tijuana District

SAN DIEGD, Cal., May 8 (C.P.)—Martial law was declared in Tijuana, Lower California, today, following the death of Roque Sabida Quinjana, the Mayor's private secretary, who was shot last night when the Mayor and his party was attacked by malcontents.

Board Will Discuss Church Alterations

Although tenders will not be let tonight, the Board of Management of St. James' United Church will discuss the extent of the alterations to the Church and Sunday School which are contemplated for this year. Contractors' bids, recently opened, indicated that the cost of the work according to the original plans would exceed the sum which the Board deems advisable to spend.

The St. James' Sunday School attendance has grown to a figure between five and six hundred, and the need of more accommodation is a problem which the Board has to face. By changing the heating system, an increase of 1,200 square feet can be obtained, and this alteration is likely to be one phase of the plans to be undertaken at once.

SON ACTED QUEERLY ON OCCASIONS MRS. BROCKENSHIRE SAYS AT TRIAL

Testifies She Became Afraid of Youth When He Came Home and Threatened Her.

CLARKSON RELATES STORY.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8.—(CP)—Testimony of Mrs. Mary Brockenshire of Windsor, to the effect that her son acted queerly on several occasions prior to his leaving home on Dec. 9 last, featured today's session of the trial of her son, John Brockenshire, and Harry Clarkson, jointly charged with the murder of Police Constable Roy McQuillin here last December.

Mrs. Brockenshire took the stand as the first witness in her son's defence. She said John was one of four children, born in Fenelon Falls, Ont., 23 years ago.

Began To Wander

"In 1924 he first acted queerly," his mother said. "He persisted in going in bare feet, then suddenly left home and began wandering, never saying anything about where he was going. When we had visitors he acted very indifferently. He often lost good clothes. He would leave with a suit and come back without the coat."

Mrs. Brockenshire told of the sudden spells taken by her son which she said first started in 1927. She told of his collapse at his father's feet when he fell from a chair and also falling back on a chair suddenly. The witness broke down when she was about to tell of her son coming home on Dec. 9 and raving about

New York Advances "Bears" Stampede

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8 (C.P.) —Another stampede of the bears gave the stock market a swift upturn late in to-day's trading. Advances of 32 to $4 a share were numerous, and trading became so feverish that the ticker fell a few minutes behind transactions.

'Flat Road' Is Taken Over By Commission

The entire stretch of the "flat" road in Otonabee, from the River Road south to the "base line," has been assumed by the Suburban Area Commission, leaving to the county's supervision the remaining mile and a half from the base line to Bensfort Bridge.

C. P. Kitney, chairman of the Commission, informs The Examiner that Jackson's Hill, near the base line, as being cut down, and 3,000 loads of gravel will be used in building up the new road. The new section of suburban road will not be completed this year, but will be constructed in accordance with the Commission's general policy of progress and quality.

Direct telephone service between Prague, Czechoslovakia, and London has been inaugurated.

CROWLEY TAKEN AFTER GUN FIGHT LASTING 3 HOURS

Police Riddle Apartment Before Killer, His Sweetheart and Companion Surrender.

AMMUNITION GAVE OUT.

Prisoner, Wounded, Confesses He Slew Dance Hall Girl and Officer.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8.—Captured after a spectacular gun battle and siege of an apartment building where he was hiding, "Two Gun" Crowley, 19-year-old killer, was under heavy guard to-day in Bellevue Hospital.

He was wounded in one wrist and the legs by police bullets, which had poured through walls and windows. Hundreds of bullets were fired. Tear gas bombs were also used. The battle lasted three hours or more.

Crowley was taken prisoner with a pistol hidden under each trouser leg. With him were his sweetheart, Helen Walsh, 16, and Rudolph Durniger. They were in a three-room apartment on the top floor of a four-storey house. Thinking they would die in the siege, they wrote farewell letters.

Crowley and the girl had been sought since Monday, for the killing of Patrolman Frederick Hirsch of the Nassau County Police in Merrick, Long Island. The policeman went to a parked car and asked Crowley for his license. The answer was a shot.

Two Confess Killings

Police said Crowley had confessed he killed both Hirsch and Virginia Brannen, a dance hall hostess from Bangor, Me., whose body was thrown out of an automobile in Yonkers two weeks ago. Durniger also confessed he killed the Brannen girl, saying he was jealous. Police were inclined to believe Durniger did it.

Crowley also confessed he shot and wounded a New York detective and had participated in several robberies.

In the siege of the apartment machine-gun bullets ricocheted from granite walls and pistol fire penetrated windows and doors as 200 policemen, under Commissioner Mulrooney, fired. Five pistols used by the besieged trio were found after their capture. None of the police was hit.

Firemen were called and holes were cut in the roof. When police threw tear bombs into the room, Crowley tossed them out into the street. He yielded, he said, because his ammunition was gone.

Brought Out on Stretcher

As the firing stopped, a dozen detective walked into the building and came out with Durniger and the girl. An ambulance surgeon and two policemen brought Crowley out on a stretcher. The prisoners and their captors were suffering from the tear gas. The girl was sent to the Nassau County Jail.

True to his name, "Two Gun" Crowley—his real name is Francis—had two guns on his person when captured, although he first told police he tossed them out of the window.

"What's the idea of fooling us?" a detective asked him.

Crowley snarled back, "Well, I'm going to the electric chair, ain't I; what did you expect me to do?"

Farewell Notes Left

Vanity, superstition, and bravado of Helen Walsh and "Two Gun" Crowley is revealed in a series of notes police found scattered on the kitchen floor of the apartment where they were captured.

Reference to "Bulls outside the door" indicated that the notes, penned in ink with a shaky hand, were written during the siege.

One note, signed by Helen said: "I was born on the 13th of October and he was born on the 31st. If I die, wave my hair, make my face up; do my nails all over, don't use this kind of polish, I use pink."

Crowley is credited with authorship of an unsigned note which said, "I had nothing else to do, that's why I went around bumping off cops. It is a new sensation."

In another, Helen defended Crowley: "Everybody thinks he is hard. He can't be hard when he cooks my breakfast and washed a pair of pajamas for me."

Reference to visiting resorts in Greenwich Village is made in another note apparently written by Crowley.

Helen wrote one regretting that she never would see the rest of the world and asking that the note be shown to her sister "So she'll know I died singing."

In a note to "Dear Mom," Helen wrote: I am all right and don't worry about me. We were married to-day. He is taking me to Canada to-night."

Most of the notes were "To whom it may concern."

QUEEN INVITED TO LEAVE VIENNA

Helen Was Given Two Hours to Get Ready by Carol's Master of Ceremonies.

IS VISITING SISTER.

VIENNA, May 8 (C.P.). — Midnight departure of Queen Helen from Rumania and the bedside of her son, Michael, the Grand Volvode of Alba Julia, was described in Belgrade to-day by members of her entourage.

They said the Master of Ceremonies of King Carol, her handsome former husband, had come to her at 10 p.m. on the night of her departure and "invited" her to leave within two hours. She accepted the invitation.

From Belgrade, where the beautiful Grecian Princess who became an unwilling Queen of Rumania has gone, she is travelling, it is understood, to Bled, where she will reside with her sister, the Queen of Jugoslavia, for two weeks, and then go to Paris.

Arrangements for this were understood here to have been made by King Carol and King Alexander of Jugoslavia in a meeting last Saturday. Carol is said to have asked his brother-in-law to endeavor to induce Helen to reside abroad on the condition that she be permitted to visit Rumania every summer and spend several months in the mountains with Michael.

Helen, although divorced from Carol in absentia in June, 1928, was proclaimed Queen of Rumania in the official gazette of June 12, 1930, which conferred upon her the title of "Majesty," instead of the "Highness" with which she had been addressed.

150 CHICKENS LOST IN FIRE

Farm House For a Time Was Also Threatened by the Blaze.

NEAR WARSAW.

WARSAW, May 8 (Examiner Correspondence).—A fire, starting from a brooder in the hen house of Fred Clifford, a mile and a half south of Warsaw, about seven o'clock last night, burned 150 chickens, and for a time threatened the farm house.

The fire had gained considerable headway when discovered and efforts to save the chickens were useless. A wood-pile near the Clifford home also caught fire and it looked for a time as though the house would be next, but a shifting wind and valiant work on the part of neighbors kept the flames from spreading further.

The hen house was badly burned along with the entire contents, including the 150 small chicks.

CHECK IS URGED ON DIVORCE EVIL

Composition and Control of Prohibition Union Scored by Presbyterians.

TORONTO NEXT YEAR.

ORILLIA, May 8. — The Synod of Toronto and Kingston concluded its labors yesterday afternoon, to meet next year in Cooke's Church, Toronto, on the second Tuesday in May. It is ten years since the Synod last met in Orillia, and it was generally agreed that the change to a smaller town was beneficial.

The recommendations of the Committee on Finance provoked discussion, but were finally adopted and sent forward to the General Assembly after one referring to the colleges had been deleted. In presenting the report, Rev. A. C. Stewart, Toronto, said that he had examined the printed reports of the Ontario Liquor Commission, and the reports of the Anglican, United, Baptist, and Presbyterian Churches, and found that the amount spent in liquor in Ontario alone was more than double the amount contributed for all purposes by the Churches named. It was not the time for retrenchment in Church work—there was plenty of money in the country, if it could be diverted into right channels. The recommendations urged care in spending, but emphasized the great opportunity for service.

Pronouncement on Divorce.

The Synod's pronouncement on the question of divorce expressed the "belief that evils of divorce could be greatly minimized if persons not divorced on Scriptural grounds were not permitted to remarry so long as the other party to the original marriage contract were living. It is the opinion of this court that legislation should be enacted forbidding an issuer of marriage licenses to grant license to any person not divorced on Scriptural grounds." This pronouncement will be sent to the General Assembly.

Rev. J. B. Thompson, Toronto, presented the report on the Ontario Prohibition Union. The Synod was not altogether satisfied with the composition and control of the union, but agreed that Mr. Thompson should be continued a member of the Advisory Board another year. A letter from the Ontario Temperance Association was laid on the table.

Big Arctic Owl Seen in Lindsay

LINDSAY, May 8.—A big Arctic owl was seen near the Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon by Jack Beal, Donald Ferguson and John Hogg. The boys estimated that the bird had a wing spread of five feet. Several crows were bothering it but it sat in the tree for about 15 minutes, nonchalantly ignoring the colored scavengers, and made no attempt to move until the boys got directly under the tree.

STAFF TROUBLE TIES UP PAPER

Machine Room Employees in Squabble Regarding Operations During Overtime.

BREACH CONTRACT CLAIMED

LONDON, May 8.—(AP)—The Evening News, one of the most widely circulated evening papers in the world, did not appear today because of trouble with the machine room staff.

The trouble grew out of the paper's claim to run only the exact number of presses and other machines required on overtime at the end of a normal days work. The men demanded that all machines be kept on overtime or none at all and for the past two days the men have stopped work at the regulation hour, preventing late editions of the paper from appearing.

During the night directors of two other London evening papers, the Evening Standard and the Star, not wishing to take advantage of such circumstances ceased to print their own late editions. To-day early editions of the Star and Evening Standard were published as usual but there was no Evening News. That paper's management claimed that their machine room staff was acting in breach of its contract and against instructions of its trade union officials.

Bracken Hopes Gov't Will Fulfill Promise

WINNIPEG, Man., May 8 (C.P.)—Premier John Bracken of Manitoba is still hopeful that the "promise" of the Dominion Government to assume 95 per cent. of the cost of Old Age Pensions will be implemented. In an address last night he said: "Of the many promises made by the present Federal Government last year, perhaps none appealed more forcibly to electors than this one of assuming the cost of Old Age Pensions."

He stated that as a result of the Dominion "promise," the Province undertook to remove the land tax of $350,000 now imposed. Unless the Dominion takes over the burden of Old Age Pensions, he said, the pensions cost to the extent of $350,000 will have to be paid by land-owners "and will, to that extent, increase the already-too-heavy burden of the farmer."

Brighton Couple Celebrate Wedding

COBOURG, May 8.—Mr. Mitchell was born in Bristol, England, over 70 years ago, and at the age of fifteen years came to Canada, where he settled in Toronto and learned the upholstering business which he followed all his life.

Mrs. Mitchell is the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hardcastle, a family well-known in the early days of Brighton's history. The couple first met in Cobourg and the acquaintance there begun rapidly developed into a love match. They were married in Brighton fifty years ago, April 27th.

In the last 12 months nearly 100 new buildings were erected in the burned zone of Saloniki, Greece.

NO APPEARANCE FROM CHAPLIN

Motion Picture Star Declines Invitation to "Command" Vaudeville Performance.

"BAD TASTE," IS HIS REASON

LONDON, May 8.— (A.P.)— The London Evening Standard, publishing a purported interview with Charlie Chaplin, says Chaplin had declined to appear on the stage at a "command" vaudeville performance which may be attended by the King and Queen.

Declaring that it had discussed with Chaplin at Juan Les Pins, France, the newspaper quoted the motion picture star as saying that "it would be bad taste" for him to appear on the stage.

The "command" performances, which are held annually, are selected from the elite of vaudeville talent in the British Isles and most of the artists selected regard the opportunity as a feather in their caps.

"I don't appear in public that way," the newspaper quoted Chaplin as saying. "The last thing in the world I want to do is make stage appearances."

The newspaper said that Chaplin was sending a check instead.

STRUCK BY TRAIN WOMAN KILLED

Friend and Young Son Trip and Fall Beside Track in Nick of Time.

TRAPPED ON BRIDGE.

CASSELMAN, Ont., May 8 (C.P.).—Trapped on a Canadian National Railway bridge near here last night, Mrs. Fabien Gratton, 39, was instantly killed when struck by a passenger train. Mrs. Andre Charbonneau and her young son Joseph had narrow escapes from death when the locomotive passed a few inches from their heads.

The three had walked 50 feet on to bridge when they saw the train coming. Frantic they rushed back and had almost gained safety when the locomotive was upon them. Mrs. Charbonneau tripped on a tie and fell to the side of the tracks, carrying her son with her. Mrs. Gratton, who was running abreast with her was struck by the train, carried 50 feet along the pilot of the locomotive, and dropped into the South Indian River.

Boat Tips, Founders One Drowns, 18 Saved

GUERNSEY, Channel Islands, May 8.—(AP)—Eighteen survivors from the Italian salvage steamer Raffio which sank off Sark arrived here today crediting one of their number with presence of mind which kept the death toll down to one.

The Raffio tipped over and sank while she was dumping seven tons of concrete and her boom swung over the side with the heavy load. One man ran astern and cut the painter setting a small boat adrift. The castaways climbed in. A man who was below at the time of the accident was drowned.

STRUCK BY CAR.

Miss Ruth Burgess, Norwood, Injured Alighting From Auto in Front of Home.

NORWWOD, May 8. (Examiner Correspondence)—Miss Ruth Burgess daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Williamson Burgess, met with an unfortunate accident while returning home from High School Monday evening. In getting out of the car in front of her own home she was struck by a car driven by Mr. Louie Abraham. Fortunately Miss Burgess' injuries are not serious although her shoulder was quite badly bruised and she is suffering from nervous shock, her many classmates and friends wish for her a speedy and complete recovery.

Wife Divorces Same Husband Second Time

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 8. (A.P.)—Mrs. Rannie A. Delevan, of Chicopee, was granted a second divorce yesterday from the same husband, John S. Delevan, of Albany, N.Y.

They were married in 1885 and she obtained a divorce in 1904 for desertion. They were remarried in 1922 and he disappeared six months later.

AIRMAN SIGHTS LOST EXPLORER

Captain Ahrenberg, whose plane is equipped with skiis, landed on the ice near the igloo, which he spotted from the air after a short search. He found only a ragged tent, caked about in Eskimo fashion with blocks of ice but in the freshly fallen snow there were sled tracks leading southward.

The aviator took off and, flying low, followed the sledge tracks which soon brought him in sight of the Watkins party. Courtauld appeared to be walking along the sledge, safe and in good health. Ahrenberg dropped some food to the party, and continued back to the expedition's base with word of the rescue. It was believed a week would elapse before the sledge party can reach the base.

Captain Ahrenberg will undertake a search of the ice about 60 miles further north to see if he can find any trace of the expedition of Professor Albert Weggener, German scientist, who is supposed to be in that neighborhood but has not been heard from for many months.

Spent Winter Alone

Courtauld, who is the son of a wealthy British textile manufacturer, is 27 years old, and his rescuer, Watkins, but 23. They planned to blaze a trail across the Arctic wastes which would make commercial air traffic to Canada from England possible, Courtauld volunteering to spend the winter alone 7,000 feet above sea level to obtain necessary data.

Ahrenberg was started on his rescue by Captain Ralph Rayner, of the British Royal Signal Corps, who is engaged to Courtauld's sister. Other rescue expeditions included the steamer Odinn, and the inspection ship Hvidbjorn, which were near the ice barrier to-day. Another ship was being prepared in Scandinavia and an airplane had been shipped from England to Iceland by Major Sydney Cotton to aid in the rescue.

ONLY EXPORTERS AT GRAIN PARLEY

Addison Explains in Commons Britain Will Not Be Represented.

SPECIAL GATHERING.

LONDON, May 8 -- (C.P. Cable) —The Government was asked in the House of Commons this afternoon how many representatives it would have at the wheat conference opening in Canada House here on May 18. Rt. Hon. Christopher Addison, Minister of Agriculture, explained the conference was confined to the great wheat exporting nations of the world and consequently the question of Great Britain's participation did not arise.

A labor member pointed out the conference was an outgrowth of the world conference at Rome, when Great Britain was represented.

The Minister asked for notice of the question involved in the interjection. He explained that the importing nations, including Great Britain, participated with exporting nations at Rome, but that the forthcoming conference was a special gathering called on the initiative of the wheat exporting nations.

BALTIMORE SPINACH

Fancy stock, per hpr. ..... $1.50

TORONTO, May 8.—Buyers were fairly active on the local butter market yesterday, but only in a small way, or "hand-to-mouth" basis. Receipts have been quite heavy lately, but, though prices have been low, buyers have not appeared anxious to commit themselves to any large supplies previous to the arrival of June grass butter. Prices were unchanged at 21c to 21½c for No. 1 creamery solids, and 20c to 21½c for No. 2.

Cheese.

There were no changes in prices for new cheese, and trading was dull, which was probably due to the weakness of the Montreal market. Brokers here were offering new large at 10c, twins at 10¼c and triplets at 10½c.

Eggs.

The egg market continued to show a slightly steadier undertone, recepits clearing well as buyers became more interested in storing at present levels. Brokers offered graded eggs, in free cases at 17c for extras, 15c for firsts, and 13c for seconds, and storage packed eggs at 1c higher. Country shippers were quoted unchanged prices at 14c to 15c for extras, 12c to 13c for firsts, and 9c to 10c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Retailers were securing supplies at 21c for extras in cartons, 19c for extra loose, 17c for firsts loose, and 14½c for seconds loose.

Poultry.

New poultry price lists were issued yesterday, and several changes were noted. Spring broilers were quoted higher, Rocks 3c per pound above previous levels, and Leghorns 1c per pound better. Muscovie ducks were removed from the list, and prices on other ducks were reduced 2c per pound, according to weight. The new prices appear on this page.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, May 8.—Receipts at the Union stock yards yesterday were: 20 cattle, 74 calves, 25 hogs; no sheep and lambs.

The light run of cattle, including a few arrivals by truck, sold readily at prices steady with the close of last week, or a shade stronger than Monday's opening. Some fair to good butcher cattle brought $5.25 to $6 a cwt., and good cows at $4.15 to $4.25 a cwt. Supply for the week totalled 1,700 head more than that of the week previous and prices strengthened on active trading, which accounted for the heaviest week's run for the year to date.

The calves in today's supply sold steady at $7 to $8 a cwt. for good to choice vealers and $4 to $4.50 a cwt. for common calves.

No sheep or lambs offered. There were no hogs off the railroad and hogs arriving by truck are likely to sell at $8.50 a cwt., w.o.c. for bacon or 50 cents a cwt. higher for the week.

MONTREAL, May 8.—Continuing their search for rock bottom levels, butter and cheese prices were lower on the produce and dairy market here yesterday. Egg and potato quotations were unchanged.

No. 1 finest and regraded butter was quoted at 21c a pound, down ¼c. To retailers solids and prints also eased off, both losing 1c at 23c to 24c a pound, respectively. Receipts were 420 boxes.

Ontario colored fresh cheese approached the export level yesterday, declining a quarter of a cent at 9 cents a pound. Receipts were 223 boxes.

The recent decline in egg prices halted yesterday with all quotations unchanged. Carlot prices of fresh Ontario and Prairie extras were quoted at 18c to 19c, firsts at 16 to 17c and seconds at 15c a dozen. ### CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 8.—Forced down by bearish effect of Canadian showers and predicted further moisture in drought regions northwest, grain prices went lower most of the time yesterday. Spread trading, in which corn was bought and wheat sold, gave only transient strength to corn. Surprise over Russian wheat shipments totalling 1,040,000 bushels, was a contributing source of weakness.

Wheat closed irregular, 1⅝ down to ¼c advance; corn at ⅝c to 1⅜c decline; oats unchanged to ⅝c to ½c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 25c.

Lowest prices of the day were reached in wheat during the final transactions. Earlier the downward trend had been retarded by spring wheat summaries stressing need of widespread frequent heavy rains, whereas only scattered downpours had been received, and the forecast indicated that immediate additional moisture would apaprently prove light. One leading authority referred to acute dearth of subsoil water both sides of the Canadian border, and said high winds had intensified this condition, with much of North Dakota and Montana needing rain at once to produce satisfactory germination.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 8. — Soaking rains over Western Canada's Prairie wheat belt and a lack of demand depressed prices in the wheat pit here yesterday. At the close values were 1¾c to 2¼c lower than Wednesday's finish.

The May future dropped 2¼c to 60¾c, July was down 1¾c to 61¾c, while October closed at 63¼c, a loss of 2¼c.

Liquidation from scattered sources met very limited support and offerings proved too burdensome for the few buying orders trickling in from seaboard and Continental interests. Spreading operations were on a moderate scale.

Overnight export demand was very small. No estimate was available.

Limited cash wheat trading found spreads unchanged. Interest in coarse grains was negligible. Prices were easier.

"THE PEERS OR THE PEOPLE."

As was expected and perhaps planned by the Labor board of strategy, the British House of Lords has cut the Government's agricultural land utilization bill into shreds, and the measure comes back to the Commons in a condition as to be almost unrecognizable.

The debate in the Upper House yesterday would seem to indicate that the MacDonald Government may seek to repeat the tactics so successfully used by Lloyd George twenty-one years ago when his battlecry under similar circumstances, "The peers or the people," proved a winning slogan.

"We cannot prevent the Government from saying to the people that there is some constitutional issue between the peers and the people," declared Lord Hailsham, Conservative leader in the House of Lords. "All we can do is make it clear that if they say it, they're saying what is not true."

On the other hand, Lord Beauchamp and Lord Buckmaster, Liberals, expressed their opinion that if the issue were again carried to the people the verdict of 21 years ago would be repeated.

It is a situation that promises interesting developments and possibly an early election.

THE ACCIDENT RECORD.

Motorists should find much food for thought in the summary of automobile accidents occurring in Ontario during the first three months of the present year, as issued by the Motor Vehicles Department of the Ontario Department of Highways.

It is rather disheartening to discover that despite safety education there were 1,253 accidents in the Province in the period covered, bringing death to 75 people and injuries to 973.

The surprising feature of the details supplied is that the majority of accidents occurred under the best possible travelling conditions—in daylight, on good roads and involving cars travelling on the straight road.

At points where danger might be expected very few accidents occurred, which would lead to the conclusion that over-confidence on the part of drivers under favorable conditions breeds a carelessness that leads to trouble.

Of the fatal accidents it is significant that practically half of them involved pedestrians—and out of the total of 1,253 mishaps, 449 of them resulted in death or injury to pedestrians.

And twenty-two of the people so injured were on the sidewalk when hit by motor vehicles.

Drunken drivers do not occupy a very prominent place in the list; in fact, the report of the fatal accidents shows that only one driver of the 70 involved was intoxicated, one was suffering from "extreme fatigue" and the others were in normal condition.

THE PRIVILEGE OF THE RATEPAYERS.

County Clerk E. M. Elliott's explanation of why the press was asked to retire from a recent joint meeting of the County Roads and the Suburban Area Commissions doesn't throw much light on the question of why the ratepayers of the county should not be allowed to read timely, accurate and complete reports of public business in which they are interested.

Business may be transacted by all the county bodies with a maximum of efficiency, but that is not the point.

The issue is simply whether or not meetings of such bodies as these road commissions should not be open to newspaper men.

The ratepayers themselves are more concerned in this matter than either the county clerk or The Examiner.

It is their business that is being done, their money that is being spent, and it is surely, therefore, their privilege to know how in both cases.

The Examiner's only anxiety in this matter is to give its readers timely information that we feel they are entitled to; we have no axes to grind, no quarrel with anybody, and our chief desire is to co-operate with the county organizations in working for the common interest of both.

It is because of that desire that we call the attention of the ratepayers to the fact that the responsibility of providing them with complete and fresh reports of what is going on in county circles is made more difficult because there is no access for the press to some of the meetings.

CRIME PICTURES.

In these columns a day or two ago there was a reference to the fact that despite the work of the Ontario censors movie patrons in this Province were being given too many crook pictures in its screen fare.

It is interesting to note that across the border there is a growing realization of the fact that pictures of this type have a demoralizing influence upon the minds of youthful patrons of moving picture houses.

As evidence of that realization the following strong editorial which appeared in the Block chain of newspapers may be offered:

"During recent months the large number of motion pictures which glorify the lives of gunmen, gangsters and racketeers have had a bad influence on the youth of our country.

"The producers of such pictures should stop making them. Some of them, it has been announced, will stop; for these films, which make heroes of criminals and place them in gilded palaces, make it seem to impressionable youngsters that lives of crime are heroic.

"One such recent picture shows a youth who is associating with gangsters but trying to reform; he is murdered by his companions. In another picture a boy, who decides to visit a priest in his desire to reform, is called 'yellow' by the gang and is killed on the steps of the cathedral.

"Instead of teaching the youth of to-day that gangsters and gunmen are like poisonous snakes crawling loose in the streets, these pictures have almost the contrary effect.

"There are enough evils already in our midst to make it difficult for the youth of America to develop regard for law and order, and these gangster films do not make the problem any easier.

"Many fine pictures are shown on the screen—they are entertaining and often educational. The gunman and gangster pictures are disgraceful and are not needed, and we urge the boards of censors to give particular attention to them."

Every word of this forcible article, The Examiner feels, applies equally to conditions in Ontario, and the editorial, it is to be hoped, will be brought to the attention of the provincial censors.

AID TO NORMALCY.

One of the most outstanding factors recognized today in the modern industrial and business world as an aid to normalcy and prosperity is the judicious and consistent use of advertising space. All the great corporations, including insurance and other concerns, are more or less concentrating this year in their drive toward restoration. The Brantford Expositor quotes a timely editorial from the Newspaper Enterprise Association, which shows the influence which advertising exerts on the life of an ordinary industrial community. It says:

"You have a mill in the area in which you live, let us say. It employs 1,000 in normal times. Now only 700 are working. Why? Because there is not the demand for its products. That demand can be increased by advertising, and men will go back to work. The entire community, as well as the employer, will benefit. Producers will become buyers, and the welfare of the whole people, from millionaire to laborer, will be affected. In 1929 $60,000,000 was spent to sell 5,358,000 cars, a cost for advertising of $11 a car. Without advertising it is reasonable to assume many fewer cars would have been sold. Thousands, perhaps millions, employed in the automobile industry would not have had a job. Steel workers, tire manufacturers, paint producers—all would have been affected. The analogy can be applied to department stores, other types of stores—to industry as a whole."

As pointed out in the above, the additional cost of a motor car because of advertising was $11 in 1929. But suppose there had been no advertising and the production of cars had been several hundred thousand less. The cost per unit would have been correspondingly much greater than the $11 advertising item of cost. And so it is with washing machines, electric refrigerators, radio and hundreds of other requirements. When it comes to canned goods, popular brands of tooth paste, soap and other necessities, in the aggregate the cost of advertising assumes a big figure, but when the mass production and sales are taken into account, and the reduced cost of such quantity manufacture and marketing, the cost of advertising to the consumer is infinitesimal as compared with the cheapness which results. All the big firms attest this from their close system of accountancy. Advertising goes right back to stimulate the production of the raw materials as well as to the distributor of the finished articles. — St. Catharines Standard.

ARE THE RICH GETTING RICHER?

(From the Wall Street Journal)

Preliminary individual income tax returns for 1929, as filed to August 31, 1930, showed total wages and salaries of $10,740,000,000. In this total $5,865,000,000, or more than half, was reported by 3,000,000 returns of under $5,000. This same class of returns (under $5,000) accounts for total income of $9,580,000,000, out of $28,762,000,000 for all returns, and for net income of $8,282,000,000 out of $24,519,000,000.

In the net income of the class under $5,000 there is included $184,000,000 as net profit on the sale of stocks, bonds and real estate. In the so-called millionaire class (incomes of $1,00,000 or over) net profit from the sale of stocks, bonds and real estate was $43,000,000—not counting realization on capital assets held for more than two years. In arriving at the net profits, losses taken by millionaire class were $48,000,000 and losses taken by the class under $5,000 were $43,000,000. In the class from $5,000 to $25,000, total similar profits were $928,000,000, offset by losses of $252,000,000, leaving net profit for this class of $676,000,000.

While these figures are inconclusive in themselves, they at least fail to support Senator Borah's contention of the "robbery of the public" by a "coterie of capitalists." Of course, there is a large public, in fact over 65 per cent. of the adult population, which makes no income tax return. This 65 per cent. of the public receive an enormous, uncalculated income in wages and salaries; it undertook a vast aggregate speculation, though small in individual risk, during the years 1926 to 1929.

Presumably any paper profits on brokers' books in the little accounts when the big crash came in October, 1929, were the first to be wiped out. The returners of incomes above the $5,000 class—about 1,000,000 in number—were those who were able to "hang on" temporarily, and therefore suffered the further losses which came from declines in the stock market during 1930.

As compared with 1928, the number of returns filed for 1929 shows an increase of 83,743, with increased income of $151,195,993. The increased number of returns and the increased income were those for 1929, the year of initial market collapse. But for 1928 profits reported for tax on stock market or real estate operations were $2,928,000,000, as compared with $2,240,000,000 for 1929. So far as Senator Borah's "public" is concerned, the public which "was robbed" by a "coterie of capitalists" is not demonstrated as yet in the income tax returns.

It is a safe wager that when the returns for 1930 are compiled the "public" which declares losses will be found to be the recipients of income in excess of $5,000, and especially the classes in the highest brackets, up to and especially including the "millionaire" class. The "small public" left the market in 1929. The "wealthier public" tried to retain its holdings or to retrieve its losses through another and more disastrous year. Meanwhile the securities dumped by the wealthier class have been in large part absorbed in small items by the little public, with occasional offerings taken in from the "coterie" by other "cormorants" whose foresight was better.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Give a man a job.

Premier Bennett's budget may be brought down on May 21, just in time to provide fireworks for Victoria Day.

Every hour's work given to the city's unemployed at the present time counts. Is there a job round your house that could be turned over to some one who is out of work?

Hope for Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen's return to Parliament was expressed and applauded in the House the other day. Canada needs her best in this period of economic stress, and there are few who will question Mr. Meighen's ability.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

There was no place in which Tanar and Stellara might hide. They were compelled to stand there in full view of the first of the enemy that came within sight of them, and thus with freedom already within their grasp, they fell again into the hands of the Korsars. And Tanar was compelled to surrender without resistance, because he did not dare risk Stellara's life by drawing the fire of the enemy.

Many of the Korsars were for dispatching Tanar immediately, but the officer in command forbade them, for it was The Cid's orders that any of the prisoners that might be recaptured were to be returned alive. "And furthermore," he added, "Bulf is particularly anxious to get this Sarian back alive."

During the long march back to Korsar, Tanar and Stellara were kept apart, though on several occasions they were able to exchange a few words.

"My poor Sarian," said Stellara upon one of these. "I wish that you had never met me, for only sorrow and pain and death can come of it."

"I do not care," replied Tanar, "if I die to-morrow, or if they torture me forever, for no price is too high to pay for the happiness that I have had with you, Stellara."

"Ah, but they will torture you—that is what wrings my heart," cried the girl. "Take your life yourself, Tanar. Do not let them get you. I know them and I know their methods and I would rather kill you with my own hands than see you fall into their clutches. The Cid is a beast, and Bulf is worse than Bohar the Bloody. If you die by your own hand I shall follow you shortly. And if there is a life after this, as the ancestors of the Korsars taught them, then we shall meet again where all is peace and beauty and love."

The Sarian shook his head. "I know what is here in this life," he said, "and I do not know what is there in the other. I shall cling to this, and you must cling to it until some other hand than ours takes it from us."

"But they will torture you so horribly," she moaned.

"No torture can kill the happiness of our love, Stellara," said the man, and then guards separated them and they plodded on across the weary, interminable miles.

But at last the long, cruel journey was over. At the palace gate Stellara and Tanar were separated. She was escorted to her quarters by female attendants whom she recognized as being virtually her guards and keepers, while Tanar was conducted directly into the presence of The Cid.

As he entered the room he saw the glowering face of the Korsar chieftan, and standing below the dais, just in front of him, was Bulf, whom he had seen but once before, but whose face no man could ever forget. But there was another there whose presence brought a look of greater horror to Tanar's face than did the brutal countenances of The Cid or Bulf, for standing directly before the dais, toward which he was being led, the Sarian saw David I, Emperor of Pellucidar. Of all the calamities that could have befallen, this was the worst.

As the Sarian was led to David's side he tried to speak to him, but was roughly silenced by the Korsar guards; nor were they again to be allowed to communicate with one another.

The Cid eyed him savagely, as did Bulf. "For you, who betrayed my confidence and abducted my daughter, there is no punishment that can fit your crime; there is no death so terrible that its dying will expiate your sin. It is not within me to conceive of any form of torture the infliction of which upon you would give me adequate pleasure. I shall have to look for suggestions outside of my own mind," and his eyes ran questioningly among his officers surrounding him.

"Let me have that one," roared Bulf, pointing at Tanar, "and I can promise you that you will witness such tortures as the eyes of man never before beheld; nor the body of man ever before endured."

"Will it result in death?" asked a tall Korsar with cadaverous face.

"Of course," said Bulf, "but not too soon."

"Death is a welcome and longed-for deliverance from torture," continued the other. "Would you give either one of these the satisfaction and pleasure of enjoying even death?"

"But what else is there?" demanded the Cid.

"There is a living death that is worse than death," said the cadaverous one.

"And if you can name a torture worse than that which I had in mind," exclaimed Bulf, "I shall gladly relinquish all my claims upon this Sarian."

"Explain," commanded The Cid.

"It is this," said the cadaverous one. "These men are accustomed to sunlight, to freedom, to cleanliness, to fresh air, to companionship. There are beneath this palace dark, damp dungeons into which no ray of light ever filters, whose thick walls are impervious to sound. The denizons of these horrid places, as you know, would have an effect opposite to that of human companionship and the only danger, the only weak spot in my plan, lies in the fact that their constant presence might deprive these criminals of their reason and thus defeat the very purpose to which I conceive their presence necessary. A lifetime of hideous loneliness and torture in silence and in darkness! What death, what torture, what punishment can you mete out to these men that would compare in hideousness with that which I have suggested?"

After he had ceased speaking, the others remained in silent contemplation of his proposition for some time. It was The Cid who broke the silence.

"Bulf," he said, "I believe that he is right."

Bulf nodded his head slowly. "I hate to give up my plan," he said, "for I should like to inflict that torture upon this Sarian myself. But," and he turned to the cadaverous one, "you are right. You have named a torture infinitely worse than any that I could conceive."

"Thusis it ordered," said The Cid. "To separate palace dungeons for life."

Tanar and David were blindfolded; Tanar felt himself being stripped of all his ornaments and of what meager raiment it was his custom to wear, with the exception of his loin cloth. Then he was pushed and dragged roughly along. He was hustled down flights of stone steps and through corridors and at last he felt himself lowered into an opening, a guard seizing him under each arm.

The air felt damp and it smelled of mold and must and of something else that was disgusting, but unrecognizable to his nostrils. And then they let go of him and he dropped a short distance and landed upon a stone flagging that felt damp and slipper to his bare feet. He heard a sound above his head—a grating sound as though a stone slab had been pushed across a stone floor to close the trap through which he had been lowered.

Then Tanar snatched the bandage from his eyes, but he might as well have left it there for he found himself surrounded by utter darkness. He listened intently, but there was no sound, not even the sounds of the retreating footsteps of this guards—darkness and silence—they had chosen the most terrible torture that they could inflict upon a Sarian—silence, darkness and solitude.

For a long time he stood there motionless and then, slowly, he commenced to grope his way forward. Four steps he took before he touched the wall and this he followed two steps to the end, and there he turned and took six steps to cross before he reached the wall on the opposite side, and thus he made the circuit of his dungeon and found that it was four by six paces—perhaps not small for a dungeon, but narrower than the grave for Tanar of Pellucidar.

He tried to think—to think how he could occupy his time until death released him. Death! Could he not hasten it? But how? Six paces was the length of his prison cell. Could he not dash at full speed from one end to the other, crushing his brains out by the impact? And then he recalled his promise to Stellara, even in the face of her appeal to him to take his own life—"I shall not die of my own hand."

He tried to plan for the future—the blank, dark, silent future—the eternity of loneliness that confronted him, and he found that through the despair of utter hopelessness his own unconquerable spirit could still discern hope, and he realized that nothing short of death ever could rob him of this solace, and so his plan finally developed.

He must in some way keep his mind from dwelling constantly upon the present. He must erase from it all consideration of the darkness, the silence and the solitude that surrounded him. And he must keep fit, mentally and physically, for the moment of release or escape. And so he planned to walk and to exercise his arms and the other muscles of his body systematically to the end that he might keep in good condition and at the same time induce sufficient fatigue to enable him to sleep as much as possible, and when he rested preparatory to sleep he concentrated his mind entirely upon pleasant memories. And when he put the plan into practice he found that it was all that he had hoped that it would be. He exercised until he was thoroughly fatigued and then he lay down to pleasant dreams until sleep claimed him.

But his awakening! As consciousness slowly returned it was accompanied by a sense of horror, the cause of which gradually filtered to his awakening snesibilities. A cold, slimy body was crawling across his chest. Instinctively his hand seized it to thrust it away and his fingers closed upon a scaly thing that wriggled and writhed and struggled.

Tanar leaped to his feet, cold sweat bursting from every pore. He stepped back and his foot touched another of those horrid things. He slipped and fell, and, falling, his body encountered others—cold, clammy, wriggling. Scrambling to his feet he retreated to the opposite end of his dungeon, but everywhere the floor was covered with writhing, scaly bodies. And now the silence became a pandemonium of seething sounds, a black caldron of venomous hisses.

Long bodies curled themselves about his legs and writhed and wriggled upward toward his face. No sooner did he tear one from him and hurl it aside than another took its place.

This was no dream as he had at first hoped, but stark, horrible reality. These hideous serpents that filled his cell were but a part of his torture, but they would defeat their purpose. They would drive him mad. Already he felt his mind tottering and then into it crept the cunning scheme of a madman. With their own weapons he would defeat their ends. He would rob them quickly of the power to torture him further, and he burst into a shrill, mirthless laugh as he tore a snake from around his body and held it before him.

The reptile writhed and struggled and very slowly Tanar of Pellucidar worked his hand upward to its throat. Grasping the reptile about a foot below its head with one hand, Tanar slapped it repeatedly in the face with the other and then held it close to his breast. Laughing and screaming, he struck and struck again, and at last the snake struck back, burying its fangs deep in the flesh of the Sarian.

With a cry of triumph Tanar hurled the thing from him and then slowly sank to the floor upon the writhing, wriggling forms that carpeted it.

"With your own weapons I have robbed you of your revenge," he shrieked, and then he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Who may say how long Tanar lay unconscious in the darkness and silence of that buried dungeon in a timeless world? But at length he stirred; slowly his eyes opened and as consciousness returned he felt about him. The stone flagging was bare. He sat up. He was not dead and to his surprise he discovered that he had suffered neither pain nor swelling from the strike of the serpent.

He arose and moved cautiously about the dungeon. The snakes were gone. Sleep had restored his mental equilibrium, but he shuddered as he realized how close he had been to madness, and he smiled somewhat shamefacedly, as he reflected upon the futility of his needless terror. For the first time in his life Tanar of Pellucidar had undertood the meaning of fear.

As he paced slowly around his dungeon one foot came in contact with something lying on the floor in a corner—something which had not been there before the snakes came. He stooped and felt cautiously with his hand and found an iron bowl fitted with a heavy cover. He lifted the cover. Here was food and without questioning what it was or whence it came, he ate.

The deadly monotony of his incarceration dragged on. He exercised; he ate; he slept. He never knew how the food was brought to his cell, nor when, and after a while he ceased to care.

The snakes came usually while he slept, but since that first experience, they no longer filled him with horror. And after a dozen repetitions of their visit they not only ceased to annoy him, but he came to look forward to their coming as a break in the deadly monotony of his solitude. He found that by stroking them and talking to them in low tones he could quiet their restless writhing. And after repeated recurrences of their visits he was confident that one of them had become almost a pet.

Of course in the darkness he could not differentiate one snake from another, but always he was awakened by the nose of one pounding gently upon his chest, and when he took it in his hands and stroked it, it made no effort to escape; not ever again did one of them strike him with its fangs after that first orgy of madness, during which he had thought and hoped that the reptiles were venomous.

What To-day Means To You.

"TAURUS"

If May 8th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 3 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. The danger hours are from 9 a.m. to 10:50 a.m., from 1:30 p.m. to 2:45 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The planetary aspects of May 8th indicate a day of activity during which much that is worth while can be accomplished. It is a propitious occasion for the initiation of new enterprise, or for lopping off dead lumber, and preparing for future uncluttered growth and development.

A child born on this May 8th promises to be sturdy in constitution and in character. It will possess high courage and will always be stronger in attack than in defense. It will not be stubborn, but, once it has made up its mind, only very urgent reasons will ever nduce it to change.

Born on May 8th, you are too fond of your ease and comfort to ever become an outstadning success, alhtough you are endowed by nature with many traits that would enable you to achieve much. You, however, lack that fighting spirit which always distinguishes those who go ahead. You will not make sacrifices in order to secure a goal. You would rather lose and be comfortable, than win and abate one iota of your ease.

Your personality is very attractive. You shine as a conversationalist, and you are a good story-teller. You read a good deal, principally fiction, but generally look at the last chapter to see if it ends happily. If it fails to do so, you are rather disposed to "chuck it." Your friends are numerous, but your close intimates are few. Many like you, while only few, very few, love you. Your mind is a keen one. Your conceptions are abortive, as you are rarely willing to go through the period of travail in order to bring them to birth.

The opposite sex is attracted to you, and you yourself are not immune to its charms. You will experience a variety of infatuations—as unsatisfying as inconstant— and only in later years will you meet your real mate—the one destined to take you out of yourself, and to help you to make of your life what the Stars intended it should be.

REDISM IS WRECKISM

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—The difference between Redism and Communism is the difference between those so-called or self-styled Christians who advocate reform by force (prohibition) and those like the Christians of the first years after Christ's death, who believe that Christianity is "a means of grace and a hope of glory" not being a mere talking machine such as The Examiner objects to in parliament while it talks two columns a day itself, for three hundred days in the year and year after year.

The early Church under the leadership of St. Peter shared willingly all its possessions one member with another. There is no objection to that sort of communism. It is the other that frightens.

IMPROVEMENTS AND TAXES

To The Editoor of The Examiner,

Sir,—At a recent meeting of the City Council a delegation from the Peterborough Lawn Bowling and Tennis Club asked the Council to make a refund of $300 on the club's taxes for this year on the plea that the club was providing recreation for a large number of citizens and that it was only the extensive improvements made on the property by the club that had caused the increase in taxes.

Are improvements not one of the main reasons for levying taxes on property? They knew before making the improvements that the taxes on the property would be raised. The citizens who enjoy the recreation provided I think should pay for it and not the hundreds of others who have not any money for pleasure of that kind.

Alderman Turner I think, voiced the feelings of the majority of the citizens when he said they should not be asked to pay for the pleasure of those who could afford to belong to the club and when the vote was taken he had the support of two of the Aldermen. I know of two men with families who have not averaged one week's work per month for the past eighteen months; they each have a home with a mortgage on it. Last year they had to increase the mortgage to pay their taxes and at present it looks as though they will have to do the same this year too. If they made application to the Council for remission of taxes, would the Council remit the taxes?

I think not, but I do think that they are more entitled to remission than the Bowling Club is. I have no doubt there are a large number of families throughout the City in the same condition as the two cases which I have mentioned.

Is it right or just that the citizens many of them out of work, but having a home in their name, should have to help pay the club's taxes? If you go out to the grounds of an evening you will see the most of the members arriving in private cars looking very prosperous. They do not look as though they needed charity.

Pay Your Way.

RE REPORTERS AND COMMITTEE MEETINGS

To The Editor,

Dear Sir,—Your paper complained that a committee meeting held on a Saturday, or April 25th, did not appear until the following Tuesday.

A certified copy of such meeting was furnished The Examiner on Monday, April 27th. The same appeared in clauses between comments of a less or more individualizing nature. When a Chairman of a Committee convenes his committee the other members of the Council refrain from intruding and view an intrusion as discourteous. All come to open Council to be dealt with in the presence of reporters, but The Examiner insists that such deliberation by gentlemen under oath in committee, require the presence of a reporter to "cover their deliberations." All are well aware that The Examiner does not hold any fears of suspicion nor intend to arouse suspicion in the reader.

On the other hand, the report of the Superintending Engineer of this district from the Highway Department referred to the County and Sub-Area Roads in the County of Peterborough as standing amongst those at the head of the list east of Toronto, taking into consideration the amount of money placed at the disposal of the Commissions.

The Provincial Old Age Pensions Head Official referred to the County of Peterborough Local Old Age Pension Board as being a most careful and efficient Board. The same nature of reference has been made of the Local County Mothers' Allowances Commission. Reporters have not attended those meetings.

Reports as follows are available at any of the Public Offices:

Debenture Debt City of Peterborough, in the neighborhood of three million dollars.

Debenture Debt of Northumberland and Durham, over one million.

Debenture Debt of Peterborough County, ninety-four thousand dollars.

Some committees have been covered by "Reporters." Some have not, and The Examiner, with all others are proud of the legisation of the three Corporations and there is no reason to entertain any feelings of offense at anything that might be printed or referred to by the man on the street.

Respectfully yours,

Ed. M. Elliott.

Another South American obligation was lifted at least temporarily. The Brazilian interest and sinking fund payments due on June 1, have been received in New York, as usual, a month ahead of the due date, contrary to rather widespread fears of delay.

KILLERS INDICTED

"the most dramatic and sensational experience I ever had."

Crowley though wounded, was boastful when questioned. He said he 'didn't mean no harm to nobody," but that he started "killing cops" because "it was the only sensation left."

"Sure I killed Hirsch," he said. "I took his own gun and used it in standing off you guys last night."

Durniger told of slaying Virginia Brannen.

"I used Crowley's gun," he said. "I was sore at her."

The apartment which became the battleground for the capture of the thugs and the 16 year old Walsh girl is on West 90th street, near Riverside Drive— a well-thought-of neighborhood.

Two detectives in a restaurant learned yesterday noon that the apartment on the top floor of 303 West 90th—had been used by Crowley as a hideout. They went there and found a note on the bell in the hallway addressed to "Murray and Red" saying: "I've gone out to do some shopping."

Additional police were called and planted in an apartment adjoining Crowley's. A squeaking floorboard aroused Crowley and his companions and they began shooting through the walls.

Worst Fight in History.

Thus began a siege and fight such as Upper Manhattan never had seen before. Every means of escape was cut off—fire escapes, hallways and windows. Police details went to the roof, chopping holes in it. Volleys of shots pounred up at them as their axes smashed openings, but no officers were hit.

Crowley stood below, guns blazing from each hand. A pistol was found strapped to his waist. Durniger, 200 pound truckman, fought off the police with one weapon. The Walsh girl stood with them, calling hysterical encouragement. When the surrender finally took place she was screaming. For her the siege capped a week in which she had seen murder done, participated in flight from police with a hunted killer and finally, joined in standing off a small army of policemen.

FIRMER TONE MONTREAL LIST

Canadian Pacific Railway Sells Up to 28 3-4 for 1-4 Gain Over Thursday.

HOLLINGER MINES UP.

MONTREAL, Que., May 8 (C.P.).—A few issues showed a firmer tendency in the trading on the Montreal stock exchange this morning, though fractional losses were still in the majority.

Canadian Pacific Railway shares firmed up at the opening at 28¾, yesterday's closing price. By noon the stock moved up to 28¾ a gain of ¼ over yesterday. Consolidated Mining and Smelting showed strength, climbing back 3 points to touch 98, a gain that held through the morning.

Dominion Textiles eased off 1½ points to 67½, and Royal Bank, still under pressure, dropped a point, to 266. Southern Canada Power was down ¾ at 26. Brazilian Traction registered an early gain of ⅛ at 16⅛ but later sold off to 16 3-8. A net gain of 3-8 on the morning's trading. Nickel was steady at 14¾ and Massey-Harris moved up ⅛ to 4¾.

Hollinger Mines advanced fifteen cents to $8.00. Montreal Power gained 1-8 at 54 1-8, and National Breweries dropped ½ to 28½. Cement was down ½ at 10½, and the preferred stock was down ¼ at 93. Dominion Bridge sold off ¼ to 31¼. Quebec Power and Shawinigan lost 1-8 each.

Weakness Continues On Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Ill., May 8.—(CP)—Moisture reports from Canada gave an early downward trend to grain to-day. There was talk also that the government crop report due after the close would indicate a domestic winter wheat yield large enough to take care of all home requirements and leave spring wheat exclusively for export. Opening at ¼ cents off to 1-8 up wheat afterward held near to the initial range. Corn started unchanged to ¼ lower and fluctuated but little.

BRADSTREET'S TRADE REVIEW

SAINT JONH, N.B.—Reports to Bradstreet's say that retail sales here continue to show a fairly good volume with wholesale orders being confined to small lots mostly. Collections are slow. The increase in the number of prospector's licenses and mining claims filed in the Province of New Brunswick is referred to in the annual report of the Provincial Minister of Lands and Mines as showing an increased public interest.

MONTREAL. — Reports to Bradstreet's indicate but little change this week in the position both of the retail and jobbing trades; notwithstanding the fact that low commodity prices provide encouragement to purchasers, returns as to volume and profits are less than satisfactory. Wheat seeding in the West is proceeding rapidly and Dominion returns show that grain in storage has recently made a brisk decline. The Montreal produce market shows butter, cheese and eggs at new low levels. According to Board of Trade returns, Montreal handled 26 million pounds of butter during the past season; over 81 million pounds of cheese and 624 thousand cases of eggs, each containing approximately 30 dozen. Local live stock prices are easier and exporting has already commenced. Montreal bank clearings showed a decline of 17.2 per cent. and Toronto an increase of 7.5 per cent. as against the same of week last year. Judging from employment returns, an improved tone is shown in manufacturing, transportation and metal mining. For the first four months of 1931 building contracts awarded have shown a decline of about 30 per cent. Realty sales were also down during the past week. Collections are slow.

OTTAWA.—Reports to Bradstreet's say that trade and industry here continue on much the same scale as has been evident for some time. Collections are fair. The output of gold, silver, cement, gypsum and petroleum in February showed an increase over the same month last year, according to a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The gold production amounted to 195,118 ounces as compared with 145,436 in February last year; silver was 2,111,765 ounces compared with 1,841,836; cement 409,010 barrels compared with 295,810; gypsum 19,162 tons as against 11,410 and petroleum 155,651 barrels as against 89,961 barrels n February, 1930.

TORONTO.—Reports to Bradstreet's say that demand for goods at wholesale establishments on the whole remains quiet. Dry goods and such materials are moving slowly and men's and women's furnishings are affected by any lowering of the temperatures which tends to curtail demand. Retail sales, however, are fair in view of all the prevailing circumstances. Collections are just fair. Manufacturing operations are spotty. The automotive industry appears to be increasing its operations slowly but the acceleration is gradual. Crops in this section are still suffering from lack of moisture, the recent rains having been insufficient to really soak the dry soil in many areas.

HAMILTON. — Reports to Bradstreet's say there has been little change here in general trade or industry with collections none too brisk. The demand for seasonable lines has been stimulated with the coming of spring but manufacturing operations are spotty. Cold weather has to some extent interfered with the movement of warm weather goods however. In the rural districts the situation varies considerably with cold weather noted above holding back growth in some parts and rain being needed in many areas. Business generally as in other large centres of Canada is still considerably under normal.

LONDON.—Reports to Bradstreet's say that retail trade here shows fair activity in view of the prevailing conditions with wholesale trade as yet quiet. Collections are fair. Manufacturing operations are moderately active. In the farming district quite a number of cattle have been turned to grass though pastures have not made very great growth as yet. Several carloads of finished cattle are marketed each week with choicest quality fetching around $6.00 per cwt., with the common grades considerably below this figure. Feeders of fair quality are selling from $5.00 to $5.50 per cwt. Rain and snow of the past two weeks have assured ample moisture and in some parts too much.

WINDSOR. — Reports to Bradstreet's say that there has been little change here in either trade or industry with the automotive trade however showing a little more activity. The decision of the Graham-Paige Company to open a Canadian plant at Walkerville indicates greater activity soon in the Border Cities in this department. Crop conditions show little change. The planting of an increased crop of potatoes is practically completed. Seeding of the sugar beet crop is well under way and considerably in advance of a year ago. There is every indication that the corn acreage in this part of the province will show an increase of from 30 to 35 per cent. The farmer who put in feeder steers in the fall of 1930 is taking another severe rap this year. Prices on prevailing sales are 50c. to $1.00 below that paid for the feeders in the fall of 1930.

WINNIPEG. — Reports to Bradstreet's say that moderate improvement is noted here in wholesale trade with retail trade also showing more life in most lines. Manufacturing continues to show fair activity. Collections are still rather slow. Bearing upon the recent statement of J. M. Davidson of the Industrial Development Board of Manitoba that industry is gradually taking priority over agriculture in the province, it is pointed out that Manitoba is rich in natural resources, having more than $600,000,000 in ore reserves, 137,000 square miles of timber, and 20,000 square miles of water surface. The province is also extremely rich in metallic and non-metallic minerals. With an annual production of more than $165,000,000, moreover, Manitoba's 130 industrial plants have a yearly pay-roll of $35,000,000.

CALGARY. — Reports to Bradstreet's say that business in all lines is still quiet especially so in the rural centres hereabouts. Collections are slow. Oil production from the Turner Valley Alberta, for the first qaurter of 1931, is running far ahead of the same period last year, according to official delivery reports furnished by the Imperial Oil and Regal Oil refineries at Calgary. For the firs three months of 1930 deliveries from Canada's premier oilfield amounted to 273,129 barrels and for the same period of 1931 they totalled 417,900 barrels, or an increase of over 50 per cent. March deliveries, which were interrupted to some extent by Government experiments in shutting-in to test rock pressures, totalled 128,975 barrels and were slightly under the February aggregate of 132,267 barrels, but much in excess of the 56,801 barrels produced in March of the previous year.

VANCOUVER. — Reports to Bradstreet's say that business here shows little change during the past week with a fair volume of goods moving in seasonable lines. Collections are slow to fair. During February the ports of British Columbia reported 141,629 tons of cargo landed inward, and 322,787 tons outward, according to the monthly statement of the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange. Vancouver, with 95 deep-sea ships outward, shipped 241,217 tons and landed 125,143 tons. Victoria showed 11 deep-sea arrivals with 3,053 tons inward and 2,435 tons outward; New Westminster, 29 arrivals, with 2,147 tons inward and 37,990 tons outward. The balance of the trade movements were confined to lumber and paper ports of the coast.

REDISCOUNT RATE REDUCTION FAILS TO SHAKE WALL STREET

Bullish Efforts in Merchandising Shares Gives Market Upward Slant To-day.

GENERAL LIST UP.

(By Claude A. Jagger.)
Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8.—Bullish efforts in the merchandising shares gave a sluggish stock market an upward slant to-day.

The financial markets made no pronounced response to the reduction of the New York rediscount rate from 2 to 1½ per cent, although bonds continued to improve. In stocks, fluctuations have been steadily narrowing since the selling climax of last week, and traders took advantage of relatively satisfactory chain store sales reports for April to try to start a rally.

Woolworth, yesterday's bull favorite, continued its advance, and was joined by Grand Silver, both issues gaining more than 2 points as did Macy. W. T. Grant, Kroger, Marshall Field, Kreege Best, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck, were firm. The list had a temporary sinking spell in the morning, with the rails notably heavy, but outside of the carrier group, losses were largely cancelled later. Miscellaneous issues selling up a point or two included U.S. Steel, General Motors, Radio, American Can Gillette, Standard of California, Union Carbide, Bethlehem, American Tobacco "B", Reynolds "B", Consolidated Gas, Dupont and Coc Cola. Hershey Rose 3 and Auburn 5. In the rails, Union Pacific sold off more than 4.

The reduction in the rediscount rate was soon reflected in the call loan market. Loans renewed at 1½ percent., but the rate was shaded to one per cent after midday. Commercial Paper was also easier.

CLEVELAND, O., May 8.—(CP)—Max Schmeling will train at Conneaut Lake Park, Pa., just across the Ohio border, for his title fight with W. L. "Young" Stribling here July 8, it was announced to-day by the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Ohio.

SON ACTED

women being the case of men going to jail and saying he had it in for her. She immediately became afraid of her boy, she told the court.

Clarkson took the stand in his own defence and testified he was born in England coming to Canada in 1929. His father, he said, was killed in France. Clarkson recounted all that was admitted in his statement to police following his arrest, and said he had no intention of using the gun.

Clarkson Story

Accused stated that when the uniformed constable approached the car in which he and Brockenshire were riding, the constable was carrying a gun in his hand and with this tapped the window on his companion's side of the car. The window was immediately lowered, he said, and after a short questioning both were ordered from the car. Clarkson told of how he had started to run from the car and said he was almost to the ditch when he heard a voice say "hands up!"

"I climbed the fence and as I got over the wire the plainclothesman pointed his gun and I saw a flash in my direction. Then came more shots, and I saw a man running, and recognized his style as Jack's. I joined him."

Questioned by his counsel he admitted he made no attempt to use his gun and said he had never been in police court in his life before.

In Brockenshire's statement to police after his arrest he said "I fired all the shots between the two policemen."

Albert Brockenshire, father of the accused, was called to the stand following his wife's testimony.

BROTHERS DENIED NEW TRIAL

CHICAGO, Ill., May 8 (C.P.). — Leo V. Brothers was denied a new trial for the murder of Alfred Lingle, Tribune crime reporter, and was formally sentenced by Judge Joseph Eckath to-day to 14 years in prison.

TORONTO MART HOLDS STEADY

Selling in Noranda and C. P. R. Quietens Down for the Time Being.

BRAZILIAN IS FIRMER.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8.—(CP)—The market drifted through a listless morning session on Toronto Stock Exchange to-day with the price level practically unchanged from last night. Selling in both Noranda and C.P.R. had dried up for the time being and the list as a whole was more resilient, though the volume was that small that to fix a trend by changes recorded would be misleading.

C.P.R. at midday was unchanged at 28¾; it had never fluctuated more than ¼ point off that price during the first two hours. Noranda showed a loss of 10 cents at $22.40. International Nickel was firm at 14½.

Brazilian firmed above 16 in the second hour. Bell Telephone sold at its low of 140. Oils were irregular in light trading, B.A. Oil and Imperial slightly higher, International Petroleum and Supertest unchanged to lower.

SILVER CONGRESS IS NOW PROPOSED

Action Comes as Result of Prolonged Washington Deliberations.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 8.—(AP)—A resolution proposing an early conference on the silver problem by all interested parties was before the International chamber of commerce to-day as the outcome of prolonged deliberation and negotiations.

The resolution bore the approval of a group of delegates before whom the low price of silver and its economic effects has been discussed since Tuesday and only awaited action by the resolutions committee before reaching a formal vote.

Chinese, Japanese, Indian and United States declared who have sponsored the measure were confident of its adoption and the only hurdle it was believed still to face was a possible objection that it was an invasion of the political field.

The resolution cleared its greatest obstacle yesterday when it received the approval of the British delegation, which had been reported opposed to an international conference.

No Sympathy for Hockey Wanderers

REGINA, Sask., May 8.—(CP)—Following up his statement of a few days ago regarding the wholesale migration of hockey players from one city to another this spring, President Jack Hamilton of the C.A.H.A. has issued another warning to the hockeyists in question. He is most emphatic in stating that no sympathy will be shown the "wanderers" next fall should any trouble arise over transfers.

Those athletes who leave their home town without first getting a release in writing from their old club and having it approved by the branch officers are making a grave mistake, according to the president, and the club they intend playing for may also find itself without a valued addition to its ranks next winter.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8.—(CP)—Prime mercantile paper 2¼-2½ per cent.

Foreign exchange irregular; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents): Great Britain 4.86 11-32; France, 3.90⅞; Italy, 5.23¼; Germany, 23.80½; Canadian dollar at 3-64 of one per cent discount.

CONFLICTING TRENDS CANADIAN BUSINESS

Western Agriculture Conditions Will Govern Future, Says Bank Review.

TORONTO, May 8. — During April there were conflicting elements in the general business situation, says the Canadian Bank of Commerce in its Monthly Letter. Preliminary reports on steel production indicate some curtailment following a steady rise throughout the first quarter of the year, although complete returns to be received during the next few weeks may show the apparent decline in April to have been no more than seasonal. In comparison with April, 1930, the estimated value of new construction work contracted for within the past month is disappointing, but the small amount reported for the latter period may be due partly to the unexpectedly large amount shown in March, which was greater than in the corresponding period of 1930. The volume of construction contracted for at this season has, of course, an important effect on the employment situation, as well as on industrial operations. It is usual for employment to increase from April or May until the latter part of the summer; how far the upward movement will go this year will depend on construction, and reports on this branch of business during the next month or two will be of special interest.

GENERAL LIST REMAINS SOFT

Teck-Hughes Recovers 15 to $7.80 and Hollinger Was Up 10 to $7.90.

NORANDA UNCHANGED.

TORONTO, May 9 (CP). — Higher-priced golds developed some strength in to-day's forenoon session on the mining market, but balance of the list continued easy in unusually listless trading.

Teck-Hughes recovered 15 to $7.80 and Hollinger was up 10 to $7.90, but McIntyre, in an odd lot, sold off a half to $23.50. Sylvanite eased 3 to 82 and Macassa was down a couple, while small recessions were practically general among other lower-priced golds.

Noranda softened in early trade and rallied to stand unchanged at noon. Nickel was down a few cents to $14.15. Sherritt Gordon established a new low of 65 but was steady with last night at mid-day. Ventures dropped 4 to 46.

Nordon made the only advance in the oils, firming a couple to just above 30. Acme Gas was holding and the rights fractionally higher. Homestead sold off 9 to $1.31, Chemical Research was down 5 and Ajax Oil lost another 2 to $1.30.

Position Is Better Than Stock Indicates

Shawinigan Earnings First Quarter Less Than One Per Cent. Below 1930.

MONTREAL, May 8.—Among the stocks that appear to have been thrown overboard needlessly by tired or nervous holders in the extreme weakness of the Canadian market situation that has developed in the past few days is Shawinigan Water & Power Co. Following the sharp decline in the stock to a new low of 39 yesterday, there have been various rumors as to a heavy reduction in earning power on account of the newsprint situation, and a suggestion that the present dividend of $2.50 had been endangered. As to the first, the whole situation has been greatly exaggerated. Financial Counsel understands that revenue from pulp and paper companies is less than 30 per cent. of the entire revenue of Shawinigan Water & Power Company. The customers of the company include three mills of Canada Power & Paper now operating: Laurentide, Belgo-Canadian and Wayagamack. Any changes in these mills due to a reorganization of Canada Power and Paper would at most affect Shawinigan's earnings only very slightly. The largest power customer of Shawinigan in the newsprint group is the mill of Canadian International Paper Company at Three Rivers, which has been operating practically at capacity for a long time past, and give every evidence of continuing to do so. Another mill, that of St. Lawrence Corporation, is also located at Three Rivers. Other newsprint properties served by Shawinigan are Donnacona, a subsidiary of Price Bros., and Anglo-Canadian Paper Mills, located at Quebec City.

Wright Wins From Leslie In Second

TORONTO, LAWN TENNIS CLUB, May 8 (C.P.).—Jack Wright, of Montreal, this morning defeated C. W. Leslie, also of Montreal, in the second stage of the 1931 Canadian Davis cup trials. Dr. Wright showed form reminiscent of that of two years ago when he won the Canadian championships, defeating Leslie in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1. Great interest is being evinced in to-day's matches. The other two singles games are Dr. Ham, Toronto, vs. Walter Martin, Regina; Marcel Rainville, Montreal, vs. Gilbert Nunns, Toronto.

This afternoon Wright and Rainville will engage in a doubles encounter with Walter Martin and Gilbert Nunns and another hectic battles is anticipated.

CAVAN FARMERS AT WAR AGAINST NOXIOUS WEEDS

Weed Control Purpose of Gathering Held at Millbrook.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Several Speakers Discuss Advantages and Disadvantages.

MILLBROOK, May 8 (Examiner Correspondence) — "Wanted—Volunteers for the Weed War" might have been appropriately adopted as a slogan for the public gathering held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening for the purpose of discussing weeds and weed control, the meeting having been arranged for through the initiative of Cavan council and the local Weed Inspector, J. N. McGill, who occupied the chair.

Cavan farmers are evidently keenly interested in the subject of weed eradication, judging by the number in attendance, the questions asked, and the close attention given the speakers, though the chairman expressed disappointment that the capacity of the hall had not been taxed for the occasion.

The first speaker introduced was J. McLeod, Weed Inspector for Eastern Ontario, who mentioned that the third year of the war on weeds is now in progress, and the fact that interest is growing has been abundantly manifested by the increased attendance at public meetings to discuss the matter, and the one hundred per cent appointment of weed inspectors throughout the province both last year and this.

Some time was spent in explaining the Weed Control Act and its working, and the good work being accomplished by the seed cleaning demonstration trains sent out by the government each season. The speaker emphasized that weed control is what is sought, not eradication, and public meetings such as the one in progress are called for the purpose of finding a basis whereby everyone may co-operate in a united campaign to remove this menace to agricultural prosperity, which is increasing every year, the loss of production on all arable land.

Mr. McLeod made it clear that the Weed Control Act gives the Weed Inspector authority to cut weeds on any property where they are proving a menace, after first warning the owner and finding that he refuses to take any action. "We cut one hundred and twenty-seven acres on one farm in Prescott county last year, the owner of which lived in Montreal and took no notice of our appeal. It cost him seventy-six dollars, and that is only one of dozens we cleaned up last season."

No Authority on Roads

The Weed Inspectors have no authority to put a man on roads to cut weeds, the municipalities having this responsibility, but vacant lots, and neglected cemeteries, are under their supervision and must be cleaned up. The Cemeteries' Act demands that all such must be fenced and cleaned, and while the Weed Inspector has nothing to do with the fencing, he has the right to see that all brush heaps and weeds are removed. A change in the Cemeteries' Act provide that three men in a county make up a commission, one, usually the County Judge, being appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor, and two others by the County Council. These notify the township council of any to be cleaned up, and have power to have the work done and charged to that body. A public notice must be inserted in two issues of the local paper, a meeting called of all who are interested, and a committee appointed to attend to the matter.

Replying to questions, Mr. McLeod stated that the Plessisville machine, made at town of that name in Quebec is the one used at the cleaning-plants, and found satisfactory, or the clipper cleaner made in the States, but made more expensive because of the duty. Good work may be done by fanning-mills if equipped with the necessary screens, but these are hard to keep in shape. "It is impossible to do good work with only twelve screens. We have fifty as our objective at the cleaning plants, and even then we will hardly have enough."

C. Galbraith, described as "a practical farmer from Halton county," was next called upon by the chairman, his opening remarks causing the hearers to 'sit up' as he stated that we could hardly get along without some weeds, burdocks for instance for a certain well-known blood bitters, "and how would you farmers of Cavan township have lived through the ten years of O.T.A. without dandelions?" We would have had no chrysanthemums without the ox-eyed daisy, and no geraniums without the crane's bill of the woods. It is all a question of where they happen to grow whether they constitute a weed, or a weed menace."

Noxious Weeds

"There is no use in putting a law on the statute books ahead of public opinion. The lowered values of land, and of grain, lead us to the term noxious weeds. It is folly to grow weeds, eventually robbing a farmer of his self-respect. Hence the importance of co-operating with the Weed Inspectors who are patiently trying to educate the public, and are being urged along by all good farmers everywhere in order to preserve their self-esteem, and their pride in their business."

Some of the noxious weeds listed were the perennial sowthistle, known as the 'yellow peril placed at the top of the page; the ox-eyed daisy; bladder campion; wild mustard; wild carrot; common ragweed and several others. Means of propogation are the wind or birds, which carry seeds; waste lands, neglected roadsides, and uncultivated fields. For eradication, or at least control, summer fallow, thorough after harvest cultivation, smother crops, rotation of crops, pasturing with sheep, the use of legume crops, and good drainage were all recommended, with special emphasis upon united effort, joining forces against these common enemies.

Grading Seed

A. E. Summers, Agricultural Representative for Durham, made his first appearance in the local hall on Wednesday evening, and expressed his pleasure in the opportunity of greeting the farmers of Cavan township, and in the initiative of the local Weed Inspector in planning the public gathering.

Mr. Summers pointed out that in the audience there was one young man, in the senior competition at the O.A.C. Guelph, had won first place in a class of seventy-five, in identifying noxious weeds and weed seeds. George McKnight brought this honor to Durham county.

Grading seed before sowing was recommended, and the hearers were reminded that it is against the law to sell rejected seed in Ontario. Number one primary seed (graded) must contain no noxious weed seeds, and number two but five varieties. Mr. Summer told of the Better Seed Campaign being carried on in Durham this summer through the medium of the school pupils, who have been given small bags in which to return samples of grain, one thousand being the number of samples it is hoped thus to obtain. These will be graded at the Agricultural office at Port Hope for weed seed content, and excellent results are hoped for when the information thus secured is made known to the farmers. "Four separations will be made of all samples of plump seed, and an estimate furnished of what increase there would have been in yield if all seed had been of this character."

Musical numbers while the audience was gathering, and between the addresses were furnished by the Continuation School orchestra, and by Thomas Bradburn, with violin solos, also community singing, with H. Moncrief as the accompanist. The vote of thanks to the speakers, and others who assisted with the program was sponsored by Warden G. H. Hootan and Councillor R. McCamus, and endorsed by a hearty hand-clap.

Presentation Made Lawrence J. Charlton by Members of Lakefield Fire Dept.

LAKEFIELD, May 8.—(Examiner Correspondence).—On Monday evening Rev. T. M. Wesley's garage was broken into and two wheels taken from his Ford coach. It would appear that it was the tires which were wanted as the bolts from one of the wheels were left beside the damaged car. There is no clue up to date as to the miscreants. The garage fronts on Caroline Street and is in a rather quiet section.

HON. ROBERT WEIR OUTLINES POLICY

igencies of the agricultural situation more than the present administration, Mr. Weir declared. He realized the policies he had listed would not bring immediate relief to the farmers. He realized the extent of the load of mortgages and debt being carried but "that load was not put on since last August" the minister reminded the house.

Although Mr. Weir's speech for the most part was an accounting of the government's agricultural policy, he took time off for some bitter remarks which he hurled across the floor at opposition members. He singled out particularly Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, and Hon. W. R. Motherwell, his predecessor in office. The only constructive suggestion Mr. Motherwell had made while in office was in regard to the eradication of the out-worm. To Mr. King he said the city of Prince Albert had accepted him as "a political outcast from eastern Canada "but he warned him not to expect continued support from the people of that riding.

John Vallance, Liberal member for South Battleford, Sask., undertook to answer the minister's arguments on behalf of the opposition. He referred to the "walls of the minister" and then exclaimed: "The most important thing the farmers of the west face to-day is a market for their wheat and he (Mr. Weir) never touched on it."

The government, Mr. Vallance urged, must pass enabling legislation to secure for western farmers 100 per cent control of their wheat or reestablish the old federal wheat board. Policies on weed contol and livestock breeding were correct in their places but the prime consideration of the government should be to provide markets for wheat and Mr. Vallance did not believe this could be done effectively until some form of national control of marketing had been established.

Start Co-operative Movement

Regarding the minister's attack on Mr. Motherwell, the member for South Battleford said Mr. Weir had "castigated a man whose shoes he was unworthy to buckle." No man had done more for western Canada than the former minister of agriculture for it was he who laid the foundations for all the co-operative movements of to-day.

Canada should be represented, not at the London conference of wheat-growing nations but at the Briand conference in Paris of the wheat-buying countries, asserted Dr. T. F. Donnelly, (Lib., Willow Bunch), when Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Canada's commissioner in Great Britain "split the Rome conference into two factions, buyers and sellers; nothing worse could have happened for western Canada." The buyers decided to confer among themselves and the sellers by themselves. "We need not worry what the other selling nations are doing, we should be making friends with the buyers" exclaimed Dr. Donnelly.

Other speakers in the debate yesterday were C. R. MacIntosh (Lib., North Battleford), A. W. Neill, (Ind., Comox, Alberni), William Irvine (U.F.A., Wetaskiwin), Harry Butcher (Lib., Last Mountain) and M. N. Campbell Prog., Mackenzie).

Arbor Day Observed In The Emily School

EAST EMILY, May 8 (Examiner Correspondence). — On Friday, May 1, Arbor Day as observed in Orange Corners School, and a most enjoyable evening was also spent. Mr. Walter Magee, acting as chairman for the evening, filled this position in his usual capable manner. The first part of the program consisted of: Recitation, Thelma Bailey; flag drill by twelve pupils; recitation, Norma Jackson. The main feature of the evening was the showing of a series of motion pictures by M. H. Winter of Lindsay. Especially interesting and educative were the pictures showing the making of paper from the log stage to the finished product. Another reel showed the workings of a large fish hatchery on the Bay of Quinte. A comedy entitled "One Minute to Go" completed the group.

During the evening Mr. Winter gave an interesting talk on "Farm and home improvements". A vote of thanks to Mr. Winter was moved by Elmer Henry and seconded by Herb. Jackson. After the National Anthem lunch was served by the pupils.

DR. GRIFFIN ATTEMPTED TO RAISE BATTALION OF INSANE RECRUITS

Claims They Would Have Been Fine Storm Troops—War Office Objected.

FAVORS ONE COLONY.

LONDON, May 8 (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent) —One of the queerest of war revelations was made yesterday by Dr. E. H. Griffin, who served in the Great War himself, lecturing to the London College of Physiology. He said he had offered during the war to raise a battalion of insane recruits.

"Of course the War Office laughed at me and turned down the suggestion," Dr. Griffin said. "But the insane would make magnificent storm troops. I intended to school those physically fit and amendable to discipline. I should have got two or three thousand."

Dr. Griffin said he would like to see the whole insane people of Great Britain placed in one large colony. There would be about 100,000 such persons, he estimated, and the best place for them would be an island about the size of the Isle of Wight.

"With suitable guidance they would be quite capable of looking after themselves," Dr. Griffin added. "The curse of asylums is the terrible idleness."

Dr. Griffin was awarded the Distinguished Service order and the Military Cross for his work in the war. He served as medical officer in Venezuela and Mexico, and as surgeon to the Red Crescent Society during the Italo-Turkish war. During the Great War he was medical officer in charge of the second battalion Queen's Regiment and 12th battalion Fifth Fusiliers, was wounded four times and mentioned in despatches three times.

ENGINEERS NAME NEW EXECUTIVE

Debate Brings to Close Most Successful Year.

INDIA'S PROBLEMS.

At the annual meeting of the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada held in the Paragon Hall last evening the following executive council was elected to guide the branch's activities for next season: B. L. Barns, A. E. Caddy, R. C. Flitton, A. B. Gates, A. L. Killaly, B. Ottewell, H. R. Sills, and P. P. Westbye. The chairman will be elected by the executive.

Reports of the various committees showed that the branch had had a very successful and active year, with increased membership, although the attendance was down.

"Shall England Give India Dominion Status?" was the subject in which D. K. Anderson and J. McKigan took the affirmative and J. Cameron and W. Brumby the negative. The audience displayed their open-mindedness on the question by giving a tie vote when they were asked to decide the issue as presented by the debaters.

Britain had unmercifully exploited India's resources for Britain's own benefit, stated Mr. Anderson, and had established an expensive military system and the most extravagant civil service in the world. He maintained that leaders in the many castes in India were well educated and capable of leading the people to a form of self-government. Further, he said, the British officials were unable to understand the Indian people and therefore doubted their real capabilities.

In reply, Mr. Campbell declared that the revenue gained from India is applied only to Indian affairs by the British. He maintained that the 350 millions in India with their many racial and religious differences were quite unable to rule themselves. British rule had done much for India, and without it India would again degenerate into a state of chaos. He said that 92 per cent. in India cannot read or write. In an effort to reduce illiteracy, 197,000 schools had been established along with Normal schools and 17 universities. Agriculture had been improved, 7,000 post offices and newspapers established. He maintained that propagandists by writing and lecturing had endeavored to raise up antagonism to Britain in India and sympathy for the Indians.

MUST MAINTAIN LIVING STANDARD

Secretary Mellon Addresses International Chamber of Commerce.

NO TIME TO RETREAT.

WASHINGTON, May 8. — Audrey Mellon, Secretary of the United States Treasury, named the preservation of present standards of living yesterday as the base on which the world must work toward restoration of business.

His views threw an unexpected element into the deliberations of the International Chamber of Commerce coming as they did at a time when United States tariff and war debt policies were getting notice.

The plenary sessions of the Chamber had heard some complaints against the Hawley-Smoot Act as a deterrent to trade, as well as suggestions that relaxation on debt payments to this country would alleviate the depression.

The Treasury Secretary, speaking at a luncheon by the American Bankers' Association to foreign bankers attending the International meeting, emphasized the importance of purchasing power to trade, and how the standard of living in this country affected its purchases from abroad.

No Time for Retreat.

"That standard of living must be preserved at all costs," he said, "and certainly the present is no time to foster undertakings which may result in breaking down the standard of living to which we have become accustomed.

"What we must strive for is to improve the standard, both here and in other countries, as conditions warrant. In fact, the ultimate solution of the world's difficulties would seem to lie in the possibility of building up a higher standard."

Opposition to tariff legislation at the next session of Congress was foreshadowed by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in opening yesterday's session of the International organization.

Amplifying his speech at Atlantic City last week before the convention of the United States Chamber, in which he urged tariff revisions to help world commerce, he told the foreign visitors that United States business looked to the Tariff Commission for the equitable adjustments that need to be made.

18-TON AIRCRAFT FOR JAPANESE NAVY

Biggest War Plane in World, May Also Be Forerunner of Trans-Atlantic Services.

LONDON, May 8 (By The Canadian Press). — The biggest British flying boat yet built, and the largest war plane of the kind supplied to any of the world's air services, has passed into the flying fleet of the Japanese Imperial Navy, following completion of satisfactory acceptance trials over Osaka Bay. Built like the new four-engined boats for Imperial Airways, by Messrs. Short Brothers, and possessing ability to remain aloft without descending to refuel longer than any other similar craft yet placed in service, this new flying boat is a biplane weighing with full load on board no less than eighteen tons.

Power is derived from three water-cooled "Buzzard" motors, each of 825 H.P., a type world-famous as being the "parent" of the magnificent racing engine that drove to victory the winning British seaplane in the 1929 international contest for the Schneider trophy and, in the same machine, later established the existing world's record speed of 357 7 miles an hour.

The non-stop range in still air of the craft is approximately 2,000 sea miles. With sufficient fuel on board for a flight of this duration the disposable load, comprising crew, equipment, armament and so forth, remains in the neighborhood of 4,000 pounds — a notable achievement in air boat design. Such a craft, apart from its service value, obviously possesses great potential abilities as an air liner travelling along the sea routes of the world.

Provisional agreement between Great Britain, the United States and France controls the mutual future use of a line going across the Atlantic Ocean by way of the Azores and Bermuda. The longest stage on this journey is just under 2,000 miles.

There is no reason to suppose that this new giant boat represents the limit of duration achievement. Much bigger boats are being built in this country, and, though their useful range, according to specification, is to be about 1,000 miles, duration could undoubtedly be greatly extended by reducing the paying load even if the specification requirements be not comfortably exceeded when the boats appear for trial flights. Flying machines of this kind will throw a new light on the future development of Empire and trans-ocean airways; their powers of long-distance flight in competition with the airship may well provide one of the most interesting struggles in future air transport development. Extreme range and comfort may for a long time favor the airship; speed and, some will say, certainty of regular operation in all kinds of weather, the flying boat.

BIG NEW CRAFT TO SHORTEN SCHEDULE

Giant Four-England Flying Boats Go Into Service to East and Africa.

LONDON, May 8 (By The Canadian Press). — Marked acceleration of the British air services to the East and Africa is assured by the completion of flying trials of the fleet of big four-engined flying boats intended for regular operation from the middle of May in the Mediterranean.

The new machines, the largest passenger-carrying boats to be placed in commission by any air line in the world, also ensure a degree of comfort till now unattained in air travel. The size of the great hull has enabled the interior decorator to provide salon accommodation equal in luxury to the costliest pullman rail coaches; relative freedom from noise is secured by packing the walls with sound-deadening material and in the location of the power units between the huge biplane wings well above the hull, and the view outwards through large windows is unhindered by struts or other structural members.

Power derived from four "Jupiter" air-cooled motors, each giving up to 555 H.P., drives these big machines through the air at a top speed of 132 miles an hour, the economic cruising speed being just over 100 M.P.H. The engines are moderately supercharged, and accordingly deliver full power at heights up to 5,000 feet; the boats may thus be flown without loss of speed or flying efficiency at the most suitable height over the water below 5,000 feet as the weather conditions dictate.

The fleet of three craft was built at the works of Messrs. Short Brothers, situated at Rochester. Imperial Airways pilots will fly them to the Mediterranean, where their arrival will release for service over the African great lakes smaller three-engined "Calcutta" biplanes which have flown the Mediterranean routes for the last two years.

The greater speed of the new boats, which are styled generically the "Kent" class, is the most important factor in reducing the time scheduled for the air line journey between London and Karachi, India, from over seven days to 5 days 2 hours and 35 minutes. The African service will also benefit, the time-table reduction secured being aimed to bring Central Africa within little more than six days of England.

The "Kent" boats possess formidable dimensions. With full load on board the total weight is more than 30,000 pounds, approximately 15 tons. From wing-tip to wing-tip the upper plane spans 113 feet. Length from nose to tail is 78 feet and the greatest height is 27 feet six inches. In addition to fifteen passengers and a crew of three, no less than 1½ tons of mail and urgent freight can be airborne in special holds — three times as much as the mail and freight load carried by the "Calcutta" craft.

DISAGREES WITH POLICY.

LONDON, May 8.—(AP)—Colonel Charles Kerr to-day onnounced his resignation as chairman of the executive committee of the National Liberal Council, emphasizing the growing split in the Liberal party ranks.

In a letter to the federation's president, Colonel Kerr said that he was out of sympathy with the majority of the parliamentary party and the party organization in supporting the present Government.

This policy he said he considered "to be against the interests of the country and detrimental to the Liberal Party's future."

His resignation comes on the eve of the National Liberal Federation Conference next week to discuss the party's relationship with the Labor Government. Hitherto Liberal differences on this question have been confined to the ranks of the Liberal Parliamentarians.

For Greater Safety on Every Highway

THE FORD CAR IS EQUIPPED WITH SHATTERLESS PLATE GLASS WINDSHIELD

FOR greater safety in driving, every Ford car is equipped with a shatterless plate glass windshield. By reducing the dangers of flying glass it has saved many lives and prevented countless injuries in automobile accidents.

The value of this important safety factor has been known for many years, but its use has been limited by expense. It is brought to you on the Ford as standard equipment only because of the efficiency and economy of Ford methods. Much pioneering work has been done in finding ways to manufacture in large volume at low cost.

It is interesting to know how the shatterless glass windshield of the Ford is made and why it gives so much extra protection. The process of manufacture requires many separate operations, yet it can be explained in a few simple words.

Two pieces of plate glass, carefully ground and polished, are covered on one side with a thin coating of gelatine. This coating is baked hard, sprayed with liquid celluloid, and treated with a solvent.

Then, between the two pieces of glass, like the middle of a sandwich, is inserted a layer of special celluloid. This also has been treated with a solvent.

When heat and pressure are applied to the glass sandwich, this solvent helps to dissolve the surfaces in contact and they are actually fused together. It is almost like a welding process. The result is a single sheet of beautiful, clear laminated glass. The final operation is sealing the edges as protection against air and moisture.

This laminated windshield will withstand a 50% harder impact before breaking than plate glass of equal thickness, and is more flexible under impact. When struck an unusually hard blow, it will crack, but the danger from flying glass is minimized because of the inside layer of celluloid.

The greatest care is taken to insure uniform high quality. Plate glass is used for clear vision. One sheet in every 150 is taken for test. For the impact test, a steel ball is dropped six feet to the center of a large sheet.

Other samples are subjected to ultra-violet rays and infra-red rays which give, in a few hours, an exposure equal to several years of normal driving. This is done to check the effect of the sun's rays and heat on the crystal clearness of the glass.

Many improvements have been made in the past three years. Today, the shatterless glass used on the Ford is recognized as one of the greatest contributions to safety since four-wheel brakes. High speed and crowded traffic emphasize the need of the protection it affords. It is just another instance of the extra value in the Ford.

"THE CANADIAN CAR"

All Ford cars come to you equipped with a shatterless plate glass windshield as standard equipment. If you desire, you may have your new Ford delivered to you with shatterless glass in the side windows as well. The charge is reasonable. $15 for the Cabriolet and Sport Coupe and $25 for other body types.

No Flying Glass Here

A woman and three children were in this Ford when a passing car upturned a horseshoe in the road and sent it crashing into the windshield. No one was hurt because there was no flying glass.

Used in World War

During the World War, shatterless glass was used in goggles for aviators, eye blanks for gas masks, and for windows on tanks and submarines. It is now used on battleships and destroyers to prevent injuries when glass windows are broken by heavy seas or the shock of severe gunfire.

The Impact Test

A steel ball is dropped six feet on the glass used for the windshield of the Ford to check-up on its non-shattering qualities.

GAUMONT-BRITISH CORPORATION MAY PRODUCE PICTURES IN CANADA

Deny Rumors That Company Will Found Theatre Chain Here

PLANS NOT DEFINITE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8 (C.P.)—The possibility that the Gaumont-British Film Corporation, one of the largest motion picture organizations in Great Britain, might enter the production field in Canada was seen yesterday in the statement by Arthur Lee, of the American-Anglo Corporation, that preliminary negotiations were under way which might lead to the establishment by Gaumont-British of studios at Windsor, Ont., and Victoria, B.C.

While these negotiations were in a very vague stage and might not come to anything, Mr. Lee said Gaumont-British this summer would make a determined effort to place more pictures in Canadian theatres. He said he would interview heads of Canadian theatrical syndicates within a few weeks with the object of securing increased distribution for Gaumont-British pictures.

Mr. Lee denied rumors that Gaumont-British entertained the idea of founding a theatre chain in Canada.

The Principal Causes of SLEEPLESSNESS are nervous strain and digestive unrest

BOTH of these can be overcome by the simple act of taking a cup of hot Ovaltine each night before retiring.

The great value of Ovaltine is due to the fact that it offers super-nourishment in very easily digested form. Ovaltine not only quiets the nerves and allays digestive unrest—bringing sleep naturally—but also, while you sleep, it replenishes your lost energy and vitality. Ovaltine is a rich concentration of ripe barley malt, rich creamy milk, and fresh eggs. Every nutritive element your body needs to maintain mental and physical fitness is combined in this delicious and perfect combination of Nature's best restorative foods. Drink it daily instead of tea or coffee. Be sure and make it your "goodnight" beverage to ensure sound restful sleep.

WARNING
No malt or cocoa drink is in any sense a substitute for Ovaltine. The process by which Ovaltine is made is the result of years of scientific research. Refuse so called "just as good" preparations.

REGULATION OF FARM PRODUCTION TO EXISTING NEEDS, ONLY SOLUTION

Falter Claims Success of Plan Depends on Cooperation of World.

FEDERAL RELIEF ASSAILED.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 8 (A.P.) —Agreement among agricultural nations, including Soviet Russia, to regulate farm production to comsumption was proposed before the International Chamber of Commerce to-day by Alfred Falter, chairman of the Polish delegation.

Joining Dr. H. L. Russell, former Dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, in the belief that the problem for world farmers is to readjust production to existing needs, Falter said it was "obvious that the world-wide agricultural crisis may only be solved by international means based on a world-wide scale."

The proposed agreement, he said, should "encompass on one hand the adaptation of the production to the consumption by means of organizing such production with a view to its regulation, and on the other hand should aim to a proper organization of commerce in order to avoid unnecessary disturbances of the markets through divers actions and individual methods."

Soviets Must Agree

Such a plan would not be feasible without Soviet participation, he said, adding:—

"Irrespective of the final result which Russia may attain by her planned economic and agricultural activity, the effect of such an activity must, without the slightest doubt, make it impossible for the, as long as it remains in its present disordered condition, to check the actual crisis."

Russell said no country would attempt to limit its acreage unless the same restrictions were applied by others. The recent international conference at Rome, he added, "ran into trouble in this particular," when the Soviets resuled to restrict their wheat.

"The obvious way to get rid of a surplus" he continued, "would be to reduce production, but restriction of acreage is easy to resolve about, and difficult if not impossible to enforce by Governmental action."

Russell assailed Federal farm relief as temporary, artificial stimulation that only postpones inevitable readjustments and a permanent cure.

Germany Raises Tariff

As for farm tariffs, Russell said America had acted no differently than other countries, Germany having raised her duty on wheat over 230 per cent. in the last sixteen months so that to-day it is $1.62 a bushel, or nearly twice the world market price.

Lord Luke of Pavenham, British financier, and D. F. Kelly, President of the National Retail Dry Goods Association of America, discussed merchandising and distribution.

Lord Luke stressed the importance of distribution economy. He said this was "more evident to-day when wage earners on short time or in some countries—the dole receivers—are having to consider every cent before they spent it."

To be perfect he added, distribution systems should provide delivery to the consumer at the lowest possible addition to the cost of manufacture.

As purchasing agent for the community, Kelly said, the merchant should study the wants of his customers and then "shop" domestic and even foreign markets to find the desired goods.

SENATE CERTAIN TO REJECT BILL

Australia's Labor Gov't Has Troubles With an Opposition Majority.

MAY DEFAULT PAYMENTS.

CANBERRA, Australia, May 8 (C. P. Cable via Reuters). — Like the Labor Government in Great Britain, Australia's Labor Government has its troubles with an Opposition majority in the Upper Chamber.

It was learned in well-informed circles at the Commonwealth Capital to-day that the Senate is virtually certain to reject the Government's Bill to amend the Commonwealth Bank Act. This Bill is designed to give the Government power to draw on the gold reserves of the Commonwealth Bank. The Government contends that if it does not get this power, it will have to default payments of $25,000,000 due in London on June 30 on account of treasury bills which cannot be renewed or reissued.

The Senate some time ago rejected the Government's Bill to issue $90,000,000 in fiduciary notes. The Government is now getting ready to submit demands for sweeping powers in industrial, financial, and commercial matters in the form of a referendum.

The Commonwealth Bank, however, does not agree that shipment of gold is the only thing that will prevent national default on June 30. Sir Robert Gibson, chairman of the Bank Board, yesterday intimated he had an alternative way out, and it is probable that this scheme will be submitted to the three economic experts who are now working at Sydney on a plan for balancing the budgets with three years.

ITALY CHANGES UNDER IL DUCE

Great Developments Apparent and Signs of Mussolini on Every Hand.

PEOPLE DO NOT CHANGE.

ROME, May 8 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Under the hand of Fascism, the face of Italy is changing rapidly. Hydro-electrical development is spreading. Concrete towers carry high power cables over mountain and valley. Electrified lines are making railway travel, especially in the numerous tunnels of the Apennines, cleaner and pleasanter. Neat new wayside stations lend an air of prosperity. Along the highways, construction gangs are busy extending and improving Italy's system of roadways.

To one whose last visit to Italy was in the castor oil period which preceded the Black Shirt march on Rome, the change is striking. It is another Italy yet, paradoxical though it sound, an Italy pretty much the same. Two years before, Mussolini had called together a small group of men in Milan and formed the Fasci di Combattimento. They were fascism militant. They fought Bolshevism with its own weapons carried a stage further. Bomb was met by bomb. Shootings, assault, castor oil—it seemed as though Italy were destined for little better than era of anarchy. For the police of those days were almost useless. They kept at a discreet distance when the row started.

Fascism got the upper hand. Pictures of Lenin disappeared Bolshevism—any effective opposition to Fascism—was supressed. Parliamentary control, as the term is understood at Ottawa and Westminster, ceased to have any meaning. Opposition members escaped on occasion through the roof. The electrical law was "reformed." Parliament became an echo of the Fascist Council.

Mussolini was Triumphant

And from the Alps to the Ionian Sea, Italy is still Mussolini triumphant. The saturnine, half-Napoleonic face greets one at every turn. Those curious eyes seem to search every corner. "Eviva il Duce" is scrawled the length of Italy. On the outside of schools, on public buildings, on walls everywhere so it seems, enthusiasts have placed a stencil and dabbed through it in black paint the features of Mussolini.

With Mussolini, Fascism. On street cars, on railway locomotives, on lighting standards in the streets—no form of Italian activity but bears the rods and axe-head of Fascism. The Black Shirt is so common it soon loses novelty. It is omnipresent; from the Fascist guard with persuasive automatic in his belt to the gay youngster selling anti-tuberculosis tags in the street. Opposition to it all, there must be. But the surface shows no sign of it. With the exception of the Osservatore Romano, the Catholic daily published in Vatican City, the newspapers are all cast in one mould. They all read much the same.

Yet with all this lack of independent opinion, the life of the people flows much as it has always flowed. The Roman gathers in the piazza as he once gathered in the Forum. He loves disputation as he loved it when Caesar strode the world like a Colossus. If he talks less of politics, he talks of other things more.

Mussolini has changed Italy. He has not changed the Italians.

POOL MEMBERS ARE GIVEN CHOICE

CONFINED TO MANITOBA.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 8—(C.P.) —Members of Manitoba's wheat pool to-day are being offered the right to choose between ordinary pooling of grain and the open-market system of straight sales. In the last week of May, according to an announcement from pool headquarters last night, contract signers will decide whether they wish to be accorded the option from June 1 onward.

All pool members in Manitoba have been mailed a letter from President C. H. Burnell outlining pool directors' proposals for a purely voluntary pooling system. Under the plan, all grain not pooled would be sold through Manitoba Pool Elevators, Limited, on the open market. This would involve the pool member "hedging" his straight purchases by protective sales on the futures market, a move never before countenanced by the pool.

Saskatchewan and Alberta pools are planning no similar moves, according to official statements. Alberta pool men intimated that the Manitoba body's financial difficulties might in part be due to the handling of coarse grains, which have not been marketed by the Alberta pool since the drastic drop in grain prices.

LOOKS EASY ENOUGH TO DESERT LEGION

but here in Fez the legion finds the most work to do.

Here also, the foreigner—which includes Frenchmen—is least safe because all the wildest and wooliest Mors and Arabs come here for a good time at the special request of Allah himself. They raise Cain and make whoopee. They try hard to flirt with the European girls. They stage sham battles all over the place and the sound of rifle fire is at least a weekly occurrence.

Over all this suppressed something or other the legion keeps a watchful but tolerant eye. There are plenty other troops as well, regulars from France and colonials, but the legionnaires are the shock troops who do all the heavy musceling-in in a big way. On the city walls, guns point outward across the desert and the Arabs are told it is to protect this holy city from invasion but a very casual inspection will show guns on swivels ready to command the town in short order.

Legion headquarters here is clean and efficient. Germany is represented by more recruits than any other country and not one single legionnaire gives either Canada or England as his address, although there are said to be three New Yorkers. I could not verify this.

Deserting Looks Easy.

Fiction and pictures make a great fuss over the terrible things that can happen a legionnaire if he deserts and how utterly hopeless the job of desertion is. Here it looks to be comparatively simple. If he gets a suit of civies and a few francs, your deserting legionnaire can ride the bus to Tangier, cross into Gibraltar and take the first ship to Southampton or New York or Havana. It seems simple enough. The military police scrutinize all passengers in outgoing buses of course but if a man were desperately keen about getting away it seems to me he could work it provided he had that suit and that money.

The floppy handkerchief things you see worn along the backs of legionaires' necks are not sported here because Morocco as far as I have been able to see is certainly not a hot country.

I have not once been uncomfortably warm during nine days here. Not even at noon. On the other hand I've been mighty uncomfortably cold both early in the morning and about seven in the evening. A man here right now could walk the streets at noon wearing woollen underwear and an overcoat and still not be too warm. The fields too indicate no tropical climate. To be sure there are cactus and palms but the grain is just sprouting. It is where our Canadian grain will be about the middle of May or roughly one month behind Morocco.

Needs Heavy Pyjamas.

As I wrote before you could close your eyes while travelling a Moroccan highway, open them again and picture yourself right in Ontario about the middle of May. Heat is a peculiar thing. Last winter I was 900 miles south of the Tropic of Cancer. I was in Havana and Mexico City and Vera Cruz. Now I am in Africa, just on the edge of Sahara and except for three days near Honduras I have never in all these travels experienced heat anywhere nearly as warm as we get in Canada every summer.

As I write this it is 10 minutes to one, just lunch time. I wear a three piece suit and a woollen sweater and I am chilly. Just on the off chance of needing them I brought along flannel pyjamas. I have as yet had no occasion to use the lighter cotton ones. Since I swing up into Spain in a few days now I shall probably have to get more flannel ones.

Another piece of tropical bunk has to do with oranges. Travellers will tell you that an orange bought back home tastes so vastly different from one picked ripe from the tree that you wouldn't know it to be the same fruit. That's just a quart size laugh. They taste precisely and absolutely the same and don't let anyone tell you differently.

I seem to be getting critical but I don't think the Arabs will mind. As for me an Arab belongs in an acrobatic act or a movie—where you can't smell him.

Soviet Reports Fair 1930 Trade Balance

MOSCOW, May 8—A favorable balance of foreign trade amounting to $29,500,000 was announced by the Soviet for the "special quarter" comprising the last months of 1930. This period was designated after the beginning of the fiscal year was shifted from October 1 to January 1.

For this quarter Germany had the largest total turnover with the soviet Union but it netted about $10,000,000 as compared with a net of more than $14,000,000 in favor of the United States, in third place. Great Britain was second on turnover but took some $40,000,000 worth more from Russia than she sold to her.

Of the total Russian exports, about $77,400,000 worth was industrial and about $70,400,000 was agricultural. The chief imports were machinery and farm implements.

BIOGRAPHPY OUT ON BEAVERBROOK

Work Covers Career of Canadian-born Newspaper Peer From Childhood Days.

LONG REVIEW PRINTED.

LONDON, May 8 (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Press Correspondent).—"Lord Beaverbrook; an Authentic Biography," was published today. Its author, F. A. Mackenzie, expressly states the work is unofficial. It covers the career of the Canadian-born newspaper Peer from his birth in New Brunswick to the present—we will be 52 years of age on May 25.

The book is a fairly full account of Lord Beaverbrook's early adventures in Canada. As for his career on this side of the Atlantic, the author in dealing with Lord Beaverbrook's political experiences would have it understood that Max Aitken was insistent on pushing tariff matters to the front from the moment he descended upon Ashton-under-Lyne, shortly after his arrival from Canada, and won a sensational by-election campaign in this Lancashire consituency.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express prints a four-column review of the book. Beverly Baxter, a Canadian protege of Lord Beaverbrook and editor of The Daily Express, speaks of the Peer's incursion into horse racing here some years ago. The adventure cost him $600,000 net loss before he retired from the turf. "And he was thoroughly ashamed of it," Mr. Baxter comments.

SHOOTING AT MOON

SMYRN, Turkey, May 8.—Turkish police are having difficulty enforcing a law forbidding shooting at the moon during eclipses. The shots arise from an old Anatolian superstition that eclipses are caused by a celestial wolf which attacks and eats the moon. To save it chivalrous Turks for years have seized their pistols and shot at the wolf.

Despite the ban on the practice, many residents brought their weapons into play when they went to the reserve during a recent eclipse. So lively was the shooting that one person was seriously wounded by a stray bullet and 20 "defenders" were arrested.

HITLER TESTIFIES FOR FOLLOWERS

POLICE ON GUARD.

BERLIN, May 8. (AP)—Adolph Hitler, Austrian who is head of German's Fascist movement, told a crowded courtroom to-day that he had done everything in his power to prevent the use of deadly weapons by adherents.

His appearance was as witness in the Moabit criminal court where four members of his party are on trial for breach of peace and one for attempted murder. They are charged with raiding a Communist dance in Charlottenburg last November and one with wounding three Communists by firing through the windows.

Hitler was somewhat subdued in contrast to his vehemency in his appearance at the Leipzig Heimwehr treason trial last year when he predicted that "heads would roll" and he used the witness stand as a rostrum to preach a sermon on internal responsibilities to his party.

As at the Leipzig trials he appeared in a plain blue business suit. Such crowds gathered in an effort to hear his testimony that it was necessary to post a large force of police to keep them in order.

AUTHOR OF PLAN CANNOT BE FOUND

Pamphlet Urges Society to Find Jobs For 30,000 English School Graduates.

COPIES SENT WOODSWORTH

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 8 (C.P.)—Investigation here some time ago failed to locate "J. Y. Brown," said to reside in this city and alleged to be the author of a pamphlet urging the organization of a Canadian society to find jobs for 30,000 graduates of English public schools.

The pamphlet in question was presented to the Toronto Trades and Labor Council last night by John W. Buckley, Secretary of the council. After some discussion the council ordered copies of the pamphlet sent to Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and to J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., for Winnipeg North Centre, for the attention of the Dominion Government.

According to the pamphlet the proposition is: the Canadian society suggested would deal with an English committee and it was added "both Canada and Britain stand to gain very much by this type of "immigration" which, it went on "must be handled on a large scale."

GANDHI TO MEET WILLINGDON

(AP)—Preparations are being made here for the arrival of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Indian Nationalist movement, next Wednesday, when he will begin a series of conferences with Viceroy Earl Willingdon. The two will discuss the date of the second Round Table Conference to be held in England, composition of the various delegates and other kindred matters.

Britain Prepared For Ryder Cup Series

British golfers are busy playing in trials for the right to be members of the 1931 British Ryder Cup team which will play against the United States team this summer. Several of the golf stars who helped Britain to win the cup last year are in good form and are certain of six places o nthe team. Above (left) is Abe Mitchell, who is almost certain of a place, and on the right is George Duncan (last year's captain who is also a probable. In Duncan's hands is the famous Ryder Cup. ## Brighter and Better Post Offices, Is Slogan of the Hon. Arthur Sauve

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8. (CP)—Brighter and better post offices—that is the slogan of John Arthur Sauve, the Postmaster-General. In language far transcending the prosaic phraseology wherein government orders are usually couched, language which in the beauty of its imagery and its wealth of analogy, lifts the document near to the realm of the poetic, the Postmaster-General has authorized the issue to all concerned of instructions exhorting postmasters everywhere to invest their offices with an atmosphere of color and good cheer. The current monthly supplement of the official postal guide today marshals the knights of the broom and scrubbing brush, in the following terms:

"There seems to be an urge in humans, as indeed there is in the whole world of nature, to brighten up at Spring, to throw off the drab colors that carry us through the cool months. It is the season, too, when householders plan redecorating, gardens are cleaned up, and in general everything possible is done to make the world a brighter place in which to live. Perhaps a Spring clean-up would be in order for Post Offices."

But a fly is embedded in the amber. Having established an association between the glories of the Canadian Spring and the slightly lesser beauties of the Post Office, the instruction strikes bed-rock. It continues:

"Even if funds do not permit of new quarters or repainting, still the mop, the broom, the duster, can do much to improve the appearance of that community centre—the Post Office."

The inexorable exigencies of economics with their impacts upon the human mind can be diminished if Post Offices are kept clean. The bulletin says:

"The present business depression, while brought about by the operation of economic laws, has nevertheless been aggravated by a wave of pessimism, which must be overcome before progress is made. Brightening up Post Offices will help make patrons feel that after all things are getting better, and that it is time to forget the bug-bear of hard times. Quite apart from this consideration, there is the undoubted fact that a clean Post Office reflects credit on the town in which it is situated."

Gov't Of Australia Saved By Extremists

CANBERRA, Australia, May 8 (C.P. Cable, via Reuter's).—Once more the Extremists within the Labor Party, whose policies have repeatedly been rejected by Prime Minister James Scullin, came to the aid of the Government to-day and the Government was sustained by two votes in the division on the United Party's non-confidence motion.

The division resulted in a Government victory by 34 votes to 32. The voting came only a day after the official entry into Parliament of the new United Party, a combination of all opposition groups under Hon. Joseph Lyons, who until last December was one of the Labor Prime Minister's chief lieutenants.

RESIDENCE OF ON LY SIX WEEKS REQUIRED FOR DIVORCE IN RENO

FEW CANADIANS

(By Frank Chamberlain.)

RENO, Nevada, May 8 (SNS).—Not more than ten Canadians secured divorces at Reno in 1929. The figures for 1930 are not yet available but E. H. Beemer, County Clerk of Washoe County, declared to-day that the number would not exceed 15.

I asked Judge Thomas F. Moran to describe the reason why a greater number of Canadians didn't take advantage of the simplicity of the divorce mills at Reno. He and Judge B. F. Curler are the chief dispensers of divorces at Reno. The famous Judge George A. Bartlett, before whom thousands of cases of marital conflict passed, was defeated in the last election and is again practising law.

"My position on the Bench does not permit me to discuss divorce matters." Judge Moran said. "You see, we try to maintain a high degree of dignity in these courts. But I know County Clerk Beemer will tell you all about it."

He didn't know why more Canadians didn't come to Reno. Maybe it was because they don't go in for as many divorces as they do in the United States, he thought. Anyway, securing a divorce in Reno was a simple procedure, he said, d escribing it.

How to Get a Divorce.

Any man or woman can come to the State o Nevada and sue for divorce. He or she need not come to Reno, Carson City, the capital of Nevada, is quite as legal. But people come to Reno because there is more life here.

Mrs. Jones, for instance, comes to Reno with a letter from her lawyer, introducing her to a resident lawyer here. Possibly her own lawyer has already communicated with a Reno lawyer and has laid before him the details of Mrs. Jones' case.

New state legislation, which comes into effect on May 1, 1931, states that instead of the former three months' residence in the State, necessary before divorce proceedings may be filed, residence need be only six weeks.

Mr. Beemer was quite frank in explaining why this change had taken place. Arkansas and Idaho had reduced their residence requirements to three months and had threatened to steal some of Reno's business in the divorce market. New Legislation was soon passed. Revenue from Divorce Court fees during 1930 amounted to more than $80,000, Mr. Beemer said. 'This year we expect to double that amount," he said.

To continue the procedure necessary to obtain divorce: Mrs. Jones explains to her lawyer her claim. Contrary to the courts of other states, Nevada does not go in for sensational d vorce trials. Courts are conducted in a most dignified manner. Evidence is produced to comply with the State Law—and nothing more.

Six Weeks' Residence.

Perhaps by this time Mr. Jones has appointed a lawyer in Reno to represent him when the case comes before the courts. If so, everything is in order until six weeks' residence has been completed. It is rather important that both sides of the case are represented in court, so that the divorce will be recognized in states throughout the Union.

Mr. Jones' lawyer in Reno acts for him by proxy. Mrs. Jones completes her complaint which is filed with the Clerk of the Nevada Court a day or two after her six weeks' residence. A copy of her complaint goes to Mr. Jones' lawyer. He files a reply.

Then the case is ready for trial. If the husband does not contest the case, it is termed "an uncontested case." Such cases are tried on Mondays and Tuesdays. On the other days of the week, cases which require sometimes months to wind up, are tried.

In cases which are uncontested, Mr. Beemer explained that it is not necessary to have the plaintiff's testimony corroborated. But a resident of Nevada must testify that the plaintiff has been resident in the State for a period of six weeks. Usually this is the hotel manager, where the plaintiff has been residing.

There are other details in cases which are more involved, but this will serve to describe the general basis of procedure.

The funny part about Reno is that many people come here to obtain a divorce, and in this little city where to-day there are between 1,000 and 2,000 people waiting for divorce, many find romance and a new partner in life to take the place of the one they seek to divorce.

Prominent Canadian Journalists Organize in British American Hotel in 1859.

PRESIDENCY USE.

KINGSTON, May 8.—(Special to The Examiner.)—The coming of the presidency of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association to Kingston, this year, recalls the historical fact that the Canadian Press Association, of which the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association i the successor, was formed in Kingston, in a room in the British American Hotel, in 1859. The group of prominent Canadian Journalists, who organized this association over eighty years ago, included Dr. Barker of the British Whig, W. Armstrong, of the Kingston Herald, and H. C. Grant, of The Kingston News. In 1870, E. J. B. Pense and James Shannon, both of the Kingston began to take a part in the affairs of the Canadian Press Association and both proved to be active and enthusiastic members. In 1878, Mr. Lewis Shannon was elected president and in 1881, E. J. B. Pense ollowed him in this high office. A long break was then made in the official connection of Kingston, with this organization until J. G. Elliott was elected president in 1916. And now this honor has again come to this city.

H. B. Muir has been a member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association for the past twenty years and during most of the past decade, has filled the onerous and important position of chairman of the Advertising Committee.

GERMAN FLOOD TAKES SIX LIVES

Police Remove Marooned Tenants From Housetops in Nuertinger—Factories Close.

RAINS IN TORRENTS.

STUTTGART, Germany, May 8 (A.P.)—A torrential downpour which flooded much of Southwest Germany was known to-day to have taken at least six lives and possibly more.

Four persons, including a little boy and girl, were drowned when a bridge collapsed near Hosbach, the flood carrying their bodies away. A laborer of Undertuerkheim and a youth of Feurerback were also drowned.

Police removed marooned tenants from house tops in Nuertingen, where schools and factories had to close. Streets were deluged and cellars filled in Frankfurt, and there was considerable damage here and at Karlsruhe where the Schalbach and Neckar River overflowed.

The rain continued for several hours, several inches falling in a short while. Streets, gulleys, and rivers were choked up with the water which swept many lighter structures before it.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO JOAN OF ARC

Ancient French City Remembers Occasion Celebrated Since 1435.

STREETS GAY WITH BUNTING

ORLEANS, France, May 8 (C.P.).—This ancient city, scene of Joan of Arc's first military success, and from which she took her title of "Maid of Orleans," to-day did signal honor to the memory of its savior as it has done ever since 1435. The descendants of those citizens whom she rescued from the besieging British had their houses adorned with the national tricolor and the standard of the city, embroidered with the Fleurs de Lis that Joan carried on her banners. Bunting fluttered along the principal streets, interspersed with medallions bearing the city's coat of arms. The house where Joan is supposed to have lived during the siege of 1429 was opened to visitors, all its rooms banked with flowers.

Orleans was determined to make its celebration of particular distinction. Solemn high mass, with the attendance of the Archbishop, Mgr. Courcoux, was sung in the Cathedral, one of the most beautiful in all France. Services also were held in St. Joan's own commemorative church, built only 36 years ago.

To-morrow, the actual anniversary of the deliverance of Orleans in 1429, will see a procession in which all elements of the community's life will be represented and a torchlight parade in the evening. Religious organizations will lay wreaths on the tomb of the late Cardinal Touchet, former archbishop, who aided in obtaining the Maid's canonization from Rome a few years ago.

First aid to Loveliness

HANDS that are busy all day with dishpans and typewriters and golf clubs can be kept lovely as any idler's by massaging with "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly and wearing old cotton or silk gloves overnight. Even one such treatment shows results.

Eyes, like mirrors, are strictly useful always, but only ornamental when beautifully framed. A little "Vaseline" Jelly applied to the eyelashes every night encourages growth. A little applied to eyebrows with a small brush will keep them shapely and smooth. Do try it.

Skin! What crimes we commit against it every day! Exposing it alternately to heat and cold, to dryness and to water. Let "Vaseline" Jelly help keep it fine and smooth. Apply it liberally to soothe all irritations such as windburn, chapping, sunburn, minor cuts, scratches, etc. Helps prevent scars or scaliness. This is such a simple way to give your beauty first aid, and so safe, too, that you should always have a supply of "Vaseline" Jelly handy. Get a jar today.

Mrs. Dwelly had been in poor health for three years, but not seriously ill until October last. She was 38 years old, and a former pupil of Givins Street School. There was a private service at the house for the members of the family, conducted by Rev. Burgess Browne, and a public service at St. Barnabas' Church, where the officiating clergy were Ven. Archdeacon Warren, representing Bishop Sweeny; Rev. A. B. Browne of St. James's Cathedral, and Rev. Burgess Browne. At the grave Rev. Other Canadian universities make a practice of exchanging a brilliant student with a foreign university each year, but this is the first time that Queen's has fallen in line, and Miss Bamforth has the honor of being chosen to go to Germany next year to represent the Kingston university. She will sail in September. The German universities open about the middle of October and the one to which Miss Bamforth will go has not yet been designated. Members of the family and friends who were in Kingston for the exercises, included two sons, Dr. Frank Bamforth of the Ohio State University, and Mr. Harvard Bamforth of London, Ont.; also Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jeffrey and Miss Audrey Kent of Port Perry, and Mrs. Adolph Nagler of New York, who returned to the city with the Rev. and Mrs. Bamforth and their daughter

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

How often have you heard someone in Peterborough say: "I wish I had a million dollars?"

• • • • • • •

You may have heard it quite often and yet again perhaps you have never heard anyone express that wish.

• • • • • • •

But just as those who haven't a million dollars wish for that sum of money, so many a millionaire has wished at times that he had not the responsibilities that accompany wealth.

• • • • • • •

The persons who wish they had millions are not thinking of the responsibilities but of the power to do what they would like to without thought of the cost.

• • • • • • •

It is an inexorable truth, however, that power and responsibility are always linked together.

• • • • • • •

It is well, therefore, for those of us who are not millionaires to give a passing thought to this truth when we wish we had a million dollars.

• • • • • • •

It helps us to be satisfied with our lot when we appreciate that it is not without its own peculiar blessings. The worries of money were carried to the extreme by the originator of the expression, "blessed be nothing."

• • • • • • •

It was in a moment of great responsibility when the riches were more of a perplexity than a pleasure that such a wish could have been spoken in sincerity.

• • • • • • •

For persons crave responsibility, yet no normal adult is entirely free from them. The more we have the more responsibilities there are to shoulder.

• • • • • • •

Few persons with money suddenly thrust upon them can assume the responsibilities of millionaires without running the risk of being reduced to moderate means within a surprisingly short time.

• • • • • • •

Of course we think we could shift the responsibilities to the shoulders of another person, but that other person would have to consult us at times and would refuse to take all the responsibilities without our knowing about investments and consenting to his actions.

• • • • • • •

Because the wish to have a million dollars is often accompanied by a certain amount of dissatisfaction with our lot a keen look at what it would involve is worthwhile.

• • • • • • •

It is accompanied by a purpose to earn and acquire sufficient money to fulfill our wishes, it is a stimulant. If it means merely a wish for pleasure it is nothing but a merry gesture!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

RESURGENT TIDES

How sweet, when life pours its resurgent tide
Into a heart whence hope had almost fled,
And on that flood bears joys too long denied
And whisperings of promise that had sped!
For such a heart its lessons well has learned,
Humility and patience linger there,
The simple pleasures which it once had spurned
It values rightfully, as rich and rare

The wide world through, there is no great or small,
The beggar's palace is the prince's cot;
But waxing strength with grace invests them all
And finds new charm in each familiar spot
How sweet, when tides of life rush back once more,
And bring each pleasure, dearer than before

Queen Rambhai Barni Buys Clothes In N. Y.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8—Queen Rambhai Barni of Siam now has 55 new pairs of gloves, 78 pairs of stockings, and 13 pairs of shoes purchased during her shopping trip on Fifth Avenue recently.

Her Majesty's bill in one store was $928.

The new gloves are: 42 pairs of four-button slip-ons, in black, rose beige, eggshell, and tan; six pairs of twelve-button pink suede; six pairs of sixteen-button ivory suede; one pair of sixteen button pink suede. The prices ranged from $5.50 to $10 a pair.

The stockings are all 100-gage chiffon, size 8, and most of them are black. They cost from $4.50 to $7.50 a pair.

The highest price Her Majesty paid for shoes was $27.50 for a pair of custom-made black alligator opera pumps. The others ranged downward to $15 a pair. She bought three pairs of the same model, one in black dull kid, one in brown suede, and one in black suede.

The Queen of Siam needs lots of clothes of many kinds, it would seem from a description of her activities by Raymond B. Stevens, adviser on foreign affairs to the Siamese government.

"She presides over an electric-lighted, electric-refrigerated household," he said. "One day, clad in modern sport garb, she may be speeding down the River Menam on her husband's new boat. The next day, seated in ceremonial robes on a gilded throne on a carved oaken barge, she may be propelled up the same river by a score of silver paddles in a formal religious ceremony."

C.G.E. Refrigerators Are In Great Demand

April, which marked the manufacture of the millionth General Electric refrigerator, broke all-time records for General Electric refrigerator sales. 1,400 carloads, 40 complete train-loads, 18 miles of freight cars, were required to take care of the orders. It was the biggest month in all General Electric history.

In hundreds of thousands of homes the General Electric refrigerator has performed faultlessly— economically —without care, attention or service expense on the part of any user. The secret of this remarkable record is found in the Monitor Top which contains all the mechanism—permanently oiled—and hermetically sealed against air, dirt and moisture.

This Monitor Top makes possible the three year guarantee on the General Electric Refrigerator — a warranty which guards the user against any upkeep expense for three full years.

The Watson Tire and Radio Supply Co., local dealers for the General Electric refrigerators report that their refrigerator business showed an increase of 370 p.c. over April of last year.

COMMUNIST RIOTS IN CANADA ARE BEING USED AS PROPAGANDA

Official Organ Being Sold in Seattle Says "Canadians Can Fight."

DREISER RIDICULES.

By Frank Chamberlain.

SEATTLE, Washington, May 8.—"All about the Communist riots in Toronto, Sudbury, Winnipeg and Vancouver!" a one-legged newsie, squatted on a corner of "Bum's Alley" here, was shrieking at the top of his voice to-day as the writer passed by.

He was selling "The Daily Worker," official organ of the Communist party of America.

"It won't be long now," he went on with his bally-hoo, "The King of Spain is kicked off his throne! Germany is going communistic next; It won't be long now! Just wait until the soup kitchens close down! Look what Canada is doing. Riots all over the country. The workers there know how to fight. Buy a 'Worker' and get wise to yourself."

He admitted to me that he was a paid representative of the Communist party. He was paid to agitate among the unemployed groups of Seattle.

"How do you get away with the stuff you yell?" he was asked.

"Oh, I've been pinched for it. Don't worry. But I'll be here for a long time yet.

The news-stand behind him offered for sale copies of the Moscow news, official organ of the Soviet Congress published as propaganda for the English-speaking people resident in or travelling through the Soviet Union. It is an eight-sheet journal, and carries despatched from many countries.

Feature story in the issue of March 28 tells how Henry Wales, Paris correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, whose stories on Russia have been appearing in papers all over the country, visited the lumber camps of Russia, and declared that he could find nothing that could by any interpretation be called "forced labor".

The Moscow News states that President Cooper of the Russian-American Chamber of Commerce in New York has sent a circular to 3,000 representative business men, advertising several summer trips by American business men to the Soviet Union.

Considerable space is given to the Soviet Union's war on illiteracy. "Seventeen and a half million people must be taught to read in 1931," the article reads. It tells of the organization called "Down With Illiteracy" which has four million members. It challenges the Young Communist League to carry out their promise to provide 250,000 "culture fighters" to spread knowledge throughout the Union.

There is a feature article written by Theodore Dreiser, in which Dreiser ridicules present-day life in the United States.

The paper sells for ten kopeks in Russia, or five cents in American money. Police do not obstruct its sale in Seattle.

Motor Regulations For England's Roads

Government Hopes Code of Conduct Will Lessen Accident Fatalities.

LONDON, May 8 (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Maxims for motorists and for all users of the highway are contianed in the Code just issued on the authority of the Minister of Transport. It is an old assertion that you cannot make people good by Acts of Parliament. Seemingly the Ministry of Transport is fully persuaded of the truth of this. "It is hoped that the Code of conduct now issued may come to be universally respected and obeyed," says the Minister in his Foreword. Failure to observe any provision of the Code does not of itself make an offence, but in civil or Criminal proceedings such a failure may be relied upon to establish or to negative any liability which is in question.

Some of the injunctions set forth in the Code could be well applied to conduct in other matters than road usage. "Always be careful and considerate toward others," is an admirable precept. "Bear in mind the difficulties of others, and try not to add to them," is equally commendable. "Always walk on the footpath where one is provided," is perhaps less of a mere platitude for pedestrians, considering the notorious vagaries of the jay-walker.

Motorists are reminded by the Code that no vehicle has a "right of way" at cross-roads, but it is the duty of a driver on a minor road when approaching a major road to go dead slow, and to give way to traffic on it. Those who are not motorists will give a double need of approval to the Ministry of Transport for its reminder to motorists that "your horn is intended to be used as a warning and an indication; it should not be used as a threat."

Pedal cyclists are urged not to ride more than two abreast and not to "wobble about the road." Pedestrians are enjoined before crossing a road to "look right and left and satisfy yourself that it is safe to cross."

It will be gathered from the foregoing that the Highway Code perhaps furnishes the road user with little that he ought not already to appreciate. As mentioned in a previous despatch there are already indications that an increasing number of motorists are showing an increasing sense of their responsibilities.

UNKNOWN HERO OF VIMY RIDGE IDENTIFIED BY HIS SIGNET RING

Faint Clue Finally Traced to Vancouver After 14 Years.

TO BE RE-BURIED.

VANCOUVER, May 8 (SNS).—Because of tarnished initials and faint markings on a gold signet ring purchased in Vancouver, one of the bodies of three unknown soldiers, buried in Vimy Ridge has been identified.

The body of Private John Buchanan Wilson, proud member of the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders, and late son of Mr Jane Wilson of Oshawa will be re-buried and his grave suitably marked, in a French military cemetery.

Fourteen years ago Pte. Wilson left Vancouver for overseas. That was the last time Mrs. George Martin of that city saw the ring she had given her nephew a few years before. Now the ring has been returned to Mrs. Martin, dimmed and worn after having been buried for fourteen years with the young soldier who won the military medal and died heroically on Vimy Ridge.

The story of the part the ring played is best told in a letter received by Mrs. Wilson from the following particulars from the record office at Ottawa:

"From one of the bodies, the enclosed signet ring was recovered. The ring was carefully examined and was found to bear the initials J. B. W., and to have emanated from Messrs. Birks & Sons, Canadian jewellers. On the inside of the ring, faint scratchings were discovered which led to the belief that it was issued by the Vancouver branch of the firm. In reply to an enquiry addressed to that branch it was ascertained that the ring appeared on records as being in stock in 1907 and was apparently a cash sale.

"According to records, John Buchanan Wilson, prior to his enlistment in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, resided in Vancouver, and it is believed quite possible that the remains upon which this ring was found, is the body of your late son."

Won Military Medal.

John Wilson was a runner on that fateful day in 1917. Lt.-Col. J. A. Clark, battalion commander, in forwarding news of his death acclaimed him as one of the bravest men who ever left Canada, his deeds bringing him the military medal. His friend, Pte. H. R. Craik, writing to Mrs. Wilson after her son's death, gives a graphic account of the events, and detailed the location of Pte. Wilson's grave.

"They had taken him away from the line to a safe distance from shell-fire, and the grave is in a nice little green spot at the foot of the Ridge," he wrote. "You will find the location near the Vimy-Givenchy road."

Taxi-Dancer Slayer Is Still At Large

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8 (C.P.)—Francis Crowley, hunted for the killing of a "taxi-dancer" and a patrolman, still had eluded the hundreds of police and troopers searching for him in New York and nearby states yesterday.

Thirty-six hours after Patrolman Frederick Hirsch had been shot down in "black shirt lane," North Merrick, L.I., police admitted they had made little progress in their search. Nor were they certain what had happened to Helen Walsh, 16, a companion in the last shooting attributed to Crowley. He has been missing since the killing, and police said they had no information whether she was dead or alive.

TROUT AND BASS SHIPPED NORTH

Will be Deposited in Various Lakes Throughout Haliburton.

PRESBYTERY MEETS.

LINDSAY, May 8.—(Examiner Correspondence)—On Monday a large shipment of trout and bass fry arrived in Lindsay and was shipped via C.N.R. for Haliburton to be deposited in the northern lakes. The bass fry will be placed in the lake at Donald, which, it is understood will be used as a breeding centre.

The heavy rainfall on Saturday afternoon proved of great help to the fire-fighters who were fighting a serious blaze in the slash timber at the limits of the Carew Lumber Co., of Lindsay at Guilford, Haliburton County. The blaze was prevented from spreading to the limits proper.

It was reported to-day that the local distillery, which has been operated by the Lindsay Distillers, Limited, and which went into liquidation, would shortly resume operations under new management. It is believed that the Gooderham & Worts interests have acquired the plant, and that application has been made to the Department of Inland Revenue for the necessary license. Although the distillery has been in the hands of the liquidators, bottling operations have been carried on.

A prominent pulpwood jobber from Haliburton, who was in Lindsay today, did not paint the future of the industry in a very rosy hue. There were acres of pulpwood, he declared, pile along both the C.N.R. and the I.B. & O. Railways in the north, but none of it was moving. Pulpwood cutting gave employment to a large number of men, and many of them are at present unemployed. Lumbering and pulpwood are the chief industries of the north, he declares, and unless there is an early revival of business, conditions in the north are bound to become more serious.

Presbytery Meets.

At a meeting of the Lindsay Presbytery of the United Church held in Fenelon Falls on Tuesday, it was reported that seven ministers of different denominations had made application for ministry in the United Church. Melville E. Fisher of Woodville, will be presented to the conference in Belleville on June 3rd for reception into the ministry.

The Religious Education Committee brought in a resolution dealing with the liquor traffic which urged the presentation of scientific facts relative to the use of alcohol from the pupit, in the Sunday School and at the Young People's Society meetings. The Evangelism Social Service Committee recommended the Federal legislation which refused clearance papers to vessels shipping liquor to the United States. The Presbytery went on record in favor of the retention of the law. Permits favoring mission field representation at General Council, election of women as members of the Session as well as the compilation of a Book of Orders by the General Council received the unanimous support of the Presbytery.

Although there are salary increases due certain members of the teaching staff in the local schools, the Board of Education demand on the town treasury will be $900.00 lower this year than it was in 1930. The school estimates will be presented to the council at its first meeting in June when the rate will be increased. It is anticipated that there will be an increase in the rate this year.

WHITE RAT BREEDING

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 8 (By The Canadian Press)—For those interested in white rats a bit of information of extraordinary importance comes from the Department of Agriculture. The Department finds that one good pair of white rats may have more than 9,300 descendants and that there is no fear of deterioration by inbreeding. The Department keeps the life history of its rats and discovers many entertaining facts by surreptitiously abstracting vitamins A, B, G and D, from their diets. When the Department cuts them off from Vitamin B, the rats lose appetite, weight and develop polyneuritis which corresponds to the human disorder Peri-Beri.

Russia and Britain lead in Europe in the total seating capacity of motion picture theatres, each having 2,200,000 seats.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS WRITTEN FROM REV. AND MRS. W. G. DAVIS

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Representing St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

IN MANCHURIA.

Taonan, Manchuria, China,
December 16, 1930.

At last we are at our destination and far enough progressed in getting settled to begin a letter to you. What it must mean for Mrs. Goforth to have her eyesight back again. I am sure this will mean much for the blessing and advancement of their work in Manchuria.

We made rapid progress through Japan. It was so good to have the fellowship and help of our own Mission people in Kobe. Everyone was most kind and we even got in a visit to the friends of the Japan evangelistic band, though we were in Kobe only a little over 24 hours.

We struck quite a bit of storm after we left the last port in Japan, as we were rounding the coast of Korea and found it safer to lie low in our berths, when flower pots were smashing in the dining room and food was dancing about the tables and floor, and trunks and suit cases were skating about our cabins. None of us were sea-sick.

At Mukden, the capital city of Manchuria, we spent two nights and a day. We were met at the station by a friend, Mr. Koffend, of our Mission and also by Rev. Wm. R. Stewart, of the Y.M.C.A., who, with his wife, most graciously entertained us while in Mukden. By a very happy providence these people were our nearest missionary neighbors in Wuchang Central China, seven years ago.

Mr. Koffend took us on to Szepingkai, where a very warm welcome awaited us from both the missionaries and the Chinese workers and Christians. I went on alone to Taonan that first week and had the great privilege of attending and participating in a convention of the Chinese workers and Christians of the district. I then returned to Szepingkai and moved the family up to Taonan bag and baggage. A call came to visit two of our Mission outposts on the northwest. At the farthest of these places, I had the great pleasure of assisting a Chinese Pastor in the baptism of ten adult candidates, among them an ex-Boxer (see again what God has wrought!) with the most radiant Chinese face I have ever seen. His fine young son was baptized at the same time. The father said the son was a better Christian than himself, referring to his own dark record as a Boxer and a Boxer leader. Another man was finally baptized, who was put off the last time and almost put off this time, in the judgment of the Chinese workers, because his wife was such an ardent dolater as to put up the Kitchen Gods after the husband had taken them down in connection with his conversion. I am certain the women of St. Paul's will pray earnestly for the conversion of this woman and that all will pray for this man that he may be kept true, by the power of God, to his baptismal vows.

We expect to have a very hearty time with our Chinese fellow-Christians during the Christmas season in our snug little home here of brick floors, mud walls and roof of coarse matting and earth. It is the little Japanese heaters, with enough coal, the latter is expensive, that make us so cozy. Some of our windows are of paper, some of glass. The latter sometimes are thicker with frost than the glass itself. It is bitterly cold outside. We have indeed been thankful for all the warm clothing and bedding we were able to bring along. Still we are having to get more, and many other things about the house, and we are thankful for the way the money holds out. Just yesterday we received from Dr. Grant our allowances for November and December.

We take daily preaching in our busy street-chapel. The first day I preached there, a man spoke up from the congregation and asked me where I had previously preached in China. I told him in Wuchang, Central China and it transpired that he had lived and worked in that city and recognized my speech as from those parts. Since being here, I have much enjoyed leading a special course of Bible study with the preachers and inquirers in the Epistle to the Phillippians.

Taonan, Manchuria, China,
Jan. 17, 1931.

In a letter under this date Mr. Davis reports that about the time of their arrival on the field some of the members of the field council requested that he should act as secretary-treasurer of that organization. The matter was referred to Dr. Grant, in Toronto, who cabled back that the board desired that Mr. Davis should be free for executive work, and, therefore, should not undertake clerical work. Mr. Davis appreciated the confidence the missionaries on the field showed in him when they asked him to accept this important position. In this letter Mr. Davis mentions as subjects for prayer:

(1) Mr. Tsen who is doing difficult pioneer work in the country;

(2) Two Bible school students and three Government High school students who are preaching during their vacations;

(3) Blessing upon the Christians in their givings to support their own churches;

(4) The conversion of a nucleus of believers among the Mongols and the opening up of definite work in this great land so near Manchuria.

Feb. 18, 1931.

In this letter Mr. Davis tells of a soldier in desperate need of money. This man tried to pawn a bed sheet in a pawn shop. The pawn shop clerks spurned it because of its small value. He asked them what kind of things they would take. They told him anything but bed sheets. He asked them if they would take a human being. They replied yes, if he could get one. Continuing, Mr. Davis says, "Now just bear in mind that in this frozen northland it is very difficult at best to make a proper grave and burial in the winter time, but a poor pauper had just died and had been very cheaply and poorly buried outside the city gates. So cheaply was the job done, with no one to pay for it, that the fierce dogs of the neighborhood had found and feasted on the body before it was frozen. Then our desperate soldier came along and dragged the remnants of the corpse out of its flimsy grave and wrapped them in his once-spurned sheet. Returning to the pawn shop, the soldier calmly entered with the sheet and its contents. When these contents were suddenly revealed to the astonished gaze of the clerks, they all stampeded from the sight in terror and the soldier helped himself to the hundreds of dollars easily accessible in the money cabinets and walked off. However, armed guards heard the scuffle of the stampede, appeared in time and he was caught and carried off to jail.

"Amongst all the soldiers we have had to do with in Central China, we never heard of anything like this. On the whole, the soldiers here are clean, orderly, well-disciplined and well-behaved, compared with so many we saw and had to do with in Central China three and four years ago. Such things as this occur through the desperate drive for money to pay debts this last half of the last moon of the old-fashioned Chinese year. Soon the mad round of debt collecting will have ceased and everyone will be dressed in their best, calling on their friends. How these people need to know of the great Settlement of Accounts made by Jesus on the Cross of Calvary for them. Pray for China in her poverty, desperation and crime as depicted by this gruesome deed."

March 25, 1931.

In a letter received under this date Mr. Davis reports that they have been successful in obtaining quarters for a new chapel, at Pai Cheng Tsi. This is a strategic point in the Taonan district because it is the junction point for the new Chinese railway which is being developed from there to Solun Shan. Repeated futile attempts had been made before to get located at this point. It was Dr. Goforth's parting commission a year ago to the workers in this district to open Pai Cheng Tsi.

Mr. Davis also gives an interesting account of the visit to the Mongolian Temple at Ke Ken Miao. In part, he writes, "The soldiers found for us amongst their men one who could speak Mongolian, who went for us to the Lamas in charge of the temples and arranged for us to see through the temples. I wish I could describe to you the death and darkness that reigns in these temples. The highest object of worship in the Ke Ken Temple is the withered corpse of the first incarnation of the Lama named Ke Ken. The priest, who is said to be the present incarnation of Ke Ken, was away at the time of our visit or we might have been able to see him. But worse than deified death is deified obscenity, as depicted in some of their bronze images, such as I could not describe in a letter like this. What a pall of sin, darkness and death this awful system casts over these sad lands of Mongolia and Tibet. The hundreds of Lamas in these temples are brother creatures for whom Christ died. One of the leading Lamas of the Ke Ken temple came out specially to greet us. He was pathetically kind and courteous. A few like him look as though they had spiritual capacity. Most of them seem quite dead and inert, although they still live. Some look utterly degraded, spiritually and morally. What a challenge it all is to our faith and love and hard work in the name of the Master. Praise God, since getting back, we have had an offer from quite another direction of an earnest Chinese Christian, who can speak the Mongol language, to help us in this work.

"A group of white Russian motorists have offered to take us to Solun Shan, April 6. These Russian motorists are exiles from the land they and their fathers previously served. They welcomes us as brothers when we called on them in their primitive Lama quarters, and insisted on our moving over from the squalid Chinese inn and accepting their exceedingly warm-hearted hospitality during our stay in the place, and then brought us right home to Taonan in their best bus, driven by their best chauffeur. This was one of their periodic trips to Taonan for gasoline. They offered on their next trip to take us on to Solun Shan if we wanted to go. It is right out amongst the Mongols and at another strategic position, the terminus of the railway line at present being built. How my heart yearns for these white Russians that they may come to know the comfort of the Lord and His Salvation. I know you will all pray for them. They speak no English and some of them very little Chinese. Hence there are difficulties of human speech, but God can speak where man cannot."

ROMANTIC OPERA PLAYED TO-NIGHT

Martha Will Be Presented To-night in the Grand Opera House.

BY ST. PAUL'S CHOIR

Arrangements are completed for the presentation to-night at the Grand Opera House of the comic, romantic opera in four acts: "Martha," or "The Fair at Richmond," which is to be produced under the auspices of the Men's Association and choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O. is conducting and Mrs. John Foster is director of the orchestra which will play. The cast will include nearly seventy people and costumes are from Toronto.

The music of "Martha" is well known and is of that romantic, melodious type that is always liked. "The Last Rose of Summer" is the premier solo of the presentation, with Moore's lovely verses set to an old Irish tune.

The cast includes Mrs. Bruce Munro, as Lady Harriet Durham, maid of honor to Queen Anne; Miss Jessie Pattison, as Nancy, her friend; Harold Coulson, as Sir Tristan Mickleford, Lady Harriet's cousin; William H. Grieves, as Lionel; George Coleman, Junior, as Plunkett, a wealthy farmer, and George East, as the Sheriff of Richmond. There is a chorus of ladies, servants, farmers, hunters and huntresses and pages. The scene is laid, at first, in the castle of Lady Harriet, then in Richmond and environs, during the reign of Queen Anne. The story is a serio-comic affair of romantic type, revolving about the love affairs of Lady Harriet and Lionel, and of Nancy and Plunkett.

A large attendance is anticipated, also a fine production of this famous opera.

ROYALTY PLANNING TO PAY VISIT TO PERFORMANCE AT PALLADIUM

Greatest Performers of Stage Take Part in Music Hall Charity.

NEWCOMERS APPEAR.

LONDON, May 8.—(By Thos. T. Champion, Staff Correspondent.)—The King and Queen have arranged to pay their annual visit to the music hall next Monday, and thereby bestow their patronage in person a a special effort to assist the variety artists' benevolent fund. For many years now it has been the gracious custom of their Majesties to thus assist one of the great charities connected with the music-hall. Every "star" of the present, and most of the preceding generation, have in this way had the privilege of appearing before the King and Queen.

It is possible however, that the King, in view of his recent indisposition, will not undertake an evening engagement in the present uncertain weather. In this event the Queen will be accompanied by one or more of her sons, although the Prince of Wales cannot be expected to attend because he will have other engagements. The court returns to London from Windsor to-morrow.

Difficult Selection.

The selection of the program for the special performance to be attended by Royalty naturally is a matter of some delicacy and it goes without saying that n years gone by some of the greatest performers on the stage have endured agonies of apprehension as to whether or no they would figure in the coming performance. The old-timers have by now pretty well all appeared at the annual royal perforance. For the show on Monday there is a goodly sprinkling of artists who have more or less come into prominence only recently.

The names of Miss Marie Burke, who will open the performance by singing the National Anthem; Miss Gracie Fields, comedienne, and Alexander and Mose (James Carew and Billie Bennet) are widely known. Besides these performers the program will include a troup of Chinese acrobats, a xylophonist, a ventriloquist, a Hungarian band and a number of daninee acts, The performance will take place at the Palladium, a different music-hall being honored each year.

BIRTH CONTROL TO BE DISCUSSED

Tories at Conference Will Be Asked to Approve Information Policy.

LOTTERIES TO COME UP.

LONDON, May 8.—(CP)—The conservatives will be asked to approve the Labor Minister of Health's policy on birth control information, when they meet in their national conference next week.

The Labor Government's policy now is to permit the dissemination of birth control information at public welfare centres, to certain classes of married persons who can show that they are entitled to it for medical reasons.

When the Labor Government was in power in 1924 the health minister refused to permit the giving of birth control information but the present administration has withdrawn this ban.

Another resolution going before the Conservative convention will recommend legalizing lotteries for charitable purposes—such as the Great Irish Free State hospitals sweepstake.

Countess Iveagh will preside over the two thousand delegates who will include Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, wife of the Parliamentary leader. Mr. Baldwin will address a mass meeting.

Earnings of the Chinese government railways last year were $22,880,000, an increase of $220,000 over 1929.

Anniversary Bridge Yields Chapter $143

At the regular meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., held at the home of Miss Olga Johnston, Monaghan Road, a very comprehensive and interesting report of the sessions of the recent Provincial I.O.D.E. meeting in Hamilton was given by the regent, Mrs. F. Hooper.

The report of the recent anniversary bridge party in the Empress Hotel was given, showing a total of $143.75 as the net proceeds, after all expenses were paid.

It was decided, on request of the school at Hall's Bridge for a flag, to present this on Empire Day, May 23rd.

The Chapter will sponsor a dance at Chemong Park pavilion, and arrangements for the annual picnic were also made, to be held at the summer home of Mrs. W. Belleghem, at Chemong Park.

A rummage sale under the Chapter's auspices will be held in the near future.

There was a large attendance of members at the meeting, which was presided over by the regent, Mrs. F. Hooper. At the close of the business session, dainty refreshments were served.

Several Suggestions To Increase Breeding

TORONTO, Ont., May 8 (C.P.)—A suggestion that some Canadian-bred futurities should be established as a further encouragement for the breeding of Canadian stock, is one of the high spots of the annual statement to be delivered to-night at the Canadian Thoroughbred Breeders' Association meeting.

The statement, prepared by the president, Ryland H. New, Hamilton, says much has been accomplished by the newly-formed organization during its initial year.

He suggests that the annual yearling sale which proved such a great success last March should be continued; that the number of mares leased by members to farmers should be increased; more races be fashioned for Canadian-breds and for Canadian owned horses, and Federal and Provincial Governments be asked to lower taxation.

Lacrosse Practice Saturday Afternoon

A large number of lacrosse players were out for the practice last night, and a real good workout was held. The only drawback was that there was not enough sticks, and some of the players had to look on. The next practice is at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds, followed by a meeting after in the Manufacturers' Building.

fanyone around town has a lacrosse stick he would sell or lend, the coach would appreciate it if he would let him know direct or through The Examiner. Another good turnout is looked for to-mor-

Toronto Loses Third Game Of Skeeters Series

LEAFS SUBDUED BY THE CURVES OF F. J. NEKOLA

Former Holy Cross Star Holds O'Neillmen to Four Scattered Hits.

HARRISON FALLS UNDER

Errors By Richardson and Silver Aid Skeeters Cop Off Victory.

TORONTO, May 8. — Francis J. Nekola, a graduate of Holy Cross College, repaid the Maple Leafs yesterday for the way they used him in the opening game at Jersey City on April 15. It will be remembered perhaps, that on the first occasion when Mr. Nekola faced the O'Neillmen they sent him to the showers with undue haste, under a deluge of base hits. He lasted less than two innings, and when he departed the ball game was pretty well wrecked as far as the Skeeters were concerned.

But yesterday was another day. It was Mr. Nekola's day. He stood out there on the mound, and how he must have chuckled as he mowed down the Leafs one after the other in monotonous rotation. They got four hits off him over the nine-inning stretch, and two of those hits were made by fellow-members of Mr. Nekola's union. The final score was: Jersey City 3, Toronto 1. And, just by way of giving the Skeeter portsider due credit for his effectiveness, it might be as well to mention that the lone Toronto tally was a gift.

Nekola's display was even better than that which Johnny Allen inflicted on the locals last Tuesday. From the third inning on until two were out in the ninth, not a safe hit breezed off a Toronto bat. In each of the first three innings the Leafs got one hit, and the fourth and final blow was delivered by "Curly" Ogden in the ninth. Ogden and Nick Harrison, Toronto's starting pitcher, supplied 50 per cent. of the Leafs' bingles.

Leafs' Errors Aid Skeeters.

Only one of the Skeeters' three runs was earned, errors by Richardson and Shiver figuring in two of them. The visitors collected nine hits off Harrison, who woked the first seven innings, before he retired in favor of a pinch-hitter. Harrison was good enough to win any ordinary game, but not against the brand of pitching supplied by the former Holy Cross southpaw. The Skeeters introduced two hits into each of the first and fourth innings to get their first two runs, and three successive singles rang off their bats in the sixth for their final counter.

"Curly" Ogden pitched the last two frames for the O'Neillmen, and only six men faced him. Joe Brown got a hit, his third of the day, after two were out in the ninth, but died stealing.

There were other features to the game besides Nekola's artistic hurling. In the sixth inning when the Leafs looked threatening, Clarke Pittenger was banished from the field by Umpire Irwin, who took exception to his protests regarding a decision at third base. Mr. Pittenger was in the wrong or so it seemed from the press box. He chased Ken Strong into the bag with the ball in his hand and when Strong slid in ahead of Pittenger's throw and was called safe, the shortstop was highly indignant.

Just previous to Pittenger's departure, Arthur Young, the fleet-footed centre fielder of the Jerseys, made a remarkable catch out by the score board. He sprinted a long way to get under "Chick" Shiver's bid for extra bases and then nonchalantly thrust up his gloved hand from behind his shoulder and pulled the flying leather down. Few catches as cleverly executed have been witnessed here in seasons, and Young deserved the applause that the fans accorded him.

Yesterday's Stars.

Earl Grace, Cubs — His long fly in the eleventh drove in Wilson with runs that beat Reds 5-4.

Oscar Melillo, Browns—Clouted Cleveland pitching for triple and three singles, scoring three runs and driving in one.

John (Pepper) Martin, Cardinals—Accounted for six runs against Pirates with home run double and two singles.

SPORTS by JIMMY THOMPSON

WHEN DETERMINATION WON

Once again the old saying "where there's a will there's a way" has been proven. This time it's in the case of Johnny Cuthbert. The famous marathoner from Guelph, Ontario, after winning his place on the British Empire team was almost deprived of the honor of competing. In the weeks subsequent to being chosen he developed a bad leg and informed the committee that he would probably be unable to run in the marathon. The committee in charge thereupon issued his track suit to a substitute. But on the day of the race Johnny turned up, minus a suit and as a result had to borrow one in order to compete. Though game all through he was unable to finish the race, but still determined, a few weeks later over the same course he ran a brilliant race to win over a classic field of both Canadian and American stars and established a course record into the bargain.

MANAGER DAN HOWLEY STILL SHY IMPORTANT PARTS FOR GOOD CLUB

Fielders Not Hitting Up to the Mark and Hurlers Are Ineffective.

EASTERN CLUBS OPEN.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton Jo., Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Cincinnati Reds, a team which has not even come near to hitting a winning stride this season, still appear shy a few important parts of a good ball club, despite Manager Dan Howley's efforts to build up something like a winner.

Howley made a few more changes yesterday, buying Harvey Hendrick, Brooklyn utility man, to plug the hole at first base, and releasing Chuck Dressen, but it appears that he has plenty of work ahead of him. Two Red outfielders, Wally Roettger and Cliff Heathcote are pounding the ball at .400 clip but no other player on the team is even near the .300 mark. The return of Ed Roush hasn't worked out, and Nick Cullop has not been hitting. Joe Stripp, a .300 hitter last year, has the best mark of the infielders at .268, while Chick Cucinnelo, who was expected to do some slugging, is barely above .200.

Pitching Ineffective

The Reds' pitching also has been ineffective. Si Johnson did seven good innings against the Cubs yesterday, only to weaken and Chicago hammered out five successive hits in the eighth to tie the score at 4—4. The Cubs pushed over another run off Ray Kolp in the eleventh to win, 5—4, for Cincinnati's 15th defeat in 17 games. Kolp won one of the two victories and Red Lucas, who has gone the route four times, took the other.

Providing a complete contrast, the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals won their seventh game in a row yesterday, combining good pitching and powerful hitting to beat Pittsburg 11 to 5. Jess Haines gave the Pirates only seven hits while the Cards got that many in the fourth inning, putting over five runs and then coming back after a shower to add four more in the fifth.

Browns Also Win

The St. Louis Browns, by far less successful than their townsmen so far, did about as well yesterday. They got started in the fifth inning and pounded four Cleveland pitchers for a total of 17 hits and a 10 to 4 victory. George Blaeholder yielded 13 blows but he kept them well scattered to turn in his first victory of the season.

Vic Sorrell of Detroit also recorded his first win of the year, holding the Chicago White Sox to nine hits as the Tigers won 6 to 1. Detroit collected four hits and as many runs off Al Thomas before he retired the second man in the opening inning.

The Eastern clubs of the American League had an open date as they began their first western trip of the year and New York and Boston in the National also were not scheduled. Brooklyn's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

TAX ASSESSMENT PROBE.

TORONTO, Ont., May 7 (C.P.)—Premier Henry intimated to-day the Ontario Government was considering the appointment of a special commission to make a study of the Provincial Assessment Act including the matter of income tax assessment and its relation to the municipalities. This was discussed at the recent session of the Legislature. Sir Thomas White, former Dominion Minister of Finance, may be asked to take th chairmanship of the commission.

CANDIDATE FOR KING'S PLATE

FREETHINKER AT THE WOODBINE

One of the most discussed candidates for the King's Plate is the Seagram stable's 4-year-old Freethinker, which made his first appearance of the season on the Woodbine track, Toronto, and attracted the attention of the rail birds. Freethinker appeared to be sound and in good racing condition. This colt was the favorite for last year's Plate race, but went wrong in training.

PETERBOROUGH IS 'ON THE PAN' BY ONTARIO SPORTS WRITERS

INT. BALL BLAMED

This city is certainly being "put on the pan' by sports writers throughout Central Ontario, because the Petes suddenly dropped out of Central Ontario baseball after being the first ones in.

The latest pieces of criticism on the situation here was taken from the Belleville Intelligencer of May the seventh's issue.

"Peterborough was the first club to enter with enthusiasm high, it was felt that the C.O.B.L. would be restored to the former standing. However subsequent events have had the officers in a quandary and Peterborough's withdrawal and Oshawa's application lends a brighter aspect to the situation. Although yesterday it looked as though the league was doomed, the announcement today will be received with interest by ball fans. In the meantime R. A. Elliott of Deloro, President of the O.B.A.A., will visit Peterborough in an effort to have the officials of that club reconsider their determination to quit senior ball. It is stated that the Petes have become discouraged over the attitude of manufacturers in the liftlock city who refuse to allow their employees half holidays to play ball. This looks like 'small potatoes' and Dame Rumour has it that the industrial heads merely wish to retain the services of the players for the plant team which are seeking to enter a local intermediate circuit."

There is no doubt that "Bob" Elliott has worked unceasingly to try to get the Central Ontario back on it's feet—I'll bet the Peterborough report of no senior baseball was received with no joy. It is too bad that things are in a muddle again—this time it appears to be the handwriting on the wall for the seniors.

The Peterborough sport writer can wel ask: What will the O.B.A.A think of Peterborough after all the big talk handed around at the convention of ball men in that city in April?

I am not on the inside of Peterborough baseball but it appears that unless someone pinch hits in Peterborough—that 'civic pride" will be just two ordinary words as far as the Lift Lock City is concerned in baseball.

Financial worries were not great with the Petes but factory managements—and other undercurrents such as Intermediate "A" ball were at work. Belleville sport promoters have had each of these to deal with at times. Figure it out for yourself—how would you like to be an executive with these conditions—the big men are not always as big as they profess to be.

I do wonder what all the prominent men who attended the baseball conclave at Peterborough, whom I am told left the city, which extended them a real welcome, with nothing but praise, thought when the report came out. A wonderful bit of publicity for Peterborough to a certain extent, spoilt.

BEARS COP OFF 7TH STRAIGHT

Make it Third Straight at Rochester by Beating Redbirds 7-2.

BISONS BLANK KEYS.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 8.—Newark's winning streak was stretched to seven games here yesterday afternoon as the Bears trimmed the Rochester Red Wings, league champions, 7 to 2. It was Rochester's sixth straight defeat, three of them since coming home. Joe Moore led the Newark attack with three safe hits. Windle drove home three tallies. Don Brennan allowed but eight hits to the losers.

BISONS BLANK KEYS

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 8.—Sensational pitching by Bill Gould, young right-hander, coupled with flawless support, enabled the Buffalo Bisons to take the Reading Keys over the jumps in the third game of the series yesterday afternoon, 3 to 0.

Gould restricted his foes to three widely separated singles and in seven of the nine innings only three enemy batsmen faced his baffling twisters. Russ Wrightstone hammered a homer with a man on base to feature the Bison batting attack, while Marvin Olson played an extraordinary game in the field, going into right field territory for two stabs that cut off potential hits. Olson also rammed two neat singles.

ROYALS HALT ORIOLES

MONTREAL, Que., May 8.—Big Marty Griffin pitched the Royals to their first victory of the series with Baltimore when he turned back the Birds 5 to 3 here yesterday afternoon in the third game of the series. Griffin allowed nine hits and all the scoring was made in the first inning when doubles by Tolson and Stroner and a single by Sand scored three runs after two were out. Gulley, with a double and a triple, led the Montreal seven-hit attack on four Oriole hurlers. Griffin also contributing a double. Gulley's triple in the fifth knocked in the winning run. Martin replaced Peploski yesterday at third base and played a smart game.

RAINVILLE OUSTS TORONTO RIVAL IN DAVIS TRIALS

Engage In Strenuous Encounter at Toronto Tennis Club.

RAIN SPOILS PLAY

TORONTO TENNIS CLUB, May 8.—Six aspirants for places on Canada's Davis Cup team, stepped out on the courts yesterday in the first of a three-day test, which the selection committee has arranged as a means of determinig the four best players, who will engage the United States netters in Montreal, May 21, 22 and 23. The En-tout-cas courts, which can be used 15 minutes after a rain storm made play possible despite the early-morning shower.

Three singles matches and one double were on yesterday's program with Marcel Rainville, Montreal, playing Walter Martin, in the opening singles; Dr. Jack Wright, Montreal, and Gilbert Nunns, Toronto, and Dr. Art Ham, Toronto, versus Charley Leslie, Montreal, following in that order in other singles events.

Only one doubles event was carded yesterday, bringing together Dr. Wright and Marcel Rainville, to oppose Gilbert Nunns and Walter Martin.

Marcel Rainville accounted for his husky Toronto rival in a long drawn-out struggle, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4, with both men serving up a spectacular brand of tennis. While Martin only won a single set, he gave a splendid account of himself, hitting the ball with terrific force. Rainville made many beautiful shots, angling volleys to the lanes for placements.

Both players had difficulty winning their services but they put all they had into their strokes. A shower of rain drove the contestants to the clubhouse when the fourth set was due to start, but they eventually braved the rain and played the entire set.

In the second set Martin led at one stage 5-2 but Rainville made a brilliant comeback, winning three games in a row and drawing on even terms. The effort proved too much for him physically and Martin eventually won 7-5.

The fourth and final set saw Rainville race into an early lead, having his opponent down 5-1, and playing sensationally. Martin braced up a little to take three games, making the count 5-4. Rainville then broke through Martin's service to win the set 6-4.

Kid Berg To Start On Comeback Trial

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 8.—(CP)—Jack (Kid) Berg hits the comeback trail against Tony Herrera tonight in Madison Square Garden's first fistic show in weeks.

Knocked out in three rounds by Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, in Chicago recently in the biggest upset of the season, Berg will start all over again against Herrera, a stiff right hand puncher from El Paso, Texas.

Despite his unexpected setback at Canzoneri's hands, Berg rules a 7 to 5 favorite over Herrera. The El Paso youngster has won two decisions and fought one draw in recent Garden engagements but does not figure to do more than extend the Whitechapel whirlwind.

Fillion of Trenton To Play in Maritimes

FREDERICTON, N.B., May 8 (C.P.) — A defence player named Fillon, from Trenton, Ont., will be one of the new men on the Fredericton hockey team's line-up next winter, according to J. B. Dickson, secretary of the club. Fillon, expected to arrive here shortly, will round out the defence with Harry Bartlett, now in Montreal, who has indicated willingness to return to Fredericton.

EAST CITY NINE WINS 5-2 COUNT IN SCHOOL LOOP

Williamson Holds Opponents to Four Hits and Retires Twelve on Strikeouts.

CLEVER FIELDING.

Losers Garner First Two Counters in First Frame—Victors Hit Field Hard.

Smart pitching, backed by snappy fielding, gave King George School a 5-2 victory over the King Edward team in a fast game played on the latter's grounds yesterday evening. It was the first setback for the south-end outfield since the schedule started, and an important game for the winners.

"Stew" Williamson pitched a nice game for King George, holding his opponents to four hits and retiring twelve by the strikeout route. He was master of the situation all the way through after the first inning, when the losers got their only two runs.

The victors hit Field, a southpaw, hard in the second, and aided by several errors by the infield, hung up four runs. They were never headed again, and they got one more in the fourth. Not only did they hit better, and have first class hurling, but the whole team played a good defensive game. The infield worked like a machine and the outfield, while not kept very busy, handled everything that came their way. Howland in the centre garden pulled off one of the nicest catches of the game in the sixth. Only two errors were chalked up against the team.

Infield is Shaky

Field pitched a fair game for King Edward. It would have been good enough to win over any other team, but the winners were "right" yesterday. His infield, while a little shaky the first while, were going good the last four innings. And the outfielders travelled plenty in covering their territory. The whole outfit tried hard but just couldn't catch up after that big second frame.

The teams:

King George—Hill, c.; Lipsett, 1b.; Williamson, p.; Burton, rf; Worboy, 2b; Anderson, ss; Loescher, lf.; Ellis, 3b; Howland, cf.

King Edward—Heal ss; Mowry, c, Hall, lf; Dunkley, 3b; Jobe, cf; Boyler rf and 2b; Todd, 1b; Field, p; Watson, 2b Fife, rf.

Umpire—F. H. Dearborn.

CASUAL COMMENT

So Oshawa is in the Central Ontario Baseball League. Well, it looks like Peterborough will be all through with that loop, if they don't get in this year. The league can operate fine with three teams in it, but it'll be tough on this town.

• • • • • • •

Still, what can you expect? Our only hope is that Bob Elliott will come here and get some of the real sport backers of this city to get busy and put a team in right now. It canbe done all right, if the right ones take hold of it, and Bob is the one to get things started.

• • • • • • •

The local manufacturers would co-operate if they were sure the strongest possible outfit would represent Peterborough, and if the right men were behind it. And with the material there is here for a strong C.O.B.L. team, there is no reason why we should be satisfied with intermediate baseball. We want the best.

• • • • • • •

Bob Elliott will be here one of these days to try and straighten the local situation up, and with the right co-operation all around, we may be hearing more about a senior team shortly.

• • • • • • •

There's a bunch of horses working out daily at the track down at the Exhibition Grounds, and some of them will be sent up to Lindsay to take part in the races there the 25th of this month.

• • • • • • •

One of them that is showing up well is that three-year-old colt of Richard Walsh of Hastings. It is managed by Doc Kain, an experienced handler, and it will be entered in the three-year-old trotting futurity in Toronto.

• • • • • • •

The same man owns Budd Winger, last year's winner of the pacing division of the Toronto futurity. And this horse looks like a winner again this summer.

• • • • • • •

Queen Alex meets Queen Mary, and Prince of Wales plays the Central outfit this evening, weather permitting, in two school fixtures.

• • • • • • •

King George School drew first blood yesterday over their old rivals when they slipped the a 5-2 licking. The teams are well matched, but the winners looked better yesterday. It was a tough loss or the South-enders, and on their own stamping ground, too.

• • • • • • •

"Stew" Williamson, on the mound for the East City crew, showed what he could do in a pinch. He struck out twelve, and held them to four scattered bingles, and was never even threatened after the first inning, when King Edward tallied twice.

• • • • • • •

The softball tournament being run off in Lindsay on May 23 and 25 ought to be good. Teams from Peterborough, Toronto, Whitby Cobourg, Oshawa, and Port Hope are expected to participate. Prizes valued at fifty bucks, thirty for the winner and twenty for the runner-up, will be given. It's in connection with the 106th Battalion Re-union.

• • • • • • •

Lindsay has a men's softball league composed of five teams. It's affiliated with the O.A.S.A. and will take part in the Provincial playdowns. The schedule begins next Tuesday.

• • • • • • •

The Girls' Softball League meeting is called for eight o'clock this Saturday night at Duffus'. Seven or eight teams will be represented, both local and out of town. Any other team seeking an entry should make application at this time.

• • • • • • •

What teams will open the schedule, when and where, will be one of the things to decide at this session. There will probably be another overflow crowd when the girls meet to-morrow night.

• • • • • • •

The lacrossers are holding a pow-wow down at the Ex. right after they work out to-morrow afternoon. If the weather's okay and there is a big turnout, the boys will elect a bunch of officers and see about getting things going in earnest.

FIGURES IN BILLIARDS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 8—If you think this game of billiards isn't full of responsibilities for a lifetime of attention, just read what Prof. Frank G. Dickinson of the University of Illinois, has figured out.

Prof. Dickinson, originator of the football rating system which bears his name, loves numbers, and billiards is full of them. For instance, there are possibilities for a mere 63,000,000,000,000 different shots. If one tried to make all of them he couldn't do it in working day and night, in 2,000,000 years. According to Prof. Dickinson's figures, there are 6,325 inches of usable surface on a championship table. If the table were lined off into one-eighth inch blocks and the balls were grouped in every possible combination, there would be more than 63,000,000,000,000 arrangements.

The professor says the problem may be considerably simplified by lining the table off into one-inch blocks, then it would leave only 343,000,000,000 combinations.

MAT FINALS TO BE STAGED TO-NIGHT

Wrestlers From Many Parts of Ontario Will Compete for Titles.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8. (C.P.) — Headed by the strong team from Guelph, wrestlers from many parts of Ontario, arrive here to-day in quest of a title at the Ontario wrestling championships which commence to-night at West End Y.M.C.A.

The Guelph grapplers apparently have designs on practically every title as a representative of the Royal City is entered in six of the seven classes.

Hamilton, St. Catharines and Kitchener will send delegations to swell the ranks of out-of-town entrants and indications point to the major portion of the championships being scattered throughout the Province ever though this city has one of the strongest squads in years seeking glory on the mat.

To-night the preliminary bouts will be held, with the finals to-morrow night.

SOCCER LEAGUE GAME SATURDAY

Brinton Meets Canadian General on Brinton Ground—Kick-off at Three O'clock.

Saturday's soccer bill is a league game between the Brinton Athletic and the Canadian General, on the Brinton ground. The kick-off is scheduled for three o'clock. Referee is J. C. Russel. It is the clubs that are responsible for the linesmen.

At present, the Carpet boys have a two point lead over the Electric squad, who lost to the champions of last sea on. In all probability they will have a few more changes in their line-up.

All players in this tussle are hereby notified to be at the pavilion no later than 2.30.

A very important function will take place at the interval and the fans will be interested in the result.

THE VAST MAJORITY DEMANDS GILLETTE

INTERNATIONAL STANDARD
of quality

JOIN the largest gallery in the finals and you watch a champion. The majority always chooses an outstanding player or a superior product. This is the reason for Gillette's overwhelming leadership—and its world-wide acceptance as the standard of razor blade quality. In the seasoned judgment of more than a hundred million men here and abroad

—Gillette is unequalled for shaving comfort and convenience. Every stroke with this blade is sleek and sweet—almost incredibly cool and pleasant. Double edges give you double service—100% greater value. For absolute assurance of uniform high quality and matchless shaving results the majority of men say "Gillette" when they buy razor blades.

(By Thornton W. Burgess.)

THE MYSTERIOUS FLASHES

In mystery none can deny
Doth fascination often lie.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

Flip the Terrier was out of breath. Yes, sir, he was out of breath. He was panting because of it. He was hot. His tongue hung from his mouth. And with it all he looked as if he were ashamed. Truth to tell, he was. He had started out so bravely to catch that long-legged Rabbit, and though he had run his fastest he had hardly made that Rabbit hurry. Anyway, that is the way it seemed.

Farmer Brown's Boy stoped and patted Flip. "Did you get the kinks out of your legs?" he inquired. "If I were you I wouldn't waste any more breath on that fellow. That was Antelope Jack and you can no more catch him than you can fly. He doesn't have those long legs for nothing, Flip. No, sir, he doesn't have them for nothing. I thought Jumper the Hare was pretty good when he was in a hurry, but he would be no match for this big cousin of his. Now, I wonder what that flash of white was off there in the distance?"

Farmer Brown's Boy shaded his eyes and looked long and intently in the direction Antelope Jack had taken. "There it is again!" he exclaimed.

It was so. Just beyond a big cactus there had been a sudden flash almost like light reflected from a mirror. It was repeated. Farmer Brown's Boy became more and more curious. He turned that way and with Flip at his heels moved slowly forward. He saw no more flashes and had almost begun to think that he might have been mistaken. Then foolish Flip, forgetting the lesson he should have learned from Antelope Jack, suddenly raced ahead as fast as his legs could take him, and from under a small bush Antelope Jack himself bounded away in high, long jumps that took him over the ground at surprising speed. All the time he had no appearance of hurrying; he seemed to be taking his time. Flip didn't run far after him. It was too hot. Besides he was tired.

Antelope Jack soon stopped. Perhaps he, too, thought it too hot to run. He stopped beneath a giant cactus. Almost at once Farmer Brown's Boy saw one of those mysterious flashes followed by another and then a third.

"Flip," said he, "I do believe that Antelope Jack has something to do with those mysterious flashes. Yes, sir, I do so. We'll go start him up again and see if there is more of that flashing."

So they made their way toward Antelope Jack and presently he took to his long heels again, but as Flip did not chase him and as Farmer Brown's Boy stood still he did not go far before sitting down in plain sight. As he did so he drew the skin of his sides and rump up, so that the dark area on his back became a narow brand, while the white extended up his sides onto his back. Then he released the muscles that controlled the skin and the white part was no longer drawn up. The effect of this sudden drawing up and releasing of the white part, with jolly bright, round Mr. Sun shining on it, was to make a white flash.

Farmer Brown's Boy saw it clearly. He remembered that Pronghorn the Antelope has the habit of flashing signals by the sudden spreading of a white area on each side of the tail. "I suppose," thought he, "that this is why this Jack Rabbit is called Antelope Jack. He flashes signals just as Pronghorn does. Perhaps they are not signals, but they look that way. Well, Flip, we've learned something this morning. You've learned that it is a waste of time to try to catch one of those fellows, and I have learned that a little observation soon puts an end to most mysteries, and how it happens that Antelope Jack comes by that name. His ears, which are long like a donkey's, are probably the reason he is called Jack Rabbit, and his habit of flashing a white signal is why he has been given the name of Antelope Jack. Hello, who is that up there?" He was staring up in the great cactus plant.

Warsaw

The new United Church Hymnary was used in the United Church on Sunday evening. The hymns chosen were "O, For a Thousand Tongues," a favorite with former Methodists; "Ye Righteous, in the Lord, Rejoice," a favorite with former Presbyterians, and "Jesus Shall Reign, Where'er the Sun," a former Congregational favorite.

One of the choir selections was from the hymnary "Come Home."

About fifty hymnaries were placed in the pews for the use of the congregation; many, however, had supplied themselves with books.

The new books were used in the Sunday School, and will hereafter be used by the W.M.S. and by the Women's Association.

COMMENTS.

The main street anvil chorus was drumming this morning on the city council's decision to pave the road that falls away from Armour's Hill to the Lift Lock.

"I figure that it will cost $8,000," said one ratepayer, "and surely they could have found some streets that needed paving more than that strip on the hill. Why not spend the money on the bus route on Romaine street. That would also be useful to factories in that section."

Other comments were along the same line of disagreement with the council's action.

BRITISH DELEGATE ATTACKS UNITED STATES DEBT POLICY

High Tariffs Prevent Payments of International Debts, Says Dr. W. H. Coates.

SHOULD CO-OPERATE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 8. (AP)—Despite an admonition by its retiring president, Georges Theumil, of Belgium, that delegates avoid political argument, the International Chamber of Commerce to-day heard another attack on United States tariff and war debt policies.

Dr W. H. Coates, British delegate, said Europe would "shut out" products of United States efficiency "if you will not take the products of our efficiency, whatever be their form, or whatever their nationality."

International debts, he added, could be paid only by the transfer of physical goods or services. Since high tariffs exclude goods "they prevent payment of international debts of all kinds," he held. "It is no answer to say there is no tariff on raw materials, if the debtor has few or no raw materials to sell," he said. "The war international debts are owed by industrial nations. To shut out their offered payments in manufactured goods is unreasonable and ironic."

Should Co-operate.

Coates' attack followed a plea by M. Theunis at the congress' banquet last night that the International Chamber avoid wrangling over political subjects and co-operate with governments in working out economic problems.

Noting previous denunciations of United States war debt and tariff policies by Dr. Carl Bergmann, former German secretary of state for finance, and Henry-Bell, British banker, M. Theunis counseled patience and added:

"We are business men and do not, as the international chamber, occupy ourselves with political questions. That is not our job.

"What we are seeking to do is to be helpful to those who govern the nations by expressing our minds and offering the advice that our experience of business indicates. It is entirely up to the governments to determine what general measures shall be adopted in order to best serve the interests of the communities at large."

"This congress," he said, "should call upon all the national committees in high tariff countries to urge their governments to black out the red tariff lights, before which trade traffic now halts in helpless immobility, in order that, released from the brake of tariff taxes, those whose task it is to drive international trade may once again proceed at full speed under the golden lights of caution and the green lights of freedom."

W. Stucki, Swiss member of the League of Nations economic committee, J. Duchenois, French delegate, M. A. Place, of the Netherlands, and Floyd Chalmers, Canadian delegate, also discussed tariffs.

Stucki called for international economic co-operation, which, he said, "can only be realized if the permanent radiation to which it is our duty to contribute is powerful enough to persuade universal public opinion of the justice of the resolutions adopted by the economic conference of 1927."

Duchenois said there was "almost complete unanimity among the national committees of continental Europe in wishing for a less rigid application of the most favored nation clause."

Although raised coincident with enactment of the new American tariff act, Chalmers said Canadian tariffs had "always been dictated by our own needs; they have never been retaliatory, defiant or unfriendly."

CHOIR BOYS ARE HEARD OVER AIR

St. John's Boys' Choir Enter Musical Festival at Stratford.

GIVE BROADCAST.

Local receiving dials did not veer from Station C K G W between 11 and 11:30 yesterday, because at that time the Boy's Choir of St. John's Anglican Church was on the air from that station.

The opening number on the program was "Now is the month of Maying" (Morley) by the full choir. Others following were "O, Who Will O'Er the Down" (Pearsall) and "Who Killed Cock Robin" (Watson) the solo parts were well taken by Victor Coleman, Ray Pitchford, Fred Simmons and Fred Hooper, with the first two taking a duet part.

The sacred section included two selections from Handel's Messiah in which Roy Pitchford and Victor Coleman did the solo parts. The full choir joined in the anthem "The Souls of the Righteous (Elvey), followed by "O Ye That Love the Lord" (Taylor) and "Evening and Morning" (Oakley).

The program was then concluded with the singing of three secular numbers. The first was a lively duet, "When Life is Brightest" by Pinsuti, well rendered by Victor Coleman, soprano, and Roy Pitchford, alto. Reminiscent of summer was the piece entitled "The Violet and the Bee" by Caldicott. Orville Wainman sang "The Big Brown Bear" by Man Zucca, with such expression that the announcer remarked "that big bear nearly frightened me."

Among contratulatory telegrams received during the broadcast were messages from Rev. Dr. R. V. Blagrave and the Church-wardens, F. M. Defalfosse and Mrs. N. Parcher, of Campbellford.

The Boy Choir, accompanied by P. G. Mann, choirmaster, Lilly Bacon, accompanist, Ruby Chartersmaine and E. Brakefield-Moore, left Peterborough at 7:15 Thursday morning by private railway car, via C.N.R.

Following this the boys visited places in the city under supervision and returned to their private car at 12:45 p.m. to continue their trip to Stratford where they took part in the Music Festival at 7 p.m.

The following took part in the broadcast: Victor Coleman, Roy Pitchford, Everet Gibbs, Norman Chate, Albert Stephen, Fred Simmons, Frank Pammett, Carlisle Mason, Fred Hooper, Gordon Pink, William Kay, Arthur Barnes, Alfred Pink, Jack Hooper, Edward Dorrington, Alec Chivas, Lyle Glover, Griffin Young, Walter Howell, Tom Hooper, William Staunton, Donald Howell and Orville Wainman. They were joined in Stratford by Gerald and Donald Perks.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 59 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

A hunter with a score of sleek, black warriors had halted to listen after Meriem's first outcry. He was not even aware of the presence of white men other than himself in this remote and savage section. When silence followed her third scream, the stranged also hastened toward the voice he knew was that of a woman in distress. Jenssen reached the scene first, entering the tent just as Milbihn was showering blows upon the girl.

Malbihn, interrupted, dropped his victim and turned to meet Jenssen's infuriated charge. He whipped a revolver from his hip. Jenssen, anticipating the other's move, drew almost simultaneously, and both men fired at once. Jenssen was still moving toward his partner at the time, but at the flash of the explosion he stopped, staggered and fell. Malbihn then deliberately put two more bullets into his friend's body at close range.

He stood over the fallen man and kicked him viciously; then returned to Meriem. Again he seized her, and at the same time the tent flaps opened silently. A tall, white man entered. He crossed the tent quick, stepping over Jenssen's body and the first intimation Malbihn had that he was not to carry out his evil designs, was a heavy hand upon his shoulder. He wheeled to face a black-haired, grey-eyed stranger clad in khaki.

Malbihn reached for his gun, but the stranger's hand was quicker, and a second later he was holding the giant Swede in a grasp of steel. Malbihn raged and fought only to be twisted about and held at arm's length. Then he shouted to his men to come and kill this stranger. But instead of his own slaves a dozen powerful, clean-limbed blacks, not at all like the crew that followed the Swedes, entered and Malbihn was speedily made powerless.

OBITUARY

JAMES BIRD, SR.
MADOC, May 8. (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late James Bird, Sr., took place Thursday from his late residence, in Madoc village. The L.O.L. No. 160 of Madoc, attended in a body, with visiting members of some of the outlying lodges, who assembled to do honor to their departed brother. Rev. G. W. Rivers of Trinity United Church, Madoc, took charge of the services, and the funeral sermon was delivered by Rev. H. H. Hall of Merricksville, formerly of Madoc village, and a close friend of the deceased. Taking as his text, the one word, "Friend" Luke 14:10, which word, he said, essentially typified the life and character of the deceased; then going further, he spoke of the words of Jesus, "Friend, go up higher". This is a summons for each one of us, and comes to every life. The hymns sung were "Jesus, Lover of my soul" and "Rock of Ages". Interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery, with the L.O.L. No. 160 in charge of the Farewell and Committal service.

JOHN FREDERICK CROSS.
The death occurred yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital after a short illness of John Frederick Cross, eldest son of Mrs. Mary Cross and the late John Cross of this city. He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his sorrowing wife, his mother, two brothers, William and James, and one sister, Mrs. Minicola, all of this city. The funeral will take place from his late residence, 337 McGill street, to the Sacred Heart church at 9.00 a.m. Saturday. Interment in St. Peter's cemetery.

MURRAY.— In loving rembrance of our dear little son, Donald George Murray, who died two years ago today, aged one year and four days:
At eventide the Master came
To walk among the flowers,
He came to gather lilies

NEW LOAN BONDS READY MONDAY BENNETT STATES

House of Commons is Given Details of $250,000,000 Issue to be Floated.

CLOSE MAY 23.

Senate Gives Bill, Legalizing Hospital Sweepstakes in Canada, Second Reading.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—Private members will have precedence when the House of Commons convenes on Monday. Legislation standing in their names will be up for consideration, the Government measures being forced into the background for the day.

A tall, dark-haired Canadian stood in Parliament yesterday, attempting to enlist his adopted country in coming to the assistance of the race that gave him birth. Michael Luchkovich, U.F.A., member for Vegreville, painted a dark, gloomy picture of the alleged treatment the Ukrainians were receiving from the Poles, under whose control they were placed after the war. Would Canada attempt to influence the League of Nations to investigate the pacification methods utilized by the Poles, he asked.

Two Sides to Question.

After many members expressed sympathy with the condition of the Ukrainians, Premier R. B. Bennett said when "we begin to discuss the internal politics of a friendly state, we are on extremely dangerous ground." Ukrainians, as far as Canada was concerned, were Poles, and "their Government is their business." There were two sides to every question, and the League of Nations already had commenced to investigate the allegations made by the Ukrainians. The Canadian representatives at Geneva, the Premier assured the House, would do "everything possible to ensure that justice is done, both to the Ukrainians and to the Poles."

Preparations are nearing completion for the floating of a conversion loan of $250,000,000 Premier Bennett declared in a statement given the house early in the day. Subscription books will open Monday and close not later than May 23. No new money is being sought, the Government is meeting bonds presently falling due by a new long-term loan. The expiring securities chiefly are victory bonds, floated during the war. The interest rate will be 4½ per cent. and the bonds will be subject to taxation both as to principle and interest. The rate on the expiring bonds was 5½ per cent. The securities will be for 25 years but callable at the end of 15 years.

Every part of Canada will have an equal opportunity of securing the conversion bonds. The branches of every chartered bank and the recognised bond houses will have them on hand for exchange for bonds

CONSUL OBJECTS, SHOW IS CHANGED

HIT AT SOCIETY WOMEN.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 9.—(C.P.).—Changes in some lines of Irene Bordini's new musical show, "One More Night," to-day appeared to have closed an incident in which Frederick Watson, British Consul-General, protested against a scene which burlesqued the holding of court by Queen Victoria.

While Rev. Dr. Frederick Poole, stage censor, who ordered changes in the lines, expressed some disappointment in the request, it seemed the incident was closed so far as the Consul-General's office was concerned.

The Consul-General, it is said, took offence over a scene in which Erie Blore played the part of Queen Victoria in a court presentation scene and announced in a loud voice, "I am the Queen."

Galen Bogue, producer of the show, said the skit was intended as a burlesque of wealthy United States society women who obtain an invitation to court and are presented to British royalty.

WEDNESDAY SET AS HALF HOLIDAY IN LOCAL STORES

Department Stores and Novelty Stores Will Close at 5.30 During Summer.

DISCUSS PARKING.

W. H. Freel is Elected Chairman of Retail Merchants' Association.

Peterborough stores will close Wednesday afternoons during the months of June, July and August, it was decided by a large majority last night at a meeting of the Retail Merchants' branch of the Chamber of Commerce.

The departmental stores and novelty stores on George street decided to return to the former practice of closing at 5.30 in the evening during the summer months.

Other important matters dealt with by the merchants were: Consideration of recommending to the City Council some changes in Parking By-law; and the setting up of a local Retail Credit Bureau. The merchants unanimously decided to accept the suggestion of the Business Standards Committee of the Kiwanis Club and stage shortly a "Buy at Home" campaign.

W. H. Freel, former vice-chairman, was the unanimous choice for the office of chairman to succeed William Butcher, former manager of Canadian Department Stores here. James Juby was unanimously elected vice-chairman, with F. G. Stinson as secretary. The executive will appoint a committe of five to maintain the interests of the merchants.

The meeting saw without doubt the largest representation of merchants ever assembled in the association's history. Every branch retail business in the city was well represented. Mr. Freel filled the chair in a capable manner, allowing every merchant opportunities to voice his

ONE WHOOPEE AFTER ANOTHER IS LIFE OF AN AVERAGE ARAB

Never Satisfied Unless They're Kicking Up a Fuss Somewhere.

WOMAN IS INCIDENTAL.

By GORDON A. SINCLAIR

TANGIER, Morocco, April 9.—(Copyright, 1931).—Uproar, noise hulabaloo is the daily diet of anyone travelling in this land of strange smells, foods and costumes. No Arab on earth can possibly enjoy himself unless he's making a quart size row about it.

They scream their religion from the housetops, they cure sick people by screaming at them, they marry in an atmosphere of shouts and catcalls, they never in all their lives buy anything from anybody without arguing about it and when an Arab argues he goes at the job as if he were a firecracker just exploding.

The women, who are just about as important as the paper you put on the bottom of a birdcage, squawk and grunt and yap all over the shop But at least the women go back to their harems at night. The men keep it up from dawn to dawn. Yelling, screaming and bickering everywhere. They drive their camels

POLICE MAKE FIRST ARREST AFTER HOLD-UP

Man Held Suspected of Being Implicated in Winnipeg Banker's Death.

AUTHORITIES MUM.

Every Road in District Patrolled as Officers Seek Quarry.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 9. (CP)—At noon to-day police are thought to be holding one of the men believed to be implicated in the killing of P. R. B. Tucker, manager of the Notre Dame Sherbrooke branch of the Dominion Bank of Canada, during a holdup yesterday which netted the bandits $6,522.

Authorities Mum

Authorities refused to discuss the reported arrest, but it is understood that a man in custody has been identified by some of the spectators to the holdup.

The alleged bandit was said to have been picked up during the wide-spread search instituted by the police following the killing. He was first able to satisfy the authorities that he was at home at the time of the shooting, but a further check of his story resulted in his re-arrest.

Police are continuing the search for members of the gang that took part in the holdup and until they are safely behind the bars no arrests will be announced.

All Roads Patrolled

Every outgoing road is being patrolled by officers. Every auto is closely scanned as the police hunt for the bandit's car in which the desperadoes sped from the bank. Gasoline filling stations are watched in case the trio require fuel for the auto. Up till noon to-day, however, no trace of the bandits or even the car, had been located.

Two women were among the five employees and one customer in the bank at the time of the hold-up and the shooting of Major Tucker. They watched terror-stricken but when the armed trio departed they willingly aiding in rushing Major Tucker to hospital where he succumbed to his wounds. Mrs. Tucker arrived at the bank to find her husband on the way to hospital in a dying condition. She had merely called to give him his spectacles, forgotten at home.

Rewards totalling $7,000 to-day had been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the trio of armed bandits who yesterday robbed the bank.

BISHOP'S LETTER STIRS UP GOV'T

Republicans in Spain Protest Matter to Papal Nuncio in Madrid.

SEEN AS HOSTILE MOVE.

MADRID, May 9. (AP)—The Republican Government announced today it had protested to the Papal Nuncio in Madrid the recent pastoral letter of Cardinal Primate Pedro Segura, of Toledo, in which he urged Spanish Catholics to vote in the coming elections for deputies who would defend the rights of the church.

Archbishop Segura may go to Rome to report the situation to the Pope, unconfirmed reports said. The newspaper La Voz said last night it had been reliably informed that he would shortly be recalled to Vatican City.

Minister of Justice Fernando De Los Rios has characterized the letter as "a frank assertion indicating the hostility of the church to the republican regime" and has said that the Government would not permit in the future such "undercover attacks".

Meanwhile, the government is preparing to apply a decrease issued last night abolishing compulsory religious education in the schools.

About 1,500 farmers of the Counties of Dufferin, Grey, Simcoe and Ontario have signed a 10-year contract to supply the plant with hogs. The majority of these farmers are also interested financially in the project.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—J. F. Pouliot, Liberal member for Temiscouata, has given notice that he will ask in the House of Commons a number of questions in respect to the period when Hon. E. N. Rhodes, now Minister of Fisheries, was Speaker of the House.

UNCOVER PLOT TO KILL CAROL

Fiftieth Anniversary of Enthronement of Carol I Takes Place Sunday.

POLICE DENY REPORT.

BUCHAREST, RUMANIA, May. 9 (CP) The police were reported today to have uncovered a plot to assassinate King Carol to-morrow on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the enthronement of Carol I.

Although the police issued an unqualified denial, the report was to the effect that authorities had arrested an individual who lay concealed under the stands from which King Carol, and the royal family planned to watch the military parade. He was reported to have been armed with a loaded six-chamber revolver and prepared with ample food supplies.

The suspect fled when police came to test the solidity of the stand's construction preliminary to its use. It was reported. He was pursued and captured but refused to give his name or reveal his intentions.

The authorities were said to consider him an Anarchist or Communist. Following the arrest, they raided certain quarters and took into custody several persons believed to be his accomplices. The discovery has intensified precautionary measures adopted for the celebration.

BUSSES BLOCKED SERVICE STATION

Interim Injunction Granted John Douglas Against Trespassing.

WRIT ALSO ISSUED.

A writ was taken out yesterday by John Douglas, of the Power Oil Company against Frank Mitchell, of the Border Transit Company, for damages caused through alleged blockading of approaches to the Power Oil Company's service station on the bus company's lot by three large busses. An interim injunction was also sought, and granted, restraining the bus company from trespassing on the service station's property, and from obstructing the approaches.

Douglas claims that an argument ensued yesterday between Mitchell and some of the oil company's men. Later it is alleged Mitchell ordered three busses to be so arranged on the approaches to the service station that approach to the service station by motorists seeking gas was shut off. This situation existed from noon until the injunction restraining the bus company from trespassing, was granted late in the afternoon. Immediately Douglas moved the busses to permit free entry by motorists to the station's gas tanks.

The service station, which is on the bus company's property, was rented by the Power Oil Company under contract beginning March 8, this year, from the Border Transit Company, Douglas states, and all rents have been paid.

It is understood the disagreement arose over the price of gas being sold the bus company by the Power Oil Company, under a contract drawn up several months ago.

The law firm of Gordon and Elliott is acting for the Power Oil Company.

Crimes Over Several Years Claimed to Have Netted $6,000,000 in Loot.

$1,000,000 RANSOM MONEY.

Two Murders and 60 Bank Robberies in List Charged to Prisoners.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 9.—The authorities have struck at gangland again—this time to capture, they claim, a gang of six kidnappers and bank robbers whose loot and ransome money ran into the millions, including $200,000 taken in the Denver mint hold-up of 1922. Their proceeds were estimated by their accusers at $6,000,000, of which $1,000,000 was fixed as ransom money, in kidnappings.

The six were caught in a spectacular raid on what officers described as a gangster flat in downtown East St. Louis, Ill., late yesterday, as the result of the combined efforts of the Federal, State and local authorities. An hour later they were started, under heavy guard, in nine automobiles toward Chicago. They paused overnight at Springfield.

60 Bank Robberies.

Said by police to be remnants of the Cuckoo and Shelton gangs of Southern Illinois, and to have also been affiliated with the mob of Fred Burke, notorious killer, the six were accused of participation in more than 60 bank robberies in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Nebraska, including the theft of $1,000,000 from the Lincoln, Neb., National Bank, on September 17, 1930.

In addition to these crimes the officers attributed to the gang the slaying of Mrs. Cora Garrison, wife of Clyde Garrison, Peoria, Ill., gambler, killed October 17, 1930; the killing of Thomas J. Rooney, Chicago Labor leader, March 19, 1931; and the kidnapping of Fred J. Blumer, Monroe, Wis., near-beer brewer, and James Hackett, Blue Island, Ill., gambler, who said that he paid $150,000, or his entire fortune, for his release.

Charges Laid.

The accusation against the six, whose names were given as Tommy Hayes, Thomas O'Connor, Jack Britt, Howard Lee, E. Hawks and William McQuillan, were made by Roy McWhorter and Patrick Roche, Chief investigator for the State Attorney's office. Among the bank robberies attributed to the gang hold-ups committed at Mundelein, Clearing, Elmhurst, Lafayette, Neponset and Marengo, Ill., and Walworth and Bristol, Wis.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9. (CP)—The following statement was issued to-day by G. R. Pawson, General Chairman of the Commercial Telegraphers on the Canadian Pacific Railway Lines, concerning staff reductions in that department.

"The commercial telegraphers of the Canadian Pacific Railway have voted overwhelmingly to take a voluntary lay-off, equivalent to ten per cent. of their monthly salary in order to retain in the service many of their number who would otherwise be laid off, due to the present business conditions with which the company is faced. The group affected comprize telegraphers, automatic operators, telephone operators and clerks in the commercial department of the C.P.R., extending from Halifax to Vancouver.

"The lay-off is retroactive to May 1st and is organized Labor's contribution in this branch of industry toward solving the present unemployment situation."

Many Leave England Due To Income Tax

MONTREAL, Que., May 9.—A most desirable class of emigrant from Great Britain, retired Britishers who were leaving the country because of the high rate of income tax, were flocking to Southern Ireland, the north of France and the Riviera, Robert W. Reford, veteran shipping agent, said upon his return from an European visit yesterday.

Canada was neglecting her opportunity in not attracting these people here, Mr Reford said. If Canada would only abolish the income tax she would have little difficulty in populating the country with "the most desirable type of Englishman, Scotchman and Welshman."

Crash is Second Disaster for "Pacific" Inside Two Years.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 9 (A.P.)—The British steamer Pacific and the German steamer Hugo Stinnes collided in the Baltic to-day. The crews had to take to the boats because of the heavy list of the two vessels.

The collision, said advices from Mykobing, Island of Falster, occurred at 3 a.m. both ships being badly damaged and calling for assistance. Danish and German lifeboats, putting out to aid them found some of the Pacific's crew in boats.

Lloyd's register shows six vessels named Pacific. The one in collision in the Baltic is believed to have been one of two British boats bound for Danzic. One was a steel ship of 2,813 tons owned by the Sir W. H. Cocker Line, and the other a wooden auxiliary vessel owned by Mrs. L. Tyrall, of Dublin.

It was believed that the ship was that of the Cocker Line, proceeding from Hull to Danzig with ballast and no passengers. The Cocker Line Pacific grounded off Cape Fear in 1929 and asked help, but was refloated after being pounded by heavy seas. A year ago, Captain Beveridge, her skipper, was found dead from gunshot wounds; he was said to have brooded over the accident.

The Hugo Stinnes is a 3,000-ton vessel out of Hamburg. It had a collision with another ship near Greenwich three years ago.

Brockenshire Ill Trial Is Postponed

TORONTO, Ont., May 9.—(CP)—The trial of Jack Brockenshire and Harry Clarkson, of Windsor, charged with the murder of Police Constable Roy McQuillin here last December was adjourned until Monday by Mr. Justice Wright today owing to the condition of Brockenshire who is reported as being ill.

During the trial, which started Wednesday, Brockenshire has shown little interest in his case and despite his counsel's efforts to have the case postponed until the accused had recovered from his illness, the trial proceeded.

Japan's automobile registrations have more than trebled in the last five years.

Son of Allah "Seen"; Police Subdue Throngs

BASRA, Irak, May 9 (C.P.)—Police were called out to-day to restore order when frenzied crowds surged through the streets in the belief that Ali, the son of the prophet, had appeared at a local mosque on this, a feast-day.

It all started with a report that two Shiah women who desired to enter the mosque to pray were diverted by the doorkeeper, until Ali interfered, opened the door and struck the doorkeeper insane.

RETURN JOURNEY TO TAKE MONTHS

Friends Do Not Expect to See Courtauld Back in England Till September.

ICE DELAYS SHIPS.

LONDON, May 9 (C.P.).—Friends of Augustine Courtauld, young British scientist, who is proceeding to safety after a winter spent on the Greenland ice cap, do not expect to see him in England until September.

It is believed that another week will be occupied in travelling by dog sledge with H. G. Watkins, head of the British Arctic air route expedition, from his winter igloo to the expedition base near Angmagsalik.

He must remain at the base until the first ship arrives from Denmark after the winter ice breaks up. This ship does not leave Copenhagen until July 11, and will arrive at Angmagsalik about ten days later, returning about the middle of August.

Courtauld's sister will be married in June to Captain Ralph Rayner, of the British Royal Signal Corps, and although his family would like him to be here for the ceremony, they entertain no hope that he will be able to come.

It is expected that the Swedish flier, Captain Albin Ahrenberg, will hold his plane in Greenland until the ship arrived in July rather than attempting to fly back. He probably will make one more trip to the sledge party which rescued Courtauld, taking them provisions, within a day or so.

Sir James Barrie 71 Years Old To-Day

LONDON, May 9.— (A.P.)— Sir James Barrie, father of Peter Pan, is 71 years old to-day.

He planned no special celebration of his birthday, intending to stroll as usual about London's streets in the brown suit, hat and topcoat in which he is always seen.

Sir James is still vigorous and takes an active part in British literary life.

CROWLEY ASKS DEATH QUICKLY

Former Sweetheart, Kicked Out of Apartment, Told Police Where Killer Was.

ANOTHER IS CHIEF WITNESS.

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 9.—Francis (Two-gun Crowley, 19, held for killing Policeman Frederick Hirsch last Monday, asked authorities today to "get it over with, quick."

"What's the use of foolin' around with a trial, and all that bunk?" he asked, petulantly, from his hospital cot where he is recovering from bullet wounds suffered in the siege and fight that resulted in his capture Thursday. "If I'm going to burn, it might as well be right away."

Just as one girl's tip was responsible for his arrest, the testimony of another is counted upon by the state to be the strongest link in his prosecution.

Dancer Gives Tip

A blonde dancer, Billie Dunne, in whose West 90th Street apartment, Crowley and Rudolph "Fat" Duringer were captured, was responsible for her former sweetheart's arrest, police said. Crowly telephoned her at the apartment "to get out and make room for a regular girl." Police got the information from the dance hall where the Dunne girl works as a hostess.

Crowley's comment to his guards as he was being taken to jail was: you ought to give a badge to Billie Dunne. She's a cop now."

Helen Walsh, 16, who was with him in the bullet and gas spattered building when 200 police surrounded it Thursday, will be the main witness at his trial for the murder of Frederick Hirsch, Nassau County policeman. Miss Walsh was in an automobile with Crowley when Hirsch was shot.

Claims Girl Hates Crowley

In the Grand Jury chambers yesterday when a murder indictment was returned against Crowley, the Walsh girl revealed the Crowley forced her to write notes during the police siege. Most of the notes told of her love for Crowley, District Attorney Edwards of Nassau County said the girl had expressed fear and hate of Crowley since her arrest.

Duringer, taken to the Bronx, was indicated for the murder of Virginia Brannen, Bangor, Me., girl. Jealousy was his motive.

Detectives are checking the story of Salvatore Russo, a witness, now in custody, that Duringer killed Miss Branen for $300, paid him by another man.

TRAIL RIDES IN THE ROCKIES

Trail trips, both short and over a number of days, may be taken in the Canadian National Parks in the Rockies where there are experienced packers and guides familiar with all the main routes of travel. These guides can be relied upon to take any party to outstanding features and points of interest that do not lie on the regular beaten tourist path.

BOY CHORISTERS RETAIN SHIELD FOR SECOND YEAR

St. John's Boys' Choir Wins Stillman Shield in Stratford Music Contest.

THREE SOLO WINNERS.

Boys on Their Return to City Are Met at Station by Mayor Denne.

St. John's Boy Choristers, under the leadership of Frederic G. Mann, L.Mus. are again the proud possessors of the Stillman Challenge shield, a much coveted award for boys' choirs of unchanged voices, as a result of their performance at the Fifth Annual Stratford Musical Festival held in Knox Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening. The local boys also were winners of three medals for high standing in the solo contests: Leslie F. Dyer won a silver medal for obtaining second place in the Junior Baritone (under 21 years) class; Orville C. Wainman receives a silver medal for taking second place in the boys' solo (unchanged voices) class, and Victor D. Coleman won a bronze medal for coming third. Ernest MacMillan, B.A., Mus.Doc., F.R.C.O., Principal of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, acted as Adjudicator, and Rev. Dr. G. P. Duncan of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stratford, acted in the capacity of chairman.

Leslie Dyer, baritone singer in the adult choir of St. John's, entered his class of the Festival in the city hall. He sang the test piece "If Wishes Were Horses"—Alec Rowley. Although he contracted a bad cold at the first of the week, Mr. Dyer did very well, taking second place with 79 marks. The winner of the class was Edwin Schenck of Stratford who received 83; Edward Barrett of Stratford and S. Walter of Goderich tied for third place with 78 marks each; Clarence Struthers of Milverton and Ford Hyde of Stratford each obtained 76 marks.

Boys' Solo Class

The first event of the evening session at Knox Church was the Boys' Solo class. The Test Piece for this was "Laughing Song"—Gordon Jacob. Billie Dale of Mt. Dennis took the first place in this with a total of 171 (of a possible 200 points); Orville Wainman of Peterborough obtained 170 marks; Victor Coleman of Peterborough and Ernest Harley of London tied for third place with 168 points. These will receive gold, silver and bronze medals respectively. The four boys were selected to sing in a final test before their order of merit could be decided upon. Mr. MacMillan commented on each of the boy's renditions. He spoke of little Orville Wainman as being "a real singer for all his size", and made reference to his natural manner. Victor Coleman was described as being a "natural singer, distinct and with a good style." However, his tiredness from the long journey and broadcast caused him to make a wrong start in the finals. Other Peterborough boys also made a good showing. Gerald Perks was referred to as having round tones, excellent diction and a natural manner. Donald Perks received the comment of being "an animated singer with good technique, and popular with his audience." Fred Simmons received favorable criticism as a clear singer. Lyle Glover, who made his first appearance as a soloist, was referred to as being clear in style and manner. These received 82, 81, 80 and 77 marks (of a possible 100) respectively. F. G. Mann acted as accompanist.

The feature of the evening's contests was the Boys' Choir class. Although other choirs had entered they

HENRY CHEERFUL OVER OUTLOOK

States Expenditures in Department of Education Will Not Be Slashed.

HAS FAITH IN ONTARIO.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., May 9. (CP) An optimistic note marked the address delivered last night by Premier George S. Henry, at the diamond jubilee of the Ontario School for the Deaf.

The Provincial Premier predicted a quick return to prosperity in all parts of the land and voiced his belief Canada would lead other countries in a return to normal economic conditions.

Referring to matters of educational interest the speaker declared expenditures in the department of education, of which he is minister, will never be slashed. He had "never felt the public is critical of the volume of expenditures, so long as some tangible results are shown" he said. "As Minister of Education" he proceeded, "my duties are to determine what the needs are in this regard, and I have faith in the people of Ontario that they will lend their support in this endeavour. There will be no economy along this line as these problems are paramount with me."

Boy Saved In Fire As "Movie Thriller"

NEW YORK, May 9. — In a spectacular rescue, such as might be drawn from a movie thriller, a fourteen year old boy was saved in a fire early Friday, in which three were injured.

John Wheeler essayed to leap from a three-story window. His brother, Walter, twenty-nine, seized him by the arms but could not draw him back in.

The boy dangled from the window, the brother's arms grew numb. Hook and Ladder Company 105 clattered up, a ladder was flung against the building and Fireman Francis J. Dowling sprang up. Then the ladder gave a sickening wrench and slanted alarmingly. Dowling's shoulder was dislocated but he clung to the boy and brought him safely down.

Two tenants were severely burned.

ALL SAINTS' GUILD HOLDS RAINBOW TEA

A very successful Rainbow spring sale and tea was held in All Saints' parish hall on Thursday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the church. The Rev. J. D. Paterson formally opened the sale with a prayer and the singing of the Doxology. The rear of the hall was attractively arranged with a large painted landscape showing a horizon scene and a rainbow among the clouds. The various booths were decorated strikingly in rainbow colors of mauve, pink, green and yellow.

The guests were received by the president of the Guild, Mrs. James Brice, and Mrs. Paterson, the honorary president.

DECORATING CHURCH AT LIFFORD LINE

No Services in St. Mary's for Three Weeks Till Work is Done.

LIFFORD LINE, May 9 (Examiner Correspondence). — Considerable redecorating and re-constructive work is being carried out at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Lifford Line.

No services will be held in the church for at least three Sundays after which time it is expected a reopening service will be held when the fine improvements of both interior and exterior will be fully appreciated.

The sister church, St. Paul's Anglican of Bethany, which is also in charge of Rev. Mr. Feirheller, very kindly donated the gasoline lighting system used by them previous to the recent installation of electrical fixtures. Mr. Fred Reynolds of Bethany installed the lights this week in order that the work on the ceiling might be continued without delay. Seven skilled workmen have been sent from Toronto by Mrs. Lila Hannah Hughes of Toronto, a former constant attendant of St. Mary's Church, who is responsible in a large measure for the wonderful improvements being made.

The ladies of the St. Mary's Women's Guild have purchased a piece of land from Scott Brothers directly opposite the church, on which they anticipate having erected a fine new barn.

When completed this church property will be a credit to all who are so enthusiastically carrying on the work in connection with it.

Belleville Teachers Protest Wage Cut

BELLEVILLE, May 9.— Teachers of Belleville Collegiate Institute and also the principals of the Public schools unanimously joined in the protest to the cutting of their salary increases at the Board of Education meeting. The teachers stated that the board had agreed on their increase each year, but no papers were signed as the teachers believed that the board would not discontinue this. It was learned that the average salaries of teachers here was considerably less than in other cities of the province. Little was said by the board as the teachers gave their opinions about the matter, but it will be fully discussed at the next meeting.

Blossoms

EVERYWHERE Nature is renewing her youth. The blossoms tell of the new life and energy which vegetation is drawing from Mother Earth.

For us humans spring time is often marred by the after effects of artificial winter life. We have lived too far from Nature and the thin, watery blood is lacking in certain elements of Nature which are essential for the nourishment required by the nervous system.

These elements are happily combined in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food so as to make it the ideal restorative for the blood and nerves at all seasons of the year. It is especially appreciated in the springtime when almost everybody feels the need of tonic and restorative treatment.

ENTERING the Workshop I heard this stranger say to John Plane — You remember the story of the sculptor Pygmalion. How he made a statue of ivory so beautiful that every woman who saw it envied it. So perfect was it that he fell in love with it himself, hung it with flowers and jewels, spent day after day in rapt admiration of it, until finally the Gods took pity on him and breathed into it the breath of life.

There is more than Pagan mythology to that story. There is this much truth in it—that any man can set before his mind's eye the image of the figure he himself would like to be, and then breathe the breath of life into it merely by following Nature's own simple laws.

A SOUND INVESTMENT.

For health and strength are natural. It is ill-health and weakness that are unnatural. Your body was meant to be lithe, supple, muscular, full of red blooded energy and vitality.

A clear brain, a powerful heart, a massive chest, wrists and arms of steel—all these were meant for you—all these you can have if you will but learn and obey Nature's few fundamental laws.

When your nerves are in tone, when your every vital organ is strong, the blood circulates freely through every cell and tissue and impurities are thrown from your system like magic. There is no such thing as constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, headaches.

Just take stock of yourself for a moment. Are your muscles tough, springy and full of vim? Do they do all you ask of them—and then beg for more? Can you eat a good meal—and forget it?

If you can't, it's your own fault. You can have a body alive with vitality, a skin smooth and fine of texture, muscles supple and virile. You can be the man you have always dreamed of being, merely by learning and practicing the few simple, natural rules of right living given in. . . .

GREAT ADVERTISING.

Then followed a strong argument for a certain course in physical training, health and life extension which, he said, had been compiled in consultation and collaboration with a hundred of the world's most distinguished scientists and physicians.

I thought he was trying to sell something, but such a construction on his conversation would not be quite fair. It was as if he were saying to John Plane:

I am not here to sell, but to help you to buy!

In this work of which I am speaking there are no theories, no untried ideas. It gives you what is known to be good. Its authority is final, in so far as modern science is final. It gives you what modern science has that will enable you to live longer—look better—feel better—attain the maximum of efficiency and success.

For two years the Life Extension Institute, which has secured through its Hygiene Reference Board one hundred leading physicians and scientific men the most comprehensive and tested knowledge on these subjects, worked with the editors appointed by the magazine which I have the honor to represent to get all of the scientific facts in logical order, written in such simple, understandable language that even the busiest man could easily grasp its meaning.

ARE YOU A LIVE WIRE?

Theodore Roosevelt entered Harvard in 1876, "thin of chest, be-spectacled, nervous, weighing only 90 pounds." By scientific exercise, attention to diet, and other habits of right living, he learned how to run his body machine and became the wonder of the world for efficiency, endurance, working power, joyousness in life — with muscles like a prize fighter. On one occasion he said:

"If the darned fools only knew enough to take proper exercise, they would eliminate all their ills and develop into splendid economical forces for the future."

You can't be the success you might be unless you feel perfectly fine all the time. If you wake up in the morning with a bad taste in your mouth, if you get up tired and don't want any breakfast, if you come home at night worn out, something is wrong and you can't make a real success. The great men of the world have been healthy men. Napoleon succeeded until he began to get sick. At Waterloo Napoleon was a sick man. It is just as easy to keep well as to do anything else worth while.

SUPERIOR PHYSICAL CONDITION.

In business and social life to-day, the world demands men of force, vigor and strength—men whose muscles, minds and nerves are perfect. If anyone of these is defective, all are bound to be. Man is a wonderful machine, all parts of which work together in harmony—or discord. Damage one part and you damage all. Build up one member and the entire structure is benefited.

And it is easy—so easy and simple to build up a superb physical structure. It is one of the most desirable things in life. Without it no man can do his best work.

Real success comes only to the man of buoyant health, snappy muscles, clear eye and brain, with a constant feeling of energy, enthusiasm and ambition. You must be able to keep going at top speed or else drop in the rut. Roosevelt could about do the work of five men, and he ascribed his success to his superior physical condition. He was a veritable storage battery of energy.

GO NATURE'S WAY.

All over the world, sick, weak and devitalized men and women are searching for health and strength. By the hundreds of thousands they drag their weary and aching bones around or languish on sick beds, waiting for someone to bring health to them—as if it could be brought corked up in a bottle!

Real, lasting health was never found in pill boxes or medicine bottles—valuable as these may be at times! There is one method and only one by which it can be gained and kept, and it is the easiest, surest method. It is by assiting Nature to work in her own way in the building up of each tissue, nerve and muscle by means of her own marvellous re-creating and rejuvenating power.

As I listened to this most interesting talk—which was mostly on one side—I thought to myself what an eloquent preacher of the Gospel of Good Health this man is!

POISONED BY OLD AGE.

The Policeman of the passing years tells us all—except the lady with the high speed voice who, over the radio, boosts some beauty cream or other—to "Move on!"

Emerson once said, "We do not count a man's years until he has nothing else to count." But the man who is wise and knows a little about the ways of women will never count a woman's years!

Modern science tells us that old age is merely our name for the gradual poisoning of our bodies. Aches and pains burrowing and creeping through the body, a relaxed abdomen, deepening lines on the face, jangling nerves, a haunting feeling of dullness and gloom—these outward signs indicate that actual poisons are being deposited in blood, tissues and joints; if we eliminate them, we go far toward eliminating old age; but if in our happy-go-lucky way we allow the poisons to remain in the body, we look old and feel old no matter what our age.

ON BEING BEAUTIFUL.

Where is the man or the woman who honestly does not want to be beautiful?

In the last analysis, beauty is based upon health and vitality—upon clear, red blood and the normal activity of all glands and organs. The exterior of the body simply expresses the condition of the interior. Beauty is the natural expression of purity and wholesomeness.

It is the combination of good physical development and proper posture that gives a woman the quality of queenly beauty that is irresistible. But the building up of the body is the first requirement—for it means healthy, clean blood, vitality and organic soundness.

VIGOR AND VICTORY.

The man or woman who possesses clear, radiant health has the most valuable asset in life. No obstacle, no handicap can hold such a person back.

Success is won through the mighty energy and the unfailing determination that grows out of health and strength.

Most of our great men have been men of unusual physical energy, possessing the most hearty and powerful constitutions. They have developed a nerve strength, a vigor and vitality that have carried them over every obstacle.

On the other hand, thousands of men of exceptional ability fail because of the lack of physical strength.

The pathways of life are strewn with the devitalized and deficient who have fallen behind.

Real health means unlimited vitality. It means capacity for endless work. It means exuberant spirits. It means a pleasing, forceful, magnetic personality. It means a clear head and an active mind.

You can be brisk, active, light-hearted at an age when your mates are grey and broken. You can have health, and the boundless vigor and energy that go with real health. You can double your earning power, cheat time of ten or twenty years, merely by taking thought, by learning a few vital facts about your system.

THAT IS ALL!

There was more that he said as I stood quietly by the fire and listened and thought. But this will suffice for the present, seeing we have about exhausted the space at our disposal.

If you think that this is not religious reading it is evident that you have forgotten what the Apostle Paul said to the Christians at Thessalonica, viz., "And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and BODY be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ."

Circumstances have really very little to do with our inner experiences. It is self after all, that in largest measures gives the color to our skies and the tone to the music we hear. Therefore, see to it that the house in which self lives is kept in good repair.

Yours for a ripe old age before we take on the bloom of eternal youth.

Allan Fairbairn.

CHEER UP!

IN any case, if having judged as well as we can, we are nevertheless mistaken, we should not grieve. It is not in man's nature to know everything.

The Hour Of Prayer

THEN, tell me, Good Lord, no man has ever found a sun to shine on all his world all the time, but every eye must close and every head be bowed while over sea and land descends the nightly benediction; console me with my sunlit days and with the memory of things I understand; assure me that my stops are all steps, that my suffering is but stuttering—the effort of new speech, that all the world's aches and mine are growing-pains; teach me that faith and hope are more to be desired than the unriddling of the universe; and help me stay, stay, stay upon Thee, and that the great God of the ultimate will at the long length justify Himself to the soul that trusts Him. ## What Think Ye Of Christ?

WHEN we descend the ages, and come to a still more glorious and wonderful history, it is Jerusalem still which is the scene both of tragedy and triumph of the greatest and most wonderful life which was ever lived among men.

Christ came to reveal what righteousness really is. . . . Nothing will do except righteousness; and no other conception of righteousness will do except Christ's conception of it.

• • •

The life of Christ concerns Him who, being the holiest among the mighty, and the mightiest among the holy, lifted with His pierced hand empires off their hinges and turned the stream of centuries out of its channel, and still governs the ages.

• • •

In consequence of His atoning death, everything which lives and breathes may know itself redeemed.

• • •

As the print of the seal on the wax is the express image of the seal itself, so Christ is the express image—the perfect representation of God.

---

Man seeks his own good at the whole world's cost, and the price he has to pay is too much for all he gets.

• • •

Without the rich heart, wealth is an ugly beggar.

• • •

Fear is not a sentiment on which to found morality.

A Much Betrashed Book

THE Bible is the most betrashed book in the world. Coming to it through commentaries is much like looking at a landscape through garret windows, over which generations of unmolested spiders have spun their webs. Our real commentators are our strongest traits of character; and we usually come out of the Bible with all those texts sticking to us which our idosyncrasies attract.

MOTHER'S DAY.

The designation of a special day each year to honor the mothers of the nation may have had its origin in commercialism, as some cynics delight to point out, but it is a beautiful gesture nevertheless.

Mothers have earned their day.

The love and self-sacrifice they have woven into the fabric of home life surely entitles them to a yearly tribute from a world that might easily be more grateful.

It would be better still, of course, were that tribute distributed over the year, if the thought that plans a flower or a gift for mother to-morrow could be made to function steadily throughout all the days.

That is something to think about on the eve of this particular anniversary.

Make every day Mother's Day; it would be none too great a return for the outpouring of love that the mothers of the world have lavished upon their children.

THE PROGRESSIVE ATTITUDE.

Progressive members in the House of Commons are taking a stand in the present session against what they term "political amendments."

Thus every Progressive who was in the House when the Liberal want of confidence motion was voted on the other day voted with the Government to defeat the motion, despite the fact that it expressed the views of the Progressive group and merely echoed what they themselves had consistently argued in earlier discussions.

The third party's attitude is a common-sense one, but it will not appeal to the two old parties.

The progressives see no useful purposes in amendments that are designed merely to serve political ends.

They believe that tactics of that nature should not be supported, and so far as they are concerned, they do not propose to support them.

If the old parties want to use their political fiddles while Rome is burning, they'll have to do it without any help from the third group.

It is an attitude that will impress the thinking portion of the public, however unpopular it may be among politicians who think that the whole duty of an opposition is to oppose and that the party in power should reject all proposals coming from the other side of the House.

A DEARTH OF HORSE SENSE.

Complaints of extreme measures in recent deportations would seem to indicate that there is in the immigration departments of both the United States and Canada a strange dearth of what is sometimes called ordinary horse sense.

Regulations are regulations, but there should be a sufficient elasticity in our laws to allow a more merciful attitude than has been displayed in cases that have attracted so much newspaper attention recently.

When families have been long established in Canada and have displayed qualities that make them good citizens, minor infractions of the immigration regulations, usually made because of a lack of knowledge of the laws, might well be overlooked.

There is a heartlessness about this tearing apart of families that does not fit in with our Canadian sense of fair play, and that certainly is giving this country a vast amount of undesirable publicity that is bound to do harm in the future.

It may be that some of these people have not prized their Canadian citizenship very highly when there was a chance to enter the United States, and that they had no intention of coming back to this country until conditions across the border forced their return, but even that fact should not cause our authorities to be ruthless in their handling of such cases.

The fact that the United States is doing a vast amount of that kind of thing is no particular justification for our adoption of the same policy.

PUT SOMEBODY TO WORK.

A number of citizens responded this week to the appeal to give a man a job during this period of cleaning-up.

There are many other families who are in a position to have similar work done and to materially help diminish, for the time being at least, the ranks of the unemployed.

May The Examiner once more appeal to such citizens to consider this matter earnestly, and to endeavor during the coming week to find jobs for some of the city's workless, even if the employment thus provided is only a matter of an hour or two.

The chance to earn a little money means a good deal more to heads of families who are jobless than any amount of relief, necessary as the latter is.

Most of these men prefer work to assistance, and they will be glad to accept any jobs that are offered them.

Think it over and see if it is not possible to put somebody at work next week.

There are a score of jobs to be done—why not give the unemployed a break in this respect by turning over some of the tasks incidental to the annual spring clean-up.

It will be the finest possible assistance that could be offered.

JUSTICE TO THE DEAD.

The action of the late Sir Edward Clark, a famous British lawyer who figured in some of the most remarkable criminal cases of the past sixty years—he was 90 when he died a few days ago—in furnishing the Times with his own obituary, written shortly before he died, is unusual, yet it is an excellent idea. Sir Edward was big enough to mention some of his own shortcomings, being no doubt fully conscious of them, but as it is an unwritten code of ethics that no disrespect should be paid to the dead, no harm would be done if the autobiographer of one's obituary were to tell only the good points.

Unless a person is really well known it is difficult for a newspaper to say the right thing about someone who has died. "The short and simple annals of the obscure," (to paraphrase the immortal line of Gray's "Elegy), may not do justice to many quiet people whose lives were rich with good deeds and fine character, known only to their intimate relatives and friends. Undertakers furnish the newspapers with the simple facts of their lives—where they were born, what they did for a living, and particulars of their church and fraternal connections and of the deceased's family. That is about all—a colorless statement to which all that can be added is that the late So-and-So "was well known and highly esteemed." The late So-and-So might have been neither, but on the other hand he or she may have been both widely known and highly esteemed for private deeds and character. In the ordinary way the good, bad and indifferent are all dismissed in the same way. The "personality" of the departed is not revealed.

Some may dislike the idea of writing their own obituaries, but if intimates were to draft an obituary and send it into the newspaper offices without delay, it might be the means of giving some humble but worthy souls the last tribute that can be paid to them in a really public way.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A GREAT EXPERIMENT.

A member of Parliament spoke on a question of privilege the other day in answer to an editorial in the way. The particular section to which the member took exception was this:

"The advocates of this route, most of whom would not know a tramp ship from a mowing machine, and who probably think that the nautical term 'port,' is something to drink, now tell us that, ships or no ships, the road will pay for itself. Look, they tell us; look at all the wonderful minerals along the road, and the timber, and the marvellous fishing in the Hudson Bay!"

The Journal had real bullets, instead of bird shot, in its gun, but it is not difficult to recall where members in the House have said more barbed things about each other. The member who brought the matter to the attention of Parliament can do nothing about it, and of that he was probably aware.

The Beacon-Herald believes that the attitude of most of the Ontario papers is that they hope the Hudson Bay Railway may prove to be a success, although they have their very grave doubts. The reason for these doubts centres in the fact that the route has not been proven. It has not been demonstrated that exising ocean lines will carry on traffic through Hudson Bay, nor has it ever been shown where there will be return cargoes provided.

The chief consideration is the shorter distance than by present routes. From Hudson Bay to Liverpool is 2,966 miles. From Winnipeg to Montreal is 1,391 miles, and from Montreal to Liverpool by the northern route is 2,760, making a total of 4,357 miles. That makes a difference of 1,391 miles in favor of the Hudson Bay route. On paper that looks attractive, and it is on that basis that the scheme has been advanced to a point which nears completion as far as the laying of steel is concerned.

* * * *

Last week there were returns tabled in the House of Commons showing the cost of the Hudson Bay Railway to date. These figures are given here:

|---|---|
| Cost of the road up to Feb. 28, 1931 | $30,997,136.44 |
| Cost of Port Nelson terminals | 6,240,200.86 |
| Cost of Churchill terminals | 7,256,846.51 |
| Cost of Hudson Strait expedition | 1,323,809.51 |
| Cost of radio direction finding work | 349,678.23 |
| Total cost to date | $46,167,671.55 |

This year, when estimates were being slashed in a way not known in some time, there is an amount of $6,000,000 included for doing more work on the Hudson Bay road. That will bring the total expenditure up to $52,000,000, and at five per cent. that will mean an annual carrying charge for capital outlay of over $2,500,000 each year.

We can repeat again that this paper and others in Ontario hope the road will prove a financial success, but it is a point on which no person can speak with authority.

The road has been built because the Western Provinces wanted it; they seem to have been certain it would go far toward solving the problem of getting their grain to Liverpool at a lesser figure than they have been paying. We do not believe that a group of private investors would have placed their money in this project; and they would probably have preferred going into some such scheme as the deepening of the St. Lawrence so that the grain trade could move readily from the head of the lakes to Liverpool.

The next few years will demonstrate whether the advocates or the opponents of the Hudson Bay route are correct. It is probably one of the greatest experiments which has ever been staged in any country, and the West cannot charge that succeeding Governments at Ottawa have not fallen under its charm when it comes to putting up the money to complete the project.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Give a man a job.

The want of confidence motion in the House of Commons was buried by a majority of 46 votes. Even the Progressive members objected to it as merely a political move.

A famous scientist says that civilization is near an end. He must have been listening to some of those "hot" radio bands.

If Russia is going to raise more than 1,000,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, as reports indicate, says the Globe, there ought to be a chance for the people of the country to get more to eat. The other nations can help by declining to import the grain.

The decision of Lord Merivale that a man may not be too old for active service at 75 years should be of interest to efficiency experts who declare that men of 45 are too old to do good work.

Other members might take a leaf from the book of Hon. Robert Weir. The Minister of Agriculture waited for weeks before making his first speech, and accordingly was given an ovation.

Dinners was a little late in some village homes Thurs. noon, owing to Fred Mann and his choir laddies broadcasting from Toronto, west of here. The kids done well, say we.

The band stand in Victoria Park has been given a red top this week, indicating Bill Peryer and his musicians will soon be dishing out hot music from under the same.

"If the council hadda really wanted to give that cement order to Lakefield," sez the Hall of Wisdom philosopher, "Walt Stocker coulda run them empty sacks back on his bicycle."

The repression is still on in the village so far as fishing is concerned, your scribe sadly reports no receipts as yet.

Looks like some of the village Tories in due to get a trip to Toronto, west of here, next month to help pick up a successor to Howie Ferguson, once of Kemptville and now of London, to the east of us.

Navigation is officially open in these parts. A. L. Killaly, boss of the big ditch having declared her ready for use last Tues., providing the water holds out.

Lindsay, west of us, is to have a blow out Victoria Day with the militia, flying machines n' everything, which sounds like the most excitement there since the nite the Chinese laundries was raided.

Preparations for Joe Duffus' plowing match is going ahead with might and main. Looks like Joe was going to have everybody in Ontario visiting these parts nert fall.

Several owners of horseles carriages that left their machines hitched too long on Main St. paid $5 for the same when their case come before O. A. Langley, our busy cadi, this week. Looks like the constabulary means business, citizens.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

It took him a long time to find the opening through which the reptiles found ingress to his cell, but at length, after diligent search, he discovered an aperture about eight inches in diameter, some three feet above the floor. He inserted his hand in the opening and feeling around discovered that the wall at this point was about a foot in thickness, and when he inserted his arm to the shoulder he could feel nothing in any direction beyond the wall. Perhaps there was another chamber there—another cell like his—or possibly the aperture opened into a deep pit that was filled with snakes. He thought of many explanations and the more he thought the more anxious he became to solve the riddle of the mysterious space beyond his cell.

Thus did his mind occupy itself with trivial things, and the loneliness and the darkness and the silence exaggerated the importance of the matter beyond all reason until it became an obsession with him. During all his waking hours he thought about that hole in the wall and what lay beyond in the Stygian darkness which his eyes could not penetrate. He questioned the snake that rapped upon his chest, but it did not answer him and then he went to the hole in the wall and asked the hole. And as he was on the point of becoming angry when it did not reply when his mind suddenly caught itself, and with a shudder he turned away, realizing that this way led to madness and that he must, above all else, remain master of his mind.

But still he did not abandon his speculation; only now he conducted it with reason and sanity, and at last he hit upon a shrewd plan.

When next his food was brought and he had devoured it, he took the iron cover from the iron pot, which had contained it, and hurled it to the stone flagging of his cell, where it broke into several pieces. One of these was long and slender and had a sharp point, which was what he had hoped he would find in the debris of the broken cover. This piece he kept; the others he put back into the pot and then he went to the aperture in the wall and commenced to scratch, slowly, slowly, slowly at the hard mortar in which the stones around the hole were set.

He ate and slept many times before his labor was rewarded by the loosening of a single stone next to the hole. And again he ate and slept many times before a second stone was removed. How long he worked at this he did not know, but the time passed more quickly now and his mind was so engrossed with his labors that he was almost happy.

He wished that he knew how the food was brought to his cell, that he might know if there was danger that those who brought it could hear him scraping at the mortar in the wall, but as he never heard the food brought, he hoped that those who brought it could not hear him and he was quite sure that they could not see him.

And so he worked on unceasingly until at last he had scratched away an opening large enough to admit his body, and then for a long time he sat before it, waiting, seeking to assure himself that he was master of his mind, for in this eternal night of solitude that had been his existance for how long he could not even guess, he realized that this adventure which he was facing had assumed such momentous proportions that once he felt himself upon the brink of madness. And now he wanted to make sure that no matter what lay beyond that aperture he could meet it with calm nerves and a serene and sane mind, for he could not help but realize that keen disappointment might be lying in wait for him, since during all the long periods of his scratching and scraping he had realized that a hope of escape was the foundation of the desire that prompted him to prosecute the work. And though he expected to be disappointed he knew how cruel would be the blow when it fell.

With a touch that was almost a caress he let his fingers run slowly over the rough edges of the enlarged aperture. He inserted his head and shoulders into it and reached far out upon the other side, groping with a hand that found nothing, searching with eyes that saw nothing, and then he drew himself back into his dungeon and walked to its far end and sat down upon the floor and leaned back against the wall and waited —waited because he did not dare to pass that aperture to face some new discouragement.

It took him a long time to master himself, and then he waited again. But this time, after reasoned consideration of the matter that filled his mind. He would wait until they brought his food and had taken away the empty receptacle—that he might be given a longer interval before possible discovery of his absence, in the event he did not return to his cell. And though he went often to the corner where the food was ordinarily deposited, it seemed an eternity before he found it there. And after he had eaten it, another eternity before the receptacle was taken away; but at last it was removed. And once again he crossed his cell and stood before the opening that led he knew not where.

This time he did not hesitate. He was master of his mind and nerves. One, after the other he put his feet through the aperture until he sat with his legs both upon the far side of the wall. Then, turning on his stomach, he started to lower himself, because he did not know where the floor might be, but he found it immediately, on the same level as his own. And an instant later he stood erect and if not free, at least no longer a prisoner within his own cell.

Cautiously he groped about him in the darkness, feeling his way a few inches at a time. This cell, he discovered, was much narrower than his own, but it was very long. By extending his hands in both directions he could touch both walls and thus he advanced, placing a foot cautiously to feel each step before he took it.

He had brought with him from his cell the iron sliver that he had broken from the cover of the pot and with which he had scratched himself thus far toward freedom. And the possession of this bit of iron imparted to him a sense of security, since it meant that he was not entirely unarmed.

Presently, as he advanced, he became convinced that he was in a long corridor One foot came in contact with a rough substance directly in the center of the tunnel. He took his hands from the walls and groped in front of him. It was a rough-coated cylinder about eight inches in diameter that rose directly upward from the center of the tunnel, and his fingers quickly told him that it was the trunk of a tree with the bark still on, though worn off in patches.

Passing this column, which he guessed to be a support for a weak portion of the roof of the tunnel, he continued on, but he had taken but a couple of steps when he came to a blank wall— the tunnel had come to an abrupt end.

Tanar's heart sank within him. His hopes had been rising with each forward step and now they were suddenly dashed to despair. Again and again his fingers ran over the cold wall that had halted his advance toward hoped-for freedom, but there was no sign of break or crevice, and slowly he returned back toward his cell, passing the wooden column and retracing his steps in utter dejection.

But as he moved sadly along he mustered all his spiritual forces, determined not to let this expected disappointment crush him. He would go back to his cell, but he would still continue to use the tunnel. It would be a respite from the monotony of his own four walls. It would extend the distance that he might walk and after all he would make it worth the effort that had been necessary to gain ingress to it.

Back in his own cell again, he lay down to sleep. When he awoke the snakes were with him again and his friend was tapping gently on his chest, and once again he took up the dull monotony of his existence, altered only by regular excursions into his new-found domain, the black interior of which he came to know as well as he did his own cell, so that he walked briskly from the hole he had made to the wooden column at the far end of the tunnel, passed around it and walked back again at a brisk gait and with as much assurance as though he could see plainly, for he had counted the paces from one end to the other so many times that he knew to an instant when he had covered the distance from one extremity to the other.

He ate; he slept; he exercised; he played with his slimy, reptilian companion; and he paced the narrow tunnel of his discovery. And often when he passed around the wooden column at its far end, he speculated upon the real purpose of it.

Once he went to sleep in his own cell thinking about it, and when he awoke to the gentle tapping of the snake's snout upon his breast he sat up so suddenly that the reptile fell hissing to the flagging for clear and sharp upon the threshold of his awakening mind stood an idea—a wonderful idea—why had he not thought of it before?

Excitedly he hastened to the opening leading into the tunnel. Snakes were passing through it, but he fought for precedence with the reptilian horde and tumbled through head first upon a bed of hissing snakes. Scrambling to his feet he almost ran the length of the corridor until his outstretched hands came in contact with the rough hole of the tree. There he stood quite some time, trembling like a leaf, and then, encircling the column with his arms and legs, he started to climb slowly and deliberately aloft. This was the idea that had seized him in its compelling grip upon his awakening.

Dear Sir,—The number of dogs running around on Lake, Westcott and Romaine streets (George street end) is disgusting.

On Westcott street last Wednesday night people could not sleep because of this nuisance. I think you would do well to check up on this district, especially on Westcott street.

To The Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me a little space to ask why our City Council did not allow the citizens to vote on Daylight Saving at the Municipal Elections.

Just because it passed when two previous votes were taken on it, is no reason for putting it in force this year. It was understood at the elections of January, 1930, that we were voting on whether we would have Daylight Saving time for 1930, and the voters were given to believe the same, but it appears that we were voting for all time to come.

Perhaps the advocates of Daylight Saving were afraid to have a vote taken on the measure this year considering the fact that it was passed by such a small majority in 1930. I expect the next thing our Council will be doing away with the Municipal Election.

When some of the Aldermen have been voted in for two years why not let them stay for all years to come and do away with the expense of an election as in Daylight Saving?

I thought that our merchants would try to oblige our country friends this year and leave the clocks alone, so that the farmers could come in to the stores before closing time. Business is bad enough in our city stores without closing an hour earlier which they do on the Daylight Saving time.

Thanking you for your valuable space and hoping the Council will not go too far with their ropes and hang themselves.

Yours sincerely,
A Tired Mother.

Open Letter to Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion

Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways & Canals, Ottawa, Canada

May 7, 1931

Dear Mr. Manion:

I wish to call your attention to a monstrous injustice that is being perpetrated upon one — Chas. F. Jarrett of Lakefield, Ontario — who has been in the employ of your department (Railways & Canals) on the Trent Canal division for the past eight or nine years. He was on the drill scow "Frank Fairen" a couple of years and since then has worked on the dredge "Fenelon."

Jarrett enlisted in the original 2nd Battalion in Peterborough a few days after the outbreak of war in August 1914. He served in the Battalion in which you served as M. O. for a while, viz., the 21st, afterwards serving in France, in various capacities throughout the war and was honorably discharged in 1919 after five full years' service.

About three weeks ago he was informed that his services were no longer required on the Trent Canal. Jarrett at once interviewed the superintendent, Mr. A. L. Killaly, who informed him that his dismissal was on orders from Mr. E. A. Peck, M.P. (Peterborough). Jarrett went to see Mr. Peck, who referred him to the local Conservative committee at Lakefield. They in turn passed him around in a circle from one to the other without giving him any satisfaction as to the cause of his dismissal. I am informed that Jarrett's dismissal is the result of a political argument with one of the members of the local committee. If that is so it implies that a five-minute verbal battle nullifies the debt of five years' service for his country.

Jarrett was informed by the Superintendent, Mr. Killaly, the master mechanic, W. M. Tobe, and Overseer Mr. Jas. Magrath of the Trent Canal, that his work had been highly satisfactory to them all. I maintain that any returned soldier who is giving even average satisfaction in Government employ should be retained in it — irrespective of politics — and certainly should not be at the mercy of a local committee — not one of whom saw service overseas — and only one of whom even had a near relative overseas.

My particular reason in writing is that I can give you information which makes Jarrett's case much stronger than that of the average veteran. I have been Jarrett's medical attendant during the last ten years and wish to state emphatically that he is suffering from certain conditions resulting from war service and that he is one of the most typical cases I know of the type described as worn out or burned out veteran. Two years ago last winter he was confined to bed for about ten weeks and could only indulge in moderate exercise for about another ten weeks. At that time we tried to get his case recognized by Pensions Department but you can understand what our difficulties were — lack of continuity of history, etc. In addition, we did not press the matter as fully as we might have because work opened up on the canal and Jarrett, by taking care of himself the first two or three weeks that summer, has been able to carry on till the end of the season of 1930. Besides, Jarrett is that independent type of individual who would rather accept what the country owes him through the medium of a position where he can work than go through all the fuss and red tape in an attempt to get a pension. If the job had been made to order for Jarrett it would not have suited him any better than the work he was at on the dredge. A part-time job, for only six or seven months in the year and a fresh air job as well.

Naturally this job was not a very remunerative one and would not suit a married man with a family to support; however Jarrett was looking forward to promotion when his turn would come. Now his seniority has been wiped away, and, in addition, the cruel part is this — that his work and experience on the Trent Canal is of practically no value in helping him to get a position in the open market, especially under present labor conditions.

When men who are in A-1 physical condition cannot get work, what chance is there for one who is partly incapacitated?

The local branch of the Canadian Legion tried to do something to help Jarrett but the local Conservative committee would not pay any attention because the president and secretary of the Legion happen to be Liberals. That being their attitude, I took it on myself then to write to two men even higher up in the Legion who happen to be prominent Conservatives, viz., Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, past president of the Ontario Provincial Command, and Dr. N. H. Sutton, Peterborough, zone chairman. Two weeks ago I wrote to these two gentlemen, laying the facts before them as I have before you, and asking them as officials of the Canadian Legion to say to the local Conservative committee "Hands off the veterans." They have not yet replied to my letters and so far as I know have been unable to accomplish anything.

As there is no more time to be lost, I am writing direct to you, as head of the Department of Railways and Canals, and am writing an open letter because I feel the principle involved warrants it. Your answer to two or three questions will indicate the justification or not of Jarrett's dismissal, and conversely will indicate whether or not he should be at once re-engaged:

First: Should a great war veteran, in the employ of your department be retained as long as there is work for him to do and he is giving at least average satisfaction in that work?

Second: Especially should not a veteran who is partly (say not more than 10 or 15 per cent.) incapacitated be retained?

Third: More especially should not a member of the first division be retained?

The other night (April 22nd), Premier Bennett, the leader of the Conservative party, spoke at the Red Chevron dinner in Ottawa. Press reports state that in proposing the toast to "The First Thirty Thousand" he paid an eloquent tribute to "that First Thirty Thousand." Is the attitude of the Conservative party towards "The First Thirty Thousand" expressed correctly by the WORDS of the leader or by the ACTIONS of those satellites who have ruthlessly deprived one of the "First Thirty Thousand" of his means of livelihood?

Awaiting your reply with great interest, I am,

Yours sincerely,
CAMERON SMITH.

PLEASING PROGRAM BY SUNSHINE CLUB

Several Items of Business Discussed by Members of Norham Society.

NORHAM, May 9 (Examiner Correspondence).—The "Sunshine Club," the young people's organized class of the Norham Sunday school, met at the parsonage on Wednesday night for their monthly meeting. Miss Bernice Campell had charge of the devotional period. She was assisted by Edna Evans and Margaret West.

Miss Mildred Palmateer presented the program. After singing the hymn, "You in your small corner and I in mine," Mrs. Clare gave a reading, "Little Corners," based on the above hymn.

Miss Edna Evans played a piano solo. Frank Muggridge gave a very interesting reading "A Chevrolet car in India," being the story of a car that carried some missionaries on their journeys in India.

Several items of business were discussed regarding a summer school delegate and if the meetings would be continued during the summer months. Mrs. Ewart Huycke invited the class to her home for the next meeting.

Mrs. Clare spoke on decisions first to be followers of Christ, and to acknowledge it by joining the church. Lorne Mitchell presented an interesting contest, "Things our grandmothers missed." A social hour followed and the winners of the contest served lunch. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Clare by Mr. Ewart Huycke, seconded by Frank Muggridge. There were twenty-five present.

English golfers are adopting the American no-coat idea.

LOSSES PREDOMINATE DURING WEEK'S TRADING ON MARKETS

C.P.R. and Brazilian Are Leaders in Sharp Rally on Friday.

CANADIAN OILS QUIET.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—Irregular price fluctuations in which losses predominated, reflected almost uninterrupted liquidation on Canadian stock exchanges this week. The accompanying decline in prices was not checked until the last hour of trading on Friday, when under the leadership of Canadian Pacific Railway and Brazilian, the Canadian list indulged in a sharp rally.

Directors of C.P.R. announced that an interim dividend for the quarter period would be paid at the rate of 1¼ per cent. on the common shares, or 31¼ cents a share against the former rate of 62½ cents. While it was felt that the cut was fully justified by earnings of the railway and by the necessity of recent wage reductions of ten per cent. The stock market was unprepared for a dividend reduction of as much as 50 per cent. The shares of C.P.R. broke sharply with the news, and touched a new low of 27 5-8 in Toronto, subsequently recovering to 29 on Friday where they are still 4½ points net lower.

Smelters Also Drop.

Consolidated Smelters, controlled by C. P. R. also reacted on the news that the usual half-yearly bonus of $5 a share would be paid currently in stock instead of cash. Smelters also recovered a part of its loss however, and at 100 compares with 106 last week.

An accelerated movement of wheat to Canadian marketing centres, signs of improvement in the auotmobile industry, and negotiations aimed at a solution of the financing, manufacturing, and marketing problems of the newsprint industry were among the encouraging developments of the week. The stock market was more concerned with technical factors however, and such issues as steels, utilities, base metals issues, and industrials were all affected. International Nickel was one of the least active trading mediums and actually shows a gain at 14¾ compared with 14½ a week ago. Similarly, Ford of Canada "A" although not an active feature, advanced from 19¾ to 20¼ and Walker shows no change at 6 after a week of uneventful trading. Massey-Harris has declined from 5 to 4¾. Steels remained under pressure during the greater part of the week, and losses in Steel of Canada, common, at 29 against 30¾ last week, and Page-Hersey Tubes, at 77¾ against 80¼ last week, reflect the extent of weakness in these issues.

In the utility group the recession was led by Shawinigan which responded to late buying however, and on Friday closed a 42, although at that level they are approximately 6 points below last week's level. Montreal Power also dropped sharply to 55¼, compared with 57½ last week. Bell Telephone declined from 142 to 140¾.

Durant of Canada was little affected by the settlement of legal difficulties and these shares at 6½ are a point below their price of a week ago. Canadian oils were quiet and British American Oil at 10½ compares with 10 5-8 last week while Imperial Oil is fractionally higher at 12 7-8, against 12¾ a week ago. International Petroleum has risen from 11½ to 12, but McColl-Frontenac was under pressure and sold down to 12 7-8 at the close of the week compared with 15 3-8 last week.

TORONTO LIST LITTLE HIGHER

OILS ARE FIRMER.

TORONTO, May 9. (C.P.)—Stocks were slightly better for the final session of the week. The opening was higher. Strength in New York accounted for the rise locally, interlisted issues being the stocks to come out above their previous closes. After orders had been filled and demand had fallen off the stocks held to their opening level remarkably well.

Most of the oils presented a firmer front with B. A. Oil, Imperial and MMcColl-Frontenac finishing with small gains. International Petroleum did not follow the group, but slapped back about point.

Nickel at 15 was up ¼ of a point, Brazilian up a minimum fraction, C. P.R. up ½ point at 29½. Page-Hersey was unchanged at 78, Ford of Canada easier at 20.

MOTOR CARAVAN LEAVES OTTAWA

Party Draw Nearer Wilderness of Muskegs in Northern Ontario.

COAST TO COAST TRIP.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (C.P.). — Organized to buck the forests, muskeg and lakes of Northern Ontario, a motor expedition bent on crossing the Dominion from east to west, arrived in Ottawa this morning, a week after its start from Halifax. The motor pioneers leave late this afternoon for North Bay and Cochrane.

Headed by E. Wharton Shaw, worker and writer in the interests of an all-Canadian route from coast to coast, the purpose of the expedition is to emphasize the need of such motor highway, and at the same time to show that an adequately - equipped caravan even now can cross the hundreds of miles of forest land between Hearst, Ont., and the Manitoba border.

The party is travelling in a large motor truck and the equipment includes a small but powerful tractor and a pontoon raft for crossing bodies of water.

Winnipeg Review

WINNIPEG, Man., May 9 (C.P.).—Wheat prices on the Winnipeg market were less than a cent higher to-day than a week ago but observers considered the slim gains encouraging because increased speculative buying brought them about. Here, as elsewhere, futures trading was quiet during the week ending yesterday.

Increase in speculative demand, particularly for October wheat, offset to some extent the somewhat spasmodic nature of foreign buying. Public interest in the new crop future came with reports that export clearances of Canadian wheat had increased and the lack of moisture in large wheat-growing areas of western Canada had caused a serious situation. Late-week rains were said to have been scattered and to have enirely missed many districts on the prairies.

The May future closed yesterday at 61 1-8 cents for a net gain of ½ for the week. July was up ¼ to 3-8 cent to 62¼ to 3-8 cents, and October advanced 5-8 to ¾ cent to 63¾ to 7-8 cents.

Heaviness characterized the cash wheat market, only a few hedges being lifted by exporters. Steady movement of wheat to both Atlantic and Pacific ports, however, is expected to find shippers and exporters ready to replace stocks depleted by overseas shipments.

All coarse grains, with the exception of flax, advanced a cent or two. Flax dropped 7-8 to 1¼ cents during the week.

CORN ACTIVITY HOLDS INTEREST

Activities of Late Attracting Special Notice Among Grain Traders.

HIGHER TO-DAY.

(By John P. Oughan, Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 9.—Striking independence shown at times by the corn market of late, is attracting special no ice among grain traders. Sudden upturns of corn prices are associated with unusual scantiness of stocks of corn here and with planting delays. Now a more far reaching peril is gaining attention—lack of sub-soil moisture in much of Illinois and Iowa.

Compared with a week ago, corn was one cent to 3 1-8 cents a bushel higher this morning, wheat unchanged to 1¾ up, oats ¾-1 advanced, and provisions 20 to 45 cents down.

In the face of persistent reports of only a slow demand 1,200,000 bushels of corn have been shipped out of Chicago in the last week to eastern lake ports, and elevator supplies here show a heavy reduction. As an immediate result, holders of May contracts for corn are holding the market tightly most of the time.

In addition to Illinois and Iowa, the shortage of reserve moisture prevails in two other large corn-producing tates, Ohio and Missouri. Official records show that all four tates have received less than a normal water supply in the last eight months, and that in parts of this dry belt the shortage has existed for almost two years.

Wheat at present is ruled almost entirely by weather conditions, especially those affecting spring wheat. Harvesting of winter wheat is expected to start in Texas before the end of the month if circumstances remain favorable. Oats are in excellent demand from consumers, cash premiums being the best met with in many weeks.

J. Moll, of Bedford School, and his brother, G. Moll, of the Achilles Club, competed against each other recently at Bedford, England, when their rival teams met in an athletic match.

Trading Is Quiet On Farmers' Market

Eggs sold at 16 to 20 cents a dozen on the farmers' market this morning. Butter ranged from 23 to 30 cents a pound, cream was 30 cents a pint and chickens were 30 cents a pound, with hens at 25 and 26 cents. Baby chicks were 15 cents apiece.

Potatoes were 75 cents a bag, carrots 20 cents a peck, apples 20 to 50 cents a peck. Dahlia bulbs were 10 cents each. Rhubarb was 15 cents for 2 bunches.

Honey was 40 cents a pail.

WINNIPEG WHEAT SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Slim Gains Due to Increased Speculative Buying on Canadian Market.

There was very little feature to the wheat market yesterday, the trade being largely local and small. Prices were fractionally lower at the start, based on the cables which came as due, and to the fact that very little export business could be confirmed despite the break of almost two cents yesterday. However, offerings were light and locals sentiment became a little more friendly when it was realized that the precipitation of the past 36 hours, while fairly general in Saskatchewan and Alberta, was extremely light in the greater part of the two provinces and not sufficient to be of material benefit, considering the extreme dry conditions that existed. The weather to-day was reported as generally clear throughout the west. Seaboard reported a small, scattered export business in Manitobas but the business out of this market was of no volume. The demand for cash wheat was only fair and spreads were unchanged to ¼ off. Offerings were not pressing but buyers were inclined to leave the market alone. Flour trade continued generally slow. Bradstreet's weekly North American shipments were placed at 10,172,000 bushels. This is the largest amount in any one week for about two years, and indicates that Europe is after wheat and especially Canadian. Liverpool closed 3-8 higher to ¼ lower and Buenos Aires was ½ to 5-8 higher at mid-day. Country marketings of wheat on Thursday in western Canada were 284,000 bushels as against 85,000 a year ago. Feel friendly to wheat, especially on the dips. Winnipeg futures closed 3-8 to ¾ higher and on the offers.

Coarse Grains.—These markets were firm but dull and featureless. There were some oats worked overnight for Eastern domestic account, but otherwise the coarse grain trade was almost entirely local. Oats closed ¼ to 3-8 higher, barley 3-8 to 1-8 higher and rye 5-8 to 7-8 higher.

Flax: steady, but very little going on. Closing prices 1-8 up to unchanged.

Liverpool due unchanged to 1-8 lower based on Winnipeg.

Dominion Textile Leads Montreal Market Trend

MONTREAL, Quebec, May 9. — Stock prices were generally strong at the close of the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day. Dominion Textile led the upward trend with a gain of four points at 72 at the end of the week's trading. Among the most popular issues Smelters closed with a gain of one point at 101 and Shawinigan was 1¼ better at 43. Brazilian rose 3-8 to 17 3-8, while Nickel was fractionally higher at 14 7-8. C.P.R. was firm at 29¼, unchanged from last night's close. National Steel Car and Dominion Coal and "B," advanced one each at 24 and 4½ respectively. Abitibi B. C. Power "A" and "B," Canadian Car, Fraser, Lake of the Woods, Power Corporation, and Quebec Power were up fractions. Canada Cement was down ½.

South Africa will extend its irrigation system.

HOOVER RETIRES OVER WEEK-END TO TALK WITH LAND FORCE CHIEFS

Move Seen as Review of U. S. Position in Preparation for Disarmament Parley.

50 NATIONS TO GATHER.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 9 (C.P. Staff Correspondent).—The United States Government is already beginning to prepare for the Disarmament Conference at Geneva in February next year. To-day President Hoover started out for a week-end at his camp on the Rapidan River in Virginia, with the chiefs of the land-fighting forces of the United States. A few days ago opening of the International Chamber of Commerce Convention, the President pointed out the world was more heavily armed at present than it was before hostilities started in 1914, and this week-end party is taken as indicating an assessment of the American position preparatory to formulation of policy to be followed at Geneva.

Stimson eGts Ready

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has been studying the questions which may come up in February and it is intimated the Government is not pessimistic, an attitude of which well informed observers here do not partake. In the next few months every effort will be made to smooth out the disagreements found among the policies of the fifty nations who will sit around the Council Board at Geneva to work upon the draft treaty drawn up by the preparatory commission of the League of Nations. The treaty provides a skeleton agreement for the limitation and reduction of land, naval, and air forces. More than fifty reservations have been made by different countries Soviet Russia objects to the treaty as a whole, and Germany has twenty objections.

During recent months storm signals have been hoisted in Europe. For example, observers here trace to the "Anschluss" the trade agreement between Austria and Germany, the failure of Italy and France to get together on naval limitation.

Navy Another Question

Insofar as the subject of the conference at Rapidan this week-end—land forces—is concerned, it does not appear probable the United States would have any difficulty in agreeing to any reasonable limitation of this branch of the war machine, but when it comes to the navy and the insistence by American experts on large cruisers, that it is another matter.

President Hoover's disarmament speech to the Chamber of Commerce was interpreted in some quarters as side-stepping the questions of revision of war debts and tariffs, but it is the concensus of second though the President had been waiting an opportunity to reiterate before the world continually in the forefront of his policy since he took office.

BANKING AUTHORITIES PLAN CONSTRUCTIVE FINANCE STEP

Will Work Important Change in Commerce, Abroad and on Wall Street.

SELLING IN PIVOTS.

New York Re-discount Rate at 1½ -2 Per Cent. is Lowest in History.

(By John L. Cooley, Associate Press Financial Writer.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 9.—While the stock market was fumbling in a fog of uncertainty, the central banking authorities this week took a step which was obviously intended to work important constructive changes in commerce and finance, not only here but abroad.

By reducing the New York rediscount rate to 1½ per cent, the lowest in history, and by cutting rates in some other centres the federal reserve aimed at diversion of the vast accumulation of funds now tied up in short term securities into longer term employment, at stimulation of the use of credit for industrial revival, and at the repulsion of further gold shipments to this country.

Wall Street does not expect this program can show results immediately, but it will anxiously await signs which will indicate how well the policy is to work. The new rate here is viewed as something of an experiment.

Deflection of gold from the United States is particularly desired since the increment of about $400,000,000 in the last fifteen months is needed abroad. Withdrawal of foreign funds from this market would have its effect on exchange rates and exportations of gold from the United States would be logical. The spread between money rates at New York and London has already been reflected in the strength of sterling exchange; its continued rise would mean an outflow of gold to Great Britain, which only in the last few weeks has been able to check the drain into France.

Professional selling in the stock market this week focussed on pivotal shares, notably United States steel and American Can, but brokerage house tape watchers rather liked the independence of the general list in the face of weakness in these leaders. Trading was dull.

Speculative sentiment got little encouragement from the week's routine business reports. Steel mill activity receded moderately in accordance with seasonal tendencies, the present rate of operations is hardly favorable to second quarter earnings. Copper prices went definitely under their former lows. Automobile output for April came up to expectations, but that industry is now close to its seasonal peak and is apparently at rather a critical point. Wheat, corn and cotton continued to do well.

LIQUOR BUSINESS FAIRLY GOOD.

Despite the fact that clearances are not permitted for liquor shipment across the border it is nevertheless understood that a considerable business is carried on with the United States acting as a lucrative market and consequently the leading distillers in Canada benefit from the trade. Two prominent distillers have their shares listed on the Montreal Curb market while another is on the big board. Liquor manufacturers have their problems to face the same as other industries but, on the whole, business appears to be fairly good with them at the present time.

Income of Hiram Walker-Gooderham & Worts, Ltd., a leading manufacturer of rye whiskies and gin, was hit during the fiscal year ended August 31, 1930, through the Dominion Government's ban on the exportation of liquor to countries whose laws forbade its entry. Earnings fell 33 per cent below those of the previous year. Competition of Scotch whiskies has been a factor in eating into profits to be derived from home trade. It has been estimated that earnings per share for this fiscal year will be 75 cents, which would be insufficient to cover the dividends now being paid at the rate of $1 annually.

At the present market price the shares are giving the holder a yield of 16 per cent which reflects the uncertainty of the situation. Hiram Walker-Gooderham & Worts Ltd., is in a strong financial position, however, with current assets and current liabilities at the end of the last fiscal year in the ratio of $18,783,313 to $1,040,528 or 18 to 1. Of this amount, cash and marketable securities totalled $7,784,915.

QUERIES MADE BY DR. McGIBBON

Information as to Thornton's Salary Among List Placed on Order Paper.

ALL PERTAIN TO C.N.R.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9.—(C.P.)—Fourteen questions in respect to Canadian National offices and rentals in the United States, and other matters connected with the Government owned system of railways, have been placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by Dr. Peter McGibbon, Conservative member for Muskoka.

Dr. McGibbon inquires first when the lease for the new premieses of the Canadian National Railways was signed, the rent per annum, and the name of the lessor. He wishes to know whether the Canadian National has any other premises in New York, and if so, the amount of rental paid. He also asks if similar offices are maintained in Chicago, Detroit and other American cities.

"Does Sir Henry Thornton receive a salary from the Canadian National Express Company, the Canadian National Hotel Company, Canadian National Telegraph Company, subsidiary railways or any other companies?" proceeds Dr. McGibbon. If such salaries are paid he wishes to know how much comes from each company. Finally he asks what the salary of Sir Henry Thornton, stated in the last agreement with the Canadian Government, amounted to.

"NEW ERA" EXTREME.

"New era" talk is again abroad, but this time it is extremely low prices that are being called for. Current depression, as one house finds, is quite in contrast with "new era" gossip of the spring and summer of 1929 or even earlier when it was argued inflated values then existing were never more to be disturbed. Pointing out that we have for eighteen months been paying the price of adoption of such a false economic idea, this house asks, "is it not reasonable to assume, that many are now creating just such an economic theory regarding a protracted period of depression prices?" The conclusion is that it is always dangerous to be extreme about anything, particularly when as at present, the vast majority of people are extremely bearish on the future of commodities as they were bullish on stocks in 1929.

DR. McCRIMMON WILL CONDUCT SPECIAL SERVICE

Eighty-fifth Anniversary of Murray Street Church is on Sunday.

PRESIDENT OF CONVENTION.

Services commemorating the 85th anniversary of the founding of Murray Street Baptist Church will be held in that church this Sunday.

An outstanding figure in ecclesiastical circles, Dr. A. L. McCrimmon, M.A., of McMaster University, and president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, will preach at both morning and evening services. Special music will also mark the day.

Murray Street Church has made steady progress since its small beginning 85 years ago and has fulfilled and is fulfilling, a most important place in the religious life of Peterborough.

Missionary to Indians.

To trace briefly and faintly the history of the founding of the church it is necessary to go back to 1837. In the autumn of that year, Rev. John Gilmour came to Peterborough, after a pastorate in Montreal. He came to take, on behalf of the New England Company, the supervision of the Indians at Chemong and Rice Lakes.

About forty years before that, Baptist work had begun in Haldimand Township, not far from Grafton and Colborne, but in and around Peterborough there were no Baptists. Mr. Gilmour, whose duties for the New England Company gave him much liberty on Sundays, preached to the Indians and also, as occasion offered, to the substantial white settlers around Chemong Lake and elsewhere. The preaching was not at first attended with any outward marks of success, but the preacher was in due time cheered by the response of Mr. James Mann, whose character and solid worth counted for much. Others also made application for baptism, so that in 1838 four were baptized on profession of faith, and the little band immediately undertook to erect a place of worship in the township of Smith, and the preaching of the Gospel has been maintained there ever since.

By the year 1846 there were in Peterborough enough Baptists to warrant the formation of a Baptist church, and the little band opened a house of worship on May 17 in that year. Peterborough was then just twenty years old; it contained two thousand, and is described in "Smith's Canadian Gazetter" of that date as "at present very flourishing." The same authority says that "the jail and court house is a handsome stone building, erected on rising ground in the rear of the town. Churches and chapels, seven, viz., Episcopal, Presbyterian, Catholic, Baptist, British Wesleyan, Canadian Wesleyan, and Christian. There is in Peterborough a fire company with one engine. Two newspapers are published here weekly—the Peterborough Gazette and the Peterborough Chronicle. Post office, and post every day. Principal taverns, the Albert House and the Union Hotel. One bank agency—"Montreal"

The Baptist Church was founded in simplicity of faith and in fervency of prayer, and, as an early record expresses it, the little band that thus united in Christian fellowship gave themselves first to God and then to one another by the will of God.

Occupied Three Edifices.

Since its founding 85 years ago the church has occupied three edifices. The original building was on Aylmer street on the site now occupied by the Gillespie garage. It was a small white brick building. In 1884, the building now occupied by the Canadian Legion on Murray street was erected to serve the greatly increased numbers attending the church. In 1912 the fine building now occupied by the church was built and dedicated.

TRIPS TO SOVIET

MOSCOW, May 9—The state Tourist Company will conduct excursions to various parts of the Soviet Union for foreigners this summer. The trips will require from five to 26 days. One will be to Franz Joseph Land on the Malyguin, one of the ice-breakers which participated in the Nobile rescue expedition.

ONE WHOOPEE AFTER ANOTHER

Those who drive cars sound their horns at least once a second. Any really ritzey car is decked out with three or four horns and two or three are usually going at the same time. Hawkers and peddlers, who average 50 to the block, try to make themselves heard above the din. Every horse in Morocco has to go around with a flock of sleigh bells around his neck, just so you'll hear him coming. This custom hasn't spread to the camels which are liable to come up and slobber down your neck any fine morning. If that doesn't move you out of their path they take a friendly little nip at your ear.

Most of the camels are muzzled like dogs but they can still give you a cheery little nip through the thongs. The camel seems to have right of way over everything short of a sergeant of legionnaires. By the way these sergeants swank around you'd expect that even the Sultan or the grand high muezzin would have to stand aside for him. You remember Sergeant Lajeune, the hard-boiled fighting man in "Beau Geste?" That's the kind of sergeants they have. Tougher than crowbars, friendly as a cobra.

Not So Dangerous.

Reading over these tales of the Barbary Coast before mailing them I see that I've managed to give the impression that Morocco is dangerous to a lone traveller. That's wrong. Every Arab city is divided into sections, usually three, sometimes four. These are European section, the Arab, the Jewish and in places like Casablanca, the high class Arab section. In all of these except the Arab section itself the stranger is just as welcome and just as safe as he is in Peterborough, Windsor, or Montreal. In the Arab section he is not wanted to begin with, he is bound to do things he shouldn't do, such as taking pictures, and if some zealous Moor starts to raise a row about it everyone joins in. No scraps can be private scraps among the souks. The gang just naturally hops in. However, you and I can't tell what they are cursing about, anyhow, so why worry? Other than that and the danger of losing a few stray belongings, nothing very serious is likely to happen.

Question of Drinks.

The busiest spot in all the native quarter is the fountain. Usually it is a beautiful Moorish job of colored tile with water spouting high in the air from some faucets and running like a tap from others. Here the boys line up all night and day filling their goatskin bags. The bags look for all the world like the place where a Scotch piper keeps his squeal because it has four or five nipple-like taps for the water to run out. The boys gallop all over the play with these bags and rent you a spout for about half a cent. For this rental you are entitled to drink all you can hold. Sometimes all five spouts are rented out at the same time.

However if you happen to be one of those hygienic guys who can't stand the idea of drinking out of a dead goat from a pipe some Moor had in his mouth a minute or two before, the water boy supplies a cup. The cup holds a wine glass ful and that's all you can have for the half cent. If you prefer milk there is always a lad about somewhere with a flock of goats. You just give him a cent and he snares a goat, steers it in the general direction of a cup and squeezes merrily away. I must say that these goat milkers are horribly bad shots. That's the only choice you have in the Arabic quarter. You drink from a dead goat or a live goat. As for me I pay 40 cents a bottle for mineral water from Spain.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 9.—Prospects of drought becoming worse in Canada did much to turn grain prices upward yesterday. Official reports indicated that moisture supplied overnight to spring wheat areas both in Canada and the United States was too scant to be of any important help. Wheat was bullishly affected also by purchases to prepare for a possible surprise in the United States Government crop summary due after trading had ended.

Trade comment after the report had been issued was that the Government report favored bulls as showing a probable harvest of 6,000,000 bushels less wheat than the average of recent private estimates.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to ⅜c higher; corn ⅜c to ¾c up; oats, ⅛c to ⅜c advanced, and provisions 5c to 20c down.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 9.—A drop of a cent in the price of butter was the feature on the produce and dairy market here yesterday. Egg quotations were slightly lower, while cheese and potato prices held unchanged.

Still on the downward trend, No. 1 finest pasteurized creamery, fresh and regraded, butter took a 1-cent decline, being quoted at 20 cents a pound.

The only change on the egg market was the loss of 1 cent in fresh Ontario and prairie seconds, in carlots, at 14 to 15 cents a dozen. Extras at 18 to 19 cents and firsts at 16 to 17 cents a dozen were unchanged. British Columbia fresh extras, in carlots, were quoted unchanged at 19 to 20 cents, and firsts at 17 to 18 cents a dozen. To retailers quotations were unchanged. Receipts were 4,927 cases.

Ontario colored cheese was quoted at 9 cents a pound and receipts were 824 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were quoted at 80 cents per 80-pound bag or 90 pounds bulk, and to retailers, 90 cents per 80-pound bag. New No. 1 Florida potatoes were quoted at $8 per 160 pound barrel, and No. 2 brand was quoted at $6 a barrel.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 9. — Firmness in the Liverpool market, disappointment over light rainfalls on Canada's Prairie wheat field, and prospect of large clearances of Canadian wheat for export this week imparted a firm tone to the wheat market here yesterday. Values at the close ranged from ¾c to ⅞c higher than Thursday's final figures.

May closed at 61⅛c, up ⅝c; July at 62¼c to 62⅜c, was ¾c higher; while October strengthened ⅝c to 63¼c to 63⅞c.

BOY CHORISTERS

withdrew their entries, leaving St. John's Choir alone in the class. However, a high mark had to be obtained before they could claim the official "first place." The boys were robed in crimson red cassocks and white surplices and wore Eton collars and red bow ties. The procession of the 25 boys into the church's auditorium was well received by a capacity audience of music lovers at the Festival. The test piece was, "I Know a Bank" (C. E. Horne). This is a two-part composition of a light nature with many technical difficulties. Under the direction of Mr. Mann, with Miss Lily Bacon at the piano, the choir did well and received a long applause from the listeners.

A Further Test

At this point Dr. MacMillan wished to make a further test of the boys' knowledge of the piece, and asked them to sing it again a tone higher while he played the piano. Following the again-faultless rendition, Dr. MacMillan stated: "I wish there were more boy choirs here, as this is a wonderful training for them. The piece was much better a tone higher as boys sound good, clear, round and substantial on high notes. The boys showed good uniformity in the opening, but the lower notes were not entirely free from nasality. They made an excellent showing. They received 84 marks." Dr. Duncan presented the Stillman Shield, making a few congratulatory remarks. This is the second year in succession which the Choir has taken home the shield, and if they are successful next year, they will be able to retain it for good.

Billets were arranged for the boys during their stay in Stratford through the courtesy of Miss L. M. White of the Reception Committee, and in every home they were accorded an enthusiastic welcome. They left Stratford in their private railway car via C.N.R. Friday morning, and spent some time in Toronto and Port Hope before returning to Peterborough. The boy choristers, the choirmaster, the accompanist and the robes mistress were met at the station by a large throng of citizens, headed by Dr. Blagrave, His Worship Mayor Denne, and proud parents and relatives.

F. W. Lefevre, aged 66, formerly postmaster at Newcastle, England, has just been ordained in the Roman Catholic Church.

CANADA'S TARIFF POLICY OUTLINED BEFORE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Chalmers Claims Dominion Intends to Hold Positions We Have Won.

REVIEWS FOREIGN TRADE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 9 (By Ken Clark, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — The tariff policy of Canada is designed to effect a balanced national development, to encourage the growth of a strong home manufacturing industry without placing too heavy a burden upon primary producers such as farmers, miners, lumbermen and fishermen, the International Chamber of Commerce was told this morning by Floyd Chalmers, editor of the Financial Post, Toronto. "The measure of success," Mr. Chalmers continued, "that has attended our efforts is a matter for some political controversy at home, as no doubt it is in every country with a protective tariff."

"Protection to maintain the standard of living without unduly raising the cost of it is the 'noble experiment' upon which we have embarked. Yet I do not believe that the working out of the policy will give Canada a tariff as high as that of most protective countries. The final increase in our tariff may be very small. Our tariff has always been dictated by our own needs; it has never been retaliatory, defiant, or unfriendly."

Reviews Foreign Trade.

Briefly reviewing Canada's foreign trade, Mr. Chalmers noted the Dominion's export trade since before the Great War have grown by a higher percentage than the trade of any other country. "We are a large exporter of raw materials and a large purchaser of finished products," he said. But Canada believes it should have an industrial as well as an agricultural and extractive economy . . . more than 50 per cent. of our total exports are partly manufactured or fully manufactured goods . . . Canada has ambitions toward becoming one of the workshops of the world, and is achieving those ambitions.

Mr. Chalmers, sketching the history of Canadian commercial policy, touched upon Imperial preference. He said: "Britain was late in responding to the preferential gestures of the Dominion and granted no Imperial concessions until 1919, and even these were less than the Dominions had hoped for from the start.

Britain has been slow to give up her free trade ideals—but with the change of British industrial and merchandising methods there is coming a keener appreciation of the value of these preferences, and British industry is prepared to make substantiall concessions to hold them.

Canada, Mr. Chalmers said, was probably entering a new important phase of her tariff-making history which might be the reshaping of the Imperial preference policy as a result of possible changes in fiscal policy in Great Britain and disappointment in Britain's failure to respond more adequately to Canada's voluntary gesture. "An influential and growing body of Canadian opinion feels the best interest of Canada and the Empire will be served by putting the tariff relation of British countries on a strictly economic basis," he said.

The Practical Possibility

"Empire Free Trade, as an ultimate goal, is talked of, but a more immediate practical possibility is an extension of system of Imperial Preference by means of a series of trade agreements within the Empire. . . . the agreements replacing, perhaps, any voluntary preferences now existing but providing for substantial preferences on a strictly exchange basis. This improvement may gain further strength as the result of conversations at the Imperial Economic Conference to be held in Ottawa in August."

Mr. Chalmers concluded: "Canada's fiscal and commercial policy is not static. But the fundamental basis of it is about as I have outlined it, no matter what political party is in power. We have carved out for ourselves a prominent niche among the important commercial nations of the world and we propose to be sufficiently alert and dexterous in the handling of our fiscal and other problems to maintain and strengthen the position we have won."

about to mature. The plan will be simply one of new bonds for old.

Sweepstakes Bill

A bill received second reading in the Senate yesterday which would legalize hospital sweepstakes in Canada. It was referred to a special committee which will consider it in detail. The sweepstakes, possibly, would be patterned after those conducted in Ireland, the profits of which are divided among the hospitals and other charitable institutions of the country. Senator G. H. Barnard of Victoria, B.C., the sponser of the measure, said it would apply only to provinces, the Attorneys-General of which gave their consent and fixed regulations for the schemes.

Every possible opportunity is being given farmers who have received advances from the Farm Loan Board, to pay off their indebtedness, Premier Bennett announced. The Government, he added, was not responsible for the institution of legal proceedings regarding collections. The board is an organization over which the Government has no direct control, he said.

It was a picture of a man fighting for the rights of his race, when Mr. Luckkovitch introduced the question that has become known internationally as the "Polish Atrocities." The Ukrainians were guaranteed certain rights under the Treaty of Versailles, he explained, but these were being flouted by Poland. Eastern Galicia was a land of despair and desolution. The people were being subjected to the most brutal treatment, flogged, imprisoned falsely and sometimes put to death. A campaign of pacification was being carried on by the Poles that was described as "diabolical." Terrorism and brutality was the order of the day.

J. S. Woodsworht (Lab., Winnipeg North-Centre), A. L. Beaubien (Lib., Provencher), Milton N. Campbell (U.F.A., Mackenzie), G. D. Stanley (Cons., Calgary East), A. U. G. Bury (Cons., Edmonton East), A. A. Munn (Lib., Vancouver North), J. H. Stitt (Cons., Selkirk), and C. R. MacIntosh (Lib., North Battleford) supported Mr. Luchkovich. As there was no formal motion before the House no actual decision was reached on the matter.

Jacobs' Bill Advances.

Second reading was given a Bill, sponsored by S. W. Jacobs (Lib., Cartier-Montreal), which would do away with the necessity of members of Parliament, when appointed to the Cabinet seeking re-election. It seemed ridiculous, stated Mr. Mackenzie King, for a member to seek re-election, immediately after a general election, when he was taken into the Cabinet. He thought, however, a time limit should be placed into effect. In Great Britain there was a rule that members need not seek re-election if appointed to the Cabinet within nine months of a general election. This seemed to the Liberal Leader a safeguard of the rights of the electors.

opinion on each question, and conducting the discussion along formal lines.

The 5.30 Closing

On the question of the larger George street stores returning to the 5.30 closing during the summer months; these stores' managers all expressed themselves as supporting the undertaking. Most of the departmental stores reported that after 5.30 their business was so small as to be almost negligible. The benefit to the employees of these stores was stated to be a large consideration. The large stores decided unanimously to return to the 5.30 closing.

The men's wear stores and other smaller merchants said that they will continue to remain open until 6, as has been their custom always.

There was considerable discussion on the Wednesday afternoon closing question. R. J. Kidd, manager of Neill's Shoe Store, made the suggestion that the stores, instead of closing on Wednesday afternoons, follow some policy of granting their employees a half holiday a week, or one day every two weeks and remain open six days a week as through the rest of the year. This was supported by several of the larger stores, notably Grafton's and Dickson's.

The majority voted for the motion to close their stores on Wednesday afternoon during the three summer months except in those weeks in which a legal holiday falls.

Parking Question

Chairman Freel in outlining the parking question stated that the angle parking on the east side of George street for twenty minutes and the no parking on the west side was not proving acceptable to some of the merchants, who even argued that it hampered their business.

He suggested that the merchants consider sending a recommendation to the City Council asking that the by-law be amended to make parallel parking for twenty minutes on both sides of the street. He was emphatic in his belief that parking in the business districts should be controlled, and congratulated the police on the manner in which the existing by-law had been enforced.

Mayor Denne stated that the City Council did not consider the present parking by-law perfect and it was willing at any time to consider any recommendation of the merchants. "I consider the suggestion of twenty-minute parallel parking on both sides a good one" he stated.

Chief Newhall said that since the police began enforcing the by-law two weeks ago more than 5,000 motorists had received warnings.

Mr. Freel maintained that the manner in which the farmers parked their cars off the business streets when they came in to shop put the city motorists to shame.

It was left with the executive to word the merchants' recommendation on parking to be forwarded to the Council.

Retail Credit Bureau

The purpose of the Retail Merchants' Credit Bureau was stated to be "to protect the merchants from the dead beat." Mr. Stinson said that the Chamber of Commerce had the machinery to set up such a bureau, which was in existence here in the past and which would prove profitable to all those giving credit. All information would be supplied by the merchants themselves and would be treated in a most confidential manner. The matter was left over to the executive to decide upon.

James Juby stated that some merchants "hiding under the cloak of selling ice cream, etc., are selling proceries after 7 o'clock and thus breaking the law." Chief Newhall said that if Mr. Juby would inform him of any merchant engaged in such a practice he would immediately be dealt with under the city bylaw.

Unanimously the merchants decided upon the "Buy at Home Week" campaign.

"PUBLIC ENEMY" GANGSTER FILM

Another Underworld Episode of an Unwholesome Series.

CENSURED BY "TIMES."

"The Public Enemy," with James Cagney in the titular role, is just another gangster film, which the New York Times describes as one of the best so far presented. But its title suggests a shade of irony in the light of the Times' indictment that "despite the undesirable earnestness of this film, one feels that it is high time the producers scorned to put forth any more such tales."

In the chapters supposed to be taking place during the first year of prohibition, Tom and Matt are designated by one Nails Nathan to go around to existent saloons dispensing beer more or less on the quiet and intimidate those running the places because they are not selling Nathan's beer. Their methods are to throw the liquid in the face of the man behind the bar, and then Tom, who is ever ready with his fists when he thinks that he has his man cowed, administers uppercuts to the cringing bartender.

When Tom tires of his mistress he shows his fury by hitting her in the face with half of a grapefruit. These two desperadoes hear one day that Nails Nathan has been killed by being thrown from his horse. They dress for the funeral, and, once that is over, they go to the stables and shoot the horse.

In one episode of this virile film Tom, after the killing of Matt by rival gangsters, goes into a store where firearms are sold. He asks to look at a pistol, and an old man brings forth two. Tom examines them, fills them with cartridges and then, to the amazement of the salesman, points one of the weapons at the man, telling him to hold up his hands. Then, with vengeance in his heart, he goes back to watch for Matt's killers. There is a exchange of bullets, but finally Tom drops and he is taken to the hospital where his elderly mother visits him and has every hope of Tom returning home. This film ends with the ghastly idea of Tom's dead body being left erect against the front door of his mother's home by the other tribe of gunmen, who ring the doorbell and flee.

Such is this pretty story of modern thugs and murderers that have padded out the thin and unimaginative libraries from which the films draw their plots.

PARAMOUNT PLANS INCREASED OUTPUT

Production Under Normal—Industry Faces Shortage.

Paramount may increase its feature output to 100 pictures for the new season. This would be the biggest single season program attempted by any one company in the history of the film business. Plan is being considered by Par in view of the shortage of product that is facing the industry. The Paramount program as announced calls for 70 features which means that the firm is looking to increase its own production schedule by nearly 45%. It is also said that similar plans for product increase are being discussed by other major companies.

Executives figure that the maximum product the industry can hope from present indications may not reach above 350 features. This amount is considered fully 20% below the normal supply for the country's theatres.

Indie Field Shortage.

Paramount's new consideration, coming after the company had announced its 70-feature program, and naming 35% of these films, has been impelled by the condition of the indie production field. Precarious producing situation among the indies, financially and otherwise, has made that source a doubtful complement for major company production. It was to the indie field that the majors looked for the extra supply of films above their own for next season's theatre requirements.

Orillia Principal Beaten In School

ORILLIA, May 9.—C. L. T. McKenzie, Principal of the West Ward School, is in the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital, suffering from the effects of a beating alleged to have been administered by William Ainsworth. Yesterday morning Mr. McKenzie, it is alleged, punished Ainsworth's 12-year-old daughter, a pupil in the school, the girl going home showing marks of the strapping.

Ainsworth went to the school invited Mr. McKenzie out into the hall, and, it is alleged, gave him a severe beating. Mr. McKenzie staggered out to the street, an ambulance was called, and he was taken to the hospital. A charge of assault, with intent to injure, was laid against Ainsworth by Mr. McKenzie.

The Principal, according to Mary Ainsworth and her father, had strapped her because she had asked him for more time to copy an arithmetic problem.

Mike McTigue, former light-heavyweight, has opened a grill on 8th avenue, New York.

SCREEN AND STAGE NOTES

Janet Gaynor's new leading man will be John Arledge. He used to be a pianist with Paul Whiteman. His first part will be in "Daddy Long Legs."

Colleen Moore returned last week from the West Indies and announced she is through with motion pictures.

Despite its one week fliv when brought to Broadway for a return, "Dracula," since first produced, has earned, according to insiders, over $1,000,000.

There are about 200 organs in private homes around New York, the owners of which frequently engage class organists to entertain and give recitals.

A Des Moines house manager got a new one the other night when a customer squawked that someone in his section had been indulging in too much garlic. Ushers got busy with flit guns.

Ellin Mackay Berlin and her father, Clarence Mackay, long separated after the heiress' marriage to Irving Berlin, appeared together in Supreme Court last week to fight a $100,000 suit brought against Mackay's Postal-Telegraph and Commercial Cable companies.

They think they have found the perfect story for Will Rogers. It is called "The Ambassador from the U. S. A.," and it's based on a magazine story by Vincent Sheehan, no relative of Winnie. It gives Mr. Rogers a chance to be his whimsical, philosophical self and to utter all the political nonsense he chooses. The story is now being adapted by Guy Bolton and Sam Taylor, who recently joined Fox forces, will direct. Will Rogers has been making a tour about the country on a good-will mission, and if there is anything that escaped him it isn't worth seeing, so you may expect to find some of his ideas of his trip incorporated in his story. In other words, it is another of those built-to-order Rogers vehicles.

With "Smart Money," Edward G. Robinson's new film, completed so far as acting and photography are concerned, the many thousand feet of film are now in the hands of the cutter, or film editor, to be reduced to six reels. "Smart Money" is another story by Jubec Glasmon and John Bright, authors of "The Public Enemy." It is Mr. Robinson's first picture since "Little Caesar."

"The Great Lover," based on Leo Ditrichstein's stage play, is now in production at the M-G-M studio with a cast including Adolphe Menjou, Irene Dunne and Olga Baclanova.

The next Flagg and Quirt picture in which those old rivals, Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, are to appear will be rather appropriately called "Disorderly Conduct" and will have to do with the police department in N. Y. So that the police uniforms and other technical angles will be correct in the new films, Archie Buchanan, assistant to Raoul Walsh, has come to New York to study such details.

Fay Wray will have the ingenue lead opposite Ronald Colman in Samuel Goldwyn's production of "The Unholy Garden," having been borrowed from Paramount for that purpose. Estelle Taylor is the other woman in the cast of this new Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur melodrama. Mr. Goldwyn and George Fitzmaurice, the director, are at the moment busily examining the Hollywood Rogue's Gallery in the effort to collect players to appear as the dozen international criminals and social outcasts described in the story. Mr. Hecht, incidentally, has been engaged by Mr. Goldwyn under a contract which puts the Hecht typewriter at the command of the Goldwyn studio for five years. This refers to the writer's picture work only, and does not cover his literary or theatrical ventures.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE PLANS ANNUAL MEET

Havelock Ladies Arrange Programs and Decide Nominating Committee.

HAVELOCK, May 9 (Examiner Correspondence).—A meeting of the district directors of Women's Institute was held in Norwood on Wednesday afternoon, for the purpose of making plans for the district annual meeting to be held in June.

Representatives from the various branches in the district were present, and a great deal of business was done.

The president, Mrs. J. A. Sexsmith, occupied the chair. The meeting opened in the usual manner. It was decided to hold the district meeting this year at Trent River on June 19th. The morning session will commence punctually at 10 o'clock. It was decided to ask each of the Junior Branches to contribute two musical selections to the afternoon programs on June 19th. Havelock, Lakefield, Warsaw and Keene are the four Junior branches.

The district directors constituted themselves a nominating committee to nominate convenors for the various standing committees. The names of the nominees will be submitted for the approval of the delegates to the meeting by appointing a district convenor for these committees, it was thought that in the case of a new branch, or a weak branch, there would be a convenor with experience in the various activities to oversee or advise.

SCORES OF DIVORCES ARE GRANTED EVERY DAY IN THE COURTS AT RENO

Some Take Only a Minute, Others Last Nearly a Year.

MERE FORMALITY.

(By Frank Chamberlain)

(Special to Examiner. Copyright, 1931)

RENO, Nevada, May 9 (SNS).—Free from domestic tangles, clutching their prized divorce decree in one hand and a suitcase in the other, more than 200 divorcees, the first group to come under the new provisions of the six week's residence law, will leave Reno this week.

In order to meet the great rush of divorce suits now before the Washoe County Court, the Washoe Bar Association has decided to waive the custom of "setting" cases weeks in advance, and instead have instructed the County Clerk to set the cases as they are filed.

Cases were called for the first time in this order on Saturday, May 2nd. If attorneys are not present when their case is called, the case will go over to the next calendar day. Divorce cases which are uncontested are dealt with on Mondays and Saturdays. Contested cases sometimes drag along for a year or more.

A man who lunched with me to-day had been eleven months waiting for his case to be settled.

Rush them Through

Cases are now set ten minutes apart, and it is estimated that in this manner each of the two courts can handle about 40 uncontested cases or possibly more, a day, until all the uncontested cases are disposed of. More than 300 cases were ready to be filed on May 2nd, the day when the new legislation came into force.

I "sat in" on two divorce cases today. This is what happened, in the first case. The second was very similar. Judge Thomas F. Moran was on the bench. The court stenographer was a lady. So was the court clerk. There were half a dozen spectators mostly women waiting to obtain a divorce and desirous of becoming acclimatized to the surroundings of the court-room.

It was 11 a.m. A lawyer, his client and the client's landlady entered the court-room.

Judge Moran: "Are you ready to proceed with case No. 34128?"

Lawyer: "I am ready to proceed."

Judge, to clerk: "Have you examined the records of this case and found everything in order?"

Lady Clerk: "Everything is in order."

Judge: "Proceed with the taking of evidence."

Lady Clerk: "Raise your right hand and swear to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help you God." (This to the lawyer, his client and the client's landlady).

They are sworn. The plaintiff's landlady swears that the client has established residence in Reno for a period of six weeks.

The plaintiff is called to the stand. He states his name, address, and the fact that he has been in residence, "actually, physically and corporally" in Washoe County, Nevada, for a period of six weeks.

Lawyer: "And did you come here with the intention of making this your permanent home for an indefinite period?"

Plaintiff: "I did." (All the while his suitcase is packed, and he has a ticket for the next train eastward).

Lawyer: "Tell the court why you have come to this court. Explain clearly why you are charging your wife with cruelty and inhuman treatment, and why you are seeking a divorce."

The story is told. He was a real estate dealer. His wife accused him of being too friendly with a saleslady on his staff. She hired detectives to follow him, making his life completely miserable. She accused him of wrongdoing She told him that her love for him was completely dead. She ruined his business and wrecked his mind.

Judge Moran: "And did she charge you with breaking the marriage vows?"

Plaintiff: "She did."

Judge: "And you claim that you have been wrongly accused by your wife?"

Plaintiff: "I do."

That was all. The judge then rendered his decision of complete divorce, returning both the plaintiff and defendant to the state of unmarried persons. The plaintiff was handed his decree. The court fees, $20, to file a divorce case, $10 for the defendant's plea, were paid, and the plaintiff walked out of the court-room a free man.

In 1930 in Washoe County there were 2118 divorces granted against 2074 of the previous year. There were 4480 marriages performed in the County during 1930, as against 4168 during 1929.

E. H. Beemer, County Clerk, declared that with the new six week's residence legislation now effective, he anticipated that the divorce figures would be doubled this year.

GIRL GUIDES MEET.

Marmora Troop Studies First Aid Under Lieut. E. Rice.

MARMORA, May 9.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The weekly meeting of the Girl Guides took place on Monday evening, being opened with prayer by Capt. Mrs. T. S. Pearce. Two team games "Relay message" and "Repeating Alphabet" were won by the Pimpernel patrol.

After roll call and Patrol Corners, a company game "Fire, Air, Earth and Water, was played. Then Lieut. E. Rice, took first aid with the company. Following this, Lieut. Phillips finished the story, "Her Friend Tibbles."

During discussion, Capt. Pearce read a letter from Mrs. Tutledge, Provincial Commissioner. She also announced a musical operetta "Summer is a -comin' in," to be held at the Town Hall, on May 26th, by a clever cast from Belleville under direction of Miss J. Tuite.

Queen's Reunion Planned for Fall

KINGSTON, Ont., May 8.—Arrangements have been made to hold reunion of Queen's Alumni next Fall on October 16 and 17. At this time Queen's-Western game will be played and Fall convocation will also take place. Change was made from a week-end Varsity game, due to it being held on Nov. 14, too late in the year to attract graduates.

LINDSAY TO MAKE NO TIME CHANGE

Retail Merchants' Association Decide Against Adoption of Daylight Saving.

REGISTRAR NAMED.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LINDSAY, May 9.—Daylight Saving will not be adopted in Lindsay this year, according to a statement made by the president of the Retail Merchants' Association, which met Friday evening. Last year the merchants were behind the petition which was presented to the council favoring the change in time. After it was in force a short time, some of the merchants changed their views and asked the council to revert to standard time. Their request, however, was not favorably considered.

Although the police were somewhat reluctant about giving out any information relative to the operations of the cheque artist in Lindsay on Thursday, it is thought that the individual was a former resident of Goderich. He was at one time an inmate of the Bowmanville Boys' School, but had recently been employed as a farm hand in South Ops. He purchased a fishing reel, a suit case, pair of running shoes and some wearing apparel at three different stores, forging the names of well-known farmers to three cheques. It is believed he left Lindsay for Oakwood.

It is understood that during the past week three other strangers tried to work the cheque racket in Lindsay.

It was announced today that D. C. Brown, bailiff, of Minden, had been appointed Registrar for the Provincial County of Haliburton, succeeding the late A. W. Fleming. There were about thirty applicants for the position.

SOCIAL EVENING.

Junior Institute and Agricultural Society Entertain at Euchre—Mrs. Hagerman Wins Quilt.

HAVELOCK, May 9.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The Members of the Junior Institute and Agricultural Society, entertained a number of their friends at Progressive Euchre on Wednesday evening in the Orange Hall when twelve tables were played. The honour prizes went to Miss Lena Buchanan and Neil Sarginson while the consolation trophies were captured by Marguerite Dafoe and George Rorke. After the games a delicious lunch was served and the remainder of the evening spent in dancing. The music was supplied by talent from both societies and continued into the wee sma' hours of the morning. A special meeting will be held at the home of Austin Wilde on Monday evening when the officers for the year will be elected.

A feature of the evening was the drawing for a quilt made by the girls. Reeve Sanderson officiated at the drawings and the beautiful quilt went to Miss Alma Hagerman.

YOUR TIRES AND CAR know the difference

Motoring costs shrink on concrete paving. There is less wear and tear on tires and car plus greatly reduced fuel consumption. These economies are definite. They have been proved by carefully checked, unprejudiced tests on all types of roads under normal driving conditions.

Aside from the money angle, concrete highways mean safer driving . . . . better visibility at night and less danger of skidding at all times.

Advocate concrete paving. It is the basis of sound road budgeting, assuring permanence with a minimum of upkeep.

Study Amalgamation Of Church Colleges

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9.—(C.P.).—The question of amalgamation of the Presbyterian College of McGill, Montreal, with Knox College, Toronto, will probably be presented before the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which meets in Toronto on the first Wednesday in June, according to Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston, moderator of the Ottawa Presbytery, and a member of the board of the Montreal college.

The proposal is being given the careful consideration of church officials, Rev. Dr. Johnston stated, as the amalgamation would mean a considerable saving to the general church each year.

GOOD PASTURES NEED GUARDING; DO NOT LET HERD OUT TOO EARLY

Poorest Economy in World is to Stop Feeding When Cows Are First on Pasture.

HAVE PASTURE CLOSE

By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V.S.

In a country where land is as cheap and as plentiful as it is in the United States it is not surprising perhaps that we have not become the pasture experts our brothers claim to be on the other side of the water.

In Holland, for instance, land worth anywhere from $500 to $1,000 an acre. To make that land profitable for pasturing requires no little skill especially where you have to pay in rental each year as much as land sells for in many sections of the United States. The sod has been pastured for centuries. The Hollanders nurse it and protect it as carefully as we protect our most important crops.

To show you the difference between good pasture land and poor pastoring in this country, an ordinary cow can get along very well on 2½ acres of Kentucky or Canadian blue grass, or any other good permanent grazing ground. On the other hand it takes from 10 to 20 acres of our wild western ranges or unimproved prairie land to support the same cow.

Main Rule

One rule is never violated by careful pasture owners, that of allowing the cattle to go onto the grass too early in the spring. The grass must be allowed to get a good start before it is called upon to withstand the sharp hoofs of the cow. It is also very injurious to the sod to allow pasturing during the winter or the late fall when the ground is apt to be wet and soggy.

It is a little difficult to fix exact dates at which cows should go onto the pasture because of the different climatic conditions in various parts of the country. As a general rule, pastures are ready in the southern states about the middle of March. April 1st is a safe day for the majority of pastures in northern Oklahoma, southern Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and states in the same latitude. From April 20th to May 5th takes in the north central states such as Nebraska and Iowa. Across the northern section of the United States it is frequently advisable to delay until the latter part of May or first of June.

One way to test the efficiency of your pasture is to see whether it is able to furnish sufficient feed through the normal grazing season. If your pasture gives out too early it may be that you are using it too soon in the spring.

These are minor points perhaps, but dairy animals should not be required to travel a long distance in order to secure their food. Therefore, it is highly desirable to have the pasture near the barn. Also that it have a sufficient supply of good drinking water in it or near it.

Do Not Stop Feeding

Another mistake many farmers make is to shut off the feeding of the cows in the spring. That is a good way to cut down on their production because grass in the spring is mostly water. It cannot possibly contain enough of the necessary food value to maintain the normal diet of the producing cow. Therefore, you should continue the feeding of grain and hay or silage. As a matter of fact, even the best pasture is not a sufficient diet for dairy cows any time of the year. If your herd is producing twenty-five pounds (pints) of milk daily per cow on grass, you should feed about one pound of grain to every six or seven pounds of milk. A cow that is producing forty pounds of milk daily should have its pasturage supplemented by one pound of grain to each four or five pounds of milk.

This subject of feeding is so important in connection with the volume of milk secured from the herd that I feel too much emphasis cannot be placed upon it. The poorest economy in the world is to save money on feeding. Your cows will produce in direct proportion to the amount of correct feeding.

How to Weigh Your Hay Stack

Actual weighing is the only accurate way of determining the amount of hay in a stack, but there are a number of ways of estimating it. The various methods employed seek as accurately as possible to arrive at the number of cubic feet in the stack, then to divide this figure by the number of cubic feet per ton. First find the length of the stack, then its width, for the third dimension, measure the distance over the stack from the ground on one side to the ground on the other by throwing a rope over the stack. With these three measurements multiplied together the approximate number of cubic feet in the stack will be found by dividing by one-third or one-quarter. If the stack is so built that t slants toward the top from close to the bottom of the stack, one-fourth of the product is taken; if the stack goes up perpendicular or straight for about half its height and then slopes toward the top, one-third of the product is taken.

RAISING BROILERS GOOD BUSINESS

Modern Brooding Methods and Feeds Make Economical Production Possible.

RATION PLAYS BIG PART

The production of soft, tender, juicy broilers has become a business in which many poultrymen are engaged.

Some great changes have taken place in the broiler market. Up until a few years ago, there was the usual seasonal demand for broilers, during the early summer months, with extremely high prices for the first broilers that reached the market. During the remainder of the year there was little demand for fresh broilers, nor were they available.

Year Round Market

The consumer has come to appreciate the exceptionally fine eating qualities of broilers and there is today a year-round market for them. Not only is there a demand for broilers, but the producer is now equipped with modern brooding methods and feeds which make it possible for him to economically produce them.

The ration plays a very big part in raising broilers under confinement. These chicks do not have a chance to pick up on range certain deficiencies which mikht exist in the ration, nor are they able to take advantage of the direct sunlight. A broiler mash, to produce the best results, must contain all of the food nutrients in the proper proportions to promote maximum growth, maintain good health and produce a broiler which will demand a premium on a quality market.

Alberta Sow Raises 134 Pigs In 3 Years

EDMONTON, Alta., May 9 (C.P.)—Speaking of records, here's one for the swine family to shoot at. It is probably a record for the American continent, if not for the entire world, and is claimed for a Yorkshire sow, owned by Samuel Pearse, a farmer in the Meeting Creek district.

In less than three years this proud porker gave birth to 134 pigs.

From May 3, 1928, when this sow gave birth to a litter of 11 pigs, the record is as follows:

Oct. 10, 1928, 15 pigs; March 18, 1929, 23; Sept. 20, 1929, 18; March 18, 1930, 24; Oct. 20, 1930, 21, and April 1, 1931, 22.

BUILDING PREPARATION STARTED FOR WORLD'S GRAIN EXHIBITION

Fifty Countries Expected to Take Part at Regina Next Year.

PRINCE LIKELY TO OPEN

(Special to The Examiner. Copyright, 1931.)

REGINA, Sask., May 9 (SNS).—A prominent agriculturist once said, "Upon the fate of agriculture hangs the future of manufacture and urban civilization. With all that is implied for standards of living and opportunity for culture."

Realizing that the foregoing was based upon truth those responsible for the decision to hold the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, decided to make it truly a world affair. This is evident by the fact that 50 countries are expected to take part and the following 18 countries have officially accepted the invitation to take part:

Italy, Peru, Jugoslavia, Guatemala, New Zealand, Czecho-Slovakia, The Netherlands, Belgium, Poland, India, Siam, Portugal, Switzerland, Estonia, Philippine Islands, The Argentina, Spain, New South Wales (Australia).

In addition to which every province in Canada is showing marked interest. Producer organizations in Great Britain are displaying great interest and there is ample evidence to indicate that exhibits will be entered from practically every State of the American Union.

Russia Invited.

Soviet Russia was among the other nations of the world invited to participate. Up to the present, however, she has not accepted the invitation.

It is not yet known who will officially open the exhibition, but His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, has been requested to officiate. No definite reply has yet been received, but it is understood on good authority that it is quite likely that the heir to the throne will perform this function.

In the competitive classes the total of cash prizes offered amounts to $200,500 and individual awards are higher than have been offered ever before at any exhibition of its kind anywhere in the world. There are 1,701 prizes. The highest first prize is $2,500 and the lowest first prize is $75.

A strong committee has been placed in charge of the conference program with the object of making it representative of world thought along practical and scientific lines.

The main classification of the papers will be (a) Agronomy, which will include: Soils, physics, chemistry and bacteriology; Cultural Problems and Methods; Fertilizers; Weeds; Plant Breeding and Genetics; Diseases of Plants; Experimental Methods (plot work); Seed production and registration, and Irrigation. (b) Insect pests and friends. (c) Economics, including marketing which will include Farm management and costs; Grading; Merchandising and Financing; Storage and transportation; and World markets. (d) Milling and Baking. (e) Agricultural Machinery, which will include Seed Cleaning; Cultural, and Harvesting. (f) General.

Efforts are being made to have papers presented by the foremost scientific and research men in Canada, Great Britain, Europe, United States and other countries.

Special Buildings Built.

In addition to the grand buildings already on the exhibition ground at Regina, a magnificent structure is now being specially erected on the fair grounds for the purpose of housing the educational, competitive and commercial exhibits of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held in the city of Regina from July 25th to August 6th, 1932. It will cost approximately $200,000 and as soon as completed will be placed in charge of the National Committee of the World's Grain Show, who, under the direction of J. O. Turcotte, Dominion Exhibition Commissioner, will immediately commence and carry out the work of interior decoration appropriate for the big event of that year. The building is beautifully situated south of the automobile building. The main portion is 640 feet long and 120 feet wide. Each of the wings are also 120 feet wide and extend 300 feet from either side of the main unit, all providing a floor space of approximately $50,000 square feet.

It is a substantially built, permanent structure with stucco finish, allowing for ceiling space of 18 and 22 feet. Mr. Turcotte is well known in many countries, where he has had charge of similar work for the Dominion Government, and Canadians and others may feel assured that the work when completed will be not only suitable and appropriate for the occasion, but well worthy of the objects to be attained by this great undertaking.

Ample accommodation will be provided for exhibits and conference sessions, and in addition delegates and members will be privileged to see the Regina exhibition, which covers all branches of agriculture, and at a later date the world-famous Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

The Prize List.

The prize list was issued in March, and it has had a world-wide distribution, approximately 800,000 copies being now in circulation. This list is materially as passed upon a year ago, the only important change being in the revision of the classes for corn. The prize list has gone to all the invited countries, and I want to pay tribute to the worthwhile cooperation given in this work by the Canadian Trade Commissioners of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

The tremendous amount of clerical work involved can be seen by the statements of Hon W. C. Buckle, chairman of the executive and finance committee, presented at a meeting of the National committee at Toronto, November 21st, 1930.

"This is closely allied with the work of the various committees, and also includes attending and addressing a great many meetings, keeping in touch with provincial committees, corresponding with officials of many countries, handling a large miscellaneous correspondence, and acting as the means of communication in connection with all national and international activities.

"To give you some idea of the correspondence handled, may I point out that the incoming mail for the month ending October 31st, contained 1,200 letters and the outgoing mail for the same period 1,301 letters. These do not include press notices, prize lists, and circulars.

"Three stenographers and a clerk are employed on organization work, and a publicity director, daily press man, and two stenographers are engaged on publicity."

It is generally admitted that the condition of agriculture is the greatest economic problem before the world to-day, and in holding such an event there are wonderful possibilities for stimulating interest in the improving of the quality of cereal crops, and in the disseminating of knowledge of how to improve agricultural conditions generally.

The Government of Canada, the Provincial Governments, the City of Regina, the Regina Exhibition Association, and many of the more important business and financial institutions of the country are all definitely supporting the World Grain Exhibition and Conference.

The erection of the new building is proceeding rapidly and the organizing plans are rapidly nearing completion, and with the support from all over the world arriving daily, the success of the venture seems almost assured.

HUGE DOG LOSSES PAID SHEEPMEN

Possible Year's Claims Will More Than Equal Revenue From Dog Tax.

BELLING IS URGED

A recent survey of sheep losses, due to dogs, conducted in Ontario by the Provincial Minister of Agriculture, Honourable T. L. Kennedy, shows that this situation is growing more serious. It is quite possible that this year's claims will more than equal the revenue collected by the municipalities from the dog tax. To date, it is estimated that the bill amounts to well over $100,000 with losses running up to $7,000 in some counties alone. At any time, such a loss is serious enough, but during a period like the present when the finances of the municipalities are strained to the limit some less expensive amusement for our stray dogs than killing sheep will have to be found.

A year or two ago, the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers made the assertion that if more farmers followed the old custom of belling their sheep there would be less loss from dogs and also wilder marauders. "Bells will certainly disturb dogs that are not confirmed sheep killers" states Col. Robt. McEwen, of Byron, Ontario, in backing up this opinion, and incidentally as this internationally-known sheep breeder hails from a district not far from one of our larger cities where dog killers are fairly numerous, his remark carries more than the usual weight.

Very Popular Once

Just why the old custom of regular belling is not as popular as it once was, no person seems to know. "At one time, no flock was thought to be a flock unless some of the sheep carried bells," says a writer in the London (England) Live Stock Journal. "To-day it is possible to wander for miles on the downland or on the great plain and never hear the sound of a bell, although there are flocks to be seen peacefully grazing. Possibly it is too much trobule for the younger generation of shepherds to bell their ewes; again, it may be that the effort of the curio hunters have lessened the available supply. It is difficult to arrive at the true cause of the decline. Be that as it may, the hills and the plains are the poorer by the loss of the sweet tinkling, and it is to be hoped that some of the shepherds who possess a set of bells will think better of it and bring them into use once again."

We are not familiar enough with Old Country agriculture to state whether or not this change is to be deplored from the practically economic as well as the esthetic sense, but in Canada, at least, where there is the menace of the stray dog everywhere, where in some districts there are wolves and bears and where we have a good deal of bush and wide ranges certainly the bell has much of practical benefit to recommend it. Moreover, there are on the market to-day, light, easily attached affairs that are just as musical and as far reaching as those rather oumbersome contrivances we associated with our youth.

Stock, Crop Reports From The District

The interest in improved herds of cattle is increasing this year in Peterborough County. During the last month several good bulls have been placed in the county. A number of new herds have been tested for T.B. and quite a percentage of our holstein breeders have been having their herds graded.

In Northumberland

Early sown spring grains have made good growth to date, and a large percentage of the spring grains are now sown. This is particularly true of oats and peas. A number of farmers are holding back sowing barley, being of the opinion that the weather is too cold for barley yet. Considerable acreage has been planted to early potatoes and mangels are being planted fairly extensively. Live stock conditions remain about as last reported. A considerable number of cattle on pasture are showing the effect of being put on the grass too early, although, a number of the better farmers who turned out their cattle early have been supplementing it with hay during the adverse weather of last week.

In Hastings

The weather during the past week has been cold and farming operations have been slowed up considerably. There has been little growth and several severe frosts but no serious damage has been done. Early sown spring grain is through the ground in several places in this district.

In Durham

At least 90 per cent of the seeding is completed. Of course, this does not include the hoe crop. Practically all of the early potatoes have been planted, and growers expect to plant their Dooleys within the next week or ten days. From the few applications that have been received by farmers through this office for farm help, there is every indication that many farmers who have previously hired help by the month are planning to hire by the day to tide them through the busy season.

COOLING MILK RAPIDLY ON FARMS OFTEN PROVES QUITE A PROBLEM

Cans Stood in Well Water Cool Quicker When Continuously Stirred.

USE THERMOMETER

We have reached the season when our dairymen are faced with the problem of cooling milk rapidly. In those sections where ice is stored, cooling milk in hot weather is not much of a problem, but there are sections where ice is not stored, and where it is required to cool milk even for the factory before delivery. To cool milk to 50 degrees—the temperature required by most city regulations — requires some mechanical method of cooling to get the best results. For this purpose there are various types of milk cooler.

Many dairymen, who have the privileges of electricity, are installing some mechanical type of refrigerator. There are several types on the market. This does away with the storing of ice and all its "muss."

The cooling of milk on the farm consists of more than setting the cans into a tank of water and allowing them to stand in water for a few hours. Milk should be cooled from about 93 degrees to about 53 degrees in order that germ life in the milk may not develop. For every can of milk at a temperature of 90 degrees, about 8 gallons of water at 45 degrees is required to cool each one gallon of milk to 53 degrees.

Two Experiments

Professor R. M. Washburn, Director, Dairy Produce Institute, U.S.A., has made some very interesting experiments on the cooling of milk. In test No. 1, the experiment was made with well-water, having a temperature of 50 degrees, which was flowing gently past two 8-gallon cans at once, one of which was slowly and continuously stirred, and the other not stirred. The stirred can cooled more in ten minutes than the other in fifteen, bu it took thirty minutes to reduce the stirred can from 93 degrees to 56 degrees, while the unstirred can had only been reduced to 73 degrees in the same time. With water flowing at a temperature of 49 degrees, the stirred milk was reduced from 94 to 53 degrees in thirty minutes, while the unstirred milk only reached 71 degrees.

Experiments with ice water were very much more satisfactory although in the unstirred can with ice water at 41 degrees the cooling period was very much shorter and the stirred milk took thirty minutes to reduce to 47 degrees, and the unstirred to 66 degrees in the same period. Therefore in cooling milk in the can it requires to be frequently stirred. Herein is where the use of a milk cooler does advantageous work, the milk running over a surface cooler through which cold or ice water is running, is more efficient and gives more satisfactory results.

Getting the milk cool enough by the time the milk truck arrives is no small job on many farms. Men are interested in eating breakfast at that time, as well as getting the milk down to the roadway in time. The writer, (W. F. Stephen, Secretary, National Dairy Council of Canada) has had considerable experience, as for a number of years he was a milk shipper to Montreal. He highly recommends the use of a milk cooler. They are inexpensive and do efficient work. In securing a milk cooler, select one that may be easily cleaned. We have known of cases where cooling devices were used but were neglected and became instruments to carry disease rather than instruments of prevention.

Use Thermometer

It is a good thing to have a dairy thermometer hanging in the milk house, where the attendant may always know the temperature of the milk, and keep it recorded. There never was a time in the history of our country when purchasers of milk, whether for human consumption or for the factory, were more particular or demanded a better quality of milk from the dairyman as now. The consumer requires it from the milk distributor. The concentrated milk manufacturer, cheese and butter man are all demanding a high quality milk, as their markets demand a high quality product.

It therefore behooves all dairy farmers, not only to continue sanitary practices, but to improve on their cooling methods by using ice water or cold well-water or spring water in their cooling methods.

These are the days of quality products, and even if prices are lower than for many years, yet there is a greater demand for high quality milk.

DIP THE FLOCK AFTER SHEARING

Job is Essential to Assure Development, Especially Among Lambs.

SOLUTION IN POWDER FORM

With the first of the present season's clip of wool coming into the new warehouse of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers at Weston, in fairly large volume from Eastern Canadian flocks officials of that organization point out the necessity of dipping at this season of the year. Immediately after shearing, if the weather is warm, is he proper time for the job and if infestation of ticks is serious or if new sheep have been added in the meantime, the operation should be carried out in the fall. With the old style treatments it was necessary to make two immersions at each session, but with the new convenient dips in powder form once is sufficient as the solution is effective for three or four weeks which will effectually deal with any young mites that may hach out from the eggs in the fleece at the time the sheep was dipped.

Cost Negligible

Sheep dipping with powder dips, particularly in the community concrete tanks, now fairly well scattered over the country, is a simple operation where a fairly large number of animals are put through and cost is really negligible, amounting to two or three cents per head. But if this little job is not carried out the animals, and especially the lambs fail to develop and fatten for the simple reason that they cannot fight ticks and make growth at the same time. There are only a few rules to be followed according to the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers. In the first place it is necessary to have fresh dip of proper strength. The animals are put through this slowly, taking a full minute for each one. The head should be shoved under once or twice in order to eliminate any larvae or eggs that might be harboring in the short wool or hairs on that portion of the body. It is best to examine the first few sheep to go through the tank to make sure the dip is penetrating the wool right to the skin, particularly if the fleece has grown much since shearing. Every animal in the flock, down to the newest lamb should be dipped as one of these will soon re-infest the whole flock. If additional anmials are purchased during the summer it is well to treat these also, or dip the whole flock again in the fall. Of course a warm, bright day in May or June, as soon after shearing as possible should be selected for the work so that the fleece will dry out quickly.

BARLEY IS ADMIRABLY SUITED FOR FATTENING HOGS AND CATTLE

Bee Battalions Begin Honey Crop

With the arrival of the bright sunny days of spring and early summer and the wealth of bloom new growth brings, the bee battalions resume their annual work or storing honey. Canada's annual honey crop ranges into millions of pounds gathered in at apiaries located throughout the entire Dominion. We all know that the proverbial busy bee sets a commendable example, and that huge stores of honey accumulate in the healthy hive. A better appreciation of the magnitude of the task which is the bees' in building up their stores, is afforded by figures just released by the Bee Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. As the result of a series of studies conducted over a period of five years it has been found by weighing hives that an average of 31,000 bees per hive wing their busy way in search of sweet nectar from day to day during the height of the season.

High Yielding Qualities, Freedom From Disease Makes It Desirable Crop to Grow.

IMPROVES BEEF QUALITY

During the past few years, the production of barley in Canada has increased enormously, while at the same time export demand has fallen off almost completely. The suitability of this crop to a wide variety of soil and climate conditions, its freedom from disease and pests (for the corn borer it has no fears), together with its heavy yielding qualities, have combined to make it a desirable crop to grow in Canada, just as corn is a desirable crop to grow in certain sections of the United States. One difference is that whereas the United States corn belt is limited area, the barley belt in Canada knows no bounds, consequently we may confidently expect to have "barley to burn" for a few years to come. This is a heartening prospect if for no other reason than to demonstrate to Canadian feeders that we do not have to depend on Argentine and American corn.

Demand at Home

With no export demand for barley in its raw state, the situation would be a sorry one indeed were it not that we have in Canada the facilities for manufacturing this crop into two very staple commodities, namely, bacon and beef, commodities that are in demand both at home and on the export market had an exportable surplus. It is true that these commodities are not bringing the high prices that they once did but when the market value of barley is compared to the price that can be obtained for it by feeding it to hogs and beef cattle, it will be seen that the feeding of barley to hogs and beef cattle is a profitable way out.

It is a fortunate fact that barley is admirably suited to these two classes of stock. As a hog feed, it may be used in limited quantities in the growing ration and up to at least fifty per cent in the fattening ration, with the assurance that it will develop an entirely satisfactory class of bacon which is something that can not be said with the same degree of assurance concerning the feeding of corn in similar quantities.

As a feed for beef cattle, barley is undoubtedly the best of our Canadian grown coarse grains. Properly balanced by cheap, home-grown leguminous roughages, barley can be used almost in any proportion of the grain ration up to one hundred per cent with excellent results. It is not too much to expect that the increased use of barley and other coarse grains, while at their present low price level, will make for a much better quality of beef being marketed, which in turn will help to create a demand for more beef for the future.

For further notes on the use of barley in live stock feeding, write the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for Pamphlet No. 127, "The Greater Use of Barley in Live Stock Feeding," and Pamphlet No. 128, "Canadian Grown Grains in Poultry Feeding."

WOMN'S INSTITUTEE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind
But each shall seek the common weal,

WARSAW

The Institute summer series delegates will soon be making their visits. They start about May 12 and end about June 30. Mrs. Bertram, of Stoney Creek, will visit the various branches in East Peterborough, beginning with Apsley on June 1 and ending with Keene June 11.

As Stoney Creek Institute was the first one organized and Mrs. Bertram has been a member of the Stoney Creek School Board for nine years and has worked throughout the district of South Wentworth, this district may consider itself likely to receive help and inspiration.

East Peterborough now has twelve branches, including the juniors; some districts have less, some more. Muskoka has 26 and one has 76. Before the delegates go out, there is a conference of at least two days, where most unexpected discussions come up, and Mr. Putnam has the habit of springing subjects on any one, be it the thing farthest from any one's mind. The subject has come up. He just looks around and says: Mrs. —— what have you noticed? No one thinks of refusing to give their experience.

One subject which received a good deal of discussion was the length of time the delegates should speak. A few present said they had been at meetings where a lot of business had to be done, or was dragged through, until it was time to go home, when the president would say something to the effect that it was too bad they had taken so much time, but they would give Mrs. —— five ten, or possibly 15 minutes. As the members were already tired, the delegates did not feel what she could compress to the ten minutes would be much good. At other times, the whole afternoon was at her disposal. It was suggested that college lecturers found that fifty-minute lectures were as long as the brain could well take in a steady talk, that certain amount of time should be devoted to questions and discussions. Mr. Putnam stressed the good of discussions with the delegates, while perhaps their ideas were no better, being from a different place, they might open up new channels of thought. What with telegraph, telephone, and, within recent years, the radio, the world is really small, so it behooves us to know what our neighbor is doing and our neighbor is often many miles distant. Not only must we know what they are doing, but be willing to aid and profit by knowing.

MILLBROOK.

"Baking Hints" as the seasonable topic considered at an Institute gathering at which quite a distinguished homemaker, a relative of one of the members, was present, her experience making her presence an addition of great practical value at the meeting.

Some of the suggestions from this particular visitor were: "Use a few drops of glycerine, in the proportion of a teaspoonful to a pound of flour, to make your cake light and feathery." "Salt placed under baking tins in a hot oven prevent contents scorching on the bottom." "Sprinkle a bit of cornstarch on the top of a cake to prevent icing from running." "If you wish your custard pies to be a nice, even brown on the top when baked, sprinkle a little sugar over the filling just before putting in the oven to cook."

Others present had many practical ideas to add to the interest of the program, one of these being: Stand the cake tin on a cloth wrung out of hot water immediately you take it from the oven, leave a few moments, and the cake will turn out without a bit of trouble. Probably not many know that, in preparing bread crumbs for the top of any escalloped dish they should be stirred into a teaspoon of melted butter with a fork, and then spread on the contents of the bake dish before it is put into the oven.

One member stirred up surprise by her recipe for keeping lemons which was to pack them, while fresh, in dry sand, and put in a cool place. "I have had them just as fresh and nice as could be at the end of three months by this method," she was emphatic in stating.

"Did you every try the celery cure for neuritis and rheumatism?" a 'grandma' member asked. And in being urged for the formula she replied: "Boil one ounce of celery seed in one pint of water gently until the liquid is reduced by half. Strain off the liquid and bottle it. If you prefer you may soak the seed over night, in order to extract all the good, and then simmer in the same water. Take one teaspoon twice a day in a little water and continue until it is done, when you will probably find yourself cured. If not, repeat the process, and I feel sure the trouble will be gone. My husband was so badly crippled by rheumatism that he could not walk and this prescription cured him."

A question as to ridding the house of ants which are apt to be so troublesome at this season brought an answer from one members who said she set out fly pads for them, adding the warning to take care that 'baby does not come near the pads.' Also the information that ants always carry off their dead, hence there would be no need to look for 'a flypad cemetery.'

One mother had a question regarding clearing the face of pimples, her growing son having been quite troubled with this 'affliction.' The guest homemaker had an answer for this from experience with her own son: "Make a super-saturated solution of Epsom salts in warm water, and rub on every night. This works wonders, even in a short time, and cured my boy when our family physician's prescription had failed to remove the trouble."

Another question came from a member who suffered from an ingrowing tone-nail, and again the experienced guest had a remedy. Procuring a piece of shoemaker's wax from the cobbler, and binding it on where the nail grows into the flesh, she said, would cause that part of the nail to shortly turn white, and so be easily scraped away. "When the nail is lifted it will be soft and crumbly! I cured mine after much suffering and have had no return of the torture."

CAVAN.

An Institute Branch gives an interesting description of a very enjoyable public gathering in the form of a Gypsy Carniva'. The secretary says: "The members came dressed in Gypsy costume, prizes for the best dressed man and woman being given. Gypsies are associated with the selling of everything and anything possible, so booths were formed in the hall in order to group articles well.

In the Nature Booth were house plants, cut flowers, dried weekds colored to make bouqtets, jelly in glasses, fruit in jars, apples, pears peaches or other raw fruit, in fact anything grown that would not take up too much space.

In the miscellaneous booth were towels, aprons, pillow cases and fancy work. The Treasure Hunt booth was conducted like a Fish Pond. Each article was wrapped in paper and hooked for a five or ten cents a fish, as they chose. One member donated a pair of pillow cases as a prize for this treasure hunt.

At the Refrehment Booth a hot lunch of baked beans, sandwiches, pie and coffee at five cents an article was dispensed.

Each booth was attractively decorated and the whole building made resplendent in color. Four ladies were put in charge of the management of each booth. An orchestra of three pieces playmed almost continuously until the regular program was given.

For the first numer 'O Canada," the hall was darkened and a young man clad in Canadian soldier uniform, stood at attention holding the flag, while the audience sang with wonderful effect. Other posts were a sailor for 'Rule Britannia;" John Alden and Priscilla, while a member read the extract: two young girls in Indian costume pictured Hiawatha. A British sailor then danced 'The Sailor's Hornpipe," and all received rich applause.

It was an unusual program and made use of the young people in an interesting manner. Finally the Gypsy costumes were judged as they paraded the platform, and the National Anthem made a fitting closing number."

In East Peterborough those qualified are Mrs. Davis, Lakefield; Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. Buck, Mrs. Rothwell, of Norwood; Mrs. George Weller, Mrs. Thomas Cooper, Mrs. David Miller of Warsaw; Mrs. Hupple, of Havelock; Mrs. Sexsmith, of Belmont.

Federation fees of 15 cents a member must be paid by the branches. Any branch which does not pay may not vote on the federation representative.

LIFE INSURANCE AS A PROFESSION.

For want of a nail, a shoe was lost,
For want of a shoe, a horse was lost,
For want of a horse, a rider was lost,
For want of a rider, a battle was lost,
For want of a battle, an empire was lost,
All for want of a horseshoe nail!

A familiar ditty, but one descriptive of Life Insurance. It is the nail that binds and holds families in their own little empires. It is the nail that protects business organization when the industrial commander answers the final call. The difference between those who want and those in comfort lies in one word, — preparedness!

The scope of Life Insurance can be best described by the following phrase, "It is the investment for the poor, the middle class, the rich, and all others." This age does not recognize a man as a financial success if he neglects his life insurance.

Only through life insurance can economic earning power, with any feeling of security, be extended into the after-years. Only through this medium can one create, then save, rather than, save then create, which is rapidly becoming old-fashioned because of its many failings and because of the gamble of the game of life.

Investments may soar and crash. Life Insurance increases steadily. It is the investment backbone of progressive North American cities, railroads, provinces and states, public service plans, and only first-class real estate projects feel its pulse. It finances only those ventures that are sane, with little or no risk and that will benefit nations as a whole. It is the stabilizer in the time of depression, increasing at all times in importance with all business, whether financial or commercial.

How attractive is Life Insurance to the young man? For him with the necessary qualities it is most attractive. A profession lined up with the others. Its mission is to spread happiness and relieve the burden caused by physical death, and most sinister, economic death of old age, when one is unable to work, and has to appeal for help to keep body and soul together.

There is no greater thrill in life than seeing a widow's smile when you present her with a claim check. There is no greater satisfaction than knowing you have made it possible for a family to remain united under a familiar roof, and the children in school, becoming better citizens.

The benefits arising from the work are widespread and would take up too much space if described.

It is one of the healthiest and safest careers one can select. It has all the opportunities in the world a progressive man can desire.

For physical development it is an outdoor career. No steady hours, no office confinement, and a minimum of routine work which adds years to one's life.

The underwriter is never exposed to any situation in his work when either his life or his health are endangered. He is welcomed into every understanding home. If not, it is his own fault. He has never shown the true worth of Life Insurance to that family.

The youth entering the Life Insurance profession to-day must have an educational background. He must at all times have the power to analyse a family's need. He must be able to fit this need and formulate insurance plans, whether one policy or a combination of policies is called for, and that will conform to ideas a wage earner may have in mind.

The youth must have a wealth of personality, be able to make friends readily, difficult to anger, and have an unlimited capacity for work.

His appearance and actions at all times must be that of a gentleman, — neat, well mannered, and willing to go out of his way to render service, no matter how remote from Life Insurance.

The successful underwriter constantly teaches people the way to a happier sunset in life. It means long hours of work, but as in any other career, the man who waits for a short cut to success in his pioneer days is found still standing with one foot on the bottom rung of the ladder of fame.

The client's goodwill is necessary. The salesman who can outtalk or outguess his prospects is not necessarily a success. He who makes the most money this way is not a permanent leader.

The confident underwriter who at all times acts in the role of counsellor, radiating confidence gained from past records of honesty and sincerity of purpose is always found to be on top. He has the goodwill of his clients, having only their interests at heart.

Persistence is a golden quality if not abused. Overpersistence is harmful. Firmness rather than persistence is a guide to follow instead of an overbearing antagonism.

An ability to see what protection a man should have is one of the greatest assets. When this is fulfilled, you are a success. Overinsurance is as bad as underinsuring. Your client will not be financially able to continue the policies. He will be dissatisfied. Others will learn of this. You will lose their confidence and goodwill. There will be no gain from this, so you must have a keen sense of value. Be diplomatic at all times for you are handling a most fickle and perishable commodity — human nature.

What equipment must a man entering the Life Insurance profession have? He must have the best all-round academic education he can obtain. The successful underwriter is a success because he is able to talk on even terms with the biggest business men. They are the keenest, but most critical prospects. This calls for a complementary requirement. — knowledge of present-day business organizations, and methods, so he can fit their needs.

He must not be spoiled by education so as to become overbearing. Many of his prospects are common folks in everyday walks of life. To talk their language and understand their simple needs is necessary.

All life insurance companies have a training course for their representatives. They also learn by practical work, being tutored by experienced representatives. The salary is no lower during this apprenticeship. These teachers help the new man make money, aiding him to write new business, so as to receive commissions and collection salaries. But the underwriter who forges ahead is never through learning.

His rate books and helpful literature as supplied by the company are ever a source of knowledge. Grasping the contents of these, he will be a better man. He will be able to fit a family's need in a more adequate, so more satisfactory way. He will sell larger policies, consequently earning more money for himself.

The future in the business is without bounds. There is nothing to hinder a steady progress and attaining a position as high as he wishes to attain. It all depends upon the individual, his capacity for work, his ability as a leader of men, his social and moral standing, combined with business record of good production.

The life underwriter is remunerated by salary and commissions which are higher than those paid by the average positions. There is no limit to what he may earn. It depends upon himself, if he wants to work and improve his mental equipment continually.

Life Insurance is not affected by the business cycle of depression or boom. It is not a luxury but a necessity and in demand at all times everywhere.

For the young man who wants to make money, who is not afraid of work, constantly receptive to increased knowledge of the business, who wants an unlimited field for promotion with no income boundary line and wishes to perform a constant welfare service to a community — Life Insurance welcomes him.

Residence Of School Is Gutted By Fire

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9. —(CP)— Fourteen Christian brothers, teachers at St. Jean Baptiste Separate school, were driven from their sleeping quarters when fire of undetermined origin broke out in the sacristy of their residence early this morning. Brother Daniel who was sleeping on the third floor, was unable to get down the smoke-filled stairway but slid down an improvised rope fire escape and to safety. He later returned to the burning structure and carried the sacred host and other vessels out of the chapel.

The interior of the residence was badly damaged and loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

FASHION HINT

"How to make my old short skirts conform to the new length was a problem to me until I hit on this plan. I dropped the hems; and as the part that had been turned under was darker than the rest, I redyed the entire dress, after having bleached the goods, following directions in the Diamond Dyes package.

"I used Diamond Dyes for the redyeing, of course. I have dyed many things with these wonderful colors. They have saved me many dollars and have never failed to give perfect results—smooth, even colors—fast to wear and washing. Friends think my things are new when I redye or tint them with Diamond Dyes. They do give the most gorgeous colors!"

Mrs. G. G. Levis, Quebec.

What To-day Means To You.

'TAURUS'

If May 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:45 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 1:15 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. and from 6:15 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger hours are from 10:30 a.m. to noon, and from 4 p.m. to 5:45 p.m.

May 9th, according to the astrological signs, presages an atmosphere of lassitude and lethargy. No work should be essayed that demands close attention and keen concentration. Do what is necessary and be satisfied! After unset, conditions favor lovers and sweethearts.

A child born on this May 9th will be winsome and winning. It will work hard at its studies, but a poor memory will handicap it. As maturity approaches, it will reveal a strong, high principled character, with a keen sense of justice, and a good fund of common sense.

Born on May 9th, many envy you because of what they call "your luck." They forget that you show versatility, adaptability, and shrewdness, these virtues have only been acquired after a long struggle with an inner self that craved self-indulgence and the way of least resistance. Only by super-human efforts have you been able to metamorphise your character, and have been enabled to substitute for the weakne ses of yesterday the virtues of today. You have overcome the handicaps of youth, but it has not diminished your charm or given you a swollen head.

In your own effective, but quiet, way, you are self-confident, but never blatantly so. You possess much courage, and never acknowledge defeat. As a matter of fact, you are at your best when your back is to the wall. Your views are broad and tolerant; you are in no way wedded to tradition or controlled by convention.

Your ambition is unlimited, but it would be well for you not to overtax your strength or powers of endurance. It is advisable to remember that the human engine needs a periodical overhaul. If this policy be pursued, rapid depreciation can be averted. Your home life promises a good share of solid happiness, and all the family circle will both love and respect you.

If May 10th is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. and from 4:10 p.m. to 7 p.m. The danger hours are from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.

May 10th, according to astrological indications, does not promise to be 'a day of rest and gladness.' On the contrary, there are denoted many worries and a loss, and the only compensations will be found in the consolation and help received from unexpected quarters.

Children born on this May 10th will, in early years, be inconsiderate, only interested in themselves and not at all appreciative of anything done for them. In after years, they will regret this attitude and do their utmost to atone for former neglect and indifference.

Born on May 10th you are impulsive, clever and never imitative. Quiet and reserved, you do not readily entrust your thoughts and ideas to others. You give few confidences, and receive few. As a business executive, you should be a success, although your habit of making snap judgment on important matters is a danger that you should try to avoid.

You have a strong sense of justice, but your sympathies induce you often to arrive at a wrong verdict. Your emotions, rarely apparent to others, are very strong, and you unconsciously allow them to color all your actions. You are idealistic, and are never satisfied with anything but the best. You are more exacting of yourself than of others.

Susceptibility is not one of your weaknesses. When, however, you do fall in love, you will be hard hit and give all you have. Unless your affection is fully reciprocated, you are going to have a bad time.

You are energetic and hardworking, and whenever impulsiveness does not lead you astray, your efforts will be crowned with success. You do not care for society, and are happy with the congenial friends, with whom you can think aloud—the acid test of true friendship.

GAY MUSIC HEARD IN OPERA MARTHA WELL PRESENTED

Most Appreciative Audience Sees Presentation of Martha.

TALENTED CAST.

(By Jeanette.)

"Martha" or "The Fair at Richmond," Friedrich von Flotow's graceful comedy opera, in four acts, was presented at the Grand Opera House last night under auspices of the Men's Association and the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, before an audience that might have easily been larger, but was certainly most appreciative.

The flowing, melodious music was beautifully rendered, and the various solo and quartette numbers were heartily applauded. A great deal of time and effort must have been expended by the director, Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., in training the large chorus and the principals. The orchestra which played during intermissions and accompanied the score was a wonderfully fine adjunct to the presentation, under leadership of Mrs. John Foster.

The costuming and staging was also splendidly done. Each of the four acts had a different setting that harmonized finely with the atmosphere of the scene and the costuming was brilliant. As fine court ladies, for the hunting scene in Richmond Forest, the ladies wore riding habits, while their pannlered frocks and puff sleeves were in keeping with the scene at Richmond Fair, when the girls came to offer their service to those farmers who wished to engage them by the year. The outfits of the men also were very appropriate in the various acts, with a great deal of variety to the choruses and the opening of the third act, in Richmond Forest.

The action of the opera centers about the pranks of Lady Harriet Durham, maid of honor to Queen Anne, and Nancy, her friend. They are bored with the monotony of court life and decide to go in disguise to the Fair at Richmond. There they become engaged as maidservants to Plunkett and Lionel, a farmer and his companion, and run away after being taken to their farmhouse. The men pursue them and Lionel, in the Forest scene, pleads with Harriet, who spurns his suit. He is arrested by the sheriff for annoying the noble lady and is taken away. Later, when a mysterious ring has been shown to the queen, it is discovered that Lionel is of gentle birth and all ends happily.

Talented Cast.

Mrs. Bruce Munro had the part of Lady Harriet, and her sweet soprano voice, with a powerful range, was heard to much advantage in the many solos in this part, with special applause for the lovely bit, "The Last Rose of Summer." Miss Jessie Pattison was Nancy, friend of Lady Harriet, her rich, warm contralto making a splendid impression in her songs, particularly in one beautiful solo, "O voice of love, so true, so deep."

Harold Coulson showed some especially fine histrionic ability in his portrayal of the role of the ancient beau, cousin of Harriet, Sir Tristan Mickleford, while the part of the Sheriff of Richmond was excellently done by George East, whose bass voice was just right in the role.

The two principal roles for the men were in the hands of William H. Grieves as Lionel, and George Coleman, Jr., as Plunkett, a wealthy farmer. Mr. Grieves' very fine tenor was heard to exceptional advantage in several solos, dominant among them being the melodious number, "Like a Dream," "O when she rose, fair on my sight,' while Mr. Coleman's resonant baritone rose to superb heights in a memorable solo, the finale of the third act, where he grieves over the fate of Lionel. In the famous Porter song he was also remarkably good.

The opera abounds in gay choral music, the lilting air of the Fair chorus being especially tuneful and gay, and there were many splendidly sung choruses, duets, and quartettes, notable among the latter being the "Midnight Chimes" selection.

"Love's a hunter," in the Forest scene was one of the brightest of the choral effects, and was gaily sung by the group of girls in dark riding habits, who closed by vivaciously chasing Lionel from the stage.

Filled with gay, buoyant music, with a romantic theme and a very capable cast, the production of "Martha" was creditable and entertaining in the extreme. Mr. Chenhall and his assistants are to be congratulated on the mode of their presentation of such a lively and melodious opera. To prepare and present such a production is a feat that requires much care and skilful effort.

At the conclusion of the performance, pretty bouquets of flowers were presented to Mrs. Munro and Miss Pattison, by two dainty little girls, Mary Dodds and Jean Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McIntyre, Maitland avenue, announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Winnifred Jean, to Mr. John Malven Hinchcliffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hinchcliffe, Toronto. The marriage to take place early in June.

The little tea-room conducted in connection with the Rainbow Sale by the Women's Guild of All Saints' Church was a dainty adjunct, its arrangement carried out very effectively wth a picket fence and rainbow arch in colors of mauve, pink, orange, blue, green and yellow. The central tea table was done with crepe paper novelty decorations fashioned in rainbow effect and centered by yellow daffodils, and the small tables had silver bud vases filled with rose tulips and rainbow hued candles. Mrs. F. C. Roberts was convenor of the tea room. Tea was poured by Mrs. R. Cottrell, Mrs. J. Black and Mrs. J. Elliott, assisted by Mrs. A. W. Clysdale, Mrs. A. Milne, Mrs. G. Meeks, Mrs. T. Sabin, Mrs. E. Dillon, Mrs. E. J. Brown, Mrs. D. J. McLeod, Mrs. C. Hotston, Mrs. E. Beatty and Miss Muriel Wallace.

The auditorium of Mark Street United Church was converted into a home by the members of the Women's Association on Thursday evening, when they had a very jolly and successful measuring party there. The centre of the large auditorium was arranged in the style of a modern living room, with furniture, rugs and floor lamps of the latest type. On the west side was a modern tea room, "The Elite," while the east side was converted into Ye Olde Tyme Supper room, with old china on the tables and old time eatables served. The convenor, Mrs. J. E. Moore, with Mrs. E. J. Clark, both in costume, poured tea, assisted by Mesdames Payne, R. Record, Binks, Eason. In the modern tea room, ladies assisting were Mesdames Hurl (convenor), Doxsee, W. Clarke, pouring tea; Mesdames Pomeroy, F. Cox, Benson, Hendry, while assistants for refreshments were Mesdames Agnew, Cooper, Long, Welsh. Assisting at the door were Mesdames G. Record and Thorn, and attendants in the living room were Mesdames E. Wand, A. Cox, Stephenson, Thornley, White, McIlvena. A feature of the affair was the very attractive costumes of many of the ladies, including Mesdames E. Wand (president of the society), J. E. Moore, E. J. Clark, Eason, Stevenson, R. Record, H. Cooper, Binks, D. White. A very pelasing program in the afternoon and evening consisted of choruses by the ladies of the modern and old-tyme tea rooms, in costume, and the following numbers: Grand March by members of the association; vocal solos by Mrs. W. Hepburn, Mrs. M. Braund, Mrs. T. E. Curvin, Mrs. W. Davies, Mr. Clayton Telford; a vocal duet by Mrs. Clayton Telford and Mrs. Ingram; a piano solo by Mrs. W. A. Greenslade; recitations by Miss Gwen Parnell, Miss Queenie Hope and Miss Ruth Ellis, and several selections by Mr. Mosley. Accompanists were Mrs. Greenslade, Mrs. Telford and Miss Muriel Davis. During intermissions, pleasing old-time songs were sung by Mrs. Greenslade, Mrs. Curvin and Mrs. Telford. General convenors for the party which was enjoyable and unusual, were Mrs. A. J. I wonder how many of you readers realize that the selection of a writing desk is a matter of importance?

• • • • • • •

It must suit the needs of the owner, and it must fit into the general decorative scheme of the room in which it is to stand.

• • • • • • •

Fortunately there are endless types of writing desks from which to make a selection, these styles having been developed through the ages in response to individual requirements.

• • • • • • •

There is one with its many drawers, its drop leaf and flat top of medium height and a classic in America. In this type of desk the close relation between a bureau and a desk is immediately recognized.

• • • • • • •

Such a desk takes up the minimum space for the maximum convenience.

• • • • • • •

It is admirable to use in an apartment living room which at night has to serve as a chamber. The drawers can serve admirably for bureau purposes without in any way lending a sleeping-room aspect to the living room.

• • • • • • •

The writing desk feature is entirely separate and complete. When the lid is dropped, small drawers, pigeon holes, etc., in ample array are disclosed.

• • • • • • •

The old-fashioned secretary is another adequate desk combination that is returning to favor. The central desk section has drawers, pigeon holes, etc.

• • • • • • •

A drawer shelf pulls out, thus supplying more writing space, and a comfortable amount of room for one's legs when seated before it. Closets fill the section below the writing part and a bookcase above offers shelves for reading matter.

• • • • • • •

These shelves are often used today to house choice porcelains if the secretary is in a dining room. The glass doors protect the treasures.

• • • • • • •

Spinet desks, so named because of their resemblance to the musical instrument of long ago, are dainty pieces of furniture that accord well with old-fashioned furnishing.

• • • • • • •

When the spinet was no longer useful for modern music, many families had these instruments made into writing desks. So successful was the venture that it began the present style for spinet writing desks.

DIFFERENT DEGREES OR KINDS OF RHEUMATISM IN JOINTS

You have a friend who has been suffering with rheumatism, and after removal of one or two infected teeth, the pain in the joints disappears in two or three days, and the stiffness is gone in two or more weeks.

Another friend, suffering with rheumatism has two or more infected teeth removed and the pain and stiffness increases immediately. In a few days or a week the pain gradually disappears, but the stiffness remains for a considerable time, gradually disappearing within six months or a year.

Another friend, likewise suffering with rheumatism, has doubtful teeth removed, the pain gradually disappears, but the stiffness remains just as severe as ever, months afterwards.

Now just as individuals very in size and shape, height and weight, so also do they vary in the way their constitution meets or resists ailments.

Thus the organisms that cause rheumatism or arthritis, as inflammation of the joints is called, meet with more opposition in some individuals than in others.

In the first case mentioned above, the resistance of the patient to the organisms was so strong that the organisms could not get a firm hold on the system and were removed from the body by the circulation of the blood in a very short time.

In the second case, the organisms got a somewhat firmer hold, and remained in the intestine for some months, from whence they kept up a certain amount of trouble or stiffness in the joints. Gradually they were removed from the intestine or other part by the circulation of the blood which has perhaps been aided by heat and exercise.

In the third case the organisms have caused a deposit of mineral salts about the joint which may imprison the organisms, or the deposit naturally interferes with the smooth working of the joint and causes pain.

Naturally the treatment in all rheumatic conditions after the inflammation has gone and the temperature is normal is the use of heat in all forms to increase the circulation.

Heating the joint with hot water bags, or baking, then moving the joint gently, and then using the heat again, is the safe method of getting rid of the stiffness in the joint.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

MAN

This is not man, this creature raised from dust,
An abject wretch, the slave of shame and lust,
With power alone to crush his brother down
While deeds of hate and blood form life's black crown:
And brooding ever on his shadowed way,
Dark lies the Fear that encompasses his day.

Eyes once mist-dimmed must seek the man God planned:
Of faith upright and clean of heart and hand—
One glimpsing visions of his grand estate,
A king who conquers life and laughs at fate.
Unbounded lie the heights he may aspire
To scale, led ever by divine desire.

Unnumbered are the wonders he has wrought
In all the regions of most lofty thought:
For he is victor over air and sea,
And of vast realms unseen has mastery:
Of hidden chambers, where he walks alone,
And the strange secrets of the soul are known.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

Quid Est keeps us going. Good luck to you, Quid Est, you do your very best to be a kindly neighbor by writing a friendly letter.

I cannot go to the woods but you bring the woods to me. That bowl of hepaticas I could almost see. I have a little garden, in size not many feet, but that little piece of ground brings me many a treat—beans, beets and carrots to make a hearty dinner; lettuce, cucumber and radish to make a little relish.

Ad Infinitum, I think I would live for peace as you are not strong. May you be so Divinely controlled that you will lighten other's burdens and increase their faith, is my sincere wish for you.

Neighbors, do come along and write a few lines for company. There is plenty of interesting reading in the paper, but it is not the same as a letter.

Hepatica.

Thank you for your letter, Hepatica, and I am sure Quid Est and Ad Infinitum will appreciate your interest in their letters. Now that Quid Est, Ad Infinitum, Matilda and you have written, I think the other neighbors will be writing. We will hope so, at any rate. And I have a nice long letter from Water Lily which will be printed tomorrow.

OUR MAIL, Women's Page, Friday, J.C.

Dear Anne:

Did you ever have a pet lamb? We generally have from one to three. I do love the little things, but, oh, they are nuisances.

No place is sacred to them. They are such trusting things, so are the ewes. If anything is the matter they will come to one, look up in their face and b-a-a most beseechingly. I was not a farmer's daughter therefore, perhaps, the wonderful things on a farm appeal to me more and possibly having knocked around before and had some pretty hard hits, has also helped me appreciate the good of a farm. Unemployment does not trouble us, I assure you. While I have often longed for rest—a long one will come sometime—never have I longed for nothing to do. Give me work to do and strength to do it; so far that has generally been my lot.

Perhaps I am back too soon, but Ad Infinitum appealed to me. I am so glad she is feeling better. I know from her tone she is much better, but she must not overdo herself, or she will be weak again and when physically weak, one's nerves are a little harder to manage. Indeed, I am much older than Ad Infinitum.

About her problem, you have given her good advice and here is a little life story. When I was a little girl, a new neighbor moved into a house whose garden cornered on ours. For several years she borrowed mother's whitewash brush, a really good one. Their house was much larger than ours, even. Our brush wore out; our neighbor got a new one. Mother never dreamed of her doing anything but lend hers so sent one of us over to borrow it, but my sister was told they had a new brush and would not lend it. Also mother had kept them in rhubarb and they had twelve in the family. Mother gave them roots of it. Something happened our rhubarb and mother, knowing they had lots, sent over for some. She gave me a small bundle and told me to tell my mother that would be ten cents. For ten cents on the market the bundle would have been twice as large. Never again did mother asked anything of them unless it were actually to buy but when there was sickness in the house, mother sent delicacies. She just knew what they were and acted accordingly. I go to see those who are left of the family.

I do not think they tried to put it over us, they just were pretty close and made money faster than we. We think we are better off and pity them now.

Unless something very strange happens you will not hear from me again for two months. I do miss some of the letters.

Yours sincerely,

Quid Est.

I am hoping that something very strange will happen, Quid Est, because I don't nkow what we would do without you for two whole months! Your letters are so interesting and also contain such helpful advice and I am sure that Ad Infinitum, as well as the other readers, will read your letter with interest. No, Quid Est, I have never had a pet lamb.

W.A. OF FLEETWOOD HAS BUSY SESSION

Ladies Arrange to Have New Cement Platform Built in Front of Church.

FLEETWOOD, May 9.—The Fleetwood Women's Association held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Cummiskey on Wednesday afternoon with an increased attendance of members.

The president of the association, Mrs. Tisdale, occupied the chair and led the discussion of various items of business.

It has been arranged to have a new cement platform constructed in front of the church. Mr. Andy Leslie has taken the contract for the work, the men connected with the church to lend assistance when necessary.

Further plans were made for the purchase of new choir books to be added to the church property.

The work commenced for the Autumn bazaar was reported, and comments made upon same.

The president delighted the assemblage by an appropriate and well-rendered reading entitled, "The Ladies' Aid."

The society accepted the kind invitation of Mrs. Ernest Staples, to hold the June meeting at her home. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Cummiskey, Mrs. Clare Staples and Mrs. Tisdale.

COLLEGE GIFT.

An inexpensive little gift for the college girl is a smart little clothespin apron, with miniature line and tiny pins in the pockets. Almost all school girls do some laundering.

STARTED BY CARTIER IN 1534

The work of measuring the real direction of the magnetic needle at different places in Canada is an incidental in the activities of the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, Canada. This work was started by Jacques Cartier in the gulf of St. Lawrence in 1534, and continued by Sir Francis Drake on the Pacific coast in 1579, Master John Davis in Davis Strait in 1585, Captain William Cook and Captain Vancouver on the Pacific Coast in 1778 and 1792, and Sir John Franklin in the interior in 1819.

FOR ANY CHILD

CHILDREN are happy and carefree by nature, so when they cry for no apparent reason any careful mother worries. No one can always guess just what is wrong but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as baby has a fretful spell, is feverish and cross and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes it is constipation. Just keep Castoria handy and give freely for any of the above conditions; relief will follow promptly.

All through babyhood, Castoria is a mother's standby, and wise mothers do not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Just increase the dose of Castoria and keep the youngster's stomach sweet and the bowels in good order.

To be sure of getting genuine Fletcher's Castoria you should look for this signature: Chas. H. Fletcher

GLADIOLUS PROVES POPULAR FLOWER

Many Are Brilliant Hued and Make Striking Display.

The gladiolus is one of the most popular flowers, and rightly so. It is of easy culture and can be obtained in a great range of colours, with flowers of various shapes and sizes. Some of the flowers are very brilliant in colour and some are of soft and subdued hues, suiting all tastes. The effect of a number of these flowers in bloom on a single stem at one time is very striking.

Any good garden soil is suitable. The corms or bulbs may be planted as soon as the frost is out of the ground in the spring but where the season is long a time is chosen that will bring them into bloom when required. They are planted three to four inches deep in groups, with the corms about four inches apart or in rows two to three feet apart. Do not use diseased corms. They should be in full sunlight and the soil should be kept well cultivated to keep down the weeds.

For cut flowers the stems may be cut when the first bud opens, leaving two sets of leaves to help build up the new corms. The corms are dug before there is danger of their being frozen and left to dry in the cellar and kept dry all winter.

There are hundreds of varieties of gladioli and many varieties have been tested at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ontario. A few of the best ones are the following: Albatross, Joerg's White, Mrs. Dr. Norton, Apple Blossom, Golden Dream, Golden Measure, Dr. F. E. Bennett, Majestic, Sultan, Purple Glory, Apricot Glow, Giant Nymph, Pfitzer's Triumph, W. H. Phipps, Evelyn Kirtland, Charles Dickens, Veilchenblau, Anna Eberius.

TIMELY HITTING GIVES TORONTO 8 TO 0 VICTORY

Mills Holds Pests to Four Hits, Evening the Series at Two All.

LEAFS COLLECT FOURTEEN.

Winners Connect For Six Runs on Five Hits in Fifth Frame.

TORONTO, May 9.—Arthur Mills was responsible for a high-class pitching effort over at the Fleet Street ball yard yesterday afternoon, and those psky Skeeters, who have been causing the home help some concern of late, were forced to yield an 8-to-0 victory to the Leafs.

The victory gave the Leafs an even break in the four-game series, and kept their heads above the .500 mark.

Mills limited the Jersey City batsmen to four scattered hits and breezed right along as though it was the easiest thing in the world to hand the visitors blanks inning after inning. He didn't perform any strike-out feats, getting nary a batter by that means, but what he offered the visitors they could not place safely, except on rare occasions. He was not in any generous frame of mind either, for he only issued a couple of bases on balls, and even those did not provoke any particular threat from the men of Toporcer.

Anyway, it can be considered, Mills' effort was a masterly one. He did not confine his work exclusively to pitching, either. He was one of the Leafs prominent stickers of the afternoon. He got two hits in three legal appearances at the plate, got to first base safely every time he came to bat and scored one of the Toronto runs, in addition to driving in another.

Visitors Use Three Pitchers

The Leafs collected fourteen hits off Berlyn Horne, Kennar Graf and Charles Perkins. Horne was charged with the loss. The Leafs practically won the game in the first frame, which Morehart started with a triple to deep right centre, scoring later on a long fly by Billy Rogell. But the big assault on Horne was not launched until the fifth, when the locals registered six runs on five hits, including a home run by "Chick" Shiver. Shiver, who has been threatening in each game to clear that left field barricade, pelted the ball up against the top section of signs in deep left centre, and although the ball bounded back into the field, Shiver easily navigated the base paths. Under the rules it was a home run in any case, as the top fence is located back of the lower one and any ball that clears the first fence is out of the park.

Horne did not appear again after that inning. Graf took up the pitching burden in the sixth and was fortunate to have only one run scored on him in that frame. The Leafs got three more hits, including a double by Harry Davis, but Ken Strong, with the bases full, could not deliver on this occasion.

MONTREAL SQUAD AFTER CONACHER

'Big Train' May Coach the Red and Black Succeeding Billy Hughes.

THE FORWARD PASS.

(By Leonard L. Knott)

MONTREAL, May 7—Lionel Conacher, once the "big train" of Canadian rugby football, when he captained the Toronto Argonauts to two Big Four and one Dominion Championships, now more or less National Hockey League star may be signed up as coach of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association rugby squad next fall.

Adoption of the new forward pass rule in Canadian rugby gives Conacher an edge on other Canadian coaches, and since the M.A.A.A. lost Bill Hughes, who has taken the Hamilton Tigers under his wing, the Montreal Club is said to have opened negotiations with Conacher and is confident that he will undertake to lead the winged wheelers in their championship quest this year. Ottawa Senators are also said to have been making overtures to the husky Maroon Hockey Club defence star, but he is believed to favor Montreal.

Whether or not Conacher is taking the M.A.A.A. offers seriously, the fact remains that the former gridiron star is prolonging his post-season visit to Montreal longer than in other years and was a constant spectator at the six-day bicycle race.

Favors Forward Pass

Conacher, who has played and coached in both the United States and Canada, is strongly in favor of the forward pass rule, and thinks it will do much to speed up the Canadian game. In this respect his comments on the new rule perhaps unconsciously, provide a strong advertisement that he is open for a job coaching a Canadian team for no Canadian players and few coaches know anything about the forward pass, he is careful to point out.

"Any good Canadian rugbyist can catch and handle a football," he says. "But how many of them can throw one? That is, throw it the way it ought to be thrown. They ought to be out there once or twice a week right now and all summer long practising throwing footballs.

"The American ball is slightly more pointed and a little smaller in its mid-section. Naturally the ball is easier to throw, and the Canadian Rugby Union would do well to adopt it if the officials really desire to make the new style of play a complete success.

"The whole system of attack and defence will have to be changed. Against teams which adopt a free use of the forward pass the defence will naturally be different to that employed against a team which has reactionary tendencies and sticks to the old style of Canadian football."

In the meantime the "Big train" is still in Montreal, and rugby enthusiasts who are already talking about the fall pastime now that hockey is over are confident that he will remain here and look after the local club in the Big Four.

RAINVILLE SURE OF TEAM PLACE

French Canadian to Oppose Dr. Jack Wright This Afternoon.

FINALS TO-DAY.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (C.P.) — For the first time since the trials commenced on Thursday splendid weather conditions greeted the six ranking Canadian tennis stars when they commenced their final series of matches here this morning. Aspirants for the honor of representing the Maple Leaf in the second round of the North American zone Davis Cup competition against United States. The players will conclude the tests with three singles and one doubles match to-day.

Marcel Rainville, colorful little French-Canadian from Montreal, appears certain of a place on the Canadian team. He has won two games and will oppose his fellow townsman, Dr. Jack Wright, this afternoon.

Rainville displayed heady tennis yesterday in defeating the Dominion's No. 1 ranking star, Gilbert Nunns, Toronto. The victory was a straight affair, 6—3, 6—4, 10—8.

C. Leslie, the other Montrealer in the trials, clashes with the hard-driving walter Martin, Regina. The latter gave a rousing exhibition yesterday in defeating Dr. Art Ham, Toronto, in straight sets, 6—4, 6—2. 6—0, for his first victory.

Leslie lost to Wright in the feature ing Walter Martin, Regina. The latter lost a five-set match Thursday to Nunns, but yesterday he showed far superior style and vanquished Leslie, 6—1, 6—1, 6—1.

Ham, who has yet to win a match, meets Nunns in the final singles clash. In the doubles, Wright and Martin oppose Rainville and Leslie.

WE'RE WAITING FOR "Y" POOL TO OPEN

Sports Editor, The Examiner:

Neither the sneers of The Examiner sports department or its campaign of misrepresentation will discourage those who have offered to do a bit extra and help in the re-organization of the Crescents Baseball Club. The club will complete the East Peterborough Baseball loop, considered by the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association as one of the strongest intermediate leagues in the organization. The East Peterborough League refuses to assume any responsibility for the downfall of senior baseball in Peterborough, being of the opinion that failure this year was due to lack of early organization, the unwillingness of many players to enter the Central League this year, and the spite campaign carried on by The Examiner. Now that it has done all the harm it can do this spring, The Examiner sports department should go and take a jump in the lake.

WESLEY FERRELL IS FORCED TO RETIRE WITH SORE ARM

Cleveland Indians Drop First Game of Series Opener to Red Sox 8-4.

DODGERS WIN OUT 4-3.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The Cleveland Indians, leaders of the American League, find themselves in a rather tough spot as they open their stand against the strong eastern clubs. The Indians not only have to face opposition which looks somewhat stronger than what they have met, but they may have to meet it without the services of Wesley Ferrell, king-pin of their pitching staff.

Ferrell started against the Boston Red Sox yesterday and retired voluntarily in the first inning after giving three doubles. He complained of a sore arm. If Ferrell remain out long, Cleveland has only Willis Hudlin, who has proved reliable so far. Brown and Harder have started regularly but seldom have finished their games. As for relief hurlers, it took three of them to stop the Red Sox yesterday, and they did not succeed until Boston had put over five runs in the fourth inning to win by an 8 to 4 count.

Tigers Beat Senators

The other game which escaped the weather in the American league yesterday created a slight disturbance in the theory that the balance of power in the circuit lies in the east. The Detroit Tigers outlasted Washington in a ten inning mound duel between Earl Whitehill and Lloyd Brown to win 3 to 2. Each team scored two runs in the opening inning, then the two pitchers settled down and fought evenly to the extra frame. Marvin Owen, Tiger shortstop, scored the winning run on Bill Akers' double after reaching second by a single and a sacrifice.

In the National League, two games were scheduled to wind up the intra-sectional struggles before the western teams open in the east to-day and one was washed out. The Brooklyn Dodgers won the other, making very good use of four hits and eight walks off Stewart Bolen to beat the Phillies 4 to 3. Bolen, making his first National League start after being laid up with a hurt shoulder, was wild just when it was costly. A triple and two walks in the fourth inning filled the bases and Johnny Frederick creshed a double off the fence to bring in three runs. Hits by Herman and O'Doul made it 4—0 in the sixth before the Phillies got a run off Joe Shaute. The Robin hurler had to give way to Jack Quinn in the ninth when the Phils got their third run but got credit for his third victory over the Quakers this year.

The Wings showed a changed line-up with George Fischer on the bench. The team pounded out 15 hits off five Bear hurlers, while Carmen Hill was strong until the eighth. Puccinelli, who arrived here yesterday morning, hit a home run as did "Red" Rollings, who started his first game here.

Four straight hits off Fussell, with no one out, scored three runs and tied the score in the big inning, while two more hits were pried from Wertz before the rally was quelled.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, since my last Oshawa is back in the Central loop and the Petes is apparently out. They will be a whole lot of fans sorry over the flop because, regardless of what some other folks may think, they is a mess of people who believe a town this size should have senior baseball. These fans ain't interested in the squawking and scrambling and grabbing that has been going on in local ball circles, but they are interested in seeing Peterborough in its proper place on the sport map, and they feel that to have no senior team again this season is just naturally pushing this berg into the 2nd grade so far as sport is concerned. Syndicate baseball, even at a dime a throw, may be a money-making proposition and please those fans who ain't particular about the brand so long as the admission price is low enough, but it comes a long way from satisfying the folks who think Peterborough should step out like a big-time town.

A local sport development that is tickling the old-timers is the interest that's being shown in lacrosse, Mac. Some people thought the lads was getting too soft to tackle a tough game like that, but the young fellows is showing them to be all wet by turning out in a flock for practice. It begins to look like mebbe the local revival of lacrosse is going to get somewhere. Ain't that somethin'?

In the big show, Mac, things is looking up for the 2 teams I called to cop. The St. Louis Cards is right now breezing along with the breeze in the National race, and unless they run into a train wreck they should stick around the top all season. In the American, Mac, the Mister Connie Mack's boys is showing signs of coming to life, and that's real bad news for all and sundry. The A's is getting better tossing from Mister Rube Walberg than they expected, and with Mister Grove and Mister Earnshaw repeating last year's performance, I can't see no reason for changing my selection.

Well, Mac, outside of that and the fact that they're softening up the wrestling game so that a bird can't even bite without being disqualified, they ain't much to broadcast about this week.

Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

Hockey Players Migrate From the Capital City

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (C.P.)—As May 15—the last day on which hockey players may migrate—approaches, the exodus of stick handlers from the Capital increases. It has become known three of Ottawa's premier knights of the stick and blade are leaving for other parts.

Gordie Peterkin, left wing for Rideau Seniors, district senior finalists this year, has left for Niagara Falls where he will probably play with the Intermediate Ontario Hockey Association outfit. Monday, Bill Walker, star defence man for Ottawa Shamrocks, leaves of Dalhousie, N.B., and within a few days, it is expected, Arnie Butterworth, brilliant centre of the local Rideau Juniors, will follow him to the New Brunswick town.

Jack Thompson Fails To Defeat Lawless

CHICAGO, Ill., May 9. (CP) — Young Jack Thompson, Oakland, Cal. Negro, is still the welterweight champion of the world but he has yet to defeat Bucky Lawless of Auburn, N.Y.

Thompson last night dropped a 10-round decision to the rough easterner in the final bout of the Chicago stadium's first "$3 top" show his second defeat by Lawless. The first one occurred before Thompson won the title from Jackie Fields more than a year ago. Thompson's title was not on the block, however, as he had forced Lawless to come in over the limit.

The verdict was popular with the crowd of 11,240, but was somewhat of a surprise to ringside experts who figured the sharp-punching Negro had gained a distinct edge in seven of the 10 rounds. Lawless weighed 148 and Thompson 147 pounds.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE FORMED

Four Teams Will Operate This Year—Schedule Drawn Up.

ON DOUBLE PLAN

BELLEVILLE, May 9. — At the Y.M.C.A. recently, the Trent Valley baseball league met and agreed to operate. Four teams were represented, Deloro, Sulphide, Picton and Belleville Victorias. President A. G. Meagher was in the chair and no time was lost when the delegates started into business. It was decided to have a double schedule, giving each team twelve games. Each club was given certificates and a resolution passed that they must be in the league's hands by June 1st, the date set to pass on playing certificates.

It was thought best that the home umpiring system be adopted each team carrying and paying their own umpire, the visiting team to name the umpire-in-chief. In case that teams can not agree the president will make the appointment, which is to be final. It was deemed necessary that each club carry a scorer, the home club's scorer to be the official one for the league. A new constitution was drawn up and approved. The meeting thanked President R. A. Elliott of the O.B.A.A. for all of his good advice. The meeting adjourned until June 1st, after drawing up the following schedule:

CENTRAL SCHOOL LOSES 11-7 TILT

Climax Reached in 9th Frame When Losers Threaten to Overcome Victors' Lead.

NICE BASE RUNNING.

A battling Central School team met strong Prince of Wales bunch on the formers' grounds and put up a hard fight before losing out 11 to 7. The large crowd of school followers present were kept in a high state of excitement all the time, reaching a climax in the final half inning when the losers threatened to overhaul the visitors.

McIlmoyle, on the hill for the winners, had 11 strikeouts to his credit, but he was a little wild at times and was touched for 10 hits. His teammates were sloppy in fielding the first innings, but gave him good support most of the time. They had seven errors, most of them coming early in the game and they collected nine hits, which bunched together and with the aid of their opponent's misplays, they turned into 11 runs.

Wiley pitched a nice game for Central, only allowing the Princes two big innings. While the other Central boys chipped in with six errors, they also pulled off quite a bit of snappy fielding, especially toward the end of the contest. And their base running was very good every time one was on the paths. They scored three in the first inning, one in the third and another in the fifth, and in an exciting seventh inning rally, garnered two more.

Lead from First

The winners got one in the first, three in the second and one in the third. They were blanked in the fourth frame, but crossed the plate twice in the fifth, and ran wild in the sixth to get four more. There was not outstanding play made, though several nice catches by both outfields drew applause. Platt, in centre for the Wales crew, turned in a good all round game.

The teams:

Prince of Wales—Robertson 3b; Kingdon, c; Menzies, 1b; Roberts, lf; Rusaw, 2b; Platt, cf; Williams, ss; McIlmoyle, p; Hope, rf.

Central—Wiley, p; Fair, ss; Ascott, 3b; Wright, 1b; Marshall, c; Copperthwaite, lf; Currie, rf; Doherty, cf; McLelland, 2b.

Umpire—G. Northey.

Score by innings:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Prince of Wales | 131 | 020 | 0—11 | 9 | 7 |
| Central School | 301 | 010 | 2—7 | 10 | 6 |

SOFTBALL LOOP OPENS MONDAY

Sugar Bowl and Westclox to Tangle in Opening Fixture at Central Grounds.

GAME STARTS 6.15 P.M.

The opening game of the Men's City Softball League will take place Monday evening at 6.15 up at the Central School diamond, when Sugar Bowl and Westclox tangle. R. M. Glover, J. E. Sullivan and W. H. Taylor, three prominent men who have done much for softball here, have been asked to attend for the opening ceremonies. "Scotty" Galbraith will be in charge of the game as umpire-in-chief.

These two teams played off last fall with Sugar Bowl winning out. Both outfits are strong and will resume their feud of last year with the best possible lineups. Forsythe, last year with the champs, will likely do the twirling for Westclox Monday night, while the Sugar Bowl hurler will be selected from a formidable cast, including Dundas, Sturgeon and Simmons.

The diamond has been put in good condition, and with nice weather, a huge crowd is expected out to see the lid pried off by these two teams.

JUNIORS NEEDED FOSTER'S TEAM

Heavy Outfielders Will Find Place on New City League Entry.

PRACTISE ON MONDAY.

Junior ball players wanting a chance on a City League team should be at the James Stevenson Park at six o'clock Monday night, when the Foster Brothers outfit will be working out. This is a new entry in the City Baseball League, and all positions are still open. At the last workout, a number of promising infielders were on hand, but the outfield material was just so-so. Hard hitting fielders will be welcomed at the practice Monday evening. A good battery is also in demand. All players under age who want to try for a place should be at this practice at six.

A wealth of bantam, juvenile and junior ball players will be available for the City League in another three weeks, when the Public School League finishes. Most of the teams, working out regularly now, have found City League players none too plentiful so far. This, however, is the case every year until the beginning of June. After that, it's just a matter of selection.

CASUAL COMMENT

Different City League teams are practising regularly these days, and everything indicates a better year for this loop than has been seen here for a long time. With the entry of "Scotty" Maudsley's Juveniles and a probable entry in the junior class from Havelock, the City League is rounding out in fine style.

* * * * * * *

The baseball moguls were to hold a meeting one of these days in Havelock and decide whether to enter a jjunior outfit or not. We should be hearing from them soon. After that, the league will be calling another meeting to arrange opening games, and other things.

* * * * * * *

Officials of this loop are grateful to Alderman Jack Fitzpatrick and to Bill Kay for donations of balls. That spirit encourages those in charge when the going is a bit tough, as it always is before the schedule begins.

* * * * * * *

Another citizens who is doing considerable in the way of fostering sports among the young fellows is Father Maloney of the Sacred Heart Church. As president of the Canuck Club, he is mainly instrumental in operating the Sacred Heart Baseball League which has been operating some two weeks now.

* * * * * * *

Two divisions, juvenile and bantam, make up this league, and they play about four nights weekly on the church grounds. The league is financed through money made on the rink last winter. Father Moloney also had teams in every division of the South End Hockey League.

* * * * * * *

To-night, there'll be a flock of girls around the Duffus Bowling Alleys. There is a meeting of the Girls' Softball League at eight o'clock, and final arrangements will be made at this time.

* * * * * * *

Westclox and Sugar Bowl will open the Men's City Softball League at 6.15 Monday night. They'll play at the Central School diamond, which has been fixed up for the occasion. The usual opening ceremonies will be observed. It would be tough if it rained that evening.

* * * * * * *

Lot of sports on the card for the 109th Battalion re-union in Lindsay on May 23 and 25. They'll have baseball, softball, races, boxing, and various other sorts of games, with participants from Toronto and half a dozen cities throughout Central Ontario.

* * * * * * *

Central School nine surprised everybody and put up a stiff fight before taking an 11-7 defeat from the strong Prince of Wales team. They outhit the others and took advantage of numerous errors to run wild on the base.

* * * * * * *

Wright, the loser's initial sacker, didn't fool when he got on the runaways. In the fifth he walked, stole second and third, and came in on a wild pitch. And in the seventh he singled, stole second, and then third, and finally stole home. He should have been arrested for grand larceny.

* * * * * * *

There is nothing new concerning the senior ball team situation. It's a case of just marking time for a few days. Bob Elliott will probably arrive here over the week-end to try and induce some one to take hold of the C|O|B|L| entry again.

* * * * * * *

A number of the players are refusing to put their names down with any team until they see if anything will come of the big outfit. In the meantime, they're all working out with the different team practises, and keeping in shape.

* * * * * * *

Belleville, Kingston, and Oshawa are all hoping the Petes will be in there, making it a four-team league once more. The schedule which was drawn up a couple of weeks ago would not need to be revised to any extent, as it was drawn up to fit four teams.

* * * * * * *

Not only is this town getting the razz from other Central Ontario places, but right here at home plenty of indignation is being expressed at the idea of the Petes dropping out. Fans want to see fast ball in Peterborough, and they don't mean perhaps.

FINALS TO-NIGHT IN MAT CONTESTS

Wrestlers From Hamilton, Kitchener, Guelph and Toronto Survive Preliminaries.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9.—(CP)—Until the early hours of this morning athletes, seeking championships and glory on the mat, headlocked and body-slammed their way through the preliminary rounds of the Ontario Amateur Wrestling championship tournament at Toronto West End Y.M.C.A.

When time was called finals had been reached in six classes. The 135-pound class found 12 grapplers competing and only the semi-finals were reached.

Tonight all titleholders will be decided. Of the strongout-of-town delegations, seven remain, four from Hamilton, two from Kitchener and one from Guelph, while nine Toronto survived the preliminaries.

SOCCER RESULTS.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, May 9 (C.P. Cable).—Soccer games in the semi-finals of the Irish Charity Cup competition played to-day resulted as follows:

Linfield 2, Distillery 3.
Celtic 2, Cliftonville 1.

LONDON, May 9 (C.P. Cable). — Swinton won the championship of the English Rugby League to-day when they defeated Wigan by 14 points to 7 in the final at Wigan.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

Pleading guilty to cruelly and unnecessarily ill-treating a horse, Howard Wood of Oak Lake, north of Havelock, pleaded guilty in County Police Court here yesterday afternoon, and was fined $25 and costs of $4.75 by Magistrate Langley. Officers of the Humane Society, investigating reports of Wood's cruelty, stated that they found him working a horse which had sores on its shoulders from which blood was streaming. Besides the fine, the Magistrate gave Wood a strong warning.

PLAYLET PRESENTED ASHBURNHAM HALL

"Around the Clock With Claire" Presented By Pupils of St. Peter's High School.

"Around the Clock with Claire," one of those delicate semi-religious little playlets that the Sisters of St. Joseph direct with such graceful precision, saw its fifth presentation yesterday afternoon in the Community Hall of Ashburnham, by pupils of Form 2A of St. Peter's High school. The playet, which takes the form of a pantomimic type of representation of the duties and pleasures of a young girl, from early morning to evening hours, has six scenes that portray the work of the day and the various trials and amusements that come in the daily round. It was directed by Sister Paula and has been presented three times at St. Peter's School, once at Mount St. Joseph and once in the Ashburnham hall.

Those taking part were as follows: Miss Marie Woodhouse as the mother; Miss Teresa LaPointe, as Jean, the little sister; Miss Cecile Letellier, as the Angel; Miss Dorothy Primeau as the Demon; Miss Evelyn O'Brien as Estelle; Miss Margaret Hickson as Frances; Miss Frances Dillon as Dora; Miss Marcelle Minicola as Belle; Miss Ramona Lazure as Helen; Miss Eleanor Scollard as Grace; Miss Elmere Conlin as the Dream Girl; Miss Dolores Dalton as the Villain; Miss Beatrice O'Grady as the Heroine and Miss Nina Glover as Claire, in the title role. Minor parts were also taken by Miss Isobel Garvey and Miss Annie Schiarezza.

DANGEROUS PASSAGE NEGOTIATED.

QUEBEC, Que., May 9 (C.P.). — The Straits of Belle Isle, that stormy and often ice-bound bit of sea between the northern tip of Newfoundland and the coast of Labrador, was negotiated for the first time this spring by the freighter American on her way to Norway with a cargo of grain from the Port of Montreal. The achievement is a distinct record, as the straits are not usually passable till the middle of June and sometimes later in the year.

PLAYERS URGED NOT TO SIGN UP

Another Attempt to be Made by Senior Supporters to Form C.O.B.L. Team.

KNOW DEFINITELY SOON.

At the request of those actively interested in the formation of a senior team in Peterborough, The Examiner prints the following notice to local ball players: "Those players who have not already signed a certificate with a club this season are urged not to do so at the present time."

A strong movement is on foot to keep the Petes in the Central League. The success or failure of the plan will be known shortly, and in plenty of time to allow players to engage in intermediate ball if the formation of the senior club fails.

Slogan of the senior backers, stated briefly, is, "We are not going to drop out without another big attempt to field a team that will bring honor to Peterborough on the diamond."

DELORO ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ENJOYS VERY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Reports Read and Officers Elected at Annual Meeting.

Satisfactory Cash Balance.

MARMORA, May 9.—The annual meeting of the Deloro Amateur Athletic Association was held at the Hub on Thursday evening, R. D. Murray, retiring president, occupying the chair. Following reading and confirmation of minutes, the chairman, in a brief report, thanked Mr. Wright, manager of the company and the various managers and executives for their co-operative support in the past year. C. R. Quinn, secretary treasurer, then submitted his report which showed an adverse balance of $69.61 on the year's working, though a cash balance of approximately $267 remains.

Mr. Wright, in moving the acceptance of the report, reviewed the activities of the various branches of sport which are fostered by the association. He remarked that these various departments had done splendidly and assured the gathering that the company's support would be continued.

The various managers then gave their reports in the following order: Bowling R. D. Murray; Baseball, W. M. Regan; football, J. R. Hart; tennis, S. J. Sanderson; playgrounds, J. Ethier; rink, W. Simmons. H. A. McNally, immediate past president, also gave a very interesting report on the Dominion Day celebration at Deloro last year.

Officers Elected.

Election of officers was the next item on the agenda and resulted as follows: Honorary presidents, J. A. O'Brien, S. B. Wright, Dr. S. F. Kirkpatrick; president, W. M. Regan; vice-president, H. R. Haacke; secretary-treasure, C. R Quinn; managers—baseball, W. M. Regan; bowling, C. H. Buskard; football, G. Brooks; playgrounds, W. Kerr, Jr., tennis, S. J. Sanderson; rink, F. Leal.

Executive, Miss S. Scott, Messrs. M. Corrigan, H. O. Loveless, W. Brown, Senior, J. McCrodan, W. Simmons, Sr., C. T. Nicholson, P. Smith, F. Gray, W. Mumby, H. Boudreau, H. Smith, Sr., L. K. Crawford, W. Simmons, Jr. J. R. Hart, T. Cousins and J. E. Ethier.; auditor, J. H. English.

Mr. Wright, on being called upon to speak, said he considered that the men of the district should keep up their interest in sport, though times were depressing. He also touched upon the health-giving properties in sports. Mr. Regan considered that with prospects found in last year's junior team and all members of the senior team coming along with their services, Deloro should do its stuff this season. A motion was then passed that a baseball subscription list, as in former years, be taken up. A vote of thanks was accorded C. R. Quinn for his excellent work as secretary treasurer. The continuance of the first of July celebration met with the approved of all present. The meeting adjourned to the call of the president, when the various sub-committees will be appointed.

BERG COMES BACK TO BEAT HERRERA

Decision in Favor of English Boxer Not Popular With Fans.

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 9.—(CP)—Jack (Kid) Berg, lea her slinging lightweight from England, has taken the first step in the come-back campaign he hopes will lead to another "shot" at champion Tony Canzoneri.

Knicked out by Canzoneri in a recent titular battle at Chicago, Berg returned to the ring in Madison Square Garden last night and whipped young Tony Herrera, El Paso Mexican in a ten round bout before little more than 8,000 spectators.

Although Berg's margin of victory was decisive, the crowd booed the decision and gave Herrera an ovation as he left the ring. Berg piled into the Mexican all the way, shooting punches from all angles. They weren't damaging punches but they served to keep Herrera on the defensive. The Mexican landed the cleaner and harder blows but there weren't enough of them to earn him more than a round or two. Berg weighed 137¾; Herrera 138½.

$50,000 Preakness Carded for To-day

(By Orlo Robertson, Associated Press Sports Writer)

BALTIMORE, Md., May 9. — A crowd of 30,000 to 40,000 expected to tax the capacity of the old hilltop began pouring through the gates of the Pimlico race track early to-day for the fortieth running of the $50,000 Preakness over the historic mile and three-sixteenths route.

The race is for a purse of $50,200. With the track rapidly yielding to the efforts of the workers and Old Sol, the course was expected to be fast by the time the field is sent away by starter Jim Milton at about 5 p.m. (EST).

C.G.E. LEAGUE OPENS TO-NIGHT

Inter-department Softball Loop Will Play in King Edward Park.

South of Soccer Grounds.

The C.G.E. Men's Interdepartment Softball League will start the season on Monday next when four teams will clash at the King Edward Park, on the two diamonds directly south of the football grounds, starting at six o'clock.

The league is getting away to an early start this season and will run a double schedule, ninety five games in all so that the ten teams which are entered in this loop are assured of plenty of softball. This game has been keenly enjoyed by the employees of the local plant during the last few years and although this year the number of teams is somewhat lower than other years nevertheless they are all strong aggregations which would tend to eleminate any possiblity of any of them dropping out before completing the schedule.

Softball teams at present using the two diamonds mentioned above should bear in mind that the Softball Club of the C.G.E. have secured permission from the Parks Committee to use the grounds five nights a week.

LONDON, May 9 (C.P.).—The King and Queen returned to-day to Buckingham Palace from Windsor Castle where they have been since early April during the King's convalescence from an attack of bronchitis.

A crowd at the Palace gates cheered as they drove in, and the King, who appeared to have recovered completely, smiled an acknowledgment. He was bundled in a heavy overcoat, with a flower in the lapel.

Tilden And Richards Are Matched To-Night

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 9. (CP)—Big Bill Tilden and Vincent Richards, closely-matched rivals in their amateur days, clash in the first of five professional contests in Madison Square Garden to-night under the promotorial banner of Jack Curley.

The match, best three out of five sets, brings together these two rivals for the first time since 1926 when Richards beat the tall Philadelphian in three out of five matches. Richards has been given a $25,000 guarantee while Tilden is taking a percentage of the gate receipts. The winner of the series has been promised, in addition, a purse of $10,000.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

(By Thornton W. Burgess.)

YELLOW WING'S COUSIN

To win success he is most apt.
Who can himself to change adapt.
—Old Mother Nature.

Farmer Brown's Boy was looking up near the top of a giant cactus. Flip the Terrier looked up too, but all he saw was a bird, and birds never did interest Flip unless they happened to be on the ground, where he could have the fun of scaring them into sudden flight. But his master was interested. Yes, sir, his master was interested.

In the first place, these great cactus plants, as big as trees, were of more than a little interest to him. Mother Brown had a cactus plant at home and he had seen other cactus plants. All of these were small plants with thick green leaves covered with spines, leaves that seemed to sprout out of each other. But here was a plant with a trunk as big around as the trunk of a large tree. From this trunk far above his head several branches grew out and turned up, and these branches were perhaps half as big as the trunk. Trunk and branches were ribbed and were covered with spines. There were no small branches, twigs or what looked like leaves. On the main trunk, perhaps thirty feet from the ground, was the bird.

"Flip," said Farmer Brown's Boy, "that fellow almost fooled me for a minute. Yes, sir, he did so. When I first saw him I almost mistook him for Yellow Wing the Flicker. I saw him fly up there and the under sides of his wings and tail are yellow. Just notice, however, that he has a red mustache instead of a black one such as Yellow Wing back home wears. Then, too, there isn't any red on the back of his head. So he must be one of Yellow Wing's cousins. How, under the sun, did he alight up there and avoid those spines, and what is he going to do there? Certainly he cannot drum, for that cactus isn't hard like wood."

Farmer Brown's Boy, in speaking of the bird's mustache, had not meant a real mustache. He had meant the two marks, one on each side of the face, which looked like a mustache. And he was quite right in thinking that this was a cousin of Yellow Wing. It was Cactus Bill the Gilded Flicker. He is found only in the warm regions of the Southwest, especially in the dry regions, were the giant cactus grows.

Farmer Brown's Boy didn't have to wait long to find out what Cactus Bill intended to do. He went to work exactly as Yellow Wing goes to work on a tree in which he intends to make a nest. He paid no attention to Farmer Brown's Boy and Flip. He just went about his job of cutting a hole in that spine-covered cactus. Presently he was joined by Mrs. Cactus Bill, who relieved him while he tried to clean himself up a little. Instead of having a hard job such as Mr. and Mrs. Yellow Wing have when they undertake to cut out a home chip by chip, these two were having a messy job. Yes, sir, they were having a messy job.

You see, instead of boring into hard wood they were cutting into soft, fleshy tissue filled with sap or juice somewhat sticky. They just couldn't help getting more or less smeared with it, and Farmer Brown's Boy suspected that half the work of home-building in such a place must be in getting cleaned up afterward.

"That two-legged creature seems to be taking a lot of interest in us and what we are doing," said Cactus Bill to his mate.

"What of it?" retorted she. "He can't bother us up here. I would like to see him try to climb up here. I would so." Mrs. Cactus Bill chuckled. So did Cactus Bill himself. They were thinking of those sharp spines that covered that plant.

"Cutting out a home here is rather a messy job," continued Cactus Bill, "but once done we have the safest place I know of. My dear, you are getting that juice all over your neck and breast."

"Can't help it," mumbled Cactus Bill.

Moratorium Demand Is Studied By Italy

ROME, May 9 (A.P.)—Italy is disposed to consider impartially a German demand for moratorium which for some time has been reported to be under consideration in Berlin.

This is one of the problems which Dino Grandi and Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, the Italian and British Foreign Ministers, will discuss when they meet at Geneva next Wednesday prior to the opening of the League of Nations Council meeting.

Italy, it is said, recognizes the contention that countries receiving heavy reparation payments but spending heavily on armaments should be required to pay their debts, but the Government regards the entire system of debts and reparations as burdensome economically and an influence which impedes economic recovery.

District Churches

ROSENEATH

Speaking from Isaiah 14th chapter, verses 17 and 20, Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., delivered a most instructive address to his large congregation in the United Church on Sunday evening. Telling the story of Isaiah pouring fierce scorn upon idolaters, with bitter irony he condemns a people, who worship idols, which they themselves have constructed. Finally in a tone of astonished pity, he exclaims, "They are feeding on ashes." These people are endeavoring to satisfy their souls with that which has no more nourishment than a sackful of ashes. First they give a mere residue to religion; religion thus occupying the last place in their life, and, secondly, they ignore the true living God.

In graphic language Isaiah describes the religious attitude of these people. The process they form in building a god when they worship and say "Deliver me, for thou art my god." Comfort, luxury and pleasure come first and religion last. We have a large number of people, who give religion the last place in their life. What is more tragic than this? Man's soul needs God. God belongs to the King of Kings. The Lord of Hosts. Man's heart craves for a changeless love, his mind craves for reliable guiding truth, and his will for commandments which are infallible guides to his life. And we want all these treasurers in one Person, who will never fail us nor forsake us, and that Person is God. All the things of this world, wealth, wisdom and success, are of no real value to human life, unless God is in the forefront. Man is a creature who needs God.

The life ignoring God, becomes tragically unaware of its own emptiness. The nature is perverted, the vision distorted and the power of judgment marred.

But there is a power which can set us free, by opening our eyes to the truths that are eternal. We cannot, of ourselves become emancipated. Isaiah said, "He cannot deliver his soul." We cannot change the habits of a life time. But there is a power through which we can do all things, and that power is the power of Christ, who said, "I am the true Bread which came down from heaven. Jesus Christ comes to you and to me, seeking a place in our hearts, and He asks this, "Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread and your labor for that which satisfieth not?"

And as He fed the multitudes by the Lake of Galilee, even so He is saying to the multitudes to-day, "I am the true Bread whosoever cometh to me, shall never hunger again." May God grant that our answer may ever be this prayer, "Lord, evermore give us this Bread."

REPORT SHOWS TREASURY LOSS OF $96,000,000

Goods Imported By Australia Valued at $275,000,000 Under 9 Months of Year Ago.

EXPORTS DOWN $30,000,000

Default of New South Wales in Debt Payments Partly Held to Blame.

CANBERRA, Australia, May 9 (C. P. Cable via Reuters). — A treasury deficit of $96,000,000 was revealed today in a report covering receipts and expenditures for the past ten months.

At the same time reports from Sydney showed a huge decrease in Australia's foreign trade. Merchandise imported within the past nine months was valued at $275,000,000 less than in the corresponding nine months of the previous year, exports fell $30,000,000 below those in the same period a year ago.

The Federal Treasury reported receipts of only $243,495,000 within the past 10 months, as against expenditures of $339,500,000, leaving a deficit of $96,005,000.

Blame New South Wales

The default of debt payments by the State of New South Wales was partly responsible for the heavy losses of the Federal Treasury. When the State failed to meet payments due in London on account of loans, the Commonwealth was forced to shoulder the burden. Of the deficit $7,995,000 is attributed to this factor and the Commonwealth will seek to recover this amount of the State by legal action.

As for foreign trade, the results were mainly due to drastic alteration in Australia's tariff. Merchandise imports within the past nine months totalled $225,725,000 against imports of $534,700,000 in the same period a year ago, a decrease of exactly $278,975,000.

Exports decreased by $30,740,000 within the past nine months. The figures being $340,120,000 against $370,860,000 a year ago. At the same time there was a favorable trade balance of $84,395,000.

One of the very few classes of exports showing an increase was wheat. The value of wheat exported within the past nine months was $47,680,000, compared with $37,920,000 in the corresponding period a year ago—an increase of $9,760,000.

On the other hand, exports of gold declined by $86,055,000; exports within the past nine months totalling $38,475,000 again $119,130,000 a year ago.

THE SON OF TARZAN No 60 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"I know now who you are," said the stranger to Malbihn. "And such as you are not wanted in our country. I will spare your life but the next time you see me, remember who I am." He spoke a name into the scoundrel's ear that filled the Swede with wide-eyed terror, before he was sent sprawling through the tent door. Changing his tone, the stranger addressed Meriem in a tongue she did not understand. She replied in Arabic.

At once he put his question in that language. "They were taking me away from Korak," was all she answered. "Who are your people? Who is Korak?" he asked, looking at her strange, barbaric garments wonderingly. "Why, Korak is an ape. I have no other people. Korak and I live in the jungle alone since Akut went to be king of the apes. I am Meriem. I am too an ape!" The stranger watched her closely and a pitying light came into his eyes.

Gaining her confidence, he learned more of Meriem's story, but in the end he was as much mystified as in the beginning. He knew the jungle well; knew that men had lived alone and naked among the savage beasts for year; but a girl! It was not possible! He guessed that her Korak and their life among the apes was but a figment of a disordered mind. He could not allow this poor, insane child to wander longer amid the jungle.

At last he persuaded her to return with him to his "village" or "douar" as he called it in Arabic. "There my wife will take care of you until we can find Korak or Korak finds us," he explained. "Korak will find his way to me," the girl said simply. "Let us go to your 'douar'." On the fifth day they came suddenly upon a great plain and from the edge of the forest the girl saw in the distance a sight that caused her to draw back.

LOCAL GIRL GUIDE COMPANIES MEET

On Monday, May 4, in St. Peter's Lyceum, the 1st and 2nd Companies of Peterborough Girl Guides held another joint meeting, which opened at 7 p.m. Roll call and prayer took place and the companies then dismissed to take part in a game called "Crows and Cranes," in which the 2nd Company proved victorious. Then the 1st Company lined up in patrol formation to drill in morse signalling with flags. Each girl was given a letter of the alphabet and when this letter was signalled, would run to the signaller and those first there would win a point for their patrol. In this game the Bluebird patrol were winners.

The Nightingale patrol of the 1st Company and two other girls then presented a small play, written by one of the Guides. It illustrated the first Guide law: "A Guide is loyal."

A few girls of the 2nd Company then gave an interesting talk on some birds and their habits. The companies then sang songs, concluding with "Taps," and so brought to an end another excellent meeting.

C.P.R. CLUB MEETS.

Sports Committees Are Elected for Year by Recreation Members.

HAVELOCK, May 9 (Examiner Correspondence).—A special meeting of the C. P. R. Recreation Club was held on the arrival of 606, at 8:20 p.m., Thursday, when a fairly good number of the members were present. The purpose of the meeting was to appoint committees to look after the various sports, etc., for the coming year, also to get together and compare notes and report on the drive for a largermembership. The committee appointed for this work said that more than sixty had paid their membership fee and they expected many more. J. H. Moore, the secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting and Lou Hagerman, the chairman, presided over the gathering.

The following committees were then appointed: Playgrounds and small sports Wm. Hitchins, Percy Pincombe, and Jack Evans; baseball and softball, H. T. Mathison, P. Pincombe and T. C. Jamieson; tennis, Percy Yuill, Leonard Plunkett and Glen Wright; bowling, J. H. Moore, Frank Hooper and John Simons; property, David A. Forde, and H. W. Roche; horseshoe, David McAdam, Wm. Rice, and Wm. Bullied; H. W. Roche, J. H. Moore, Percy Pincombe and Frank Hooper will be a committee to obtain the constitutions and by-laws of various clubs and to form a constitution for this club.

A great deal of time was spent discussing various problems as they were brought up by the different members. One man complained of the small boys that frequented the horseshoe courts and made it dangerous for the adult players by their recklessness in throwing the shoes. After a great deal of talking both for and against, allowing the small boys to use the courts it was left for that particular committee to look after, who will most likely place an age limit on the players. There will be $65 spent on providing better lights for the bowling green horseshoes courts, and the members offered many suggestions to these committees, so that the most will be made of the sum set aside for this work. The meeting then closed until the call of the chair.

W. A. PROGRAM MUCH ENJOYED

St. Paul's Y.P.S. of Orillia Present Play in Knox Lecture Hall.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.

An illustrated lecture on an Across Canada Tour and a Mediterranean cruise, and a play entitled "No Trespassing" presented by the St. Paul's Young People's Society of Orillia provided a splendid double program in Knox United Church Lecture Hall last evening. The program was under the auspices of the Women's Association, and arrangements were made by Mr. and Mrs. George Walton. Rev. William McDonald acted in the capacity of chairman.

The travelogues were given by C. Patton, travelling passenger agent of the C.P.R., through the courtesy of his company. He showed four reels of films, all of which depicted their scenes in a natural manner and proved to be almost as good as a theatre production. The first film was entitled "Across Canada," and the pictures of life and conditions in the Canadian West were particularly interesting. The film "Gatineau Bass" showed several sporting scenes which were realistic in every detail. The charm of old Acadia was depicted in the third film. The historic and scenic spots of the Maritimes were appreciably shown to the audience. The C.P.R. Mediterranean cruise proved to be particularly popular. The people of Knox Church were taken to the Azores, to Cadiz, Gibraltar, Palestine, around to Egypt and back again to Italy and Monte Carlo. The films were of an educational as well as an interesting nature.

The comedy "No Trespassing" was a well acted little drama in three acts, whose scene was set in a sitting-room in a Canadian farm house. The story is one of mistaken identities, with the final consummation of the love scenes.

Lisle Irving, played by Geraldine Lynch, was a summer visitor to the Palmer household. Cleveland Tower (J. E. Tuer) and Herbert Raynor (Gordon Watson) were two young men visitors, who decided for a joke to act the opposite part. Thus Tower takes the part of the wealthy Raynor, for whom Mr. Irving (Charles Green) has chosen his daughter Lisle. The daughter decides to have a joke, too, and so she pretends she is twins, acting each part on separate occasions. However, Tower masquerading as Raynor falls in love with Barbara Palmer. Lisle stalls the other man, but with the appearance of Mr. Irving the masks are removed and Tower and Barbara and Raynor and Lisle are mated. In the meantime a minor plot is being evolved. Jim Meader (Ross Cooke), son of Bill Meader (Robert Reiford), falls in love with Peggy Palmer (Elva Ward), a little tomboy. Other characters in the cast were: Barbara Palmer (Darlene Trimble), Mrs. Palmer (Fern Plews) as the busy housewife, Almeda Meader (Ruby Ingram), the brilliant red-haired country girl, and Mr. Palmer (Howard Jebb). Every actor filled his part well, and the only adverse criticism was that the play was not good enough for the actors.

During the course of the play J. E. Tuer sang a solo, and Jack Snoulton and Harold Overend played a violin duet. W. R. Potter, organist of Knox Church, acted as accompanist. Following the presentation the ladies tendered a supper to the cast, at which Gordon Watson expressed the thanks of the Orillia organization for their kind hospitality.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS HOLD FOURTH ANNUAL CHURCH BANQUET

Nearly Four Hundred Are Present at Fine Banquet in George Street.

MRS. THOMAS SPEAKER.

The fourth annual Mother and Daughter Banquet held in George Street United Church Sunday School Auditorium last evening under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society excelled all its predecessors, being attended by about four hundred mothers and daughters.

As it was an all-Canadian banquet the decorations were of a patriotic nature, with large flags adorning the walls and the huge pillars of the hall wound with red, white and blue. The long tables were adorned with pretty colored maple leaves, red white and blue candles and small flags at each place.

A sumptuous meal was served by members of the Men's Association of the church, who made capable and efficient waiters.

Community singing of many old favorite songs was indulged in, with Miss Bryce leading, and Musa Cox at the piano. Rev. J. E. J. Millyard presided and acted as chairman and toast master.

The toast to "Our Church" was proposed by Mrs. A. I. Brown, who spoke of it as one of the most powerful educational and social factors of the present day. This was responded to by singing, "The Church Has One Foundation."

Miss Jean Padgett delighted the large audience with a vocal solo, "Spring," and responded with an encore.

Miss Helen Burns proposed the toast to "Our Mothers," paying a warm tribute to a mother's love and understanding. This was responded to by Mrs. E. A. Stinson, who spoke of Motherhood as a privilege but also a responsibility in guiding the steps of a daughter in the right way.

Miss Alma Blanchard's solo, "Mother Macree," was exceptionally well rendered and she received a hearty encore.

Miss Gwen Parnell gave two excellent recitations, entitled "Levinsky at the Wedding," and "A Good Little Girl and A Bad Little Girl."

Mrs. C. W. Coon proposed the toast to "Our Daughters," referring to the wonderful age in which all are living and the opportunities afforded the girl of to-day. Her ideal for Canadian daughters was, "Be pure within and pure without."

Miss Leta Brownscome responded, speaking of how wonderful it was to be a girl and to see beauty on every hand. She concluded by reciting the poem, "Others."

Miss Ruth Parnell sang very sweetly "Mother o' Mine."

The toast to "The Men's Association," was proposed by Miss Ethel McKay, who gave an original and witty poem emulating their ability as in the culinary art. This was responded to in a humorous vein by Mr. Snelgrove.

Mrs. E. E. Harvey introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. A. J. Thomas of Toronto, wife of a former beloved pastor of George Street Church. She received a warm ovation as she rose to speak, responding by saying how glad she was to meet her old friends of George Street. The speaker took as her subject, "Doors." "The most important door of all to mothers and to every one of us is the Home Door, which is being more and more neglected in this age."

Proceeding with her subject she spoke of the wonderful door of "Opportunity," which the young women of the United Church of Canada have access to, "The Door of Our Mind must first be opened from within if we want to enter the Door of Knowledge."

"The clinging vine type of girl has gone, the girl of to-day says, 'I have a right to live my own life.' Here is where the mother with good commonsense can help the girl by a frank discussion of present day problems, trying by the best methods to have her avoid the danger of becoming masculine, erude and vulgar. Mothers are now trained scientifically and are more capable of guiding the destiny of their offspring.

"There is no better door to enter than the Door of Service. The United Church is calling you. 'The Dominion of Canada' to develop its resources and demonstrate its womanhood. Foreigners are looking to the women of Canada for examples to make good Christian Canadian homes. We can not all be leaders but we can fit ourselves for the position when the Door of Opportunity opens. Let us prepare ourselves for whatever comes and let mothers as well as daughters respond to the Open Door."

A hearty vote of thanks was voiced to Mrs. Thomas by Mrs. S. R. Armstrong and responded to by Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard. Mrs. Coon, president of the W.M.S., thanked all who had in any way assisted with the evening's entertainment, especially mentioning Mrs. James A. Spencer, who had acted as general convenor for the banquet, assisted by Mrs. H. Dulmage. The evening concluded by prayer by Rev. A. I. Brown.

Backache Made Me Feel Miserable
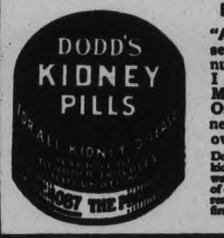
But Dodd's Kidney Pills Brought Relief



"A year ago I had an operation and I seemed awfully nervous and would get numb and cold. My back would ache and I would feel very miserable," writes Mrs. George J. Furler, R.R. No. 1, Nixon, Ont. "After taking a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I felt better and could do my own work. I now feel fine."

Dodd's Kidney Pills simply strengthen and heal the kidneys. The work of the kidneys is to strain all the waste matter out of the blood. If the kidneys are out of order they fail to do their work, and the waste matter remains in the blood, causing serious disease. At the first sign of trouble give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. 2cc

RIVER HERBERT, N. S. May 11.—(CP)—The lives of six miners were snuffed out this morning and twelve men sustained burns and other injuries when gas exploded in No. 4 Victoria mine an hour and a half after the day shift of sixty men started work at seven o'clock. The explosion occurred on the 600-foot west level, 1,100 feet from the slope.

A check-up of survivors and victims showed that all but six had escaped from the gas-filled workings.

NATIONALISTS BACK IN POWER

Tasmanian Results Taken as Declaration Against Scullin's Inflation Policy

FIRST SWING BACK.

HOBART, Tasmania, May 11 (C. P. Cable). — The return to power with an increased majority of the Nationalist Government Party in the Tasmanian State elections of Saturday was assured to-night.

Hon. J. C. McPhee, leader of the party and Premier of Tasmania since June, 1928, described the results as an emphatic declaration against the inflation policy of Prime Minister James Scullin and Hon. E. G. Theodore, Commonwealth Treasurer.

The Tasmanian elections provided the first definite swing towards Nationalism, as opposed to Labor, since the Australian financial crisis developed 18 months ago, and since the Commonwealth Labor Party went into affairs in the general elections of October, 1929.

Bennett Promises Budget Before June

OTTAWA, Ont., May 11. —(CP)— In no event will the Government postpone the introduction of the budget to the House of Commons until June, declared the Prime Minister to-day. This was in reply to a question by Mr. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition, who asked if statements in the morning newspapers in regard to bringing down the budget were correct. It had been suggested it might not be brought down until next month.

Due to the illness of Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, there had been some delay in the preparation of the budget. The Prime Minister and Mr. Ryckman had been working together very closely in the various preparatory stages. However, he could assure the House that he would not wait until next month before presenting the budget.

MURDER TOTAL IN NEW YORK CITY BOOSTED BY FOUR

Lather Foreman Called Away From Home Found Dead on Doorstep.

ONE FOUND IN RIVER.

Laundry Racketeer Believed Lured to Death By Call From Woman.

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 11.—Four men, including a lather foreman believed to have been abducted by gangsters, were added to New York's 1931 list of murder victims.

Three of the men were identified as Walter Fowler, 35, the foreman, Johnny Guistra, known to police as a laundry racketeer and Anthony Buonacosi, 25, alleged bootlegger. The fourth man was unidentified.

The body of another unidentified man with part of the right hand missing was taken from the North River this morning.

A short time after he returned home from a Sunday outing with his wife and two children, Fowler talked with a man on his doorstep. Calling to his wife Agnes that he would be back in a few minutes he left with the man.

Body Found On Porch

Shortly afterwards his body was found on the stoop of a tenement house. His death was ascribed in the police report to a compound fracture of the skull and an autopsy today showed that he had been shot in the head also.

A woman's voice presumably lured Guistra to his death last night. Guistra was found dead in the hallway of a tenement. Two bullets were in his body. His own pearl handled pistol lay beside his hand. It had not been discharged.

Police learned that he had received a telephone call from a woman four hours before his body was found.

Buonacosi, 25, alleged bootlegger, was shot and killed on the sidewalk in front of a candy store where he had been playing cards. Police arrested Joseph Scelzo, an employe of the Department of Sanitation, and charged him with the murder. Witnesses told police the two men left the card game together.

MOBS RUN WILD IN MADRID CITY, BURN CHURCHES

As Twilight Gathered Smoke Was Issuing From 10 Catholic Buildings.

DEATH TOLL IS THREE.

Gov't Declares Martial Law—Machine Guns, Barbed Wire in Streets.

MADRID, May 11 (A.P.)—Defiant of ever effort to restore order, mobs surged through the streets of Madrid to-day burning four Catholic institutions and attacking numerous others in anti-church demonstrations.

The Republican Government, which blamed the rioting on the Extreme Lefts or Communists, declared martial law and announced that it would maintain the Republic by force if necessary.

Shortly before 4.00 p.m. regular army infantry and cavalry marched into the streets and began taking over from the civil guards. Despite this show of force, with its threat of open street warfare, the mobs continued their attack on Catholic institutions.

Three Lives Lost

The rioting, which began yesterday in anti-monarchial demonstrations resulting in the loss of three lives, developed into anti-church demonstrations this morning.

The Jesuit headquarters were first attacked and burned, then the mob turned its attention to a church adjoining the headquarters, and this was also burned.

From there the mob surged to the Car Elite Monastery in the Plaza Espana, near the former Royal Palace. Here the same proceudre was followed, gasoline being poured on woodwork and flame applied. All the monks escaped.

After the monastery had been fired, the rioters moved on to the Jesuit Seminary in the centre of Madrid. Gasoline again was poured on the woodwork, torches were put to the structure and the seminary, which is a college for priests, soon was a mass of flames.

By this time other mobs were attacking numerous Catholic institutions, hurling stones and brickbats and wielding iron bars to break doors and windows.

Spread to Suburbs

While this was going on another mob poured into the suburb of Chamartin and set fire to the Jesuit school which also was used as a residence for Jesuit priests. The four institutions previously burned were in the heart of Madrid.

In the midst of the rioting another man who was injured in yesterday's fight died in a hospital, bringing the total deaths to three.

While the Jesuit seminary was still blazing the mob went on to the Franciscan school in the Cuatro Caminos quarter of Madrid, and set that afire.

Most of the monks were led out by

WOULD REVERSE GOLD STANDARD

Senator Borah Claims Britain's Policy in India Lowered Purchasing Power.

FAVORS SILVER BASIS.

WASHINGTON, D.C. May 11 (AP) Senator Borah thinks that since half the human family "must necessarily continue to conduct its business affairs upon a silver basis" Great Britain should reverse its gold policy in India.

Chairman of the last Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Idaho Republican said in a speech last night that adoption of the gold standard in India had 'drastically lowered' the purchasing power of nearly 800,000,000 people.

He made no direct reference to a resolution approved last week by the international Chamber of Commerce for a conference on silver but two other Republican members of Congress did answer attacks made at the Congress on United States tariff and war debt policies.

Replying to speeches by Henry Bell, British banker, and Dr. Carl Bergman, German delegate, Senator Hatfield of West Virginia, contended "our protective tariff rates have enable us to set the pace" in economic development.

"Let us continue to lead, no matter who may ask us to wait" he said. "Let others climb to our level. That is progress. We cannot afford to go backward."

Representative Ramseyer of Iowa, said that "if our tariff protection were removed United States prices would break "to levels of other countries. He contended Democratic leaders had allied with foreign manufacturers and international bankers "to dictate to the United States what shoud be done for the enrichment of foreigners."

LONDON, May 11 (C.P. Cable). — No increase in rates is contemplated by the railways, it was announced today before the railways tribunal which meets here periodically.

The companies are still doubtful as to whether increased rates at the present time would result in any material improvement in the financial position.

PYTHON ROAMING LOOSE UPON SHIP TERRIFIES CREW

Giant Reptile Calmly Picked Up and Dragged Off By Snake Expert.

BILLED FOR ZOO.

Vessel Brings Whole Cargo of Monkeys, Leopards, Snakes to U. S.

BOSTON, Mass., May 11 (C.P.). —An eighteen-foot python at liberty on the deck of a storm-tossed steamer—such was the story brought here to-day by the British freighter City of Christiania, of Calcutta.

The steamer also brought probably enough monkeys to equip every hand organ in the United States and a variety of other wild animals, birds, and reptiles from India. Many passengers on the modern Noah's Ark died during the rough passage.

The steamer was in mid-ocean, beset by heavy seas and strong winds, when a crate containing an eighteen-foot python was broken open by motion of the vessel. The big reptile crawled out on deck, then up to the poop deck as members of the steamer's Lascar crew fled in fright—all except S. B. Khan, who has a reputation even in his native India as a snake expert.

Expert Unafraid.

Mr. Khan wasted no time whistling the songs of India at Mr. Python, but simply grabbed the big reptile by the head and tail, and dragged it over to a reinforced packing case.

The City of Christiania left Calcutta more than a month ago with 1,000 chattering monkeys. Of these 200 died during the voyage. Two leopards and several other animals and snakes also died due to the rough passage.

A rolly-poly Himalayan bear cub arrived, lonesome for its brother, which also died at sea. A handsome 3-year-old Bengal tiger arrived in good condition as did 140 pythons and a variety of other snakes, some poisonous.

The shipment was consigned to the Benson Animal Farm at Nashua, N. H., for later distribution to zoos throughout the country.

(By Gordon A. Sinclair)

TANGIER, Morocco, May 11 (Special to The Examiner, Copyright, 1931) —Midnight to dawn is the busy time, the noisy time, the expensive time in North Africa. At dawn the busses start up, the caravans head out across the desert, the cafes close, the dancing girls go to bed and the plump veiled women of the harem come out to take the air.

Girls Refuse To Work As Mill Cuts Wages

LAWRENCE, Mass., May 11.—The curtain department of the Pacific Mills suspended operations to-day, after 32 girls employed there refused to work at a wage reduction of approximately 25 per cent.

The wage cut was announced last week, effective to-day. Yesterday the girls employed in the curtain department held the final of a series of conferences protesting the cut. They were willing, they said, to take a 20 per cent reduction, but balked at the 25. Millowners said that the wage cut was necessary if they were to compete with surrounding mill owners.

Three Barns Burned In Electric Storm Others Are Struck

Fierce Electric Storm Cut a Two-mile Swath Through Central Part of Smith and Ennismore Sunday Afternoon, Destroying Three Barns, Striking Dwellings.

STORM BURST UPON COUNTRYSIDE WITHOUT WARNING HAIL STONES FELL TO A DEPTH OF THREE INCHES

Wheat, Clover and Early Spring Crops Were Beaten Into the Ground and the Buds and Leaves Cut Off the Trees By the Large Hail Stones.

A terrific hail storm cut a two-mile swath of terror and destruction through the central part of Ennismore and Smith Townships yesterday afternoon.

Struck by lightning, three barns burst into flames and were totally destroyed. Another barn was struck, but neighbors gathered hastily and succeeded in squelching the flames. Lightning enveloped one farm house, one charge passing through the kitchen to the terror of the family.

Fall wheat and clover crops were beaten into the ground under the blows from the heavy hail stones. Grass, trees, and every living thing exposed to the fury of the storm suffered heavily.

The storm burst upon the countryside almost without warning at three o'clock in the afternoon. The sky suddenly darkened, and then accompanied by the roars of thunder and the forked fingers of lightning came the driving hail stones.

Three Inches of Hail.

Every report from the storm sector states that the hail stones were of almost unbelievable size. Reliable information is that many of the hail stones were more than an inch in diameter. For more than five minutes they beat down, laying a covering of their shining crystals of three inches throughout the district. In some places the hail stones piled up six inches deep and this morning were still visible.

Farmers were taking stock of their

DIRECTORS ARE ELECTED TODAY BY ROTARY CLUB

Rotarian John Hornsby Named as Manager of Street Fair to be Held in June.

LIFE INSURANCE.

Club Hears From Rotarian Herb Gillespie of Service Companies Are Rendering.

It was election day for the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day, five directors being chosen for the ensuing year out of a field of ten candidates named by the nominating committee. The new directors are R. F. Downey, Jack Gillespie, James Juby, T. H. Gillespie and Dr. A Moir.

Other important business was the announcement of Rotarian John Hornsby as manager of the Rotary Street Fair, to be held June 17 and 18, vice Rotarian J. H. Seels who asked to be relieved of this responsibility. The co-operation of the club was pledged to the new manager.

It was decided to hold a meeting with the Rotary-Annes at the Rotary club some time next month.

A letter was received from the Cobourg Rotary Club announcing an inter-city meeting on May 27, to be addressed by Crawford McCullough, former president of Rotary International, and inviting the Peterborough Rotarians to attend in large numbers.

Rotarian Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg, who was a visitor at to-day's luncheon, supplemented the invitation, and urged the Peterborough club to supply at least one number for the program.

The speaker to-day was Rotarian Herb. Gillespie who, talking on his classification, "Life Insurance," gave a most interesting resume of the services rendered by the life insurance companies.

Introduced by Rotarian Dr. M. A. Morrison, the speaker explained the field organization of a modern life insurance company, in which the provinces were divided into divisions, and these again into districts; the latter headed by a district manager. The allotment of business the company expected to write during the year was divided in a similar manner and it was the duty of a district manager to secure his quota. In this connection, Rotarian Gillespie supplied the interesting information that insurance salesmen did not increase their business in proportion to the length of their service and that 20 per cent of life insurance was written by men new to the business.

The speaker described some of the new services life insurance companies now provided, such as insurance for children, pensions for women, group accident and sickness insurance and

Briand Is Favored By Senate's Decision

PARIS, May 11.— (A.P.) — The Democratic Left, largest group in the Senate, to-day decided that its members may vote for whomever they please on the first ballot in the Presidential election at Versailles on Wednesday, but that their second ballot shall be cast for "a candidate of the Left."

The action was interpreted as favorable to Aristide Briand if he runs for president, and unfavorable to Paul Doumer, president of the Senate and Briand's most formidable opponent.

Seventy-five of the 157 members of the group participated in the vote. The rest stayed away, presumably because they favored Briand's candidacy.

JUDGE CONFINES SANITY EVIDENCE

Tells Alienists to Testify Only on Brockenshire's State at Time of Shooting.

PRISONER LOOKS PALE.

TORONTO, Ont., May 11.—(CP)— Refusing to allow the evidence of expert alienists as to the prisoner's sanity at present, Mr. Justice Wright, hearing the trial of John Brockenshire and Harry Clarkson, of Windsor, jointly charged with the murder of Police Constable Roy McQuillin here last December contended the defence must confine their evidence to the prisoner's sanity at the time of the occurence.

This decision came about when G. A. McLarty, psychiatrist at the Toronto General Hospital, first defence witness called today, attempted to give his findings of the prisoner whom he examined in April and May.

Brockenshire, looking paler than on his other three appearances in court was seated beside Dr. W. T. Parry, physician of the local jail, when the trial commenced.

"Brockenshire is a subject of praecox of the hebephrenic type, a condition which is causing hallucinations and delusions as the years go on, and, the disease of the mind gains a stronger hold," said Dr. McLarty.

"There is a mental determination that sets in with the years, and an disintegration of the mind. The subject can't maintain a mental level," the psychiatrist explained.

Asked as to what age the disease makes itself felt Dr. McLarty said generally between the age of 15 and 30.

The Weather

Lowest temperature last night, 50 degrees; highest yesterday, 64 degrees. The rainfall yesterday in the city was .30 of an inch. Much heavier fell in nearby places, to the west and north. An unusually severe hailstorm passed across the county about six miles to the north in the afternoon, and hailstones almost an inch in diameter fell in profusion. The ground was white for a time, and in Bridgenorth, remnants of the hailstorm were to be seen still late in the evening.—W.P.

CHAPLIN SCORES ENGLISH CRITICS

Been So Misunderstood in Europe He Doesn't Care Whether He Makes Another Film.

IGNORED IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 11 (A.P.) — The Daily Express quoted Charlie Chaplin in an interview at Juan les Pins, France, as saying:—

"Europe has misunderstood me, bullied me and misrepresented me to such an extent, that being a moderately rich man, I don't care a hang whether I ever make another film."

He mentioned among other things widespread comment at his refusal to appear at Monday's "command" performance at a theatre in London.

"What is all this nonsense about my refusing to appear at a command performance?" he asked. "I've received no command from the King, merely a request from a music hall manager to appear at a charity show.

"They say I have a duty to England. I wonder what duty? I sometimes think my countrymen are the world's greatest hyprocrites. Nobody wanted me in England seventeen years ago.

"I was just as good an artist then and I slaved and starved for a few shillings weekly. I had to go to American for my chance, and I got it. Only then did Europe take the slightest interest in me."

Says Women M.P.'s Are of Little Use

LONDON, May 11 (C.P. Cable) —Women members of the House of Commons are of very little use because they only espouse popular causes, complains Miss Walsh, secretary of the National Union of School Teachers.

The union is protesting to the Government against employment of any teachers who are not fully qualified. But as a result of investigations by Miss Walsh the union is not forwarding its protest to any of the women members of Parliament.

There were 68 women candidates in the last general elections and 14 were returned to the House of Commons.

CATARACT TAKEN FROM KING'S EYE

Specialists Claim Siam's Ruler Will Have Nearly Normal Vision Again.

SUFFERS NO PAIN.

PURCHASE, N.Y., May 11.—King Prajadhipok of Siam was resting at Ophir Hall today, after a successful operation for the removal of a cataract from his left eye yesterday.

"I see the light," he remarked immediately after the operation. He was conscious of every detail of his operation, because only local anaesthetics were used.

The King who travelled half-way around the globe to receive surgical attention, asked that his people in Siam be notified of the outcome.

The doctors' bulletin was cabled to his country. It read:

"The cataract has been successfully removed from the King's left eye. No complication was found in the operation, and we have every reason to believe that he result will be favorable. The King is suffering no pain."

It was signed by Drs. John M. Wheeler, Thomas T. Johnson, Robert A. Cooke and Hugh S. McKeown.

The King's own physician, Rear Admiral Chayant, was unable to be at the operation, have been stricken with malaria. Today he was a patient in the Harbor Hospital, New York.

Heal in 10 Days

Dr. Iago Galdston, executive secretary of the Medical Information Bureau of the New York Academy of Science, who attended the operation as an observer, said the wound would heal in about a week and the bandages would be removed in about ten days.

"By virtue of this operation it is expected the King will, with the aid of glasses, have normal, or near normal vision," he added. "The King will of course be obliged to wear spectacles with a special glass lens in front of his left eye to take the place of the clouded eye lends which was removed."

The King's remark about seeing light was explained by the fact that a cataract acts much like a curtain hung behind the pupil of the eye. When this curtain is removed, although the eye cannot focus to objects, it sees light clearly.

A cataract is not a film over the eye, but is a change in the composition of the lens which renders it more or less opaque. This cloudiness tends to interfere with clear vision.

The King's left eye developed the cataract for six years. A cataract in the right eye is not yet ready for surgical treatment.

RUSSIA BOOSTS PRICES ON FOOD FIFTY PER CENT

Millions of Citizens Learn of Govt's Action With Dismay.

LARGE STORES ON HAND.

Step is Interpreted as Part of Program to Deflate Currency.

MOSCOW, May 11 (A.P.)—Millions of Soviet citizens learned to their dismay to-day that during the past few days the Government had quietly raised the prices 50 per cent on food, liquor and practically all basic commodities.

This step was interpreted in many quarters as part of the Government's program to deflate the currency, the outstanding total of which is at a huge figure. Commissar of Finance Grinko stated some time ago that there would be no further issuance of currency in 1931, indicating that authorities apparently had awakened to the appalling inflation and intended taking steps for stabilization.

Just how this object is to be accomplished with millions of workers drawing regular salaries is unexplained, but the boosting of prices all along the line apparently is one method. The difficulty is that everyone seems to have large quantities of rubles because with the Government rationing out commodities meagerly they have little to spend them on.

With all prices up fifty per cent and probably going higher, outstanding paper is expected to be decreased rapidly and deflation accomplished more or less painlessly. The Government is reported to have large quantities of food and other commodities which it intends to release slowly at higher prices until the balance of currency is in favor of the Treasury, after which prices will be stabilizide accordingly.

FEAR EXPLORER DIED IN ARCTIC

Three Companions Found, State Wegener and 12 Others Missing Since November.

LEFT FOR BASE.

BERLIN, May 11 (A.P.)—Professor Alfred L. Wegener, German scientists and Arctic explorer, was believed here to-day to have lost his life sometime during the winter among the crags of Greenland's icy mountains.

A radio message from Greeland said that a relief expedition had reached the central ice cap station of the Wegener party and had found Wegener's three companions, Johannes Georgia, Fritz Loewe, and Ernst Sorge, but he was not with them.

The three men, however, said that their chief, with a companion named Rasmus, and twelve others had started back from the ice cap station last November for his base at Kamarajuk, 250 miles westward. Nothing has been heard of Wewener nor of any who were with him since that time.

The party starting back from Eismitte, as the isolated ice cap station was called, had dog sledges and supplies for about fifteen days, insufficient to keep them alive long in the event of a mishap marooning them on the ice. There was a bare possibility that the party may have dug itself in somewhere to await warmer weather, but it was doubted.

The Wegener expedition left Copenhagen, April 1, 1930, intending to spend eighteen months in Greenland. Dr. Wegener is a former balloonist and is widely known for his Arctic expeditions, of which this last was to gather meterological and scientic data. He was 50 years old on the day he started back to his base.

CARS DAMAGED ROAD ACCIDENT

Drivers and Companions in Both Vehicles Escape With Slight Injuries.

NEAR TRENT RIVER.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 11 (Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Two cars staged a collision at the crossroads one mile from Woodlands Cheese factory, Seymour Township, Saturday forenoon, when a sedan driven by Lester Breen of Havelock, who was travelling south on the Havelock road between Trent Bridge and Woodlands factory, ran into a touring car driven by Raymond Fee of Seymour at the corner where the 12th Concession crosses the Havelock highway. Free was travelling east on the concession road at a slow rate of speed and was hit while crossing the highway.

Breen and a companion who was with him were shaken up; their car running up a bank and colliding with a stump. Free suffered slight bruises on the forehead and left arm and a slight concussion. His six-year-old son, who was in the car with him at the time, was thrown out but not injured.

Both cars were badly damaged, having fenders smashed, radiators torn and axles sprung; the Free car also having one wheel broken off.

ONTARIO FIGHTS NOXIOUS WEEDS WITH FORCE OF 500 INSPECTORS

Every Municipality in Province Co-operating With Weed Control Act.

Every municipality in Ontario has joined in the Provincial campaign against weeds, and more than five hundred inspectors are working under the Weed Control Act, J. D. McLeod of Dunvegan, Chief Inspector in Eastern Ontario, stated Saturday morning in a conference with the inspectors of Peterborough County.

"Our plan is based on the two ideas of co-operation and common sense," Mr. McLeod said. "This Act came into force in 1927, and at first there was a great deal of opposition because some farmers thought we were going on their lands and pull up their crops. We have no desire to create hardship for anybody, and the people now realize that we are working with them and for their benefit. That is why we find county councils so willing to co-operate with us; and we leave local administration of the Act to the common sense of the inspector.

The Weed Control Act was used ten times more last year than the year before. In one place neighbors complained about weeds growing on a 126-acre farm. The owner was in Montreal. He was sent a notice by registered letter to cut the weeds in seven days. The neighbors then went in themselves with their mowers at a cost of $76, which was charged against the owner on his tax bill.

Mr. McLeod was accompanied by C. A. Galbraith of the Crops and

C.P.R. Will Close Branch Station

LINDSAY, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence). — Following up the policy of retrenchment in connection with the management of its system because of economic conditions, the C.P.R. on Friday closed its agencies at Dunsford, Janetville, and Nestleton. These stations are situated on the Bobcaygean-Burketon branch of the system, and have had agents since the opening of the line about twenty-five years ago. They were always important passenger and shipping centres, but the advent of the motor car and truck has revolutionized conditions.

3 BARNS BURNED IN BAD STORM

damages to-day. Hay was destroyed, trees uprooted and torn, and windows broken.

Three Horses Lost.

Lightning struck the stable of Charles Pavey. Three horses and six pigs were burned in the flames that destroyed the stable. Only the assistance of neighbors, who formed a bucket brigade, prevented the fire from spreading to the main barn Pavey's farm is four miles north of Bridgenorth. Known as the McIllmoyle farm, it is owned by Mrs Aaron Harris.

Marcus Fowler's barn, a half-mile north of Bridgenorth, was struck Again the efforts of neighbors and men from the village proved valuable and the fire was put out before it could spread. A three-foot hole was burned in the top of the roof.

Livestock Saved.

In Ennismore Township, Patrick Garvey's barn was struck by the lightning and burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at $2,000, and includes grain and hay. Livestock and valuable farm implements were saved.

In the same township W. F. Cavanaugh's chimney was struck and badly damaged.

James Gifford's barn on the sixth line of Smith was destroyed by flames after being struck.

More than 75 valuable six weeks' old chickens, owned by Gordon Mann, were killed or smothered by the hailstones. The chickens became frightened when the storm ripped off part of the roof of the brooder. They ran out into the storm and soon succumbed beneath the hail-stones.

Home is Struck

Fred Mann's family in Smith township were still congratulating themselves to-day at their narrow escape from possible death. Lightning enveloped their home. The chimney was struck and the lightning followed along a pipe and right through the kitchen where the family were gathered.

In the homes of Allan Oliver and T. H. Tyers windows were broken by the hail. Mr. Oliver reports that six panes were smashed in his dwelling. The hail shattered windows in many homes throughout the storm area.

Motorists report that they had great dificulty in driving through the storm. The hail made a treacherous driving bed for the wheels.

Residents of the district just removed from the storm area will hear with surprise the damage wrought by the storm in centre Smith and Ennismore. The day passed with peaceful weather conditions in Peterborough as it did in most other parts of the county. But the strange storm beat a two-mile depth of destruction through one of the best farming areas in the county, while the sun shone and gentle winds prevailed throughout the rest.

LIFE WASN'T WORTH LIVING

Lonely Widow's Fits of Depression

NOW CHEERFUL

Thanks to Kruschen

A widow—70 years of age—living alone in the "back of beyond"—rheumatism in her hands and knees. Is there any wonder that she became depressed to the point of desperation? Fortunately, she tried the one remedy that could put her right—Kruschen Salts.

"I thought I would send a few particulars of the benefit I have received from taking Kruschen Salts for about two years. I am a widow 70 years of age. Naturally, my joints were very stiff, and I had rheumatism in my hands and knees. I have very little rheumatism now. In fact, very often none at all, and my joints are much more supple. But, worst of all, I used to get fearful fits of depression—(I live alone in a lonely place)—so much so that I was afraid to walk by the river which runs close to my house, unless I should be tempted to jump in and end all. I am pleased to tell you I never have those feelings now. In fact, anyone would look upon me as a most cheerful companion."—

Mrs. E. A. C.

The commonest cause of depression is partial constipation—an insidious complaint, because the sufferer is seldom aware of it. It means the gradual accumulation of body poisons which dull the mind, damp the spirits, sap the nervous strength and lower the whole vitality.

Kruschen Salts make constipation impossible. They help the liver and kidneys to perform their natural duties in a natural way; they clear away gently, but completely, all poisonous waste matter, and ensure an uncontaminated blood-stream. Therefore, if you keep to Kruschen, you need never know the meaning of melancholy; never feel "nervy" or depressed.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

"NEGLECTED WIVES! My mail bursts with their sad stories.

"Yet every one of you was once an adored young bride. Holding the key to a man's heart in your hands.

"What pains you took then to be dainty and feminine. Your lovely trousseau things—colourful, lacy negligées and lingerie—all built up your faith in yourself.

"They made you FEEL charming. Feminine. And when you feel charming you ARE!

"The magic of charm! Men can grow tired of beauty, neglect it, but the silken threads of charm hold forever.

"Believe me when I say these 2 rules of charm are as important to WIVES as to brides—

Rules of Charm

1. Choose lovely, colorful lingerie. 2. Never let it become faded and drab.

"Not impossible rules! Dainty, lacy lingerie is not extravagant if you wash it in Lux, for Lux keeps it new so much longer than ordinary 'good' soaps do.

"Lux never fades delicate colours. Lux never robs a garment of softness and sheen. It's a wonderful soap and it's one of the great aids to exquisite feminine charm!

"REMEMBER, too, that your HOME should express and emphasize your charm to your husband. Here also LUX is essential in keeping colourful curtains, slip covers, linens freshly lovely!"

DOROTHY DIX

"You FEEL charming when lingerie and negligées are colourful and exquisite. And when you feel so, you ARE."

VILLAGERS CHEER AS PEER IS WED

Lord Malcolm Douglas Hamilton Marries Pamela Bowes-Lyon.

PIPER LEADS WAY

(By Betty Twist.)

LONDON, Eng., May 11 (SNS). — On the borders of the New Forest, gray and weather-beaten, stands the old Cistercian Monastery, Beaulieu Abbey where Miss Pamela Bowes-Lyon, a cousin of the Duchess of York was married to Lord Malcolm Douglas-Hamilton, the third son of the Duke of Hamilton and Brandon, the premier peer of Scotland. It was the picture wedding of the year. The villagers came thronging into the abbey grounds carrying blue and white handkerchiefs to cheer the bride whose girlhood had been spen amongst them. Then came the guests, 400 in all. Voices were hushed as the visitors passed along the quiet cloisters into the old monastic refectory, now used as the parish church.

Stone walls and blue flowers, with here and there a touch of pink, made a delicate color symphony, while the nuptial white of lilies outlined the chancel arches. The Primate of Scotland officiated, wearing robes of crimson and gold, and grouped at the side were the choristers in deep blue cassocks. Slowly the bridal retinue advanced up the aisle. The bride in white peau d'angel satin with a wreath of mother of pearl and orange buds and a lace-bordered veil of gossamer tulle was followed by a tartan-clad page, the four-year-old Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, who held the sweeping train. Two little girls in frocks of blue-spotted net came close behind, grasping tight their posies o pink and blue forget-me-nots. The six bridesmaids, also in blue of a soft hydrangea shade, had sashes of twisted pink and blue ribbons, juliet caps of silver ribbon caught up with forget-me-nots and bouquets of pink tulips. The bridegroom, who is known as an intrepid pilot, wore the full dress uniform of the Royal Air Force.

Ceremony Was Simple

The wedding ceremony itself was simple and after the blessing of the platinum ring the young couple signed their names in the blue register with the blue pen placed ready on a small oak table.

Preceded by the Hamilton piper, for both bride and bridegroom come of very ancient Scottish families, the wedding party made their way to Palace House, the lovely home of Lady Montague where the reception was to be held. A red and silver aeroplane circled overhead as the procession passed into the gardens where a film was taken. Under a stone archway, in a bower of blue and pink blossoms, the bride and bridegroom received their friends. The banqueting room was decorated with miniature silver aeroplanes and bunches of white heather and orange blossoms. The wedding cake was duly cut by the married pair, hand set by hand upon the sword hilt. When the bride and bridegroom departed, the bride in a romaine coat and skirt of her favorite hyacinth blue shade, showers of rose petals were scattered over them.

The Duchess of York had expressed her desire to attend the wedding, but she was prevented at the end by other official engagements. She sent a present, however, of two massive silver centre dishes. On the accompanying card she wrote, "With all best wishes from Elizabeth," and the the Duke of York had signed his name, "Albert." Many of the guests, including the Earl and Countess of Strathmore and the Duke and Duchess of Hamilton and Brandon, had been brought down from London by special train.

On her return from the honeymoon, the bride will be presented at court. In accordance with custom she will wear her bridal gown for the presentation, though the nine-foot-long train will have to be ruthlessly sacrificed. Another debutante amongst the bridesmaids is Lord Glamis's daughter, the Hon. Cecilia Bowes-Lyon, a niece of the Duchess of York.

Small Child Hurt By Infuriated Sow

HASTINGS, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence). — Billie, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James West of Percy Township, narrowly escaped bad injuries, and probably death, by an angry sow on his father's farm on Friday evening. The young chap was with the dog and the sow with her little ones, when she got enraged at the dog and chased it, the dog going through the fence. The sow then turned on the unfortunate little chap, knocking him down, inflicting a severe gash in his head. The screams of "Billie" brought his father to his aid, just in time to save him from almost sure death.

PILES ALL GONE

Without Salves or Cutting.

Itching, bleeding, protuding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

JAMES HAVERSON DIES SUDDENLY

Veteran Toronto Barrister Passes on Sunday in His 79th Year.

OUTSTANDING PERSONALITY

TORONTO, May 11.—The legal profession lost one of its leaders yesterday in the sudden death of James Haverson, K.C., at his apartment in Mrs. Ough's summer hotel at Centre Island, in his seventy-ninth year. The late Mr. Haverson, who was a rare personality and a most lovable and companionable man, was stricken shortly after noon, and died peacefully within a quarter of an hour. Eric Ough, son of Mrs. Ough, had found him lying on his bed in a semi-conscious condition. Coroner J. H. McConnell went to the Island and, after making his investigation and certifying to death from heart trouble, arranged with the life-saving crew to bring the late Mr. Haverson across the Bay for removal to the A. W. Miles Funeral Chapel, 30 St. Clair Avenue West.

Although rivals in the courts and on the platform, temperance leaders admired his ability and personal temperance views, as he had been a life-long abstainer from intoxicating liquors. It was said of him that he had a forgiving heart for everything but "humbug and hypocrisy." In the days when the Sunday street car controversy waged in Toronto, and the Lord's Day Act was rigidly enforced throughout the Province, James Haverson was very much in the public eye. While he had many liquor cases in the courts, he demonstrated his legal ability in other actions before the courts, and was most successful as a counsel in many important suits and appeals, being able to match himself with the best-equipped men at the Bar.

Mr. Haverson practiced for over fifty-three years, almost all of the time at the one office, 28 Wellington Street East. His first two law partners were the late Senator John O'Donohoe and Hon. J. W. St. John, one-time Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, and an earnest temperance advocate.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Led by corn, all grains rose to higher price levels yesterday and displayed notable activity. Corn buying was the most aggressive in a long while and was largely ascribed to scantiness of receipts and to operations of a leading speculator. Wheat derived independent strength from reports of increased European purchasing and from indications that Russian seeding of spring wheat had fallen far behind schedule.

Corn Closes Nervous.

Corn closed nervous, 5½c advanced; wheat, unchanged to 1¼c up; oats, a shade to 3-8c higher and provisions, showing 2c to 5c gain.

From the outset corn showed a more decided upward trend than wheat. Shipping call for corn gave evidence of improvement, and country offerings to arrive were almost zero. Chicago receipts amounted to only 46 cars, about a third of the total at this time last week, and arrivals at other primary centres were also meagre. Producers were reported unwilling to part with their small reserve supplies until it was definitely known that the new corn crop gave promise of an average yield.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 11.—Egg, butter, cheese and potato prices declined on the produce and dairy market here last week. On Saturday egg quotations firmed and butter carlot prices held unchanged, but butter prices to retailers were lower, while cheese and potato quotations were unchanged.

On the egg market, Ontario and Prairie fresh extras, in carlots, gained a cent at 19c a pound, while firsts and seconds were unchanged at 16c to 17c and 14c to 15c a dozen respectively.

Carlot prices of British Columbia fresh extras gained a cent at 20c a dozen, while fresh firsts were unchanged at 17c to 18c a dozen. It was announced that quotations of fresh specials and fresh extras, to retailers, in cartons, would be 1c to 2c lower at 25c and 23c a dozen on Monday. Fresh first and fresh seconds will be a cent higher at 21c and 19c a dozen. Receipts last week were 27,668 cases.

Number 1 fresh pasteurized creamery, fresh and regraded, butter was quoted at 20c a pound, and to retailers solids and prints lost a cent at 22c and 23c a pound respectively. Receipts for the week were 10,771 boxes.

Ontario colored cheese was quoted at 9c a pound, and receipts last week were 5,239 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were quoted at 80c per 80-pound bag or 90 pounds bulk and to retailers 90c per 80-pound bag. New No. 1 Florida potatoes were quoted at $8 per 160-pound barrel and No. 2 brand at $6 a barrel.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., May 11.—(CP)—Hogs 700; slow; steady to weak, 210-215 lbs., 7.60-7.75; few 225 lbs., 7.50; weights below 200 lbs., quoted 7.65-7.75.

Cattle 125; week's trade steady to 25 higher; closing weak; supply moderate; good steers, yearlings and heifers 8.00-8.35; fat cows, 5.00-6.00.

Calves 200; vealers closing steady with last week; early gain erased; supply liberal; good to choice 8.50-9.00; top 9.50.

Sheep, none; lamb trade closing 25-40 lower; supply light; demand narrow; good to choice clippers, 8.75-9.00; week's top 9.50; wool skins scarce; 10.00 down; fat ewes 3.00-4.00; spring lambs medium to choice, 10.50-13.00.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 11. — Bulls predominated on the wheat market on Saturday and pushed quotations 1c to ¾c above Friday's close. The May wheat future strengthened to 62½c per bushel, July to 63⅛c bid, and October 64½c to 64⅝c.

Firmness was instilled in the pit by the large buying of local traders. Exporters did not appear and support from this source was lacking. Liverpool firmness and reports of dryness in the United States spring wheat States and the Canadian Prairies, however, aided the bullish trend.

Very little business was accomplished in cash wheat, prices remaining practically unchanged. Moderate demand by exporters for oats, barley and rye featured coarse grain trading. Quotations added fractional gains.

TWO DIAMOND JUBILEES.

Two events of considerable historical interest coincide this year and will be celebrated within a few weeks of each other—the sixtieth anniversary of the entrance of the Province of British Columbia into the Dominion of Canada and the sixtieth anniversary of the establishment of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. The former event will be observed with due ceremony in July; the latter in June, with the holding in Victoria, B. C., of the 60th annual general meeting of the association.

As a graceful recognition of the action of the C.M.A. in celebrating its diamond jubilee in British Columbia, the Bureau of Provincial Information has issued an attractively illustrated 16-page souvenir booklet, which contains a great deal of useful information about the Pacific Coast Province, including data regarding its forests, mines, fisheries, manufactures, water powers, commerce, shipping, railways and highways.

The cover of the booklet bears both the coat of arms of the Province and the crest of the association, together with a view of the Parliament Buildings at Victoria and features prominently the diamond jubilee of Province and association.

THE CAMPAIGN IS ON.

To-day Canadians who, back in the years when Canada was at war, showed their faith in their country and their belief in the cause for which it was fighting by placing their money at the disposal of the Dominion, are asked once more to demonstrate their confidence in Canada.

The Dominion's 250,000,000 conversion loan is available to all holders of Victory Bonds, who are urged to accept the new issue in place of their expiring securities.

It is a real test.

The new bonds, different from most of the Victory Loan issues, are taxable, and they provide interest at 4½ per cent. instead of the 5½ per cent. paid on the war-time bonds.

They are for a twenty-five-year period, although they may be called in after fifteen years at the pleasure of the Government.

The success of this campaign is of great importance.

In the first place, as the Premier pointed out in his address to the House the other day, a whole-hearted response will solve a pressing financial problem.

And secondly, the success of the loan will be a striking advertisement, telling the world that the Canadian people have every faith in the future of their country.

The campaign is already launched and will end on Empire Day, when it is hoped that the expectations of the Government will be fully realized.

A SPLENDID SHOWING.

The boy choristers of St. John's Church and their leader, F. G. Mann, are to be congratulated upon their success in winning for the second time the Stillman Challenge Shield in the competition for boys' choirs at the annual Stratford musical festival.

While on this occasion the St. John's choristers did not face any competition, they had to take high marks to qualify as winners, and they came through an exacting test in a manner that earned them the warm commendation of the adjudicator, Dr. Earnest MacMillan, of Toronto.

The triumph of the choir itself was duplicated by individual success on the part of several of its members in solo classes, and altogether the showing made by the Peterborough contingent must have been gratifying not only to the boys themselves but to Mr. Mann whose training methods were so strongly endorsed by the results attained.

In their two successful appearances at Stratford the St. John's choristers have done a great deal to give their home city a large amount of most desirable publicity.

Like the Male Voice Choir and the Madrigal Singers, the St. John's singers have testified to the fact that Peterborough is making big strides in the field of musical culture.

CLEANING UP THE HIGHWAYS.

According to a London, Ont., despatch a few days ago, road foremen, acting under the instructions of the Ontario Department of Highways, have recently completed a six-day check-up of advertising signs along the highways in that district with the result that nearly 10,000 such signs have been torn down.

This, it is hoped, is the forerunner of a similar campaign in all parts of the Province to remove the ugly signs that have increased so rapidly in recent years that much of the beauty of the rural landscape has been lost as a result.

During the last session of the Legislature new regulations were passed that set forth very definitely what type of advertising sign could be erected and named as well the kind that will henceforth be forbidden.

This legislation gives the highway department the necessary authority to deal with this problem, and the action taken in Western Ontario would seem to indicate that the provincial authorities are determined to put an end to conditions that were becoming intolerable.

When it is realized that in the London district clean-up as many as 50 notices were pulled down from one premises alone the need of dealing with the situation with a firm hand should be evident to everybody.

Most people in this regard will agree with the Border Cities Star when it says:

"The scenery of our Province leaves little to be desired. This is a truly magnificent country. Every year it is more popular with visitors. Let us make sure that the richness with which Nature has endowed us is not ruined or even minimized by mere commercialism that has no appreciation of the finer side of life.

"The Department of Highways should have public opinion solidly behind it in the important task that it has undertaken."

THE MAGNITUDE OF INDIA.

(From the Montreal Gazette)

A very warm public greeting to Lord Willingdon marked the brief ceremony connected with his taking the oath of office as Viceroy of India. The installation at Bombay, witnessed by an assembly of British dignitaries and rulers of the princely states, is no less a tribute to the esteem in which Lord Willingdone is held than a point of departure in Indian affairs of deep significance for all concerned. Under any circumstances, the induction of a viceroy carries great weight; yet, fronting the critical stage at which the Hindu problem has now arrived, this event carries implications of a far-reaching significance that it would be difficult to exaggerate. A few plain figures suffice to indicate the vast range of the Viceroy's administration. He rules in behalf of 315,000,000 people, about one-fifth of the human race. His territory equals in extent the whole of Europe, Russia excepted. The population exceeds that of the United States in proportion to three to one. Besides the territory of the Indian princes, with its population of 70,000,000 in British territory proper, there are 245,000,000 people whose affairs are brought under survey of a European executive numbering some fifteen hundred officials. The European army forces are estimated at 75,000 soldiers, or one to every 4,500 of the people; and, with its mixture of races, languages and religions, the constituency of the Viceroy covers a million square miles.

India is listed as responsible for about one-eighth of the whole foreign trade of Great Britain. This summarized in cold figures, it will be seen that the position of the Viceroy is no sinecure. The responsibilities of his task are accentuated by agitation, now sharply developed in the Nationalists' demand for home rule; and on all hands it is conceded that the establishment of a satisfactory system of constitutional government for India is one of the greatest and most intricate problems that has ever confronted British statesmanship. As Lord Irwin said in his farewell address, "The stiffest part of the hill is yet to come."

HOW OLD IS THE CENSUS?

In a few weeks the Dominion Government will count noses in Canada. It is only in comparatively modern times that the practice of taking a census has been put on a systematic basis, but all available evidence suggests that the practice is probably as old as civilization itself. In ancient Babylonia an efficient fiscal system provided for the maintenance of detailed records, while surveys of land and people were carried out at frequent intervals with care and accuracy. From the time of the earliest dynasties in Egypt attention was devoted to the compilation of data relating to land, revenue, and the number of the people; enumerations for fiscal purposes were regarded as such important events in the life of the nation that it became customary to make the "numberings" serve as the basis for chronological reckoning, while concern for the establishment of accurate records of the people gradually attained such importance that Amasis II., the last great Egyptian ruler prior to the Persian Conquest, required an annual enumeration of his people in great detail.

Enumerations are so frequently mentioned in the Old Testament as to suggest that the principle was well established in Biblical times, yet the dire consequences which followed the attempt of David to number his people postulated the idea that such counting was contrary to Divine Will and a religious offence. A feeling of superstitious fear persisted for many centuries towards attempts at numbering the people.

The Roman census was a most carefully organized and solemn proceeding, taken during the first few years following its introduction every five years; later the interval was extended to ten years, and still later to fifteen years, but the regularity with which these duties were carried out may be appreciated when it is stated the operation was repeated approximately seventy times in the 470 years following its introduction.

After the tremendous crash of the Roman Empire, the practice of census-taking, which had reached a high pitch of perfection, fell into disuse, and it is curious to note that for nearly 1,500 years there existed nothing in Europe remotely resembling the carefully defined organization that had grown up in the days of ancient Rome. Religious superstition led people to regard the operation with disfavor; the rise of feudalism may have rendered the revival of the practice impracticable or unnecessary in the eyes of the ruling authorities, but whatever the reasons, in medieval times and for three centuries following the close of the Middle Ages, the nature and value of census-taking remained unrealized and unrecognized.

This state of affairs continued until the middle of the eighteenth century, but gradually it was realized that conclusions based upon the vague impressions conveyed by unreliable "estimates" were unsound, belonging in fact to the realm of pure conjecture. Old fears and suspicions were removed with the knowledge that information resulting from census inquiries was designed, not for military or taxation purposes, but for the scientific study of the multitudinous problems associated with the welfare of the people. By the adoption of the census method the numbers, sex, age and civil condition of a population became known; particulars relating to the size and structure of families, the numbers of women of child-bearing age, and other potential elements of population growth are available; the classification of the people by occupations and social classes becomes possible, together with information concerning conditions of housing, education and other items of paramount importance to administrators, sanitarians, economists and publicists. Such knowledge as is obtainable only by census methods is indispensable to sound government and the framing of efficient administrative measures in the interests of a people at large.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Can't you put a man to work for a few hours this week?

Hon. Robert Weir has joined the ranks of the swiftest talkers in Parliament, which isn't in the nature of a break for the Hansard staff.

Lindsay has decided to adhere to standard time, while Cobourg will adopt daylight saving, beginning May 31. And so the confusion becomes worst confounded.

Mr. Jacobs' bill to do away with by-elections in the case of members of Parliament appointed to the Cabinet has received second reading. It should pass.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Upward through the darkness Tanar went, and pausing now and then to grope about with his hands, he found that the tree trunk ran up the center of a narrow, circular shaft. He climbed slowly upward and at a distance of about thirty feet above the floor of the tunnel, his head struck stone. Feeling upward with one hand he discovered that the tree was set in mortar in the ceiling above him.

This could not be the end! What reason could there be for a tunnel and a shaft that led nowhere? He groped through the darkness in all directions with his hand and he was rewarded by finding an opening in the side of the shaft about six feet below the ceiling. Quitting the bole of the tree he climbed into the opening in the wall of the shaft, and here he found himself in another tunnel, lower and narrower than that at the base of the shaft. It was still dark, so that he was compelled to advance slowly and with great caution.

He advanced but a short distance when the tunnel turned abruptly to the right, and ahead of him, beyond the turn, he saw a ray of light? A condemned man snatched from the jaws of death could not have greeted salvation with more joyousness than Tanar of Pellucidar greeted this first slender ray of daylight that he had seen for a seeming eternity. It shone dimly through a tiny crevice, but it was light, the light of heaven that he had never expected to behold again.

Enraptured, he walked slowly toward it, and as he reached it, his hand came in contact with rough, unpainted boards that blocked his way. It was through a tiny crack between two of these boards that the light was filtering.

As dim as the light was it hurt his eyes, so long unaccustomed to light of any kind. But by turning them away so that the light did not shine directly into them, he finally became accustomed to it, and when he did he discovered that as small as the aperture was through which the light came it let in sufficient to dispel the utter darkness of the interior of the tunnel and he also discovered that he could discern objects. He could see the stone walls on either side of the tunnel, and by looking closely he could see the boards that formed the obstacle that barred his further progress. And as he examined them he discovered that at one side there was something that resembled a latch, an invention of which he had been entirely ignorant before he had come aboard the Korsar ship upon which he had been made prisoner.

He clinched his ear to the door and listened, but he heard no sound. Then very carefully he examined the latch, experimenting with it until he discovered how to operate it. Steadying his nerves, he pushed gently upon the rough planks. As they swung away from him slowly a flood of light rushed into the first narrow crack, and Tanar covered his eyes with his hands and turned away, realizing that he must become accustomed to this light slowly.

With closed eyes he listened at the crack, but could hear nothing. And then with utmost care he started to accustom his eyes to the light, but it was long before he could stand the full glare that came through even this tiny crack.

When he could stand the light without pain he opened the door a little further and looked out. Just beyond the door lay a fairly large room, in which wicker hampers, iron and earthen receptacles and bundles sewed up in hides littered the floor and were piled high against the walls. Everything seemed covered with dust and cobwebs and there was no sign of a human being about.

Pushing the door open still further Tanar stepped from the tunnel into the apartment. Everywhere the room was a littler of bundles and packages, with articles of clothing strewn about, together with various fittings for ships, bales of hide and numerous weapons.

For a moment Tanar stood with his hand still on the open door and as he started to step into the room his hand stuck for an instant where he had grasped the rough boards. Looking at his fingers to ascertain the cause, he discovered that they were covered with sticky pitch. When he tried to rub the pitch off, he found that it was almost impossible to do so. As he moved around the room examining the contents everything that he touched with his hand stuck to it—it was annoying, but unavoidable.

An inspection of the room revealed several windows along one side and a door at one end. The door was equipped with a latch similar to that on the door through which he had just passed. Lifting the catch, Tanar pushed the door slightly ajar and before him he saw a long corridor, with doors opening from it.

As he looked, a Korsar came from one of the doorways and, turning, walked down the corridor away from him and, a moment later, a woman emerged from another doorway, and then he saw other people at the far end of the corridor. Quickly Tanar of Pellucidar closed and latched the door.

Here was no avenue of escape. For with his smooth face and his naked body he would be recognized and seized the instant that he stepped from the room. But Tanar was far from being overwhelmed by discouragement.

Turning back once more into the room, he searched it carefully for some other avenue of escape. He went to the windows and found that they overlooked the garden of The Cid, but there were many people there, too.

Seating himself upon a bale of hide, Tanar gave himself over to contemplation of his predicament and, as he studied the matter, his eyes fell upon some of the loose clothing strewn about the room. There he saw the shorts and shirts of Korsar, the gay sashes and head handkerchiefs, the wide-topped boots, and with a half smile upon his lips he gathered such of them as he required, shook the dust from them and clothed himself after the manner of a Korsar. He needed no mirror, though, to know that his smooth face would betray him. He selected pistols, a dirk and a cutlass, but he could find neither powder nor balls for his firearms.

Thus arrayed and armed he surveyed himself as best he might without a mirror. "If I could keep my back toward all Korsar," he mused, "I might escape with ease, for I warrant I look as much a Korsar as any of them from the rear, but unless I can grow bushy whiskers I shall not deceive anyone."

As he sat musing thus, he became aware suddenly of voices raised in altercation just outside the door of the storeroom. One was a man's voice; the other a woman's.

"And if you won't have me," growled the man, "I'll take you."

Tanar could not hear the woman's reply, though he heard her speak.

"What do I care for The Cid?" cried the man. "I am as powerful in Korsar as he. I could take the throne and be Cid myself, if I chose."

Again Tanar heard the woman speak.

"If you do I'll choke the wind out of you," threatened the man. "Come in here where we can talk better. Then you can yell all you want, for no one can hear you."

Tanar heard the man insert a key in the lock and as he did so the Pellucidarian sought a hiding place behind a pile of wicker hampers.

"And after you get out of this room," continued the man, "there will be nothing left for you to yell about."

"I have told you right along," said the woman, "that I would rather kill myself than mate with you, but if you take me by force I shall still kill myself, but I shall kill you first."

The heart of Tanar of Pellucidar leaped in his breast when he heard that voice. His fingers closed upon the hilt of the cutlass at his side, and as Bulf voiced a sneering laugh in answer to the girl's threat, the Sarian leaped from his concealment, a naked blade shining in his right hand.

At the sound behind him, Bulf wheeled about and for an instant he did not recognize the Sarian in the Korsar garb, but Stellara did and she voiced a cry of mingled surprise and joy.

"Tanar!" she cried. "My Tanar!"

As the Sarian rushed him Bulf fell back drawing his cutlass as he retreated. Tanar saw that he was making for the door leading into the corridor and he rushed at the man to engage him before he could escape.

"Stand back," cried Bulf, "or you shall die for this," but Tanar of Pellucidar only laughed in his face, as he swung a wicked blow at the man's head, which Bulf but barely parried, and then they were at one another like wild beasts.

Tanar drew first blood from a slight gash in Bulf's shoulder and then the fellow yelled for help.

"You said that no one could hear Stellara's cries for help from this apartment," taunted Tanar, "so why do you think that they can hear yours?"

"Let me out of here," cried Bulf, "Let me out and I will give you your freedom." But Tanar rushed him into a corner and the sharp edge of his cutlass sheared an ear from Bulf's head.

"Help!" shrieked the Korsar. "Help! It is Bulf. The Sarian is killing me."

Fearful that his loud cries might reach the corridor beyond and attract attention, Tanar increased the fury of his assault. He beat down the Korsar's guard. He swung his cutlass in one terrible circle that clove Bulf's skull, and with a gurgling gasp the great brute lunged forward upon his face. And Tanar of Pellucidar turned and took Stellara in his arms.

"Thank God," he said, "that I was in time."

"Thank heaven you are alive," said the girl. "I thought you dead. They told me that you were dead."

"No," said Tanar. "They put me in a dark dungeon beneath the palace."

"And you have been so near me all this time," said Stellara, "and I thought that you were dead."

"For a long time I thought that I was worse than dead," replied the man. "Darkness, solitude and silence—it was worse than death."

"And yet you escaped?" The girl's voice was filled with awe.

"It was because of you that I escaped," said Tanar, of you kept me from going mad—thought and hope urged me on to seek some avenue of escape. Never again as long as life is in me shall I feel that there can be any situation that is entirely hopeless after what I have passed through."

Stellara shook her head. "Your hope will have to be strong, dear heart, against the discouragement that you must face in seeking a way out of the palace of The Cid and the city of Korsar."

"I have come this far," replied Tanar. "Already have I achieved the impossible. Why should I doubt my ability to wrest freedom for you and for me from whatever fate holds in store for us?"

"You cannot get by with that smooth face, Tanar," said the girl, sadly. "Ah, if you only had Bulf's whiskers," and she glanced down at the corpse of the fallen man.

Tanar turned, too, and looked down at Bulf, where he lay upon the floor. And then quickly he faced Stellara.

"Why not?" he cried, "Why not?"

"What do you mean?" demanded Stellara.

BOWLING CLUB REFUND

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I notice in your issue of May 2, that the City Council refunded the Lawn Bowling Club $300 taxes. I do not think this was fair in face of all the unemployment we have in the city. The working man is only getting an average of three days' work a week and some not that much, and he is compelled to pay his taxes, and is now called to help pay the taxes of a sporting organization.

I am very much surprised at Alderman McNabb who I noticed moved the motion as I believe it was he who stood up at the nomination meeting and in his fluent speech said if elected he would question every expenditure and I also notice that Alderman Tuggey and Alderman Stocker who are always questioning expenditures also voted for the motion.

I understand and on top of that McNabb and Stocker again moved to give the Male Voice Choir an extra $200. Would it not have been better for these gentlemen to have voted these two amounts to the unemployment relief or to the Salvation Army, an organization worthy of any support, who are ready at all times to turn out with their band and who have taken care of hundreds of needy families this winter.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am sorry to have taken up so much of your valuable space, but I do not agree with these two expenditures when the working man was asked to give one day's pay a month. What did Stocker, McNabb and Tuggey give? I have not noticed their names on the list.

Taxpayer and Working Man.

What To-day Means To You.

"TAURUS"

If May 11th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 12:10 p.m., from 3:40 p.m. to 5:45 p.m., and from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and from 6:10 p.m. to 7:40 p.m.

The planetary aspects of May 11th denote untoward events, caused by treacherous and chaotic influences. Things that promise well and propositions that look attractive will prove abortive. Travel will be unproductive. Routine and established custom only should be followed.

Children born on this May 11th will be imaginative, rather than practical. Unless schooled in adversity, they will be dreamers, not doers. Their natures will be emotional and their dispositions affectionate. The signs indicate that they may develop into writers or artists.

Born on May 11th, you lose control too quickly of your feelings to ever become a power. If you wish to attain success, you must learn to dominate your inclination to "blow-up" on the slightest pretext. You are also supersensitive, and apply a personal meaning to the most innocent remarks. People are not always thinking and talking of you, when they are talking to you.

Your likes and dislikes are very pronounced, and often lead you astray. You love with intensity, but without constancy. You hate with bitterness, but without reason. Your complexes are exaggerated. When in an optimistic mood, you live in the clouds, but when pessimistic, you sink to the depths. What you need to find is a mental half way house, where you can secure poise and establish equilibrium

Your judgment is quick and impulsive, you lack deliberation. You rush things and, when it is too late, have reason to regret your hastiness. There should be a compromise between procrastination and impetuosity. "Do it now" is a good motto only if it is worth doing. In your family life, there will not be found that evenness of temperament in its train. There will be constant upheavals and unexpected changes.

West Indians Moving For Canadian Trade

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, B.W.I., May 6.—(By the Canadian Press)—Warmly approving of the Trinidad Legislative Council's sanctioning of the necessary expenditure for the establishing of a West Indies Trade Commissioner service in Canada, the Trinidad Guardian, in a recent leading editorial recalls Sir George Perley's words when he was in Trinidad at the head of the Canadian Goodwill and Trade Mission to the West Indies and South America: "I think you are right in taking steps to send a Trade Commissioner to Canada." Although not all the colonies in the British West Indies have agreed to the scheme The Guardian says the proposed service is assured. Besides Trinidad the following will participate: Barbados, the Windward and Leeward Islands, the Bahamas and British Honduras.

The Guardian says: "The approval of the Legislature covers a three-year period, at the end of which the scheme will come up for review. It is believed that by that time its value will be so much appreciated that West Indian support will be unanimous. Canada has Trade Commissioners in numerous countries, having built up the service by degrees through many years until now it is regarded as super-efficient. Those who vision the great future which undoubtedly awaits the West Indies can see our trade representatives established in many parts of the Dominion and in Great Britain.

"The link between Canada and the West Indies is closer than appears on the surface. Canadian banks and insurance companies are strongly entrenched in these Colonies, and in Trinidad the public utility companies are largely Canadian owned.

LAMBETH CONFERENCE

WALLASEY, Cheshire, Eng., May 11 (A.P.)—A gesture seeking reconvocation of the Lambeth conference with a view to discussing union of the Church of England with Evangelical free churches has been made by the Archbishop of Canterbury in a letter to the Federal council of the Evangelicals.

The letter was submitted to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of England which voted to give the Presbyterian representatives on the federal council a free hand in voting.

The Archbishop wrote that since the 1921 conference many misunderstandings remained to be cleared and that additional explanations might be made.

BRITAIN OPENS SAFETY WEEK

Congress at Leeds is Discussing Every Phase of Accident Prevention.

50 KILLED DAILY.

LONDON, May 11 (C.P. Cable).—Britain's second National Safety Week opened to-day. Fifty people are killed and 3,000 injured every day in the week throughout the year in this country, through accidents. The bulk of them are avoidable. It is asserted, and a mass demonstration of how to prevent accidents is being made throughout the length and breadth of the land.

A safety congress is being held at Leeds, in which every aspect of accident prevention is to be discussed. Special lectures and moving picture displays are being given in the schools and among Boy Scouts and Girl Guides.

Since safety first propaganda was instituted here six years ago the annual increase in the number of street accidents has been reduced from 18 to 3 per cent.

Edinburgh, which possesses an energetic Safety First Council, has in five years reduced its annual accidents from 1,800 to under 1,000—a drop of more than 40 per cent. compared with an increase of 33 per cent. throughout the rest of Great Britain in the same period.

Ice-flows caused Inspector Stringer and his party to be marooned on an island for a week.

Dodge April Shipments Are Best in Two Years

A statement issued by Russel Paige, Dodge general sales manager, reports April the best month for Dodge in two years. Shipments of Dodge passenger cars and trucks during April this year show an increase over April 1930, and even better results are forecast for May.

"Convincing evidence of the rapidly growing popularity of Dodge products is reflected clearly in our shipments last month," said Mr. Paige.

"During April just closed, more Dodge passenger cars and more Dodge trucks were shipped to Dodge dealers than were shipped in the corresponding month of 1930. In fact, more Dodge products — passenger or commercial — were shipped last month than have been shipped during any month since 1929.

"The month of May just beginning — always one of the leading months in sales — shows promise of even greater results."

GENERAL LIST IS STRONGER AT NEW YORK

More Cheerful Sentiment Reflected as New Week Gets Under Way.

1 AND 2 POINT GAINS.

(By Claude A. Jagger, Associated Press Financial Editor)

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 11.—Bears were repulsed and the stock market reflected a slightly more cheerful sentiment as the new week in Wall Street got under way to-day.

Bearish efforts, so successful in selected issues on Saturday, were renewed during the morning, but they failed to provoke important selling, and a substantial upturn occured during the middle of the day.

There were numerous losses of 1 to 4 points in the early trading in stocks, but these were in the main subsequently replaced with gains of 1 to 2. Issues showing advances included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, McKeesport, American Telephone, Public Service of N. J., Electric Power and Light, North American, International Telephone, Atchison, New Haven, American Can, Case, Radio, Montgomery Ward, Kroger, Grandsilver, Gillette and United Aircraft. Soft spots in the early trading were Fox Film and Union Carbide. They dropped 3 points and rebounded only feebly. Eastman, However, regained most of a 4-point loss.

Rockland Girl's Case Adjourned For Week

ROCKLAND, May 11. (CP)—Adjournment for one week in the case of Lucia Goulet, 17-year-old Rockland girl charged with murdering her mother, Mrs. Josephine Goulet on May 1, was taken in court to-day. It had previously been agreed by the Crown Attorney and Lorenzo Lafleur, defence counsel, to set the opening of the preliminary hearing for May 18 in order that more time might be available for summoning of witnesses and collection of data for the trial.

The girl was not asked to plead and no witnesses were called during the brief proceedings. Mr. Lafleur said to-day his client had at first objected to the adjournment. He quoted her as saying "I want to get the trial over with quickly so that I can prove my innocence."

PLAN ATLANTIC FLIGHT

The two said they would leave Roosevelt Field, N.Y., on May 17.

NORANDA UP 1-2 PT. AT MID-DAY

Fluctuations in Wall Street Find No Reflection on Toronto Exchange.

OILS ARE IRREGULAR.

TORONTO, Ont., May 11.—(CP)—Lacking the fillip which comes from professional operations, Toronto stock exchange market this morning was flat. Fluctuations in Wall Street found no reflection locally, as the market simply dried up awaiting a definite turn one way or the other.

Noranda was up ½ point at midday while Nickel was down about the same amount. Brazilian was just under Saturday's final, C.P.R. unchanged and Bell Telephone eased slightly. Ford of Canada was up ¼ above 20. The foods were scarcely disturbed. Steel of Canada regained part of a point, Page-Hersey failing to record a sale.

Oils were irregular in extremely light trading, the turnover in Imperial the first two hours amounting to 5 shares while International Petroleum registered only one transaction of 25 shares. Both issues were quoted unchanged for board lots. B. A. Oil was better at 10 7-8. Liquor stocks were unchanged.

Call Money Is Lowest Since September, 1908

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 11 (CP). — For the first time since September 9, 1908, call money renewed at one per cent. to-day at the New York stock exchange loaning desk.

The renewal rate, which is the interest charged on previously contracted brokers' borrowings, reflects conditions in the short-term money market, and to-day's extremely low figure was an aftermath of the recent cut in the New York federal reserve bank's rediscount rate to 1½ per cent. With a few interruptions caused by temporary and minor tringency due to seasonal influences, the stock exchange renewal rate has been 1½ per cent. for some time.

Losses In Majority On Montreal Mart

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP). — A mixed trend appeared on the Montreal stock exchange this morning, but losses were in the majority at the noon hour. Dominion Bridge showed strength, rallying to 34½, a net gain of 1½ over Saturday's close.

National Steel Car was off a point at 23 and Bank of Montreal dropped 1½ points to 276½ in one sale. Power Corporation lost ½ at 51, Brazilian sold down ½ at 16½ and International Nickel lost ⅛ at 14½. Canadian Pacific was up ¼ at 29¾ and Canadian Car gained ½ at 14½.

Honorary Officers Of Lacrosse Club

The honorary membership of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, newly-organized, includes a number of well-known sportsmen and prominent local citizens. They are: Patron, Mayor Denne; honorary presidents, E. A. Peck, M.P.; Hon. G. N. Gordon, and J. F. Strickland, M.P.P.; honorary vice-presidents, R. A. Wainman, J. Skinner, C. Cummer and Lou McCoy; and the honorary members, J. A. Allen, W. K. Sloane, Wm. Grady, Wm. Meagher, Joseph Ranger, C. H. Ackerman, and Robert Abbott.

Few local sport organizations can boast a list of honorary members that can compare with this, and everything points to a successful comeback for the game that at one time did much to keep Peterborough on the sports map.

CHALLENGE IN SEPTEMBER

LONDON, May 11 (A.P.) — Sir Thomas Lipton's sixth challenge for the America's Cup will be issued in September, he told The Daily Mail to-day in an 81st birthday interview given aboard his yacht, the Erin, at Southampton. The race, he added, would occur within 12 months of issue of the challenge.

25 PER CENT SALE S INCREASE SHOWN BY DE FOREST CROSLEY

Report Indicates Earnings of $4.00 Per Share for 12 Month Period.

APPROVE NAME CHANGE.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, May 11. — De Forest Crosley Radio Company Limited report a substantial increase of twenty-five per cent. in sales for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1931, to the highest volume on record since the inception of the company in 1923. Despite the general business depression a financial statement presented to stockholders at the annual meeting to-day by Major James E. Hahn, chairman of the board and president, indicated earnings of $4.09 per share for the twelve months' period, contrasted with $1.61 in the previous fiscal period.

Ratification was given by the shareholders to the change in name of the company to Consolidated Industries Limited.

In the past year De Forest Crosley products have been greatly diversified to include electrical refrigerators and synchronous electric clocks which are being manufactured by subsidiary companies, the Norge Corporation of Canada Limited and the Hammond Company of Canada Limited, respectively. In addition the Universal Acceptance Corporation has also been organized to handle retail contracts taken by dealers for consumer purchases. In view of this it was deemed advisable to change the name of the company in order to indicate more fully the widened and future operations of the De Forest Crosley organization.

An extra dividend of twenty cents a share has been declared payable June 1, 1931, and the company has budgeted for a pay roll of $1,000,000.00 for 1931 to be distributed among one thousand employees. At present the radio plant is operating to capacity with substantially the same staff as the high peak in 1930. In addition to this the Norge and Hammond companies are adding to their manufacturing and field forces. Over $3,000,000.00 will be spent with other Canadian manufacturers for materials necessary in the production and marketing of the products of the constituent companies, the shares of which are traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange. The De Forest Crosley Company is the largest manufacturer of radio receiving sets and accessories in the British Empire and is owned and controlled by Canadians with less than two per cent. of the total outstanding capital held outside the Dominion.

Wet Weather Turns Wheat Prices Down

CHICAGO, Ill., May 11 (CP). — Influenced by rains over drought districts in spring wheat territory, grains averaged lower early to-day. Liverpool wheat quotations showed unexpected relative weakness. Opening unchanged to ⅜ cents down wheat afterward held near initial figures. Corn started unchanged to ⅜-½ off and subsequently rallied.

LABOR IS CHEAP W. BLACKWELL FINDS IN SOUTH

Unemployment is Rife But Authorities Pay Very Little Attention To It.

SIX WEEKS TRIP.

Beheading their prisoners first and then burning the remains in huge fireplaces in which the ox for dinner was later roasted, was one of the pleasant little practices of the Spaniards who long ago ruled the southern domains of the United States which are now a portion of the republic, south of the Mason and Dixon Line.

W. Blackwell, Benson Avenue, returning from a six week's sojourn in the Southern States, has many littler interesting memories of the places he visited, among them the old Spaniard fort at Pensacola, Florida, where the ancient ruins, mainly underground, are still in a fine state of preservation.

Mr. Blackwell visited his son, Holden, who lives in Kingsport, Tennessee, and whose work as a builder of bridges takes him far afield.

During his trip, Mr. Blackwell, Sr., spent some time on the famous Suwanee River banks, where his son has a construction camp, but he failed to hear any of the equally famous 'blue' music that darky minstrels provide so liberally on the stage.

Kingsport, Tennessee, is a place of about 18,000 inhabitants which has sprung into full growth, mushroom-like, within the past twenty years. Near it is located the 20,000 acre plant of the Eastman Kodak Company, who manufacture there the chemicals necessary in their photographic work. Its bank, which successfully withstood a run on its funds during the past year, in a panic episode, pays dividends of 15% to its stockholders, and, in direct contradiction to rates of Canadian banks, pays its depositors four per cent on their money and charges them only six per cent on loans.

Labor is Cheap.

Labor is cheap in the South, where unskilled workmen, black or white, can be had for $1.50 for a ten-hour day. The climate, although there is cold, rainy weather in the winter months, is fairly moderate, with a mean temperature of about eighty degrees. This winter, however, in contradiction to the mild Canadian winter we have just passed through, was exceptionally severe, and the corn, after a dry season last year, is rotting in the ground. Too much cotton is the trouble. A speaker at a Chautauqua program here, some seasons ago, spoke of that condition, and repeated a formula of mixed farming to the jingle, "A cow, a horse, a hen—a little cotton now and then," which has evidently not been followed out.

Unemployment is rife also, but, according to Mr. Blackwell, the authorities do not bother so much about the problem as they do here. "They let them starve," was the comment on that situation. The making of whiskey, which retails as low as $2 a gallon, is one of the most lucrative occupations, and there is a story to the effect that a group of interested gentlemen imported a certain very successful maker of corn whiskey, to cater to their special wants. Corn whiskey, of course, comes higher, as it carries a greater kick.

Busses Used Extensively.

Travel by motor bus lines is very extensive in the South. From Cincinnati to Trasville, Tennessee, a distance of several hundred miles, Mr. Blackwell went by the famous Greyhound line, which maintains all-day and all-night schedules, with brief stop-overs for meals.

Living in some ways is cheap in the South. House rents are about on a par with our own, but clothes are cheap. The negroes live in shacks whose chief requirement is to "keep the water out and the smoke in," the latter being desired for warming purposes. Milk retails at 17 cents a quart, but coal can be had for $5 a ton.

The old feeling against the North is still rife in many parts. The ravages of Sherman's invasion, for instance, are still referred to, when he made his famous march to the sea, camped over a radius of sixty square miles and brought with him 60,000 men. And they still preserve with pride the marks on the Capitol at Columbus, where Sherman's attempt to destroy the steadfast building was unavailing.

Vacant Land Wanted To Grow Vegetables

A few days ago The Examiner had a news item in which it stated that The Examiner Relief Fund would help out some men out of work who would like to raise vegetables for next winter's needs and supply what seed and plants were necessary. We have received applications from a number of men and we now desire to get plots of land in different parts of the city. If those who have such vacant land will communicate with The Examiner, we will be obliged.

HOLDERS OF PRESENT BONDS MAY EXCHANGE FOR DOMINION OF CANADA CONVERSION LOAN

New 1931 Bonds Will Extend Over Further Period of 15 to 25 Years.

OVER BILLION DOLLARS.

Flotation Will Mark Greatest Financial Operation in History of Dominion.

Official announcement is made to-day of the terms of the Dominion of Canada 1931 Conversion Loan. This issue extends the opportunity to holders of Dominion of Canada War Loan and Victory Bonds now approaching maturity to convert their holdings into bonds extending over a further period of from 15 to 25 years, and marks what may eventually prove to be the greatest financial operation in the history of Canada—the refunding of the heavy volume of financial obligations incurred during the War period.

The offer does not involve the raising of any new money. Not a penny will be added to the national debt of Canada in consequence of the 1931 Conversion Loan. It is entirely a matter of exchanging existing bonds for other bonds of the Dominion. A total of more than one billion dollars of bonds reaches maturity within the next 3½ years. This total is made up of about $52,900,000 War Loan 5% Bonds due October 1, 1931; $73,300,000 Renewal Loan 5½% Bonds due November 1, 1932; $446,600,000 Victory Loan 5½% Bonds due November 1, 1933; and $512,000,000 Victory Loan 5½% Bonds due November 1, 1934.

Longer Term.

Holders of bonds of these issues are being given the opportunity of continuing their investment over a longer term in the direct obligations of the Dominion Government. They will not lose anything in the way of interest payments or income tax exemption by exchanging for bonds of the 1931 Conversion Loan. It is explained that the new bonds will carry coupons entitling holders to receive up to the date of the maturity of their old bonds, the same interest payments and tax free privileges as they would enjoy if they held their War Loan or Victory Bonds until the actual date of maturity in each case. For the remainder of the term of the 1931 Conversion Loan Bonds, they will carry interest at the rate of 4½% per annum, which, in the opinion of leading investment bankers, is a comparatively generous return in view of the interest rates now prevailing in the London and New York market.

Conversion applications are now being invited up to a total of $250,000,000 of the new bonds. It is announced, however, that the Minister of Finance reserved the right to increase or decrease this amount, in his discretion. Subscription lists will open to-day and will close on or before the 23rd of May, as may be decided by the Government.

May Exchange.

Holders of the War Loan 5% Bonds maturing 1st of October, 1931 may exchange their bonds for Dominion of Canada 1931 Conversion Loan Bonds maturing November 1, 1956. The new bonds will not be subject to redemption before November 1, 1946, but from that date until maturity they may be called by the Government on any interest date on 60 days' notice, at 100 and accrued interest. The first coupon on these bond will be for six months' tax free interest at 5% per annum, payable October 1, 1931; the second coupon will be for seven months' interest at 4½% per annum, payable May 1, 1932. All other coupons will carry interest at the rate of 4½% per annum payable half-yearly on the 1st of May and the 1st of November.

Holders of the Renewal Loan 5½% Bonds maturing 1st of November, 1932, may exchange their bonds for Dominion of Canada 1931 Conversion Loan Bonds, maturing November 1, 1957. The latter issue cannot be retired before November 1, 1947, but after that date it may be redeemed by the Government on any interest date on 60 days' notice, at 100 and accrued interest. The new bonds will carry regular coupons covering interest at the rate of 4½% per annum payable half-yearly on the 1st of May and the 1st of November. In addition to the regular coupons, these bonds will carry three adjustment coupons payable, respectively, on the 1st of November 1931, the 1st of May 1932, and the 1st of November 1932, for additional interest at the rate of 1% per annum.

Holders of the Victory Loan 5½% Bonds maturity the 1st of November 1933 are being offered the opportunity to exchange their bonds for Dominion of Canada 1931 Conversion Loan Bonds maturing November 1, 1958. These new bonds will carry interest at the rate of 4½% per annum from May 1, 1931, payable half-yearly on May 1st and November 1st. The first five interest coupons—that is, those due to be paid each six months up to November 1, 1933, will be tax free. In addition to the regular coupons, these bonds will carry five tax free adjustment coupons for additional interest at the rate of 1% per annum, payable, respectively, November 1, 1931; May 1, 1932; November 1, 1932; May 1, 1933; and November 1, 1933. The Conversion Loan Bonds maturing in 1958 will not be subject to redemption before November 1, 1948, but on or after that date they may be called at the option of the Government on any interest date on 60 days' notice, at 100 and accrued interest.

1934 VICTORY LOANS.

Holders of the Victory Loan 5½% Bonds maturing 1st November 1934, are being offered the opportunity to exchange their bonds for bonds of the Dominion of Canada 1931 Conversion Loan maturing November 1, 1959, which will carry coupons entitling the owner to interest at the rate of 4½% per annum, payable half-yearly May 1, and November 1, commencing May 1, 1931. In addition to the regular coupons these bonds will crary seven adjustment coupons or further interest at the rate of 1% per annum, payable, respectively, November 1, 1931; May 1, 1932; November 1, 1932; May 1, 1933; November 1, 1933; May 1, 1934, and November 1, 1934. The Conversion Loan Bonds due November 1, 1959 will not be redeemable before November 1, 1949, but after that date they may be redeemed by the Government on any interest date on 60 days' notice, at 100 and accrued interest.

The issue of bonds of the 1931 Conversion Loan is authorized by Act of Parliament, which provides that both principal and interest on all of the bonds is to be a charge on the consolidated revenue fund of Canada.

Principal and interest on the new bonds will be payable without charge in lawful money of Canada at the office of the Minister of Finance and Receiver General at Ottawa, or at the office of the Assistant Receiver General at Halifax, Saint John, Charlottetown, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, or Victoria. Interest coupons will be payable without charge as they fall due at any branch in Canada of any of the Chartered Banks.

The Department of Finance announces that interim certificates in bearer form will be delivered in the first instance in exchange for all War Loan and Victory Bonds accepted for conversion. The interim certificates will be exchangeable at a later date for engraved definitive bonds. The Finance Department expects that the definitive bonds will be ready on or about the 15th of August, 1931.

When the definitive bonds are ready it will be possible for holders to obtain delivery of coupon bonds in bearer form or of coupon bonds registrable as to principal. These bonds will be issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000. Fully registered bonds, on which the interest will be paid direct to the owner by Government cheque, will also be obtainable in denominations of $500, $1,000 $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000.

Applications to convert bonds will be received and receipts issued by any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank and by recognized Canadian Bond Dealers and Stock Brokers, from whom application forms and copies of the prospectus containing complete details of the new bonds may be obtained. They will arrange for the conversion of bonds without expense to bondholders.

the police, but four of them fled by the back door. The mob set on them but they took to their heels and gained shelter in a nearby building.

A police guard was posted at the door and the mob was held off.

About twenty persons, including monks and nuns, were injured tonight when a mob burned the Salesianos Church. The injured were beaten with clubs and fists as they were escaping.

Ten Buildings Burning.

As twilight gathered smoke was rising from ten Catholic buildings fired by the infuriated mob.

Miguel Maura, Minister of the Interior, came out of the Cabinet meeting which had lasted all day and announced that the Government would turn the city into an armed camp with barbed wire entanglements stretched in the streets and machine guns set up where they would do the most good.

Troops called into action to-day will be reinforced by soldiers brought in from the provinces, he said.

The Cabinet has sent word to all the provincial governors directing that they take such steps as are needful in maintaining order. The message invested the Governors with the power to proclaim martial law in their own districts without seeking Federal permission.

Indalecio Prieto, Minister of Finance, signed an official communique laying the riots to the Monarchists and 'other Extremist elements,' which was interpreted as a reference to the Communists.

The communique asserted that the Government is prepared to restore order at any cost, and asserts that the possibility of re-calling the Monarch has definitely vanished.

Newspaper Blamed.

It characterized the continuing disorders as "a perfidious offensive against the Republic and a deplorable attempt to injure the Republic's credit." It referred indirectly to the newspaper, A.B.C., which was suspended yesterday as an organ "which has been trying to poison the national conscience while it attacked democracy."

The Cabinet ordered suspension of the Jesuit newspaper, Debate, during its emergency session.

Foreign Minister Lerroux, who left this morning for Geneva to attend the League of Nations Council meeting, turned back when he received word of the disorders in Madrid.

MUSIC RECITAL MUCH ENJOYED

Pleasing Program Presented in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

By W. A. Newcourt, L.C.C.M.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 11 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — An evening of melody was enjoyed Friday night by the large audience that gathered in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, to listen to a musical recital presented by W. A. Newcourt, L.C.C.M. church organist, assisted by the church choir and some of Mr. Newcourt's pupils.

Mr. Newcourt, who as an organist showed his splendid ability, was responsible for four items on the program. Opening the evening with "March Pompous," (Floyd J. St. Clair) he rendered this very difficult number with ease and good interpretation. A selection, "The Italian Concerto" by (Bach) portrayed the player's control of the organ and exceptional lightness of touch. This rendition is in three movements, (a) allegro, (b) andante, (c) presto, and is the German composers interpretation of Italian art. This number was extremely interesting because of the fact the organ arrangement was Mr. Newcourt's own composition. "Prelude" Op 29, No. 9 (Chopin) was also well rendered, the program concluding with the "Grand Fantasia, The Storm," (Lemmens), a descriptive composition which was very ably handled.

The choir contributed a very fine anthem to the evening's enjoyment, "By Babylon's Wave," (Gounod). This is a very difficult number to sing at any time and the net result of this presentation added to the choir's reputation. In perfect time and with a strict observance of expression, the parts harmonized well and showed a very evenly balanced group of singers. The ladies of the choir also presented a two part Welsh air, "The Bells of Aberdoui," which as an entertaining number received splendid recognition from the audience. A double quartette comprised of choir members also sang very expressively and with a fine sense of musical proportion, "The Lord is my Shepherd" (Schubert). The personnel of this group was: 1st soprano, Mrs. DeCarroll, Mrs. E. Wynn; 2nd soprano, Miss Margaret McGregor, Miss D. Reynolds; 1st alto, Miss M. Bell, Miss F. Henson; 2nd alto, Mrs. MacMillan, Mrs. W. A. Newcourt.

A pupil of Mr. Newcourt's, Miss Rena Thompson played two piano selections, "Spring Song," (Merkel), and Valse Op. 70, No. 1 (Chopin), in a very pleasing manner. Very accurate as to time and with good expression she presented her numbers in a very able manner.

A very pleasing contralto solo, and one that gained the admiration and applause of the gathering was sung by Miss May Bell. This number, "Eye Hath Not Seen," from the oratoria "The Holy City," (Gaul) was one that gave full scope to her splendid voice, rich and full with a quality of timbre not found often among the ranks of singers. Miss Bell showed herself able to present a solo that is full of expression and to complete satisfaction of her very critical audience.

A very fine violin selection, "Extase" (Ganne) was rendered by Kenneth Collison, who played with a delicate touch and good interpretation. Mr. Collison also played the violin obligato for a soprano solo by Miss Helen McDonald, "For All Eternity," (Mascheroui) who sang in her pleasing style with perfect ease and charm, exhibiting a voice of fine quality.

"Land of Hope and Glory," (Elger) was Mrs. Charles Milne's contribution to the program. She in a very able way pleased the audience with this ever popular air. A baritone solo was also well received when John Storie sang an old Scotch air by Munroe, "My Ain Wee House," which gained for him a responsive applause.

Another of Mr. Newcourt's pupils, Miss Mary McGregor, presented an organ solo, "Festival March," (Tielman), in which she showed splendid interpretation and time, Miss McGregor is an organist of no mean ability; and proved herself as being fully capable of rendering the more difficult compositions.

The chairman for the evening was Dr. O. C. Watson, who in a few introductory remarks congratulated the organist on his ability, pointing out that he had done much to foster the love of good music in the community.

Premier MacDonald Plans New Library

LONDON, May 11 (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Some years ago Sir Austen Chamberlain presented to the parliament at Ottawa a large portion of the books owned by his father, Joseph Chamberlain, concerning with the parliament of this country. It is an interesting recollection when one hears that Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald has invited his colleagues in the cabinet and others to present volumes to form the nucleus of a library for the Cabinet Room of No. 10 Downing Street. Hitherto the shelves here have contained only volumes of Hansard, and a few technical books. Ministers and Secretaries have had to go across to the House of Commons to secure works of reference.

Mr. Macdonald's "commendation" is accompanied by a rough bibliography, from which it appears that a special welcome to "works of history and economics, the lives and speeches of statesmen, and the English classics in prose and verse" will be given. A rather irreverent commentator asserts that the "lives of statesmen" will be useful as a terrible example to be avoided. The English classics, of course, are required for purposes of quotation, and in this connection a Tory insinuates that present Ministers are willing to suffer slings and arrows, rather than as a Government to shuffle off; "and for something like Hamlet's own reasons, since a General Election is the bourn from which some of these particular travellers are not likely to return."

Edinburgh Will See An Empire Congress

EDINBURGH, May 11 (By The Canadian Press).—The quinquennial Congress of Universities of the British Empire will be held next July. Before coming to Edinburgh for the main proceedings, the delegates will spend several days in London. On July 3rd they will be welcomed by the Prince of Wales at Guildhall, and will afterwards be entertained at a Government luncheon. The programme in London will include receptions by the League of Nations Union, the Victoria League, the English-Speaking Union, the Goldsmiths' Company, and the Clothworkers' Company. Visits will be made to a number of educational institutions, and also to the universities of Oxford and Reading.

The congress will be opened in Edinburgh on July 7th, and will continue until July 11th. Addresses will be given by the Lord Provost, of Edinburgh, Sir Donald MacAlister, Chancellor of the University of Glasgow; Lord Meston, Chancellor of the University of Aberdeen; and Lord Beauchamp, Chancellor of the University of London. D. in relation to other post-graduate qualifications," "Conditions of admission to universities and their effects," "The provision of schemes of study leading to general Honors Degrees," "Post-graduate study in medicine and surgery in Great Britain,' and "Facilities for over seas students in British Universities."

There will be a civic reception and during their stay in Edinburgh the delegates will be entertained by societies interested in University education. A programme of excursions has also been arranged.

Dental Inspection In Schools Urged

MONTREAL, May 11.—(By the Canadian Press)—Dental inspection and treatment for school children throughout the province was recommended as a means of cutting down on the number of "repeating" students, many of whom are backward in their studies due to dental troubles, by Dr. A. L. Walsh, acting dean of the faculty of dentistry at McGill University, who believed that several hundreds of thousands of dollars would be saved annually by such an action. Speaking at the Lions Club recently, Dr. Walsh told of the importance of looking after the teeth of children. Many boys, backward in their lessons on account of teeth troubles, often turned from school when their teachers, accused them of being a "dullard" and later drifted into criminal ways, he claimed.

Dr. Walsh remarked on the serious lack of dentists in this province, where, he said, there are only about 850 dental practitioners to look after a population of 2,700,000.

CHILDREN'S WAGES.

Each Fall, when vacations are over, children who have little household duties to attend should have a few cents raise in pay. If you give John 15 cents a week instead of 10 for his labors, he will be twice as attentive and industrious and it is only fair that the larger they grow the more allowance they should receive.

MARABOUTS ARE FIT SUBJECTS

jazz band plays the Stein Song or "Little White Lies" or any other favorite of last season.

Most of the bands are all female. Girls—usually blondes—who wear gaudy evening gowns and warble a mean trombone or sax. The blonde appeals to the Arab who doesn't pay much attention to his own little dancers. The women of Morocco fall naturally into two classes, single girls and those weighing more than 190. If there is one married woman in all Morocco who weighs as low as 165 I'd like to meet her. Some are perfectly huge and look even bigger in their bundle after bundle of veils and towels and head wrappings. Par for these is about six to a 12 seat bus.

The dancing girls on the other hand are slim little nymphs who do their job gracefully, charmingly but without variety. Everyone of them wiggles and shimmies in the same routine. Then they spot the tourists and come swooping down, for money. The old boy and I were the centre of feminine attraction everywhere we went. We must have looked rich. The idea was for us to take a coin, spit on it and plaster it on the girl's forehead. The coin would run into half a cent or so.

After this gay little salutation from us the girl would go around to all the other tables getting the people there to plaster her head with cash. If business was good she'd cart away all of 30 cents.

But enough of Mrocco for now. It is picturesque and gay and comfortable for the tourist. But when you see one city you see them all. The food is good, the wines excellent, the hotels first-class but everlasting pestering of street hawkers with postcards, chickens, oriental rugs, laces, trunks, lion skins, live monkeys, chocolate bars, salted peanuts, beer, hot dogs and novels is more than anybody can stand for long. I'm quite sure that if anybody thought of it they'd try to sell canoes right in Sahara.

"ou probably have the idea that there is much about this surprising land that has not been written. You are right. I've found myself rattling merrily on and then had to stop up and throw the copy away. Sort of every man his own censor stuff.

Morocco's Holy Men

One word about holy men before we cross the straights to the world's greatest fortress. Anyone in Morocco who goes thoroughly and completely bughouse seems to become a marabout or holy man. After that he gets everything he can possibly want without even asking for it. There is one holy man here who goes around shouting the words, "Santa Claus" all day. That makes him a holy man. One in Casablanca has been sitting on the same bench for more than 25 years. It's a great honor for people to bring him food but he never speaks to them never moves, never does anything. Since he is just off the main highway he will be there for ever and ever because when he dies the devout will build a tomb around him and praise Allah. This egg has a one-man sanitary system down to a marvel of science. Ask me about it some time.

Then there are the birds with violent St. Vitus dance. They are big shots among the holy. They go rattling and twisting up and down the souks while people follow them crying "Allah, Allah Akbar." Probably if, when this guy spotted me, he suggested that my head come off, they would have obliged him.

Nobody seems to become a marabout through any act of merit. He has to completely loco to reach fame. If the United States could send over her flag-pole sitters they'd probably become holy men in a week or so whereas it took the Santa Claus guy nearly six years. The United States has, by the way, sent over the worst of all her hurdy gurdies, barrel organs, mechanical orchestras and other noise makers.

Any day now you're liable to hear that I've become a marabout, I'm going to gallop around shouting "grand slam in spades! grand slam in spades!"

But enough of this clowning. The Union Jack flies across the bay, the fleet's in. There should be a hot time on the old rock to-night. So long Morocco. See you later. "Allah is great. There is no other god but Allah. There is but one god and Mohammed is his prophet. What is written is written." I'd hate to be Mohammed if he has to meet all his holy men some day."

With fishermen as pallbearers, Lady St. Levan, of St. Michael's Mount, the famous Cornish beauty spot, was buried recently in the centuries-old cemetery there.

Bird Caused This Wreck

It is hard to believe that a little bird caused all this damage, but that is exactly the case. The pilot had to make a forced landing in a London, England, park, after a bird had struck the propeller of his plane. The machine overturned as he manoeuvred to avoid park keepers who were in line of his descent.

REV. McCRIMMON GUEST SPEAKER

POWERFUL MESSAGES.

"There is no need for preachers to depart from the Gospel of Jesus Christ. The same message which your mothers heard will serve as well to-day," stated Rev. A. L. McCrimmon, M.A., LL.D., of McMaster University, in his sermon to the large morning congregation yesterday at Murray Street Baptist Church.

Murray Srteet Church was celebrating its 85th anniversary yesterday, and the day will be remembered as another important milestone in that church's remarkable history. Both morning and evening services drew large attendances. Rev. Mr. McCrimmon's messages were inspirational, and that in the morning especially of an evangelical nature.

During the course of his sermon, Rev. Mr. McCrimmon stated that he was preaching Christianity when he urged that everyone make the most of their lives. "That is no sanctimonious appeal to make the most of this life of yours," he said. Later, he stated that a man could only judge the success of his work by the manner in which it drew him into closer understanding with Jesus Christ.

"All paths of perfection lead to God," he declared, in pointing out that this life should be lived with great earnestness. "What have you made of yourself? What sort of track have you left? These questions might well be the ones that you will be asked in the hereafter."

Later, Rev. Mr. McCrimmon declared that the greatest work anyone could set upon was to bring the wandering souls of men back to God. Answering religious critics, he said that religion was the most practical thing in life. "It is the greatest organizing force in the world," he stated.

The music by the large choir under the direction of Dr. S. J. Graham with Arthur Collison at the organ was also of a special nature to mark the day.

SCHOOL CHILDREN FACING PROBLEM

Rev. Father Tavernier Depicts Conditions in Saskatchewan to Montrealers.

CLAIMS AID NEEDED.

MONTREAL, Que., May 11 (C.P.).—"Saskatchewan is faced with a serious school problem," declared Rev. Father Jean Tavernier of Prince Albert, Sask., addressing a meeting here last night. About 200,000 of the Province's 900,000 inhabitants belonged to the Roman Catholic faith, and more than 50,000 were French-speaking. This group had organized schools of their own and the successive Governments had not interfered with the teaching of religion or language in the schools until the present administration took office two years ago, he said.

Since then conditions had changed, he went on. A long series of regulations had been enacted and enforced, causing hardships. He listed refusal to consider Province of Quebec teaching certificates; strict orders that whatever religious instruction be given in schools must be n English, even to young French-speaking children; no religious insignia or emblems in the schools; strict rules that no religious teacher appear before pupils dressed in the garment or robe of his congregation; deliberations at all meetings of school trustees must be in the English language.

It was the duty of French-speaking elements in the East and particularly in the Province of Quebec to lend moral and financial assistance to that distant French group of Canadians, Father Tavernier said.

There was an excellent attendance and the play held the attention of the audience throughout. Between acts Donald Milburn and Keith Harrison sang as a duet "Where have you been, Billy boy?" Miss Jean Coalis and Miss M. Harrison each contributed a reading all of which were well received. Mrs. MacMillen, a local soloist whose singing is always pleasing, sang a solo very sweetly.

The cast of characters in the play was as follows: Jack Dunning, a victim of his own folly, Fred Anderson; Percy Ogden, a true friend, Bruce Heard; Ashley Drayton, a man of the world, Earl Tully; Aaron Boggs, owner of Cowslip Farm, J. Elmer Milburn; William Henry, his hired man, Heibert Allen; Bell Boy, Gerald Harrison; Dorothy Dunning, Jack's wife, Miss Jean Coates.

W.M.S. Meeting At Hazzard's Corners

QUEENSBORO, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence) — The W.M.S. of Hassard's Corners held their May meeting in the church on Thursday afternoon, with a good attendance. The president, Miss Francis Keene occupied the chair and opened the meeting by singing, "Oh Master let me walk with thee." The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. The scripture lesson from St. Matt. 25, 31-46 was read by Mrs. William Blair. The secretary, Mrs. Philo Harris read the minutes and called the roll, each member responding with a verse of scripture.

Mrs. Philo Harris and Miss Alma Keene were named to give a musical number at Fox's United Church on May 14th at an open meeting to be addressed by Mrs. Stillman Gay, of Foxboro. A letter was read from Mrs. Rev. Street of Morven, Presbyterial Secretary of Stewardship, commending the society for the work done up to the present in 1931 and reminding the members of the benefit to the church when the full quarters share of the allocation is sent regularly to head office.

Little Theatre Hit By Play Depression

NEW YORK, May 11. (CP)—Only long plays will be entered in the national little theatre tournament this year. When the contest gets under way here May 11, one-act plays will be missing.

Officials have withdrawn the Belasco Cup because economic depression will prevent most of the major little theatres from entering. Only five groups have entered long plays, and four of these are from New York.

The Wigwam players of Papeer, Mich., will be the only troupe to come from a distance. Others entered are the Morningside players of Columbia University, the Henry players of New York City, the Pyramid players of Brooklyn and the Beechwood players of Scarborough, N.Y.

Between 25 and 30 little theatres usually enter the tournament with one-act plays, and it is said that this contest will be resumed in 1932.

In another fortnight the Civic Repertory Theatre will close its doors and Eva Gallienne departs for a year's vacation in Europe where, she says, she will "think things over."

For the last two weeks of the La Gallienne season, Madame Nazimova will return as guest star for two performances in "The Cherry Orchard." Nazimova first appeared with Miss La Gallienne in 1928 when she played in "The Cherry Orchard", "On the High Road and "Katerina".

During the last two seasons she has been leading the Theatre Guild production of "A Month in the Country."

WIFE GETS DIVORCE BECAUSE HUBBY WAS TOO FOND OF THE PILL BOXES

Another Case Granted Because Man Rang Telephone Conversations.

MANY ODD CASES.

(Special to The Examiner Copyright, 1931.)

RENO, Nevada, May 11 (SNS) — No better place in the world is there to have a real festival of "nose-poking" than in the vaults of the Washoe County Court where are stored away legal documents of every divorce case that has been handled in the county seat of Reno.

"Just make yourself right at home, and feel perfectly free to ask for anything you don't see," the genial County Clerk, E. H. Beemer said. And so, for the best part of an afternoon I studied the documents relating to fifteen divorce cases. They were picked at random. They may, or they may not, be average cases.

I have it on the authority of ex-Judge George A. Bartlett that "extreme cruelty" is the most common ground for divorce. In case 26654 one finds that one of the acts of "extreme cruelty" consisted of a husband's refusal to carry on extended telephone conversations with his wife while he was at his place of business. Not for a minute would this have brought about divorce, but added to this act were other acts of 'fault finding, nagging and causing the plaintiff worry, embarrassment, mental anguish, pain and suffering.' The climax came when he threw a clock at her. Divorce granted.

It was a strange coincidence that the second file I withdrew from the long cabinet, told the story of a Toronto couple. The wife sought freedom from a well-known man on the grounds that "for more than one year defendant has failed, neglected and refused to provide the plaintiff with the common necessities of life." She secured a divorce and was granted $100 a month support.

Case No. 26656 described the married woes of a couple who were born in Colomna, Russia. Desertion was the plea. There were no minor children. Divorce was granted.

The Sinclair Lewis Case.

You can imagine what fun I had with the next file, which happened to be none other than the divorce proceedings of Sinclair Lewis and Grace George Lewis. Its contents, in honor bound, shall be kept private but it will not be disclosing any secrets to mention that in the record is stated the fact that Sinclair Lewis received $25,928.50 from his book 'Dodsworth,' in addition to royalties and moving picture rights.

"I look forward to twenty years of work and another twenty years of sitting in the shade and cackling about life," he wrote to his first wife, previous to marrying Dorothy Thompson. The three were great friends! Sinclair Lewis, the records state, paid an allowance of $1,000 a month to Grace Hegger. In the year Lewis made only $10,000 (1930) he asked the courts if he could have the allowance altered as to time of payment.

Case No. 26652 was another case of desertion. Never is any trouble experienced in granting divorces in such cases, court officials said o-day.

"For four years my wife has treated me in an extremely cruel manner calling me vile names and telling me she had no further love for me," was the evidence in Case No. 26653, plaintiff of which claimed that his wife threw dishes at him when she became angry."

Took Aspirin.

Because the defendant in Case No. 26657 was the victim of the "aspirin habit," craving aspirins at all times of the day and night, plaintiff was granted a divorce. He told the court that his wife's disposition was 'sullen, mean and ugly."

"When I came home one night, my children told me my wife had left me," testified the plaintiff in Case No. 26655. They had been married at Neuhaldensleben, Germany, in 1907. It was a clear case of desertion, the court ruled, and granted divorce.

When G—— L——, who shall be known as Case No. 26659, went to war in 1918, his wife wrote him: 'I hope you will be killed, as I prefer the $10,000 insurance to having you return." But he did return, and found that his wife refused to live with him. Divorce granted.

Case No. 26660 was one of desertion. Case No. 26661 was one of "extreme cruelty." "I hate you. I do not care for you nor love you any more. I wish you were dead," a wife had written to the man she had once promised to 'love, honor and obey.

A clergyman's wife insisted that he leave his church and work on her father's farm as a common laborer. Because he refused, she left him. That was the story told in divorce case No. 26658.

'Extreme cruelty" was the reason given in case No. 26662. Insanity of the husband was the reason given for divorce No. 26665. And desertion of the husband was the reason given for divorce No. 26666.

There were 2,118 divorces — just like these — granted in the County of Washoe, Nevada, in 1930. County Clerk Beemer thinks that the number will be greatly increased in 1931.

LILAC

By Molly Bevan

The Blue Bell Poetess

Of all the lovely gifts the Spring bestows
I think that lilac is the loveliest;
In garden prim and ragged hedge it grows,
Its fragrant clouds of pearl and amethyst
Lifting an incense indescribable
To the clear azure of May's sunny skies,
Which, as they wane to sunset colourful,
Linger in lilac light till evening dies.
White-blossomed lilac's youth's epitome;
With purple pinnacles a prince's plume;
Regal, yet sweet with all simplicity,
The very acme of the springtide bloom.
So much for sunlit beauty—all in vain
I strive to tell of lilac in the rain!

I cannot praise B.B.B. too highly for what it has done for me."

Bearing a striking resemblance to her beautiful mother, the late Lady Davies, the former Eileen Beresford is pictured with her husband, Mr. Robert O'Brien son of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. H. T. C. O'Brien, as the happy couple left Grosvenor Chapel, London, England, after the wedding ceremony.

A BEDTIME STORY by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND HAPPY TINKER.

'Come out of there! Come out!" howled the Bob Cat pulling on the tail of Tinker, the funny little puppy dog who was hiding in a hollow log. 'Come out and go away! I want Uncle Wiggily all for myself!"

Tinker, hiding head first inside the hollow log, could not hear wha the Bob Cat said. But Tinker could feel the Bob Cat pulling on his tail. Only Tinker didn't know it was the Bob Cat pulling. The cute little puppy dog chap thought it was Uncle Wiggily pulling on his tail to make it longer. And Tinker, speaking from inside the hollow log, so that his voice sounded as if it came from down in the cellar, was barking:

"Pull away! Pull hard. I don't mind. Stretch my tail and make it nice and long!"

"Come out! Come out of that log and run away so I may have Uncle Wiggily all for myself!" howled the Bob Cat. He pulled harder than before on Tinker's tail.

He pulled harder on Tinker's tail.

I suppose some of you are wondering what this is all about. Those of you who read the story last night do not need to be told. But, to let others share the secret, I will say that Tinker was a funny little puppy dog boy whose tail was so small that he was ashamed of it. He hoped it would grow longer, but, when it didn't Tinker asked Uncle Wiggily to help.

"Come with me to the woods," said the rabbit gentleman. In the woods Uncle Wiggily told Tinker to crawl into a hollow log with just his funny little tail sticking out of the end. When Tinker had done this Uncle Wiggily went to sleep hoping he might dream of a way to help Tinker stretch his tail.

Then along came the Bob Cat, who, seeing Uncle Wiggily asleep, went to catch him. But the Bob Cat saw Tinker's tail sticking out of the log and, thinking it was the tail of another Bob Cat (for so it looked), the hungry chap caught hold of Tinker's tail and began to pull.

And, as I told you, Tinker, inside the log, not seeing the Bob Cat outside, thought Uncle Wiggily was stretching his tail and said:

"Pull harder! Pull harder!"

"My! This is surely a funny Bob Cat!" though the real Bob Cat. "If my tail was pulled that way I should howl!"

But Tinker was a brave little dog and didn't even whimper. Harder and harder the Bob Cat pulled on Tinker's tail, trying to haul him out of the log and at last the Bad Chap made so much noise that Uncle Wiggily awakened. He saw the Bob Cat at the log and a-red:

"What are you doing there?"

"I am pulling on the tail of another Bob Cat!" was the answer.

"Another Bob Cat!" cried the rabbit gentleman. 'My goodness! Are there two of you after me now? Oh, dear!"

Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily remembered that Tinker was in the hollow log with his tail sticking out, and when the rabbit gentleman saw that the Bob Cat was pulling Tinker's tail the bunny uncle cried:

'Quick, Tinker! Pull your tail loose and run through the hollow log! Get out at the other end and we'll run away, for the Bob Cat is here trying to catch me! Run out! Quick!

Uncle Wiggily shouted so loudly that Tinker heard him inside the log, though the little puppy could not hear what the Bob Cat had said.

"Oh, ho! A Bob Cat!" thought Tinker. "Here is my chance to do Uncle Wiggily a favor to pay him back for making my tail longer." For still Tinker thought Uncle Wiggily had been stretching his tail.

All of a quickness Tinker pulled his tail loose from the hold the Bob Cat had on it. Scrambling through the hollow log, the puppy dog boy leaped out of the far end and then, rushing back, he barked at the Bob Cat so hard that this Bad Chap was completely surprised.

"Oh!" he howled, "I thought it was a Bob Cat like myself in the log, but it has changed into a dog. This must be some of Uncle Wiggily's magic! Maybe he'll turn me into a lollypop! I'd better run!"

Away ran the Bob Cat. Uncle Wiggily smiled, twinkled his pink nose and said:

"You are a brave little dog, Tinker! You saved me from the Bob Cat!"

"Is my tail any longer," asked Tinker, who belonged to a little girl named Clair.

'No, the rabbit gentleman answered, 'your tail is no longer, Tinker, and it never will be. But it's a good thing it isn't long. Your little short tail fooled the Bob Cat, which was a good thing for me." Then Tinker was very happy for having saved Mr. Longears. And ever after that Tinker was the jolliest little dog in all the world, and he didn't mind having a short tail. He knew it was best for him.

Unique Christ Picture At Royal Exhibition

LONDON, May 11.—A picture of Christ in biblical garb speaking to a crowd in modern dress in Broad Street, Reading, was among entries submitted for the Royal Academy exhibition.

It is the work of Mark Symons, the Reading artist whose picture of the crucifixion amid similar surroundings was one of the sensations of last year's show.

Symons' entry this year is titled "My Lord I Meet in Every London Lane and Street." It shows Christ standing in the middle of the street with a crowd about him blocking traffic of automobiles, motorcycles and bicycles. In the background is a steam roller.

"I painted my crowd in the dress of to-day," Symons explained, "because I understand modern costumes. I know nothing about ancient times. Ruffles, plumes and hose mean nothing to me. So I painted men and women as I see them, the devout and the scoffers. I wanted to display a crowd of to-day listening and despising the new teaching just as the contemporary crowd treated Jesus by the Sea of Galilee.

Symons, who is 45 years old, went to art school as a youth, but turned to religious work, and only started painting again five years ago.

MILLBROOK PASTOR HONORED BY CONGREGATION AT SOCIAL

Rev. and Mrs. John Riddell to Take Up New Residence in St. Mary's, Ontario.

PRESENTATION MADE.

MILLBROOK, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence)—A gathering of peculiar interest, representatives of the entire congregation and bearing a tinge of sadness in spite of its pleasant social character, since it was in the nature of a farewell to a beloved and greatly respected minister and his wife, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. John Riddell, who leave shortly for their new home at St. Mary's, Ontario, was held in the Sunday School hall of the Presbyterian Church, Centreville, on Tuesday evening.

The chair was taken by David Dodds, and the program opened with the singing of the "Maple Leaf," in which all joined heartily. In his address the chairman spoke feelingly of the loss the Presbyterian Church at Centreville is sustaining through the removal of one who has faithfully and efficiently fulfilled his pastoral duties, proving both friend and spiritual adviser to the members of his flock.

Rev. and Mrs. Riddell, and their little daughter, Jean, were then invited to take seats on the platform, when Deputy-Reeve James H. McGill read the following address, and Mrs. Levi Byers, on behalf of the church and Sunday School, presented Mr. Riddell with a purse containing seventy-five dollars in gold, Mary Whittington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whittington, offering to Mrs. Riddell a lovely arm bouquet of flowers, and to Jean a well-bound Bible.

Presentations Made

Centreville, May 5, 1931.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. Riddell.

Dear Friends,—To-night marks another milestone in the history of the Centreville congregation. It is a matter of regret that the occasion of our gathering is to say, "Goodbye," to one who for the past five years has been to us minister, counsellor and friend.

We have, during the time Mr. Riddell has been with us, enjoyed as a congregation a measure of success and prosperity which has been a gratification to us all. There has been, I think, that measure of cooperation and willingness to work which always assures success of the highest order. This has been made easier by the splendid example which has been set at all times by our pastor and our adviser in spiritual things.

I think we are voicing the sentiments of everyone present to-night when I say how keenly we regret that the occasion has come when Mr. Riddell will be leaving us. We shall miss him very much because we have learned to love him, not only as a minister, but also as a man.

Whilst we shall feel the loss, we hope that the Divine blessing will be with Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Riddell in their new sphere of labor, and we can assure them that if at any time they are in this locality we will always be glad to see them coming into our homes, as in days gone by.

It remains for us as a congregation to continue to labor as we have done throughout the years of our connection with the Centreville Church, and to look to the Lord and head of the church for our help and inspiration in the days that lie ahead.

On behalf of the congregation I am going to ask you, Mr. Riddell, to accept this token of our affection and esteem for yourself and Mrs. Riddell, and to assure you that with the gift go our best wishes for your future happiness and success. Accompanying this gift is a memento for little Jean.

Signed on behalf of the Centreville congregation.

Rev. Mr. Riddell made suitable and feeling reply, as did also his wife, for the love and kindness thus tangibly expressed, and the tension always incident to such an occasion was relieved as all joined heartily in singing, "For They are Jolly Good Fellows."

Other items on the program were a solo by MacIntosh Bradshaw; a speech by James Campbell; a recitation by Miss Dorothy Hall, with piano accompaniment by Miss Grace Johnson; address by James Roddy; piano duet by Misses Grace Johnson and Viola Whyte; a male quartette sung by Messrs. J. Isbister, George Berry, Charlie Anderson and M. Bradshaw; an address by James McRoberts, and a second selection by the male quartette preceding he National Anthem.

Refreshments were served during the delightful social hour enjoyed at the close, and many personal words of appreciation for help received, and regret at the approaching departure, were expressed in the time when conversational intercourse held sway.

The committee in charge of the evening's program included: Mrs. O. B. Johnson, Mrs. James Hutchison, Miss Geraldine Whyte and Miss Dorothy Hall.

ONTARIO FIGHTS NOXIOUS WEEDS

Markets branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. They were introduced by J. B. Nelson, local representative of the Department, in whose office the meeting was held. Mr. Nelson suggested the purchase of better grade of seeds as one means of checking weeds.

"There was not one court case in Eastern Ontario last year," Mr. McLeod said. "We wish to avoid legal action, but we are likely to meet the odd case where we will have to tighten up by taking some offenders before a magistrate."

"The Weed Control Act concerns everybody who has a square foot of ground. There is no excuse for weeds on vacant lots in towns and villages, and it is left to inspectors to use their own judgment in cleaning up these places. Inspectors are asked to inspect the roads in their municipality at least twice a year, but the cutting of weeds on the roads is a duty that falls on the road superintendent."

In his discussion of the details of the Act, Mr. McLeod dwelt on the attention which should be shown by churches, cemetery boards and other public bodies, and told of radical improvements which had been made in some cemeteries as a result of the operation of the Weed Control Act.

Should Be Courteous

"We want our weed inspectors to be courteous. Visit people more in the spirit of discussing weed conditions rather than giving orders."

Threshing mills should be thoroughly cleaned before being moved from one farm to another. Sowing of clean seeds was emphasized by Mr. McLeod as an important aid in the fight against weeds. He also touched upon the policy of seed cleaning, which he suggested should be carried on in every community, at least one cleaning plant in a township.

The Warkworth Fair Board last Monday night expressed their interest in a proposal to buy a plant, and took out an application form. In one district last year thirty farmers put in $20 each and bought a cleansing mill for $600. They have had immediate success. This year they shipped a ton of clover, besides selling tons in their own county. These men are producing some of the best clover seed in the country.

Mr. McLeod cautioned the inspectors to let no person abuse the Act by spite work against a neighbor. Where there was any sign of that spirit, the inspector should pay no attention to it.

An Urban Problem

Inspector Reid of the police department said that with only thirteen men, divided into three shifts, the local police hadn't time to inspect all the city properties and see that the Act was carried out. It would be more effectively done if the city appointed a special man for that work. The police on day duty had their regular work and also traffic regulation to look after. All they could do in curbing weeds on vacant lots was simply to attend to complaints which came into the Department. A weed inspector in the city could look after all the vacant lots and streets, and see that weeds were cut at the proper time.

Mr. McLeod stated that he would enquire into this point before leaving the city.

Ex-warden Hawthorne of Dummer township said he noticed an improvement along country roads, but he believed the ox-eye daisy was increasing on rough pastures. Mr. Gallgraith advised the inspectors to use their judgment in regard to this condition. A flock of sheep would keep the daisies cropped as effectually as any other method that might be tried. Any action in that regard might depend on the value of the land on which the daisies were growing. Rotation of crops killed this weed on farms.

Reeve Cavanagh of Ennismore remarked that the sow thistle and milk weed were also a nuisance in some local sections.

"After my baby was born I was very weak and run-down. I was not able to do any heavy work but I had to be around on my feet all day. The strain proved too great and I was real sick for about two months. My mother advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to take it. You should have seen the change in me. I am now well and strong and in good spirits. I have taken the Vegetable Compound ever since if I feel my energy lacking. I also take Liver Pills and I find them a wonderful help for constipation." —Mrs. James E. Robson, Box 693, Fernie, British Columbia.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

LOVE'S POTENCY.

The white soul said: "My mate must be
A soul as pure as I;
Unstained by sin, unsullied, free,
A wanderer from the sky."

A sad soul crossed the white soul's path,
Deep-dyed with sin and shame,
A wreck upon life's seas of wrath,
Weighed down with woe, it came.

With pity first the white soul filled,
And then the tender touch
Of love with benediction thrilled
The soul that suffered much.

And all its sins fell, one by one,
Like dead leaves from a tree,
Till fair and pure that sad soul shone
Through love's strange potency.

The conference opened Saturday and continues to-day.

Need for closest political co-operation between Farmer and Labor groups in view of the fact that the social, economic and industrial problems of the workers of the city and the land are identical, was unanimously expressed.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Perhaps some of you readers are interested in the making of baby blankets.

* * * * * *

Baby blankets made of yarn can be knit or crocheted, or handloom woven. It is only when a woman has a loom that she can make the woven blanket.

* * * * * *

They are very attractive and among the simplest kinds to fashion. The crocheted blanket is generally firm and warm and is excellent for a carriage robe.

* * * * * *

It is well before making the blanket to be presented to a mother, to know what color she prefers—pink for a girl and blue for a boy are favorite colors and at one time were widely used.

* * * * * *

To-day, however, others are often selected, partly because another may please the mother more and partly to express the difference of individuality.

* * * * * *

Knit blankets are so pliable when made of yarn that one can be knit in a single strip of the desired width. The easiest kind to make is one of a solid color with a band of contrasting hue near each end as a border.

* * * * * *

The solid color may be white with bands of blue, pink, or some other preferred color, or the main part of the blanket can be of the desired color with white as contrasting border bands.

* * * * * *

Choose find worsted for the knit blanket, and use a loose stitch and coarse needles. Even knitting is all that is required in the stitchery of such a blanket.

* * * * * *

A crocheted blanket can be made in a single width or in strips according to the stitch in which it is worked. In the usual stitches a single width is best.

* * * * * *

If Afghan stitch is used, it has to be made in strips because of the technique of the stitchery. A blanket of Afghan stitch in strips of alternating white and blue, or pink and white, is handsome, especially if the strips are worked in cross stitch.

* * * * * *

Ordinary filet or cross stitch patterns can be followed by counted stitches as easily as on canvas.

* * * * * *

A blanket of embroidered Afghan stitch is handsome for a carriage robe. This stitch is firmer and so close that it supplies an especially warm blanket.

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 11 (A.P.)—The League Secretariat today published the Russian reply to its request to member governments for a statement of the status of their national armaments for use in connection with the disarmament conference next year.

It did not, however, publish the details of the Soviet armaments, pending decision by the League Council next week as to whether these statements should be communicated to the various governments.

The Russian note asked that the Soviet Government be furnished with armaments information concerning other countries, but the Secretariat replied that such data would be kept in the League archives at least for the time being.

20 Fishers Lost Fog All Reported Safe

HALIFAX, N.S., May 11 (C.P.).—All of the crew of the Yarmouth fishing schooner Grace and Ruby have been accounted for and are safe. Two dories with four men came ashore at Cape Negro Island, about 19 miles south of Shelburne, two fishermen landed at Cape Roseway, on McNutt's Island, in the entrance to Shelburne Harbor, and two reached Sand Point, on the eastern shore of the harbor.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HOW WORRY KILLS

A famous professional man a few years ago had a nervous breakdown. He was doing a tremendous amount of work, and his breakdown was attributed to overwork.

He was a man of strong physique but after an illness extending over a few months he finally died.

What was really the cause of his breakdown or collapse?

It was not the hard work, but a secret sorrow that so unnerved him that he could not eat or sleep, and so his whole body simply broke down because it was not cared for properly.

Behind every case of "nervous breakdown" or "breakdown from overwork," is likely a story of lack of sleep, a sluggish liver from lack of exercise or physical work, constipation, no outdoor air, poor appetite and irregular meals. And the underlying cause is not work but worry.

Trying to do any mental work under these conditions is just the last straw, and there is a collapse.

Eugen Ferson says "Worry is a leak through which energy is wastefully dissipated in the unknown void of the future instead of being constructively applied in the present."

I believe that if we thought of worry as a leak through which we were losing a large part of our supply of energy, just as a cut or torn blood vessel will cause such a loss of blood that life is endangered, we would stop the leak just as we would prevent the loss of blood.

Worry wears us out in two ways.

First, as we think constantly of the thing that is worrying us it keeps a portion of our mind always active, in addition to which we try to do our regular mental work. This means a double amount of mental effort.

Second, the other organs of the body all have their work interfered with; the stomach fails to mix the food with the digestive juice properly because its movements are lessened in number and strength; digestive juices from the liver, stomach, and pancreas are likewise lessened in amount and quality; the absorption of food from the small intestine into the blood is interfered with; the large intestine fails to act regularly allowing absorption of waste matter into the blood; the heart beats more rapidly as the mind dwells on the matter causing the worry; the juices of some of the ductless glands is increased and others lessened thus interfering with the regulating mechanism—the regulator—of the body processes.

You can thus see how the body and mind can be brought to the point of exhaustion with little or no actual work being done.

State, Church Sign Prussian Concordat

BERLIN, May 11 (C.P.). — Representatives of the Prussian State and the Protestant Church in Prussia to-day signed the Concordat which has been in preparation for many months. Its most important feature is definite separation of the Church and State. The agreement must be ratified by the State Council.

Agitation for this Concordat began nearly two years ago when Prussia, which is two-thirds Protestant, concluded a concordat with the Vatican, and there arose complaints that the interests of the Protestant majority were being sacrificed for political purposes.

The State subsidy to the Protestant Church was fixed at 4,950,000 marks (about $1,188,000) annually compared with 2,800,000 marks to the Catholic Church.

REV. DR. GIBSON SPECIAL SPEAKER

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Celebrates 98th Anniversary.

SPLENDID SERMONS.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church passed its ninety-eighth milestone yesterday; two years are now to elapse until the century mark since its formation as an offshoot of St. Andrew's Church. What fond memories entwine themselves around the portals of this stately House of God, where many of our citizens of days agone heard the Word, and have passed on to their reward.

To celebrate the passing of another twelve months' history, Rev. J. B. Gibson, D.D., minister of Cooke's Presbyterian Church, Toronto, was the anniversary preacher, exchanging with Rev. William Allan, for similar reasons in Cooke's Church. Large congregations with many friends, attended both services here yesterday, and with the surroundings brightened with palms and flowers on pulpit and communion table, the occasion was marked by a spirit of thankfulness for the many blessings vouchsafed the good folks of St. Paul's. The choir, too, rendered special music with, at the evening diet, an organ recital by Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., all the items appreciated and enjoyed.

Morning Service.

Rev. Mr. Gibson, in reply to the welcome from James Dutton, brought greetings to St. Paul's on their ninety-eighth anniversary. His text was announced as Revelation, 2:2: I know Thy works; Revelation, 2:7: To him that overcometh.

The book of Revelation, he said, has suffered at the hands of friends and others, from ridicule and blasphemy—the book is one of the sublimest of the Scriptures, with a dominant note, the assurance of final victory. This victory it speaks of is not yet; the time for this is coming. On the rock, eternal truth Christ will build His Church; death and hell shall not prevail against it; and victory will be His. The church, said Dr. Gibson, is Divinely made, to weather the human storms and passions. You cannot read of Christianity without being convinced of its dependability; it cannot be overthrown. John told of its vital truths of the living church, the most important of any age; and he also told of the dire distress through which the church was passing in those far-off days. Loyalty to the Emperor was enforced; the church was driven hither and thither, with death, cruelty, the catacombs, the arena and wild beasts. The faithful called to God for help and deliverance. God heard their cry, and brought His followers to freedom. John and others of the band would not heed the Emperor, but God. God is with his people, in parliamentary affairs, in business, on the street, in the home—everywhere. God is interested in His Kingdom. His Church is of great interest, for there He expects people to care for the saving of souls, so that progress, loyalty, and kindness may be shown to all who hear His call. Those who worship God are inspired by high morals. Puritans lived in an unkind age, but they always had a high conception of the Word of God, and prevailed.

Church of the Present.

Dr. Gibson went on to compare the church life of Christ's and Paul's day with the present time. Their problems to-day are very similar. God is mindful, not of church property, organizations and equipment of the church, but for the souls of His believing followers. God's voice, calling, is heard above the babel. Christ lives and reigns over us. He is more than the Son of Man slain—He is as a mighty Colossus, marching on until the enemies shall lick the dust, the heavenly chorus shall sing "The Lord God omnipotent reigneth." With genuine Christians nothing is hidden from His eyes. It but remains for all men and women to re-dedicate themselves to God, place themselves on the altar of service, and nothing shall prevail against them. We can look back over the years, see one mistakes, and put things right for the years to come, and have an overcoming church, with Christ Jesus as our Guide and Master; and the past ninety-eight years will have been an inspiration to press on to higher things.

The Unchanging Christ.

The evening service drew a large congregation to hear Dr. Gibson speak on the subject of the Unchanging Christ, as found in Hebrews, 13:8: "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever." The Hebrew Christians, he said, were exhorted to stand true to their principles and teachings, to remain loyal to the unchanging Christ. The law of change was, and is, exemplified on every hand in the world. We are told that elephants roamed this continent at one time; now there is vegetation and flowers and industry on every side. Change is seen on every page of history, of men and women on the stage of time. Friends and companions of early days have grown older, others have passed on to the eternal shore. How many, asked Dr. Gibson, can now remember the early days, ninety-eight years ago, of St. Paul's Church? Great men, prominent at Confederation, are now but a memory. People of prominence in all walks of life have gone on; others take their places, and some day they, too, will have "shuffled off this mortal coil." We are transients—here for a day, away on the morrow. But our Lord and Saviour lives on, the unchanging Christ. We are powerless to deny his reality. Christ's resurrection was a real event—His disciples forsook Him in the hour of His extremity, later to become fearless and courageous men for their Lord and Master. Christ came back, and over the tomb and the implication of His followers, built His Church, which has withstood all the onslaughts of His enemies.

His Church Stands.

Christ is alive to-day and for ever more. He is the loving and sympathetic comforter of all in distress. 'Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God, believe also in me,' says the Master. Remove Christ from the central place, and the temple is empty. No one knows the depth and significance of the death and atonement of Christ Jesus. Missionary preaching of every age echoes the everlasting life of God. Many religions have come and gone, but Christianity lives on. Christ makes an appeal to all men, an appeal which grips all men unto Him.

Atheism and Agrosticism.

So much is being said regarding atheism and agrosticism, people are being strengthened in the Christian faith through the appeal of God to the hearts of men and women. Voltaire at one time said in one hundred years Christianity would be dead. It is more robust and stronger than ever.

Christ Our Panacea.

Concluding his second of two splendid sermons, Dr. Gibson said there was a stirring of religious fervor, a march against atheism, a march of progress towards a closer relationship with God. Without the Gospel there is no hope for humanity and civilization. Righteousness cannot be overcome; darkness will pass away; Jesus is the panacea for a sin-sick world—a great Being, a sublime Personality. Christ shall be all and in all—the church to-day is His instrument toward that end. He is humanity's Christ—may we follow the light.

Girls' Softball League Sets Opening Date

EIGHT TEAMS LIKELY FORM GIRLS' LOOP

Bonner-Worth May Enter Team To-night—Seven Entries Already Received.

PLAY AT BOWL.

Will Operate on Single Schedule—Cup and Shield is Donated.

The Girls' Softball League will open its schedule Wednesday, May 20th at the East City Bowl, where all local games will be played this summer. This was decided at a well-attended business meeting of the league at Duffus' Saturday night. Seven teams were represented, and it will be known to-night if an eighth team will enter. The schedule will be drawn up and entrance fee paid at an executive meeting being held in the same place to-night at eight.

With President Russ Kitchen in the chair, the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, and the matter of a single or double schedule was brought up. The Peterborough teams favored a double one, but the out-of-town ones preferred the single. It was finally decided to run a single schedule, with each team playing three games every two weeks.

The league will open at the Bowl on May 20th, and that diamond will be used for all home games, unless decided otherwise at a future meeting. The entry date is left open until to-night for the Bonner Worth team which will know at this time whether it will enter or not. Other teams definitely entered are: Westclox, City Service, C.G.E., Brintons, Sixth Line, Auburn and Keene. The president was informed that Warsaw would not join.

At to-night's meeting, the executive will draw up the schedule and collect the five dollar entrance fees.

Cup Donated.

Bill Nelson of the C.G.E. offered the Girls' League the softball cup and shield for competition. They were in possession of the C.G.E. Girls' Softball Club which won them the last time. His offer was gratefully accepted.

The gathering was informed that to date, eight balls had been donated to the league by merchants and others interested in seeing the girls' game revived. More were promised, and it is hoped that a few bats and gloves will also be offered. The girls appreciate this help a great deal.

A committee was appointed to get in touch with several well known softball arbiters to decide an umpire-in-chief, who will be responsible for satisfactory umpires at all games. This will be done this week.

The loop will be known as the Peterborough and District Girls' Softball League.

After several other minor matters of business had been discussed and decided on, the meeting was adjourned.

TORONTO SECURES FOUR MAT TITLES

Championships Decided For Ontario Amatuer Wrestling at Queen City Meet.

TORONTO, Ont., May 11 (C.P.).—Hamilton, Kitchener, Guelph, and Toronto wrestlers divided the eight championships grappled for at the Ontario amateur wrestling tournament which concluded here on Saturday night.

The Queen City with its much larger representation of mat men secured four titles, Hamilton two, and Guelph and Kichener one apiece.

H. Hennessy, the "iron-man" from Hamilton, was unlucky not to have captured two championships. He won the 118-pound crown by defeating A. McKechman, Toronto, in the final, but last a close decision in the 123-pound class to G. Fuller, Toronto.

One of the best 174-pounders in the sport, Calderley, Hamilton, proved convincingly his superiority in this class by securing the decision over Van Velsen, Toronto. The latter was unable to continue after several minutes' torrid gappling.

Veroni of Guelph and Worthy, Toronto, provided the fans with one of the finest exhibitions of the tournament. The former won the decision and the heavyweight title.

Schiegel of Kitchener proved easily the best of the lightweights, although his fellow-citizen Van Andenarde, gave him a busy nine minutes in the final.

The newly crowned champions follow:

118-pound class — H. Hennessy, Hamilton.

123-pound class — G. Fuller, Toronto.

136-pound class — W. Schiegel, of Kitchener.

145-pound class — D. McDonald, Toronto.

158-pound class — L. Pentilla, of Toronto.

174-pound class — Calderley, Hamilton.

Heavyweight—J. Veroni, Guelph.

BRINTONS EASILY DEFEAT ELECTRICS

Carpet Softball Girls Are Victors in Saturday's Exhibitional Tussle.

Two girls softball teams representing the Brinton and the C.G.E. Softball Clubs hooked up in an exhibition tilt at the King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon and treated a large crowd of fans to a heavy hitting duel which resulted in a 21-10 victory for the Brinton girls.

The game gave both teams a good work-out and although the fielding on both sides left much to be desired, the hitting was far from being disappointing. Dot Miller, regular catcher for the winners, hurled the first seven innings and Sturgeon finished the game, both pitchers showed plenty of speed but lacked control. Mae Connors pitched the first half of the game for the Electrics, fanning three and showed the best control of any pitcher in the game. She was replaced by Lorraine Coursey in the seventh innings, who is a left-hander, and with a little more control should be difficult to hit. The Brintons were without the services of their regular pitcher.

Louise Heffernan and Curtis hit homers for the winners and Mae Connors secured the only, circuit clout for the Electrics.

The teams:

Brintons — Heffernan, 3b; Pavey, 2b; E. Hodson, cf; D. Miller, p; McFarlane, c; Pilling, ss; Sturgeon, 1b; Curtis, lf; Lynch, cf; M. Hodson, cf.

Umpires—Creighton, Rainey and Staunt.

LACROSSE CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Officers For Year Elected Following Saturday Afternoon's Practice.

VETERANS TAKE PART.

Following their practice at the Exhibition Grounds Saturday afternoon, members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club held a meeting and elected officers for the year. About twenty were present and the business was pushed through in short order.

Harry Tudhope was the unanimous choice for president. He has always been a strong lacrosse booster and was considered the best man for the office. Thanking those present, Harry promised to do all he could in reviving the game here and felt confident that lacrosse followers in Peterborough would get behind the club.

The office of first vice-president went to Pete King and that of second vice-president to "Bud" Fisher. Both are good workers and have a thorough understanding of the game.

Walter Firth was appointed secretary, and Doug. Miller is the new treasurer. Both these fellows were elected by acclamation, and they promised to do their best. Their duties will commence immediately as there is considerable to be done in the way of getting in touch with the O.A.L.A. and with the district villages regarding the formation of a league.

Those named on the executive were Ed Dillon, Fred Goodfellow, Arnold Hatton and Coach Jack Creighton. The latter will act as manager of the local team also.

A committee composed of Bill Meagher, Lou McCoy, Ed Dillon and Jack Creighton will select the players for the home team when it is known what league the outfit will be associated with.

Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoon were the times chosen for the next work-outs of the fellows. All are urged to attend and come in uniforms.

Other matters such as finances, local colors, sweaters, certificates, etc., came in for some discussion and then the meeting was adjourned for the time being. Another one will be called shortly when more concerning the league will be known.

TORONTO WINS OPENER FROM JERSEY SKEETERS

Rabbitt Hits Homer With Two on as Smith Holds Pests to Four Hits.

WIN IN FIRST 5-1.

JERSEY CITY, May 11.—Rallying in the fifth inning of the nightcap for three runs, the Skeeters gained an even break with the Toronto Maple Leafs in a double-header here Sunday before a crowd of 6,000 enthusiastic clients. Toronto captured the first game 5 to 1, and Jersey City the second 5 to 3.

The opening encounter was easy for Toronto. Walter Brown, owned by the Yankees, had nothing in particular on the ball, and what little he did have was just to the liking of the enemy, who bombarded him for seven hits and five runs in four innings, more than enough to breeze safely home without too much exertion.

Art Smith, former Columbia University righthander, on the other hand, was in brilliant form limiting the home team to four scattered hits. These four were divided between Joe Brown and "Bud' Clency and Smith was never seriously threatened. The Leafs' collected eight blows off three pitchers, Graf and Perkins checking them effectively after Walter Brown went to the showers.

Rabbitt's Homer Timely

The visitors went to work on Brown in a hurry in the first inning when Morehart singled to left. Richardson forced him at second, but Rogell strolled. Strong went out, but Joe Rabbitt came forward with a four-base thrust over the right field pagoda, clearing the cushions and causing great gloom over the entire assembly.

In the third, singles by Richardson and Rogell, and Strong's double to left scored Richardson, and in the fourth, Toronto added its final tally when Ruble walked, Davis singled and Stack punched out another hit. Graf succeeded Brown at this juncture and pitched hitless ball during his stay on the mound.

The Skeeters scored in the fifth on Clancy's single, which, incidentally, was the first hit off Smith, a walk to Walsh, Young's force out and a long fly from the bat of Sheedy.

Re-organization Meeting Of Madoc Bowling Club

MADOC, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence). — On Thursday evening the Men's Bowling Club of Madoc Village met for reorganization in the Community Club room, when the following officers were elected for the ensuring year:

Hon. president, R. R. Casement; president, W. R. Connor; vice-president, S. S. Ashley; secretary, J. L. Rutherford; treasurer, Alexander Cochran.

Arrangements have been made for the opening of the season on May 11, and it was decided to hold a tournament on June 24. The members present seemed enthusiastic for a good season of sport.

TORONTO SPLITS WITH BALTIMORE

Make Hits Count in First Game But Go Runless in the Second.

WIN HANDILY 7-4.

TORONTO, May 11. — Close to seven thousand fans saw the Maple Leafs break even with the Baltimore Orioles in a double-header at the Stadium on Saturday afternoon. In both games the O'Neillmen were outhit considerably, but in the first game they made every safety count and won handily by 7 to 4. The Birds captured the abbreviated nightcap by 2 to 0, Monte Weaver holding Toronto to two hits and recording his fifth straight victory of the season.

Frank Barnes was Toronto's winning pitcher, while Guy Cantrell was charged with the defeat. Barnes was no puzzle to the visitors, but he wriggled out of several tight situations by effective pitching with men on bases. The Orioles had ten men stranded against half that number of Leafs.

Barnes was touched for fourteen hits in all, the Orioles bunching three in the third without scoring a run and getting only one tally in the sixth on the same number of blows. Barnes had fine control and only walked one batter. Three of the Orioles' hits were doubles.

The Leafs mustered eight safeties off Koupal, who worked five innings and Johnny Hopkins, who pitched the last three frames. Billy Rogell had four of the Toronto team's total, including a triple, in as many times at bat.

RUN IN THE 9TH WINS FOR ROYALS

Montreal Defeats Bears in Clever Pitching Duel—Bird Beat Bufaflo.

MONTREAL, Que., May 11.—Tom Gulley's single with one out in the ninth inning scored Urbanski with the run that gave the Royals a 1—0 decision over the Newark Bears in the second game of the series here yesterday afternoon. Pomorski and Rhodes, right-hander, locked in as tight a hurling duel as the league has seen this season. Pomorski allowing six hits and Rhodes but five. Rhodes held the Royals to a scratch blow up to the eighth.

The Bears made their bid for victory in the eighth when Cohen tripled to centre field with one down, but when Moore tried to score him on the squeeze, Martin took his bunt and Cohen was run down between third and home.

The day was cold and the attendance fell short of 6,000. The series is even at one win each.

HOME RUNS PLENTIFUL

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 11. — The league-leading Orioles had little or no difficulty beating the Buffalo Bisons here yesterday afternoon before a crowd of 6,000 fans. The score was 6 to 1 and a comparatively scant total in view of the fact that five home runs punctuated the game. Boyle, Southern, McGowan and Danning rammed shots over the left field fence for the Orioles all with the pathways barren. Ollie Tucker saver the Bisons from a shut-out by hitting Ken Holloway for a swat over the right field wall in the eighth stanza.

Yesterday's Stars.

Fred Fitzsimmons, Giants. — Blanked Cuts, 5—0, with four hits; clouted homer with bases filled.

Earl Webb, Red Sox.—Drove in three runs against Indians with home run, double and single.

Fred Marberry, Senators.—Went in as relief pitcher and held Tigers to one hit in four innings as Senators won 12-inning game, 7—6.

BOSTON RED SOX TAKES THIRD STRAIGHT FROM CLEVELAND TO DROP INDIANS INTO 3RD PLACE

Senators Score Three Runs in 12th Frame to Defeat Tigers 7-4.

FITZSIMMONS STARS.

Giant Twirler Registers His Second Shutout—Pirates Win From Robins.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Apparently holding the "Indian" sign firmly within their grasp, the Boston Red Sox are making the going even tougher than expected for the western half of the American League in the current eastern invasion. The Red Sox, who were expected to provide some easy pitching for the westerners to even things up between the two divisions, have started their trip by winning three straight games from Cleveland and knocking the Indians down into third place in the standing.

The Red Sox made it three straight over Cleveland yesterday by a 9 to 4 count after an uphill battle. Ed Durham gave the Indians the apparently good margin of four runs in the first inning, but he steadied down to pitch eight scoreless innings while Boston tied it up, driving Mel Harder from the mound in the third. Earl Webb put Boston ahead by hitting his fourth home run of the season off Ray Thomas with a man on base.

Washington added another triumph for the east yesterday, taking a 12 inning battle from the Detroit Tigers 7 to 4 to make it six victories for the League's eastern clubs in seven inter-sectional games. The Senators likewise had to fight an uphill struggle, scoring a run in the ninth to tie the count at 4-4, but George Uhle hit a bad spot in the twelfth and Washington piled three singles on top of a pair of walks to bring in three runs.

Safely settled in first place, the New York Yankees were rained out in Chicago and a proposed double header at St. Louis between the Browns and the Philadelphia Athletics gave way to the weather after four innings of th first with the A's leading 6-4. Without registering a win or loss, Philadelphia went into second place ahead of Cleveland.

A Players' Duel

The tale of the National League's games was bound up in big Fred Fitzsimmons of the New York Giants and Larry French of Pittsburgh and Fitzsimmons was most of it. The Giant was not content with pitching a four hit shutout against the Chicago Cub, refusing even to give a walk, but when his rival, Pat Malone, made the mistake of passing Frank Hogan to fill the bases and get at a pitcher, Fitz replied by slamming the first pitch into the stands for a home run that netted four runs in a 5-0 victory.

French, the 23rd left hander to face Brooklyn this season, served out another dose of the unpleasant medicine, the Robins have been taking regularly from southpaws. He gave eight hits but kept them well scattered until the ninth inning then fanned Frank O'Doul with the tying runs on second and third. The Pirates made good use of their seven blows off Babe Phelps to gain a 3-1 victory in the first game of their eastern trip.

Rain halted a double header at Boston between the Braves and the Cincinnati Reds while St. Louis and the Phillies had an open date.

Stanley Stasiak, the giant Pole, can make an after-dinner speech as well as he can wrestle. Put a dress suit on him and you have a fashion plate. Every time that you think of him it's as a wrestler, yet he is an accomplished boxer. The story goes like this: He was matched with a Sergeant Leggett in Mexico City before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a mat contest. The men started to wrestle but became so rough that the first thing the spectators knew they were fighting for their lives with their bare fists. The officials stopped the bout, and put gloves on the two men. There was no stopping Stasiak and he proved that he was as good with the gloves as he was a wrestler. While it was declared to be the biggest money house that ever witnessed a mat contest, Stasiak got $50.00 for his end of the entertainment and of course the tremendous satisfaction that he had got out with his life.

Softball Notes.

The Sugar Bowl, last year's champions, and the Westclox Big Ben aggregation will tangle in the opening game of the City Softball League at Central School grounds at 6.15 tonight. Both teams will be at full strength for the opening game, the Sugar Bowl expecting Playford to be in shape for the tussle.

On Tuesday night All Saints and The Examiner will be the opposing teams. Both outfits are new entries in the league, but both are expected to field strong lineups. The game will start at 6.15, and will be played at Central School grounds.

The playing grounds up at Central School has been given a thorough cleaning up by the softball league. The stones on the outfield have all been raked up, and several loads of gravel have been dumped around the infield, putting it in great shape. A new home plate and pitcher's rubber will be in use this season. Another big improvement will be a screen behind the catcher. This will be a big help to the catchers, and will also prevent balls going back amongst the spectators.

NEW SENIOR ENTRY WILL BE BUILT AROUND RAYS OUTFIT WHICH WITHDREW FROM E. P. L.

Number of Local Manufacturers Promise to Lend Aid Towards Fielding Team.

PRACTISE ON TUESDAY.

Al Heckman and "Shiner" Johnson Will Take Managerial Duties.

For the second time this spring, Peterborough has entered the Central Ontario Baseball League. The latest development came about at Saturday night's E. P. L. meeting, when the Raybestos team withdrew from the intermediate league, announcing that their team would be used as a nucleus around which a senior team, representing Peterboro, would be built.

It was just a week ago that the Rangers, who had entered a team from here in the C.O.B.L., withdrew from that league and took over the Crescents' franchise in the East Peterborough League. But the announcement Saturday night that the Petes were again in the senior loop, was not altogether a surprise to many followers of baseball here, as it was known that a number of prominent sportsmen around town were strongly in favor of seeing a local team entered in the Central Ontario League.

At a meeting of the executive of the Rays last week, at which Robert Abbott sat in, it was decided that senior ball should come ahead of intermediate ball, and that, with the co-operation of local citizens, teams and players, the Rays should drop out of the E.P.L. and turn over their players to get a senior outfit started, "Cack" Rogers, representing the Rays, informed the E. P. L. executive of this last Saturday night.

A number of the manufacturers here have promised to help the seniors in any way possible. It is this spirit that prompted the Rays to question many of the best players. These, without exception, were strong for the C.O.B.L. team, and some who have been signed were promised their release at once. The new outfit will work out tomorrow night at six at the Exhibition Grounds, and most of them will be signed at this time. Every player who comes out is assured of a fair trial as the strongest possible team will wear the Petes uniforms this summer.

Al Heckman and "Shiner" Johnston will divide the managerial duties between them. The former was to have managed the Rays intermediate team this summer, and "Shiner" had been booked to run the seniors. With the two veterans in there handling the players, no team in the circuit can boast of more managerial baseball brains. It is an ideal arrangement.

Oshawa Is Out

The latest word from Oshawa is that the Motor City will not be in this year, owing to lack of proper backing. So the original schedule with the Petes, Kingston and Belleville on it, will be followed.

It is felt that with the new, experienced backing behind the local seniors, that Peterborough will have a real classy outfit and should go far in the campaign starting in two weeks. The possibility of the winning senior team being sent to the Olympic games next year in California is another incentive to ambitious ball players to try for a place on this team. After Tuesday night's practise, a good line on the team will be had. With the Petes opening in Belleville May 25th, plenty of action in the home squad's camp is indicated.

UNLUCKY GOAL GAVE BRINTON LEAGUE POINTS

C. G. E. Custodian Fists Ball Through His Own Goal for Winning Counter.

BRINTON 3, ELECTRICS 2.

Well Balanced Soccer Team Gives Good Exhibition on Saturday Afternoon.

Ideal weather prevailed on Saturday afternoon for the local soccer league game, between the Brinton and the Canadian General, on the former's field, before a good attendance of spectators. The Brinton gaining the decision through the kindness of the Canadian General custodian who unfortunately fisted through his own goal to give the verdict to them, on a 3 to 2 count.

As an act of courtesy to the late Jack Cross who died suddenly last week, the Brinton team wore black bands on their arm. After five minutes playing the game was stopped. The officials of the P. and D. F.A. went on to the field, uncovered their heads, while the fans did likewise around the field, in remembrance of a "good sportsman."

During the interval, the prize given away by the Brinton team was won by A. Walker, No. 70, Braidwood Avenue. It was a carpet 4 feet by 9 feet.

First Half

Right from the kick off the teams set a fast pace. They visited the respective citadels in rotation to find the custodians safe as a bank. The Brinton were without the services of Creighton who turned up late to make the full eleven. Breakaways on the C.G.E. right had the Carpet boys defense in a quandary time and again Quinn would feint inside, or run the ball into the corner to outwit the attack, then he would lift the sphere into the goalmouth. Curtis, Brinton goalie, having to extend himself when Ben McMaster broke fast with the ball and with lightning rapidity sent a rising shot in below the bar. The custodian jumped up in the air to divert the ball back into play. This was followed up a few minutes later when Quinn centred the ball across to Ben McMaster who connected with his head to pick the inside of the upright for the opening counter.

Clever play continued by the C.G.E. forwards. Repeatedly they would work inside the defense to keep the opposition in a mix-up. Nice combination between J. McMaster and Quinn proved beneficial to them which resulted in the former landing a perfect shot into the goal. Stan Clark, at inside left, just missed the mark by inches with a timely header. Then Curtis put up a brilliant display in goal. Stan Clark, at inside left, just missed the mark by inches with a timely header. Then Curtis put up a brilliant display in goal that nullified the energetic movements of the C.G.E. forwards. From a twenty yard range Stannard tested the Brinton goalie again. He punted clear up-field to Taylor who quickly sent his forwards to the other end.

Brinton Forced Ahead

A misunderstanding by the C.G.E. full backs permitted O'Halloran to make use of the opening as the ball landed in between them. No hesitation by the Brinton centre forward resulted in him giving Bolton no chance to stop the ball as it rolled inside the far upright. Give and take play continued with the C.G.E. being more progressive but wide of the mark when shooting was asked to give a tally. When the interval arrived, the Canadian General were pressing hard but they were stopped on a dangerous raid in the Brinton vicinity. Brinton 2, C.G.E. 1.

Half Time

A long intermission gave the players a much needed rest. The first brisk being in favour of the Electric boys. Ben McMaster accompanied by his team-mates hammered shot after shot at Curtis. Green standing out with snappy clearances, heading out at the opportune time to fee his attack that terminated in assaults on the C.G.E. goal. Again fate paid another visit to the Bolton charge. O'Halloran being a continual worker in an endeavour to bring success to his team. He was successful a little later when a peculiar shot dropped into the goal of the Electric boys. Bolton, goalie, stretched his two arms at full length, to punt the ball out but he diverted the ball into the net himself. A mistake was made again when the C.G.E. altered their line-up. Stan Clark going to the outside left position, while Darling went inside thereby consolidating the Brinton method of defense and attack. Play travelled from goal area to goal area in a very quick fashion. Each team endeavouring to get the better of the other with different methods of attack. The C.G.E. never gave up and were rewarded with a goal through Stan Clark from a cross by B. McMaster on the right. The outside left met the ball with his cranium right beside the upright. It struck the inside of the cross-bar to drop back to the ground where Curtis, the custodian, grasped it but made a mistake in turning round in his goal to make sure that a goal had been scored.

A Great Finish

This success added impetus to he tussle. The Brinton renewed a belated aggressive campaign to safeguard their meagre lead just as the C.G.E. romped all over the field. It was evident that Captain Westwood realised the predicament because he reverted to close tackling instead of his usual activity up on the front line. Exchanges were even until the end. Brinton Athletic 3, Canadian General 1.

CASUAL COMMENT

The City Baseball League is coming along in fine order after the usual slow start. Now, it looks like there'll be four bantam teams, three juveniles and three juniors. That's more like it, all right. There's still room for a juvenile and a junior team, and then it would be a perfect league.

• • • • • • •

Word from Havelock is that they will have a junior team, and that with Fosters' and the Kiwanis should give the fans some real baseball. And the other two divisions should show some classy games, too.

• • • • • • •

Jack Deannard worked his Kiwanis Juniors out at King Edward School grounds Saturday, and they are coming along good. Pat Calladine had his Maple Leafs in an exhibition game with Ches Mowry's Rotary team over at James Stevenson Park. All the teams are practising these days.

• • • • • • •

President Harry Dinsdale will probably call a meeting one of these nights to get the City League squared around for an early start.

• • • • • • •

The Foster Bros. junior outfit are at it tonight, over on the Stevenson Park diamond, and a flock of ambitious juniors should be on hand. Most of the positions are still open on this new entry, and all players will get a good trial. A battery and some hitting outfielders are wanted.

• • • • • • •

Some sixteen lacrossers tossed the pill about with reckless abandon at the Exhibition Grounds Saturday afternoon. They sure worked up a real sweat, and we don't mean perspiration. They've got the nucleus of a nice team, all ready.

• • • • • • •

At their meeting after, a live bunch of officers were elected. All of them are pulling for a revival of the Canadian game around here, and with a little co-operation from former players, and followers, they will put it across. We certainly hope they do.

• • • • • • •

Tonight, the Men's City Softball League is due to start off, Westclox and Sugar Bowl, the old rivals, will tear into each other at the Central School grounds. After the opening ceremonies, the boys will get to work on each other. It ought to be good, and plenty of followers of both outfits will lend vocal assistance.

• • • • • • •

In the Girls' Softball League, Brintons and C.G.E. had a good practise game Saturday afternoon, at King Edward Park. They had a crowd of spectators around, so they'll hardly be crowd-conscious when the league starts operating a week from Wednesday.

• • • • • • •

They've got a picturesque place for their Peterborough games in the Bowl, just across the Hunter Street bridge. It's been all fixed up by the city, both the diamond, and the little park above. Along with the usual team following, and the Ashburnham crowd, they'll get a lot of passing trade from the bridge. Well, good gates aren't hard to take.

• • • • • • •

That cup and shield at the C.G.E. which Bill Nelson is putting up for competition by the girls, is another incentive to occupy the canary's perch, on top of the league.

• • • • • • •

The executive of the Ladies' Loop are grateful to the Duffus Bowling Academy for use of the Board Room to conduct meetings. It has been a big help in getting the league going again this year.

• • • • • • •

Well, it looks like we're in the C.O.B.L. again. However, one cannot be too sure. This Central League mixup is enough to give a hard working sports writer a severe headache. Teams are jumping in and then out so often lately, that they have to call up President Colling every morning to know, themselves, whether they are still entered or not.

• • • • • • •

However, "Cack" Rogers up and withdrew from the E. P. L. at that loop's meeting Saturday night, with the intimation that the Rays with the co-operation of other teams and the backing of some of the manufacturers would help form a senior team.

Baseball Gossip.

The Maple Leaf Juveniles will hold a practise tomorrow evening at six at the James Stevenson Park, and all players should be on time.

Pat Calladine will work his Maple Leaf Bantams out at six Wednesday night on the same diamond, and he wants a full turnout.

The Rotary juveniles will hold first workout of the week to-morrow night (Tuesday) in James Stevenson park at 6 o'clock.

MATT GAME DRAWS STARS FROM COLLEGES

THE GR EATEST WRESTLERS ARE COLLEGE MEN

Do you know that there are more college graduates in the wrestling game than in any other branch of organized professional sport? Even the keenest follower of sport and sportsmen can scarcely count on two hands the number of college men successful in professional tennis, golf, soccer, hockey or other kindred sports. The only apparent exception are professional football and basketball, and the reason here seems to be that these are games naturally to be fostered in and associated with college life. But we have yet to hear that wrestling draws the big crowds and the big interest in college athletics. Why then should the present day wrestling game draw so many of the so-called "educated classes" into definitely pro. ranks.

It is the apparent ease with which money is to be made and gates stretched to the limit to admit the crowds? We think not. Until recently professional wrestling was a pariah among the sports of the world. The average fan was sure the game was "crooked." It is the travelling or the thrill of breaking into what many believe to be the "coming sport" of the day? Has the advent of the college men on the professional mats raised the personal level of the sport, or have the college men gone into it because the level of conduct has been raised? These are questions of which this columnist would fain know the answer. We suspect that the real truth lies somewhere in between the various answers which might be heard to the above questions. Maybe it was the success of the famous Gus Sonnenberg of Dartmouth and the University of Detroit. He burst into the front pages with a new flying tackle which brought new color into the game overnight. Ed. "Strangler" Lewis was also a college grad, his Alma Mater being Kentucky U. It was on Lewis that Sonnenberg first tried the "flying tackle" tactics adopted from his football experience which brought the game into a new high level of popularity.

The following list gives an idea of just how many college men have figured prominently in the game:

Nick Lutze—Southern California.
Everett Marshall—Iowa and Denver.
Jim McMillan—Illionis.
Joe Savoldi—Notre Dame.
John Spellman—Brown.
Lee Wykoff—St. Louis.
Bob (Bibber) McCoy—Holy Cross.
Bill Bartush—Chicago.
Al Baffert—Southern California.
Jake Patterson—Syracuse.
Ed Don George—"Y" Coll., Chicago.
Glen Wade—Nebraska.

LOCAL CRICKETERS BEAT GROVE SCHOOL

Score 135 Runs Against Students' 85 For Total Advantage of 50 Runs.

The Peterborough Cricket Club were guests Saturday afternoon to The Grove School, Lakefield. With fine weather, some splendid cricket was dished up. When stumps were drawn at 5.30, Peterborough had scored 135 runs against 85 for Grove, winning by 50 runs.

The staff at Grove School are to be compliment on the ability of their student eleven. It is made up of some fine material, and considerable work must have been done to bring them into the smooth working team the Peterborough bunch found them to be. Carson, Disney, Burgess and Elmsley should make names for themselves in the cricket world before they are through.

Mahood, Binks and Jefferson were top scorers for the winners. The former gave a masterly display with a great 63, not out, allowing only two chances throughout the innings which extended from the opening to the close. Binks with a useful 27, and Jefferson's nice 23, helped to bring victory to the Lift Lock city. Members of both teams and the spectators enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

(By Thornton W. Burgess.)

THE PERFECT HOME

That home's a perfect home indeed
That meets its owner's every need.
—Old Mother Nature.

The perfect home does not have to be an elaborate home. No indeed. Some of the most humble homes are perfect homes. This is because their owners find them all that they need for happiness and contentment. They might not be perfect homes for you or for me but for their owners they are. And more elaborate homes which might seem perfect to us would not be perfect to them at all, because they would feel out of place and so unhappy in them.

Cactus Bill the Gilded Flicker and his mate had been cutting out a home in a giant cactus and getting themselves more or less messed up in doing it. You see, that cactus was not of wood like a tree, but pulpy and filled with a somewhat sticky juice. So cutting out a home in that was something of a messy job. At least that is the way it looked to Farmer Brown's Boy, who was watching.

"That strikes me like a queer place to make a home," said he. "Of course, it is well protected by these spines all around the entrance, but I should think that it would be a messy place in which to bring up a family. I suppose it does dry out after a while, but until it does I should think it would be most unpleasant. Well, everyone to his taste."

Now, of course, Cactus Bill didn't understand a word of this. If he had he undoubtedly would have chuckled. Also he would have pitied Farmer Brown's Boy for his ignorance. He and Mrs. Cactus Bill were going to have the most perfect home in all the Great World. That is, it was going to be the most perfect home from their point of view, and a messy home certainly wouldn't be perfect. Certainly not. You see, Cactus Bill and his mate knew all about that cactus, while Farmer Brown's Boy knew nothing about it, and knowledge makes all the difference in the world. That is why the wise gain all the knowledge they can.

What Farmer Brown's Boy didn't know, but Cactus Bill did, was that the sap oozing from that cactus would quickly harden, for in desert country every bit of moisture is precious and the plant, big as it was, could not afford to lose a drop more than necessary. So the sap oozing out from the walls of their new house hardened, to heal the wound and prevent loss of precious moisture, and instead of a soft and messy interior there would be nice hard walls almost as soon as the house was finished. The only messiness would be while the work of making that hole was going on.

To Farmer Brown's Boy that cactus seemed such a queer place for a nest that he returned for several mornings to see how Cactus Bill was getting on. And he wished and wished that he could climb up and see what that home was like. But there was no way of climbing that big prickly plant without a ladder, and it was too far from the ranch to bring a ladder. So he had to be satisfied with watching Mr. and Mrs Cactus Bill go in and out of their home, and admire them for having chosen such a safe place.

"I don't see how any enemy can bother them," thought he. "No animal or snake can climb that prickly trunk."

This was quite true. When Mrs. Cactus Bill had laid her eggs she had little if anything to worry about so far as their safety was concerned. Not until the babies should venture outside would there would perhaps be danger of sudden attack by a member of the Hawk family.

"It is a perfect home," said Cactus Bill.

"Absolutely so," replied Mrs. Cactus Bill with a sigh of contentment. "I don't envy anyone. We've never had a nicer one. The walls have hardened perfectly. Why, this cactus could die and decay, but these walls would remain. What some of our relatives want to build in trees for I dont' know. Well, each to his taste. This suits me."

HAD NERVOUS BREAKDOWN IN ENGLAND

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (Tonic) brought her back to health

"I was living in a town they call Ravenstall, in England," writes Mrs. E. Sewell, who now resides in Rockwood, Ontario. "At that time I had a nervous breakdown and with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was made a smart woman once again. They also brought me through that awful period that a woman comes to in middle life. Later I was in a store in Guelph and I was speaking with a woman and she said to me she was nearly crazy with her nerves. I said, 'Have you tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?' She said, 'No', but when we parted she said 'I will get a box right now'."

"Smart Woman Once Again"

No wonder Mrs. Sewell recommends this tonic. She was benefited so much. You, too, will be benefited.

The reason Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help you is this: They contain iron which increases the amount of haemoglobin (life-giving element) in the blood. Thus the blood has strength to carry food or oxygen to the tissues.

If you are nervous and run down don't disregard the warnings nature gives you. Don't delay. Go to a drug store today and get a trial box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic). 50 cents a box. Or write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario. Be sure to say "Dr. Williams'" so that the druggist will know exactly what you want. 19

Montreal To Film City Improvements

MONTREAL, May 11.—(By the Canadian Press)—An innovation in civic publicity will be made shortly, Ald. J. Allan Bray, chairman of the city executive committee, stated recently when the administration, civic officials and members of the City Council will make a photographic tour of all public works being undertaken.

Accompanying the executive on the tour will be E. L. Giroux official City Hall photographer and his staff. There will also be a movie camera, and Alderman Bray stated that the city would have films made of all the public works undertaken with unemployment funds and out of revenue, also all street improvements of magnitude. These films will be developed and shown in all city theatres and will be distributed to the moving picture houses throughout the province of Quebec and the whole of Canada. They will also be sent to the press of the city and province and to several large papers in Canada and the United States.

This is the first time that such a step has ever been taken by any civic administration, it was stated, and should prove of high advertising value for the city.

DRUNKEN DRIVER IS GIVEN 7 DAYS

Traffic Officer Declares Man Was Travelling at 70 Miles Per Hour.

MIXED PARTY.

Intoxicated behind the wheel of his car, Jack McLaughlin, of Oshawa, speeded over the Lindsay highway toward Peterborough at 70 miles an hour at 10.45 Saturday night.

After a chase McLaughlin was stopped by Highway Patrol Officer Ted Hornick and he was placed under arrest along with his three passengers, who included Thornton Logan, also of Oshawa and two girls.

McLaughlin pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Langley this morning to being intoxicated while in charge of a motor vehicle. He was immediately sentenced to seven days in the county jail.

Charged with possessing liquor in an illegal place, Logan also pleaded guilty and was fined the usual $100 and costs.

Officer Hornick noticed the speeding car. Setting off in pursuit, he overhauled it and forced it to the curb. He was walking toward the car from the front and when within ten feet, Hornick states, McLaughlin suddenly put it in gear and the car leaped forward. The officer was obliged to jump in order to save himself from being run down.

As the car went by, Hornick jumped on the running board and clung on. He reached over the car in the front seat with McLaughlin and grabbed the steering wheel, again forcing the car to a stop.

The four passengers were arrested and lodged in the jail over Saturday night. Sunday the men were bailed out. The girls were not charged in court, being allowed to go to their homes in Reaboro and Lindsay.

BRINTON GIRLS' CLUB ORGANIZED

Leo Martyn to Manage Carpet Entry in Softball League.

The girl employees of the Peterborough Brinton Carpet Works who are interested in promoting a girls' team in the Ladies' City Softball League held an organization meeting last week at which a softball club was formed and a slate of officers elected.

This club fielded a team on Saturday afternoon in an exhibition game with the C.G.E. ladies to take the decision after nine innings of heavy slugging. The Brinton team seem to have plenty of promising material to pick from and judging from the pep shown in Saturday's argument this entry will be a real contender for the City League honors.

Leo Martyn was elected manager of the Carpet Girls, who have the advantage of a perfect practise grounds right at the factory which they are using several times a week.

The following is a list of officers of this organization: Hon. Pres., M. W. Sweetman, Sr.; president, Margaret Whitmore; vice-president, Margaret Simpson; secretary, Mary Richardson; treasurer, Leo Martyn; executive committee, W. Miller, G. Anderson, Irene Stazicker; team captain, Dot Miller, and mascot, Molly Harrington.

Canada Davis Cup Team is Selected

MONTREAL, Que., May 9 (C.P.). —Canada-Australia trade has "not much of a future," Sir Hugh Poynter, prominent Australian steel manufacturer, said during an interview here yesterday. Trade between the two countries was not very great now, although Canada did export a few cars and some agricultural machinery, and there was little likelihood of increasing it very much he said.

Sir Hugh is sailing for England to-morrow.

THE SON OF TARZAN — No. 61 — (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Meriem saw a bungalow set in palm-trees and the many buildings of a well-ordered African farm. Knowing nothing of civilization she looked in wonder at the peaceful scene. "Where are we? Let me go. I am afraid, Bwana," she said, using the name the natives called their master. "That is my home and there you will be safer than in the jungle," replied the man. "You are only a little girl. It is better for you to stay with us a while."

Meriem laughed: "The jungle is my father and mother. It has been kinder to me than have men. I love it. I would rather die than leave it forever; but your 'douar' is close beside the jungle. You have been good to me. I will do as you wish and remain here to wait the coming of my Korak." Shortly before they reached the house, a dozen gaunt wolf-hounds ran barking toward them, their appearance savage and unfriendly in the extreme.

Each in turn sniffed at Meriem who displayed not the slightest fear of them. Her slim fingers grasped the collars of two and with one on either side she walked up the path where a woman in white was coming forward to meet them. There was more fear now in the girl's eyes than there had been in the presence of strange men and savage beasts. Meriem saw the woman was beautiful. Sweetness and goodness marked her countenance.

The man kissed the woman fondly, and then, taking the girl's hand, said, "This is Meriem, my dear," briefly telling her in Arabic the story of the jungle. When the woman came and put her arms about Meriem and kissed her, something snapped in Meriem's heart and she wept as she had never wept before. Tears of relief and joy that she could not fathom. Thus came Meriem out of the jungle into a home of culture and refinement.

MOTHERS' DAY IS OBSERVED IN ST. JAMES' UNITED CHURCH

Pulpit and Choir Loft Decorated for Occasion—Special Music.

INTERESTING ADDRESS.

Mother's Day in St. James United Church found the interior a bower of beauty; the pulpit banked with flowering plants, cut flowers, foliages and ferns, formed a lovely background for the gaily singing canaries, while mauve and yellow garlands decorated the doorways and the choir loft.

The services for the day were under the direction of the Women's Missionary Society and the X. L. Mission Circle.

In the morning the pastor, Rev. A. E. Moorhouse, was the special speaker for the Auxiliary, taking for his theme, "Motherhood and Missions." The mother of Moses was cited as an ideal for mothers of to-day. The circumstances of the family story concerning the finding of the babe Moses by the Egyptian princess were shown in a vivid word-picture. The theme hinged upon the return of the infant Moses to his own mother, who was to take and train the child for the princess. The period of training was brief, yet we can imagine how the mother instilled in her son reverence and faith in God, which bore so great fruit in later life.

The mother's reward for her unselfish work came in the coin paid her by the princess, yet this was of little real importance for she reaped greater rewards in her self-sacrifice and in the eminent leader she produced. No great leader such as Moses can ever rise up without early Christian training. To-day, as then, mothers are sending their sons and daughters forth on missions, and in their success find their own best joy.

Far-reaching Work.

In conclusion Rev. Mr. Moorhouse spoke of the fine and far-reaching work being accomplished by the Women's Missionary Society, among the mothers of other lands. It was for this high purpose the society was first organized in 1881 in Hamilton, at the call of the male missionaries, who had failed to reach the women and children in the heathen homes.

The evening service was taken by the Mission Circle members, after an introductory service of worship and song, led by Rev. Mr. Moorhouse. A tribute to "Our Mothers" was paid in a brief address by Miss Connie Wagar, who emphasized the relationship of Mother's Day with the great Missionary enterprise. Following this the pageant, "The Gift Everlasting," the composition of one of the Circle girls, was presented to the large congregation. This pageant represents the choice made by "the girl of to-day" between fame, wealth and pleasure on one hand, and "The Call to Missions" on the other. Those portraying the various characters were: Aileen Rose, "The Girl of To-day"; Muriel Moorhouse, "Life"; Jean Hammond, "The Call to Missions"; Great Welbourn, "Pleasure"; Nina Andrews, "Wealth"; Dorcas Nixon, "Fame"; Marjorie Hogan, "Chinese Woman"; Mrs. E. Kitney, Hindu; Mrs. A. Rosborough, African soloists, Aileen Rose; Mrs. Kitney, Mrs. Rosborough, Mildred Fife, Geneva Sedgwick. Miss Jean Rose presided as pianist throughout. Splendid missionary and Mother's Day Music, under the direction of Frank Stevens, the organist, was rendered by the two choirs at both morning and evening services. Special numbers were contributed by Misses Annie and Helen Payne in their duet, "The Name of Mother," and by Miss Edith Smith, who sang "My Mother's Hand."

William Newman Addresses Service

George Street United Church was crowded on Sunday evening when the service was in charge of the men's organization, with William Newman, M.P.P. for North Victoria, as the special speaker. He took for his text the Apostles' Creed, and preached a fine sermon on "Why I Am a Christian," paying warm tribute to members of all denominations who are trying to follow in the Master's footsteps. He stressed the need in this time of economic depression of casting out selfishness and being willing to give to those who are without. Fine music was furnished by the Male Voice Choir, under the direction of Mr. Phillips, with Mrs. Howat at the piano. The Sunday School Orchestra under the direction of W. H. Cunningham, also assisted with the service. B. Snelgrove, president of the men's organization, was associated with Rev. J. E. J. Millyard on the pulpit platform.

educational policies. Dealing in detail with this latter feature which enabled parents to ensure an education for their children, Rotarian Gillespie emphasized the value of adequate education by quoting impressive figures that showed that the individual without the advantage of proper training earned only $45,000 during his lifetime, the high school graduate earned $73,000 and the man with college training $150,000.

The speaker stressed the fact that life insurance had come through the period of economic distress unscathed so that while the man whose money was tied up in property was poorer than he was a year ago, the man with his money invested in life insurance was better off than twelve months previous. The life insurance held on this continent, he declared, totalled $125,000,000,000 at the end of 1930, while the Canadian total was $7,000,000,000.

President Bob Abbott paid tribute to the splendid services rendered to Rotary by Tom Dutton, who is to leave shortly for London. His loss and that of Rotarian W. F. Butcher, also a director of the club, would be severely felt, the president said, and the club expressed its endorsation of that tribute by according Rotarian Dutton a round of applause.

IN POLICE COURT

Too many trips to the liquor store was said to be the cause of bringing Raphael Michels, of High Street, before Magistrate Langley this morning on a charge of having liquor in an illegal place. Michels did not plead, and the case was adjourned for one week.

Provincial Constable Sylvester on the trail of a bootlegger's cache yesterday found liquor concealed in Michel's barn. The constable stated that Michel's permit showed that since November he has purchased $227 worth of liquor. He earns but $30.00 a week.

License Suspended For Twenty Days

Pohn Edwards, of Nestleton, pleaded guilty in Traffic Court this morning to speeding on the Port Hope highway. Magistrate Langley fined him $20 and suspended his license for 20 days.

Patrol Officer Ted Hornick stated that Edwards was speeding at 60 miles an hour over the wet slippery highway near Springville at 5.20 p.m. yesterday.

In catching the speeder on a dangerous curve, Hornick stated that he had the narrowest escape from swerving into the ditch himself that he has experienced in his more than six years highway patrol service.

DESCRIBES NU-ERB AS A MEDICINE WORTHY OF NATION-WIDE ATTENTION

Says That Every Canadian Man and Woman Who Suffers Should Know of Its Merits

"After what Dr. French's NU-ERB has done for me I do not hesitate to say that every man and woman who is not well should know of this wonderful medicine," said Mr. Trevor Wortheim, Mount St. Joseph, in a recent interview with the NU-ERB Specialist now located at Bond's Drug Store in this City.

"As the result of a serious illness and operation last fall my entire system was in a terribly worn-out and run-down condition. I actually suffered a complete nervous breakdown and was continually bothered with a sour stomach, gas and heartburn. Constipation was a condition which I simply could not overcome. I lost 17 lbs. and all of my strength and vitality seemed to go along with the seventeen pounds when it disappeared."

"An announcement in the Peterbourough Examiner to the effect that I could get a free sample of Dr. French's NU-ERB led me to try this wonderful medicine."

"Although it is hard to believe, yet it is absolutely true that at the end of the third day when I had finished my sample of Dr. French's NU-ERB my condition was already much improved. Of course, I immediately purchased a further supply of this medicine and it is making me feel better every day. My strength is coming back and I have more pep than I have had in a good long time.

Trevor Wertheim

So far I have used about two bottles of Dr. French's NU-ERB and am gaining back some of the 17 lbs. I lost. Needless to say the sour stomach, gas and heartburn are all things of the past now and I never have to resort to harsh cathartics anymore to get relief from constipation.

Rashotte in no Way Blamed for Fire

INQUEST IS HELD INTO THE DEATH OF THREE RASHOTTE BOYS IN TWEED ORIGIN OF FIRE REMAINS UNKNOWN

Bereaved Father Relates Event of Night on Which Sons Burned.

REQUIRED NO LIGHT.

Grain Had Not Been Stored in Barn But in Nearby Garage.

TWEED May 12 (By a Staff Reporter).—Few fathers have had to undergo the mental torture that must have racked the heart of Felix Rashotte as yesterday afternoon before a coroner's jury he recalled his three dead sons, George 14, William 9, and Vincent 6, and their mortal agony in the blazing barn at their home about daybreak on Sunday morning, May 3.

It was a formal enquiry with Dr. W. M. Mather presiding, and the finding of the jury was a brief summary of the few piteous facts the public have known and repeated for a week.

And by way of silencing any criticism of the seeming needlessness of the inquest, B. C. Donnan of Belleville Crown Attorney for Hastings county, stated at the close that Mr. Rashotte had bought some of the grain salvaged from the Tweed Milling Company's fire Wednesday, April 22 and had stored it in his barn. The implication of this rumor was to the effect that fire was smouldering in the grain which Mr. Rashotte had bought and thereby started the blaze which destroyed the Rashotte barn and the three boys sleeping in the hayloft.

Replying to Mr. Donnan's question about the purchase of this grain, Mr. Rashotte said he had bought four or five hundred pounds of it and stored it in his garage. There was not a sign of fire at any time in that building or in the grain. The garage is fifty feet from the barn.

"I had no direct hope of ascertaining how the fire started," said Mr. Donnan to the jury after they had submitted their verdict, "but some of you may have heard of certain rumors about the grain, and it was only right that we should clear that up, and show, as you have done, that Mr. Rashotte and his family were in no way responsible for the fire."

Asked by Mr. Donnan whether he had been smoking in the barn Sat-

The woman, who was dressed as a man, was said by Vilneff to be his wife. In police court to-day the girl said she was married and comes from Tweed Ont.

SPANISH GOV'T HAS UPPER HAND, TENSION EASES

Mailed Fist Felt Over Spain After Wave of Arson.

OVER 200 ARRESTS.

(By Clarene Dubose)

MADRID, May 12. (AP)—The mailed fist of the month-old Spanish Republic was raised to-day to halt the widespread wave of arson through Spain which has left smoking Catholic churches and scarred convents, hastily evacuated by monks and nuns.

Martial law is the Republic's answer to the mobs which have swept through the streets of the largest cities in a campaign against the Catholic church.

The tension had eased to-day but President Alcala Zamora said the Government was prepared to use all the force it commands to restore and preserve order.

Orders to be Enforced

"We intend to pursue a firm policy" he said. "We will see that our orders are enforced throughout Spain. We will protect life and property and we will impose the severest punishment on all those who are found guilty of fomenting these disturbances, be they Monarchists, Communists or whoever they be."

Members of the Catholic hierarchy including Cardinal Primate Segura whose recent pastoral letter urging Catholics to vote for parliamentary candidates who would "defend the interests of the church "aroused Republican criticism, delined to comment on the riots which have laid waste a score of Catholic institutions causing damage estimated at millions of pesetas.

More than 200 persons have been arrested as a result of the disorders which have continued since Sunday. They are a curious collection of ex-

AIRSHIP BUILDING MAY BE DROPPED

MacDonald Expected to Make Announcement on Govt's Policy Thursday.

AIR ESTIMATE DEBATE.

LONDON, May 12. (AP)—Rumors that the Government intended to abandon airship construction which have been intermittent here ever since loss of the R-101 are again current.

As far as can be ascertained a final decision has not yet been taken but the Daily Mail claimed to have learned to-day that the question would come before the Cabinet Wednesday and that Premier Ramsay MacDonald probably would make an announcement in the Commons during the debate on the air estimates Thursday.

With loss of the R-101 work on aircraft was suspended and only skeleton staffs since have been maintained at the Cardington airship base. Doubt as to value of the airship as compared with their immense cost is supposed to have had considerable weight with some of the Government's advisers, while insistent necessity of economy in public expenditure is believed also to have had a strong influence toward abandonment of the craft.

Small Boy Drowned While Out Fishing

LINDSAY, May 12 (Special to The Examiner).—Frank How, of Donald, 9-year-old son of Frank How, was drowned in the lake at that place while fishing. The little fellow was on a rock in rear of the chemical plant, and slipped off the ledge into twelve feet of water. His companion, named Minaker, grabbed him, but finally had to let him go. The body was recovered 25 minutes later. The boy's father was at New Liskeard when the fatality occurred.

Nursing Killer—To What End?

Looking not a whit abashed and very little the worse for the terrific battle he fought against 300 policemen who cornered him in a New York apartment house, Francis "Two Gun" Crowley, youthful killer of Patrolman Frederick Hirsch, of Long Island, is shown under police guard in the hospital cot where he is recovering from the five bullet wounds he received in the siege. Aready the millstones of the law have begun their relentless grind by indicting Crowley for murder.

The latter discovered it floating near the south side of the canal, fully clad. Dr. E. H. Marcellus, Iroquois, opened an inquest. ## JOBLESS APPEAL TO SOO COUNCIL

City Fathers Will Apply to Gov't For Further Relief Funds.

TO START POTATO PATCHES

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 12 (C.P.).—Unemployment problem was the main subject of discussion at the City Council meeting last evening, when the aldermen listened to pleas put forth on behalf of the jobless by a delegation of 45 gathered in the Council chamber, with another 250 waiting on the steps of the City Hall to hear the result of the conference.

Rev. W. J. Cowherd, who recently resigned the pastorate of the Free Methodist Church because his congregation objected to his taking part in "Red" activities, and John Ferris were speakers, and put forward three main requests:

That work be provided;

That food and clothing be provided married men out of work;

That two meals a day be provided for single men out of work.

The Council on its part decided to ask the Government if any further funds were available for assisting in the providing of public work; discussed a tentative program of sewer and sidewalk construction; decided to put a number of the jobless to work planting fields of potatoes, and also talked other methods of relieving the situation.

It was announced that the city is spending at the present time $3,000 per month above the average on relief work. The Council also decided to ask the Dominion Government to proceed immediately with the construction of the new Shingwauk Indian Home here for which an appropriation was voted a year ago.

Revolutionary Plot Is Uncovered In Time

MEXICO CITY, May 12. (AP)—The Government, through General Mijares Palencia, chief of the federal district, claimed to-day to have thwarted a revolutionary plot of grave proportions.

The principal leader of the plot, Luis Cabrera, General Mijares Palencia said, was arrested Saturday and at his own request was allowed to leave the country for Gautemala. The investigation of thep lot is continuing, he declared, with a number of well known politicians and former army officers involved.

According to the Government announcement plans had been laid for an armed movement against the Ortiz Rubio administration to take place about now, but discovery of the conspiracy by police investigators prevented its materializing.

LIBERAL WOMEN OF GREAT BRITAIN URGE REFORM OF THE DOLE SYSTEM

Claim Unemployment Insurance Fund Going Into Debt at Rate of $5,000,000 a Week.

SEEK SLUM CLEARANCE.

BUSTON, Derbyshire, May 12 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — British Liberal women want the "dole" reformed.

At the closing session to-day of the Council of the National Women's Liberal Federation — which precedes the National Liberal Federation proper—they stood strongly for the retention of unemployment insurance. But they called for removal of abuses, for restoration of the insurance fund to a sound actuarial basis, for national provision for those not strictly within the benefits, and for preventing employers from subsidizing wages out of the unemployment fund.

Mrs. C. P. C. Masterman, who moved the resolution on the "dole," defined the problem of a return to an actuarial basis as whether the baby carriage should fit the baby, or the baby should be made to fit the carriage. The unemployment insurance fund was running into debt at the rate of $5,000,000 a week. Statu-

The Weather

Probably the most reliable indication of the progress of the season of Spring is the leafage of the various trees. At the present time the maples, elms and other trees are at the usual stage of their development, and should be in full leafage before the "24th." More is being heard about the heavy hail storm that passed eastward a few miles north of the city Sunday afternoon. An Emily farmer, in describing the storm, said that there was a sufficient depth of hail on his farm to make good sleighing. As the inky-black cloud passed in an easterly direction, people in the city noticed a peculiar twisting funnel-shaped tail at one end, and fears were held by some that a cyclone was forming. Apparently, it did develope into something of that character as it sped eastward, as reports from below Hastings say it did some damage to trees in that section.—W.P.

The Italian Ministry of Public Works has just announced that in the last eight years it has spent 3',345000,000 on public improvements.

DOCTOR STATES BROCKENSHIRE IS NOT INSANE

Evidence is in Direct Contrast to Medical Testimony for Defense Given Monday.

PRISONER UNINTERESTED.

Judge Gives W. K. Murphy Chance to Recall Doctors to Repeat Evidence.

TORONTO, Ont., May 12 (C.P.) — Without the slightest show of interest, John Brockenshire, facing his fifth day on trial with Harry Clarkson for the murder of Constable Roy McQuillin, to-day heard Dr. Bernard T. McGhie, Director of Hospitals for the Insane for Ontario, say he did not believe him to be insane, nor a subject of dementia Praecox of the hebephrenis type. Mr. McGhie said he saw no symptoms of the alleged disease in the prisoner.

Brockenshire, very pale and thin, just leaned his head on his arm, and did not look at the medical witness.

Dr. McGhie's evidence is in direct contrast to medical testimony for the defence given yesterday, and Mr. Justice Wright offered the defence an opportunity to re open the case, because His Lordship believed he may have "misled W. K. Murphy through the misunderstanding of the 'nature' and the 'quality' of an act."

Possible Misapprehension

During the evidence given by the three defence alienists seeking to show that the state of mind of Brockenshire was such that he did not know the "quality" although he may have known the "nature" of the act of shooting, great stress was made on this point. His Lordship, who yesterday declared that both meant the same thing, to-day stated he wanted to correct a possible misapprehension which may have been caused by his declaration.

"You may recall your doctors, Mr. Murphy, if you wish," said His Lordship. "I said yesterday that "quality" and "nature" were the same They have the same relation in aspect to a case only as to distinguish the physical from the moral. In view of that, if my observations have misled you in any way, you many recall your medical testimony."

Mr. Murphy replied he had not been misled and thanked the court for the kind offer.

GRANT REPRIEVE FOR CRACKNELL

Chatham Man Was to Have Hanged on Friday for Shooting Wife.

TWO OTHERS TO DIE.

TORONTO, Ont., May 2 (C.P.) — Thomas Cracknell, sentenced to be hanged at Chatham Friday next for the murder of his wife, was granted a reprieve until July 30, by Chief Justice Sir William Mulock at Osgoode Hall to-day.

Cracknell's appeal against his sentence was set down by the Chief Justice for hearing on June 30 by the appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

The law will take its course in respect to Albert Vincent, who is to be hanged at Sherbrooke, Que., and Joe Kovack, Welland, Ont. Both executions are fixed for Friday of this week. Vincent was convicted of the murder of Edmond Turdeau. Kovack was sentenced to die for the murder of James Albert McNicol, police constable at Welland.

Official announcement of the disposal of these cases was made today.

The application for a stay of Cracknell's execution was made by W. B. Common, of the Attorney-General's Department, as a sequel to the action of the Minister of Justice upon Cracknell's petition for exercise of the prerogative of clemency on his behalf. The Minister, for the first time in an Ontario case, employed a power given him by section 1063 of the criminal code and referred Cracknell's plea to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

INDIAN BOYCOTT ROUSES WORKERS IN LANCASHIRE

Situation is Liable to Seriously Embarrass Laborite Government.

CONVENTION STAGED.

Bolton Labor Member Vigorously Attacks Gandhi's Policy.

LONDON, May 12 (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — Futher indications were forthcoming to-day that Lancashire has at last become strongly aroused over the situation in India, where the Nationalist boycott of foreign cloth has been mainly responsible for the loss of a great market for Lancashire goods.

The Labor Government will probably be seriously embarrassed, for Labor members representing Lancashire constituencies are bound to support the attitude of their constituents. On the other hand the Government 's anxious to avoid prejudicing the present atmosphere in India preliminary to the resumed Round Table Conference at which the Nationalists are to be represented for the first time.

At the convention of the United Textile Workers' Association in Blackpool to-day Albert Law, Labor member for Bolton, a former president of the Bolton Operative Spinners' Association, vigorously attacked Mahatma Gandhi's policy of peaceful picketing of cloth stores in line with the Nationalist boycott of foreign cloth.

Government Should Not Wait.

"Neither our own nor any other Government should stand by and wait until sense is knocked into Gandhi," said Mr. Law. "The pickets are not paid by Gandhi but by commercial people in India.'"

And Right Hon. Wedgwood Benn, Secretary of State for India, has received a letter from the president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, following up the recent public protest of cotton brokers on the Manchester Cotton Exchange. The president declares the experience of Manchester traders shows there has so far been no change in the application and effect of the boycotting and picketing in India.

Right Hon. Mr. Benn recently stated in the House of Commons that the agreement between Lord Irwin and Mahatma Gandhi by which the civil disobedience campaign was to be called off, was being implemented. But this agreement, by which the Viceroy secured cancellation of the civil disobedience and boycott measures, in return acknowledged the right of the Nationalists to continue "unaggressive" picketing against the purchase and sale of foreign goods, "within the limits of the law."

DOUBLE FUNERAL HELD.

TORONTO, Ont., May 12 (C.P.) — The double funeral of Edward Hind and Annie O'Rourke, drowned at Sunnyside Beach last Wednesday evening, while canoeing, took place this afternoon. The funeral service was in charge of Rev. E. H. Abraham, of Glenview Presbyterian Church.

Entire Left Wing Gutted By Blaze $100,000 Damage

Whole Kingston Brigade, Aided By Cadets, Battle Several Hours in Early Morning Before Gaining Upper Hand —Origin Proves Mystery.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING SUFFERS BIGGEST LOSS THOUGH CURRIE HALL DAMAGED BY SMOKE AND WATER

Flames Spread With Great Rapidity and Raze Officers' and General Mess, Library and Several Offices in the Main Building.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 12.—Fire of undetermined origin which broke out early today, completely gutted the left wing of the administration building of the Royal Military College, and while no definite estimate of the loss could be learned, it is likely that over $100,000 will be the amount of the damage, and it is probable that the amount will be much greater.

The fire was noticed first by Major K. M. Holloway, adjutant of the college and the alarm was immediately sounded.

Firemen from the local department, aided by practically all the cadets of the college, fought the fire for several hours, and when the blaze was extinguished the entire left wing, adjourning Currie Hall was gutted.

In the burned section of the main building were the officers mess, general mess, library and several administration offices, while offices of members of the staff were located on the floor above.

The fire gained headway with great rapidity. Some damage was done to Currie Hall by water and smoke.

Alarm Received at 2.17

The alarm was first received at Kingston Fire Hall at 2.17 a.m., and within ten minutes of the signal the entire fighting forces of the city were on the scene. A ladder truck, two pumpers and a hose truck, manned by 25 men under the direction of Chief Armstrong managed to subdue the blaze after more than five hours of fighting.

With half the Administration wing gutted, the firemen fought to keep the fire from the new adjoining wing, and were successful in saving it with the exception of a portion of the roof which fell prey to the flames. Seven lines of hose poured water on the flames and two or three firemen were scorched about the hands and face.

A court of inquiry was convened at 9 a.m. to-day to investigate thoroughly. Until the adjournment of this court, no official information will be given out, in accordance with military rules.

The college mess room which was in the Administration wing, was completely destroyed, and this morning Cadets marched to the Hotel La Salle for breakfast.

DISRUPTION TALK DRAWS PROTEST

Archbishop of Huron Claims Bishops at Lambeth Parley Erred on Birth Control.

CANONS APPOINTED.

LONDON, Ont., May 12. (CP)—In his address on the synod of Huron in session here to-day, the Rt. Rev. David Williams, Archbishop of Huron deeply deplored the talk of disrupting the Dominion that had been prevalent to a certain extent in both Maritimes and the West. He suggested that the press would do a service by refusing to publish such talk, and thus allowing it to die.

He spoke at some length on church unity, drawing attention to progress that had been made towards that and between the Anglican church and the old Catholic Church (not the Roman Catholic Church) the orthodox churches of the East, etc. Hope had not been abandoned of union with the evangelical Protestants of British race and language. His Grace stated but the progress with the other churches was accounted for by the fact that none of the churches would need to surrender anything or make any very great concessions.

Says Majority Erred

Upon the pronouncement of the Lambeth Conference on the question of birth control. His Grace expressed the opinion that the majority of the bishops erred, and that the minority was right. The resolution did not give sufficient warrant for abandoning the traditional and immemorial practice of Christian people—self control and abstinence, through the power of the Holy Ghost.

Regarding the diocesan budget, he pointed out that efforts must be made to bring givings up to the standard of 1928, if the diocese was to keep her position as an examole to the other Canadian dioceses.

He announced the appointment as canons of St. Paul's Cathedral of Rev. A. L. G. Clarke, who leaves the church of St. John the Evangelist, to be rector of Grace Church Brantford on June 1, and of Rev. T. G. Wallace, Rector of St. James Church.

NEGRO ASYLUM HAS BEEN BARRED

Township Council Passes By-law Prohibiting Erection of Private Hospitals.

ENDS ANCASTER'S FEARS.

ANCASTER, Ont., May 12.—There will be no home for destitute old aged colored persons erected in Ancaster. The township council has ended the lively controversy which arose when it was announced that a colored brotherhood was to erect an anaylum in the village, by passing a by-law which prohibits the erection of any variety of private hospital within its boundaries.

Recently, Ancaster leaped into prominence through the announcement that the McKay properties were to be sold to a Chicago organization and a home for indigent negroes erected. This announcement was followed by the burning of a fiery cross on the site. The village officials protested to the Provincial secretary against the proposed scheme, but final action has been taken in the form of the passing of the new by-law. It is believed at this will close the incident.

DAILY "DO YOU KNOW" STORIES TO APPEAR IN THE EXAMINER

Prizes Will Be Offered Daily for the Neatest and Best Answers.

SIX IN TO-DAY'S ISSUE.

Beginning with this issue The Examiner will carry several stories each day regarding worthy firms of our city. The stories will be distributed through the paper and will appear in the form of straight news stories. The object is to further acquaint the people of Peterborough and surrounding territory with the metropolitan service of our own institutions.

To give added reader interest to the articles The Examiner is conducting a contest in conjunction with the stories.

Here's how. The last sentence in each of the stories will be found to form a question which begins "Do you know ..." The question pertains to the firm of whom the story is written and it is necessary to call that firm to obtain the answer. This, however, is not a guessing contest. The Examiner will pay a three dollar cash prize each day for the neatest, most cleverly arranged answers to the questions.

Six of the "Do You Know" stories appear in this issue, scattered through the paper. To compete it is necessary to call each of the six firms that the stories describe, obtain the answer to the questions and submit the set of six answers to the "Do You Know" editor at The Examiner.

Your set of answers may be arranged in any way. They are judged for originality of construction. You may write your answers as poetry, or touch them off in an artistic manner with crayons or water colors, or write an essay, built around the firm and their service, or paste your answers on pages together with pictures that are in keeping with the service of the firm, or accompany your answers with cartoons—or what have you. These are merely suggestions. Merely test your artistic ability by arranging your set of six answers in any novel or unique answer.

The "Do You Know" stories are easy to locate as each carries a footnote at the bottom which announces the $3.00 cash prize and tells the number of such articles to be found in this issue.

Turn the pages right now, locate the articles, call the firms and send in your answers. It's fun! It's educational! It's profitable!

CHURCH BURNING SPREADS RAPIDLY THROUGH SPAIN

Month Old Republican Gov't Strives Desperately to Restore Order.

TROOPS PATROL MADRID.

Check-up Shows 28 Buildings Burned or Wrecked—Religious Workers Flee.

MADRID, May 11. (AP)—Jeering cheering mobs which swept police, civil guards and soldiers aside, attacked and burned churches and church buildings in the cities of Spain to-day as the month old Republican Government strove with all its resources to restore order.

Five churches and convents were burned before dawn in Seville. Martial law was declaredd and troops were placed on the streets in an effort to control the throngs which ranged the city, destroying monuments which marked the centuries of Roman Catholicism in Spain.

Similar conditions prevailed in Malaga, where two churches and church buildings were burned during the night, at Cadiz, where four churches and convents were burned and at Alicante, where four churches and convents were partly destroyed by fire and looting. Mobs at Zaragoza, Cordoba and Bilbao attacked and wrecked church buildings in those cities, but did not burn them

Troops Patrol Madrid

With cavalary infantry, tanks and machine gun squads patrolling the streets of Madrid the capital was restored to tranquility during the night but not before ten churches, convents, monasteries and other ecclesiastical buildings had been burned to the ground while the mobs held off firemen and prevented their fighting the flames.

A nation-wide checkup showed 18 church buildings destroyed by fire and perhaps ten more badly damaged but not burned. Inmates of the buildings in every casef led, and stored to tranquility during the night

A nation-wide check-up showed 18 church buildings destroyed by fire, and perhaps 10 more badly damaged but not burned. Inmates of the buildings in every case fled, and while a few monks and priests were beaten there were remarkably few casualties among them. Nuns in almost every case were respected by the crowd. Estimates on the number of religious workers fleeing Madrid alone ran as high as 50,000.

Efforts to estimate the physical damage were mere guesswork, but some calculated that as high as 150,000,000 pesetas (normal value $30,000,000) had been wrought. This did not account for priceless manuscripts, church services, paintings and vessels which were destroyed or stolen. Police arrested seveal looters on whom they found gold and silver altar ornaments, chalices, and candelabra, taken from the churches.

MAGICIANS IN MARMORA

Bert John's Show Draws Capacity House for First Performance.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, May 12. — After an absence of ten years, Bert Johnston's company made a welcome reappearance at the Town Hall on Monday evening, to be greeted by a well filled house. "Bert" who is one of the best known and most popular of travelling show managers, through ill health is not carrying out the strenuous part of the program as formerly. Instead he has passed on to his son Cyril, the intricacies of his art, and the clever performance of the younger man shows the successful coaching of the father. "Bert" however, was not content to be entirely off the program and appeared to demonstrate Houdini's famous needle trick. Mrs. Bert Johnston also appeared on the program with Madame Muriel, the present white Mahatma answering questions and giving mysterious revelations, assisted by Professor Salvail further variety was lent to an entertaining program.

Clinton Atkins as an accomplished pianist, completes the company which is appearing here for three nights.

In the last 25 years 25 special schools for physically defective children have been opened in London and 10 more such schools are under construction.

TRENT RIVER BUBBLES AND BOILS AS WATER SPOUT FOLLOWS COURSE

Unique Spectacle is Witnessed by Havelock Couple, Near Hastings.

Works Havoc Among Trees.

HAVELOCK, May 12 (Examiner Correspondence). — A most unusual, if not unique spectacle was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Gould of Havelock, at Sunnybrae Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huycke, near Hastings, on the Trent River, at about 4.10 on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gould were spending the day with Mrs. Gould's parents, and had gone for a stroll near the water. Standing on a hill overlooking the river, Mrs. Gould noticed peculiar shaped cloud coming from the direction of Hastings, and following the course of the river. She called the attention of her husband, and as they both looked the funnel-shaped cloud travelled rapidly down the river. Their two children, Margaret and Bert Gould, were in a boat on the river, and they called to them to come ashore quickly. The cloud seemed to gain in volume as it advanced, and as it passed on took the form of a water spout. The water of the river was seen to bubble and churn as if in the wake of a large vessel. A silver stream of water was seen to be whirling in funnel shape, rising to a height of several hundred feet.

It continued on its easterly course following the river, until reaching the point at the bend of the river. There it struck the small island which is about half a mile east of the Huycke property, and was seen to be working great havoc among the trees and foliage on the shore.

Everything in its path was levelled to the earth. Large trees and plants were torn from their moorings, and hurled into the air. Every dead leaf and twig within its scope was raised high into the air, and carried for hundreds of feet in the course of the wind. The noise made was like that of a heavy thunder storm with loud and continued rumblings. Those in the vicinity who did not see the unusual spectacle stated that they believed there had been a heavy thunder storm on the north side of the river.

The force of the water spout was spent in about ten minutes, and there was a decided drop in temperature. Between Hastings and Trent River at about the same time there was a heavy fall of hail, which was not quite so heavy as that experienced in Smith Township.

A water spout such as was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Gould is a whirling column of air, extending from a cloud to the surface of a lake, river, or other body of water, rendered visible by the water or the vapor it carries. It is caused by a strong upward draft of air, under a cloud. The air acquires a rapid rotary motion as it ascends, and an area of low pressure is produced in the centre. Humid air rushing into this low pressure area is rapidly cooled, and becomes visible as vapor. Thus, although water spouts may drop some water from the sea near their base, the greater part of the water they contain is fresh water. Water often falls in great volumes on vessels passing through water spouts, but the danger they threaten is from the violently whirling wind, and not from the vater. Water spouts are usually dissipated after a few moments, like the dust whirls one may see in city streets.

CLEANERS, DYERS SEEK PROTECTION

Capone Would Police Industry, Wipe Out Competition For Half Profits.

OFFER TURNED DOWN.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 12.—Alphonse Capone, the gang chief, was accused to-day of threatening to seize control of the cleaning and dyeing business in Chicago.

The accusation was made by Dr. M. B. Squires, chairman of the Cleaners' and Dyers' Institute of Chicago, who said Capone had offered to police the industry and wipe out competition in exchange for one-half of the industry's annual receipts, but that the offer was refused. The refusal to accept any such condition was announced following a meeting yesterday of 86 of the Institute's members.

Dr. Squires said a committee of his organization had obtained promises from Mayor J. Cermak and other officials, assuring protection from the Capone organization. He added that a group of the cleaners and dyers had called on Capone in response to an invitation from him and that Capone had asked for 75 per cent of the profits, later reducing the figure to 50 per cent.

"Either you accept my protection or I'll take charge of the cleaning and dyeing business, anyway," Capone was quoted as threatening.

RIGHT TO ALTER B. N. A. ACT IS BEFORE COMMONS

Federal House Discusses All Important Private Resolution.

ELOQUENT SPEECHES.

Miss Agnes MacPhail's Yearly Peace Time Resolution is Before House.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 12 (C.P.) — Efforts of the Trade and Commerce Department to provide markets for Canadian produce were to the forefront to-day as the House of Commons tackled the estimates of that department. The vexed question of how Canada's surplus wheat crop is to be disposed of, already a subject of considerable discussion, will no doubt be again thrust into the limelight.

The House yesterday was treated to some of the most eloquent speeches heard so far this session. The matters under debate, which although somewhat academic in character, may each have an important effect on Canada's future position among nations, were two resolutions. One by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg North Centre, declared Canada should have the right to amend her own constitution. The other, by Miss Agnes Macphail, Progressive member for South East Grey, advocated the expenditure of one dollar "to promote peace by instituting international professorships in leading Canadian universities" for every $100 spent "on war."

Principles Were Accepted.

Both resolutions were accepted, as far as broad principles were concerned by all shades of opinion in the House. Miss Macpahil's resolution provided an opportunity to Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, to express himself in glowing terms on the high record Canada had achieved as a nation in the promotion of the cause of peace. He reviewed the stand Canada had taken in early association herself with the institutions set up after the war to combat the peril of future warfare. His amendment to the resolution, at the end of the debate, provided that the resolution be sent to the Committee of the House on Industrial and International Relations.

In the magnanimous mood created by his eloquent address no dissent was heard. Miss Macphail, who had previously argued a well-constructed case for the resolution, contented herself with having her proposal dealt with in that fashion. An ardent advocate of the cause of peace propaganda, she had brought a similar resolution before the House at previous sessions of Parliament.

Following disposal of Miss Macphail's resolution, the House in almost equally amiable fashion undertook consideration of Mr. Woodsworth's proposal.

At present any desire on the part of the Canadian Government to

LOAN RESPONSE OVER DOMINION CHEERS PREMIER

Claims Action Shows People's Faith in Future of Their Country.

SPEAKS AT C.M.A. BANQUET.

Gov't is Avoiding Policy of Interference Bennett Tells Audience.

MONTREAL, Que., May 12 (C.P.)—The response of the Canadian people to the Government appeal through the new conversion loan had been magnificent and the results far transcended expectations, Premier R. B. Bennett declared during an address last night at the annual banquet of the Quebec division and Montreal branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Canadians were prepared to help in relieving the administration of a great financial burden and at the same time show their unbounded faith in the future of their country, Mr. Bennet said. This was clearly shown in the response to the loan, he added.

East and West

The Prime Minister dwelt for some time upon relations between East and West in Canada. He had always endeavored by every means in his power to make it clear to people in the West that there were no people who had a warmer appreciation or clearer understanding of the problems of the West than the manufacturers of the East, because if the West did not do well the people there would have no purchasing power and up would go the shutters.

For other reasons than selfish ones, Mr. Bennett felt that the industrial men of the East were deeply concerned in the West, and he asked that the men of the East have a true conception of the West. In some parts there had been successive bad crops and other parts had produced crops which sold at a low price, a low price for which the Eastern industrialist was not to blame, though some people would seek to have them think so.

Mr. Bennett said there must be steps taken to better the means of production and also a realization that competition was not limited to people with whom it had been limited. An unknown factor had come upon the horizon and affected the prices.

It was necessary that Canadians look forward to the time when the progress which had been interrupted would continue again and that the country with buoyant revenues and confident people would go forward to the task which lay ahead. He felt that the ten million people inhabiting the northern half of the continent were charged with a greater task than any other nation in chris-

Safety Caps, Shoes For Miners In N.S.

SYDNEY, N.S., May 12 (C.P.).—Safety caps and safety shoes are soon to be added to safety lamps as standard equipment in the Cape Breton collieries. The caps are of metal, somewhat like a trench helmet, but lighter, and are designed to protect the head from frequent bumps. The shoes will protect the feet from falling stones. Use of the new equipment is not compulsory, but a supply has arrived and will be sold to the miners on easy terms.

U.S. To Admit In 1931 Only 100,000 Aliens

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 12 (C.P.).—Immigration officials to-day predicted that only 100,000 aliens would be admitted to the United States this year, thus setting a record low for admissions since 1862.

That figure is 10,000 less than the number of aliens to enter this country in 1913, when war measures made immigration almost an impossibility.

Consular officials now have the power to deny alien applications on various grounds, chief of which is usually the contract labor law.

INQUEST IS HELD INTO THE DEATH OF THREE RASHOTTE BOYS IN TWEED

urday night. Mr. Rashotte said he was not a smoker. Neither did the boys smoke, and they had been cautioned against carrying matches. For those reasons, Mr. Rashotte believed that the fire was not caused in that way.

Fire's Origin Unknown

And so the jury found that three boys came to their death by suffocation in the fire which destroyed the barn in which they were sleeping, and which originated from some unknown cause for which Felix Rashotte and the members of his family were not responsible.

The bereaved father was the first witness. As he began his story the scene in the rather small room of the municipal clerk's office seemed pervaded by an air of unreality. The pall of sorrow that had hung over the town for a week, followed these Tweed citizens into this meeting; Dr. Mather at the head of the table, Chief of Police Moon directing the ritualized procedure, half a dozen witnesses on one side, and the nine jurors on the other. Mr. Rashotte spoke in a low, distinct voice, plainly holding his emotion in control, but not so plainly as Rev. Father O'Riordan who blinked the tears back from his eyelids as he recalled the fire and the bodies of three of his boys, burned beyond recognition. Only the difference in inches of their years had distinguished them as neighbours lifted them from the ashes and others led the father away so as to avoid the shock of their discovery. Reality remained in the charred debris and in the graves of St. Carthagh's Cemetery.

The vision beyond Felix Rashotte suggested one of Shakespeare's most tragic scenes in Macduff's stricken lament when Ross informs him of the murder of his family: "What all my pretty chickens....at one fell swoop."

This Tweed father was evidently possessed of the spirit which Malcolm advised his friend: "Dispute it like a man."

And as Mr. Donnan proceeded with his questions in the hush of the clerk's office, the last exclamation in that poignant scene of tragedy in MacBeth returned with the memory of Macduff's reply to Malcolm: "I shall do so; but I must also feel it like a man."

Mr. Rashotte described the layout of the two storey barn at the rear of his home on Bridge street. In the northwest corner of the loft remained about five hundred pounds of the load of hay which he had bought some months earlier. The boys had asked permission to sleep there last fall, but the parents objected to that boyish adventure.

Two nights before the fire, George, the eldest of the three boys, found the house too warm, and as he had a slight attack of asthma he took his blanket and went out to sleep on the pile of hay.

"George told the other boys how much he liked it," Mr. Rashotte continued, "and on the Saturday night the two other boys wanted to go out with him. George had a cold, and I didn't want him to go. I tried to persuade them against it, but I finally let them go."

Mr. Donnan—"Did you see George after that?"

Mr. Rashotte — I saw George through the smoke at the door of the loft through which the hay was taken into the barn. George had gone out about 11.30 o'clock. I went to bed just before that. I was up about three o'clock, but I didn't look out the window. About four o'clock I heard a noise. I think it was the cow. Then I heard George holler 'fire.' I ran out. The whole end of the barn was ablaze. It was the east end. The wind was from the north. The cow was in a leanto stable that opened into the barn. The stable was also on fire. From the location of the flames at that time, the fire seemed to have started just ahead of the cow and in the stable. There was a space eight feet by eight feet ahead of the cow and between it and the barn. There was room for a man to sleep there."

Mr. Rashotte stated that he had never seen any tramps or transients around the premises.

Mr. Donnan—Did the boys smoke?

Mr. Rashotte—No, they never did. There was plenty of light in the barn from a street lamp at the corner. Two of the board were off the loft, and the cracks were wide. We never needed a light to see when we had to throw hay down.

George Turned Back.

"I saw George through the smoke at the upper door of the barn. I shouted to him, and told him to jump, that I would catch him. He said there was something he wanted to get. I couldn't make it out clearly, but I presume it was his two brothers he wanted to get out. He disappeared in the smoke of the loft. I waited a moment or two for him to come back. Then I tried to pull off boards with my hands. I could hear George praying in the far corner."

Mr. Donnan—Did you sent in an alarm?

Mr. Rashotte—No I wasn't even thinking of that.

"How long was it before the building collapsed?"

Mr. Rashotte—It seemed hours, but it was probably only a few minutes.

The father's reference to the youngest boy, the six-year-old Vincent, touched the formality of the enquiry with the domestic intimacy which the fire had severed.

Died With Brother.

"George and Vin were found together" he said. "Bill had strayed away from the corner where the straw was to a point almost above where the stable leaned against the barn."

Mr. Rashotte referred to the purchase of the grain sold by the milling company after their fire.

Mr. Donnan—Was there any inflammable material such as oil or gasoline in the barn?

Mr. Roshotte—There was some paint and turpentine in the northwest corner of the barn, but it was not near where the fire must have started. The least fire was where the paint was. I found some of the paint unburned afterwards."

Mr. Rashotte said he had used the lower part of the barn as a storeroom for some of his furniture. Reverting to the points of time which he had already mentioned he said he had gone to bed about 11.30 o'clock, and the boys had gone out to the loft about that time also. It was just breaking daylight shortly after four o'clock when he rushed out to the burning barn.

Other witnesses were Simon Rowley, Walter Leal, Dr. Thomas Bowlby, Rev. Father O'Riordan, Ray Quinn and Chief of Police Moon. Their testimony did not introduce any material new facts.

Chief Moon said that on the Saturday night four tramps had reported to him for shelter. He took them down to the 1.30 a.m. train going east and put them on the "bumper" at the rear of the engine. They had evidently no distination and Chief Moon was helping them along in that direction. It was generally understood, he explained, that the railway men would let the jobless transients ride on the trains. He saw no other tramp around the town that night.

The inquest closed on that prevailing note of inability to determine the exact cause of the fire.

The jurors were: John Kingston, foreman, Mitchell LeSage, Patrick McIlroy, John Trudeau, William Richardson, Thomas Beatty, William Elliott, Charles Kerr and George Robinson.

SEAFOODS GOITER PREVENTATIVE

Asta Brothers Carry Everything in Fish, Fruits, Vegetables and Olive Oil.

NOTHING LEFT UNDONE

From time immemorial fish have been captured by various forms of spears, nets, hooks and more elaborate apparatus, but when the people of this community want real healthy fish they know that they can be supplied by Asta Brothers. This firm is renowned not only for their large and varied supply of seafoods, but for the quality of their fruits, vegetables and pure, imported, Italian olive oil. Having spent the greater part of his life in close touch with the fish industry, Mr. Frank Asta, the proprietor of Asta Brothers, has left nothing undone to secure the very best in fish and seafoods for his patrons. As the need of every source of food supply has increased from year to year, this establishment has kept fully abreast of the times in their market.

Doctors tell us that fish has as high protein and fat value as has meats, yet fish is much more easily dissolved in the system, and in less hours. Goiter is a disease that is very common in some parts of the country, affecting in some instances over fifty percent of the population. Iodine or foods rich in iodine have found to be very effective in both the prevention and treatment of goiter. In fact, the disease seldom occurs in those sections in which food and water contain relative large amounts of iodine. Sea foods are rich in this essential element. One pound of fresh fish will furnish 18 per cent of the energy consumed by a man in a day, 69 per cent of the protein, 10 per cent of the calcium, 57 per cent of the phosphorus, and 19 per cent of the iron. At Asta Brothers one may select their fish from a large variety.

Price, too, is a big consideration. When we consider the prices of ham, chicken, sirloin steak, or eggs, we can readily choose fish as a cheaper, as well as a more desirable food. There is no enterprise of Peterborough more worthy than the fish, fruit, vegetable and olive oil market of Asta Brothers. Do you know the prices on two kinds of fish at Asta Brothers?

Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion Replies

Ottawa, May 9, 1931.

Dr. Cameron Smith,
Lakefield, Ont.

"Dear Sir: I have yours of the seventh re Jarrett. This is the first I have heard of that matter, and ordinary courtesy might have suggested that you await the reply to such a communication before rushing into print. That, however, is your own affair.

"Labor gangs and floating crews on our canals are not, and never have been, regarded as permanent. They are engaged from season to season and may or may not be called back into the employ. These positions are casual and exempt from the operation of the Civil Service Act. The men are, and always have been, appointed on the recommendation of the local member or defeated candidate whose party happens to be in power. That was the manner in which Jarrett was engaged in the first instance.

War Record

"I am impressed with the fact that Jarrett is a returned man with a creditable war record and honorable discharge. However, there are many such, and it is difficut to see the force of the argument that a returned man, one having been employed in a seasonal capacity on one of our canals, no other returned man, nor civilian, should thereafter be considered, regardless of condtions or individual circumstances.

"In sending your letter to the press before it was received by me, and before I had been afforded opportunity to look into the matter, you have chosen to submerge the individual aspects—as to which my sympathies might well have been aroused—by raising a public question, which must be met as such.

"For your information, therefore, and that of the public which you have seen fit to address, I hay say that nine men have not been re-employed for the navigation season now opening on the Trent out of a total of forty men ordinarily comprising that class of employees. Of the nine men, four were laborers, three of whom were retufned men. In this instance, the men were not re-employed because of unsatisfactory service. No politics were involved, and the superintending engineer accepts full responsibility for the non-employment of these men.

The four laborers recommended by the local member to replace these unsatisfactory former employees are all returned men, a gain of one for that class of employee. The other five of these nine former employees comprised part of our floating crew. Jarrett was a deckhand a single man, without dependents, and the only returned man in the five affected. One of the other four men was 70 years old, and another 69. These five, one of whom was a returned man, have been replaced by four, two of whom are returned men and two civilians, Jarett, as already stated, is a single man. I am advised that the returned man who replaces him is a married man, with three or four children. Of the nine employees affected by these changes you will note that four returned man and five civilians have been replaced by six returned men and two civilians, with one vacancy not yet filled.

Produces Records

"Since you have raised the question of the treatment of a returned man on the Trent at Peterborough, I have secured data as to the engagement of ex-soldiers and civilians on the Trent Canal as a whole, and find that between Oct. 1, 1929 and March 31, 1930, 53 returned men and 192 civilians were employed on the labor gangs and in other exempt positions. I find, as opposed to that record under the late Government, that 73 returned men were employed between Oct. 1, 1930, and March 31, 1931, and 157 civilians, a gain of twenty positions for the returned men, though there were fifteen fewer jobs to be given out since the change of Government. In the face of that record by the present Government it will scarcely be possible to make out a case of discrimination by the Department of Railways and Canals against the returned man, or of unfair treatment. As to Jarrett's particular case. I can only regret that you should have chosen to make it difficult, if not impossible, to do anything further for him. Personally, I have genuine sympathy for the returned man as a class, though I have sometimes thought they might be better served by their mistaken friends and advocates. Having chosen to send your letter to me to the press, and apparently being so greatly interested in publicity of a certain sort, perhaps it is not asking too much to suggest that you give this reply the same wide circulation."

TORONTO PRODUPCE.

TORONTO, May 12. — Increased activity in storing of eggs on the local market resulted in receipts being well cleared yesterday and brokers' prices were steady on Ontario supplies and also Western offerings. Small lots of graded Ontario eggs were moved at 17c for extras, 15c for firsts and 13c for seconds, in free cases, and Western eggs commanded 18c for extras, and 16c for firsts, with the extra cent also applying; for Ontario storage packed supplies. There was a firmer feeling all around and country shippers were quoted steady to stronger prices at 15c for extras, 13c for firsts and 10c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. The one cent lower spread that was in effect in some deals last week was not apparent yesterday. Retailers were quoted steady prices at 21c for extras in cartons, 19c for extras loose, 17c for firsts loose and 15c for seconds loose, which was ½c higher on seconds only.

Butter.

Trading on the butter market closed Saturday at 21c for No. 1 creamery solids, and 20c for No. 2, and there was a carryover of supplies for this week. Trading yesterday was inactive, buyers having sufficient stocks to meet immediate needs and not anxious to buy, as they were watching the Montreal market, which struck a new low level yesterday at less than 20c for finest No. 1. Local brokers were offering large lots of high scoring No. 1 creamery solids at 21c and No. 2 at 20c or level with Saturday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 12.—Despite a sharp decrease of the United States' wheat visible supply, all grains went downward yesterday. Auspicious reports concerning domestic winter wheat prospects gave bears an advantage. In addition, better moisture conditions for spring wheat south of the Canadian boundary tended to offset need of a general soaking north of the international line.

Wheat closed irregular, ¾ cents lower to ⅛ advance; corn, unchanged to 1 cent down; oats, unchanged to ⅛ to ¼ off, and provisions showing 2 to 5 cents decline.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 12. — Local in character, wheat trading was featureless here yesterday, and at the close all futures were unchanged in price from Saturday.

After fractional losses at the opening the market steadied, finishing at 62¼c a bushel for May, 63⅛c for July, and 64⅛c to 64⅝c quoted on the October month.

There was a little scattered buying through commission houses, but no demand from exporters or other outside interests.

With the exception of light rains in Central and Southern Manitoba during the week-end, the weather in Western Canada continues very dry.

Trade in cash wheat and coarse grains was featureless.

Corinthians 4, 18: "While we look not at the things which are seen, but the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal." There were many beautiful floral tributes, testifying to the esteem in which the late Mr. Hogg was held.

RIGHT TO ALTER

amend the constitution must be transmitted to the Imperial Parliament in the form of an "humble petition." The irksome nature of this method has previously galled Canadian parliamentarians and with the pronunciation at the Imperial Conference of 1926 of such phrases as "autonomous" and "equality," Mr. Woodsworth suggested the time had come for Canada to obtain the power to alter her own constitution at will—a power which now is held with certain technical exceptions by all the other Dominions.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie told the House he favored a conference with the Provinces on this subject. The logical solution, he argued, was the formation of a committee of Parliament either at this session or some future session to prepare the case for the Dominion Government. As to the result of a conference with the Provinces, he was entirely hopeful.

A voice which has not been heard in Parliament frequently this session was raised to commend the idea of a conference with the Provinces. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, whose appearances on the debating calendar have been infrequent following a period of ill health, was almost entirely in agreement with Mr. Guthrie. The idea of a reformed constitution carrying with it the expressed endorsation of all the Provinces Mr. Lapointe considered the surest guarantee of the rights of minorities. He suggested, however, that the unanimous consent of all Provinces should not be an essntial ingredient of the reformation, as some Provinces with restricted views might impair the accomplishment of the main ideal.

tendom and would go forward and carry out their obligations as worthy citizens in a manner not unworthy of the past, and in a manner worthy of the history which went back through the centuries, and by the combination of two great races which laid a foundation for a structure of which all would be proud.

Movement Is Upward

"I think there are not lacking some evidences that the movement now on, while it may not be rapid, will be gradually upward. I do not think it will be perceived at the moment, but gradually we will emerge." The depression should have taught the country many valuable lessons, the Premier felt. If it had not, then many Canadians had lost through living through it.

Touching on business in general Mr. Bennett said: "This Government does not believe it is a function of Government to transact the business you are doing. It is the profound conviction of this Government that its business is to help you to conduct your business with the greatest possible success that can be attained. To that end the policies of the Government will be formed, to that end our legislation prepared and enacted. If we fail, we fail, if we succeed, you will succeed with us."

He added he did not think the Canadian businessman wanted to be "bonussed, or sought special privileges over competitors or unfair competition. All the Canadian businessman wanted was an equal chance with others to transact his business; "and if he gets that I will back this country against any other country on earth."

Supreme Court Backs First Judge's Decision

OTTAWA, Ont., May 12 (C.P.).—Upholding the decision of a county judge, the Supreme Court of Canada to-day dismissed the appeal of Stephen and Lottie Kolodzi of Windsor, Ont., from a decision in their favor against the Detroit and Windsor Subway Company.

The company expropriated the Kolodzi property for the construction of the Windsor-Detroit tunnel and they were awarded $5,160 by the County Judge on an appeal from arbitration proceedings. From this they appealed to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario and then to the Supreme Court of Canada. Both courts refused to increase the award.

No Ministers To Visit Dominions This Year

LONDON, May 12 (C.P. Cable). — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was asked in the House of Commons this afternoon whether any visits by the ministers of his Government to the Dominions or Colonies, apart from those necessitated by the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, were contemplated this year.

As regards the Dominions, the answer was in the negative, the Prime Minister replied. But he was not yet in a position to return a definite reply with regard to the Colonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller returned to their home in Toronto on Sunday.

Many farmers took their cattle to Dummer ranches last week and all will likely be away by the end of this week.

Modern Maidens

Mildred and Gay were looking forward to their holidays in the mountains. Like the modern girls they were, they made all inquiries and arrangements by Long Distance. The small cost was more than outweighed by the satisfaction of immediate reply. And in no time all their plans were completed.

Consistency

TO BE wholly consistent in any "Trade-in-Canada" programme, Insurance — a very essential division of daily and industrial life — should not be neglected.

Are you—as a merchant, a leader, an industrialist, a citizen of Canada—definitely concerned with where your Insurance money is placed?

Every Canadian owes some reciprocity to the companies which have had their birth in this country and have helped, through their earliest investments of funds, to build up other Canadian institutions.

In this field of "all Canadian" Insurance, Canada's oldest and strongest Casualty Company advances a just claim for a share of your business.

Show your pride in Canada and its institutions by placing your Insurance dollars with an "all Canadian" Company.

NORWOOD

NORWOOD, May 12 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Mother's Day service in the United Church was very appropriately carried out on Sunday morning, the members of the Sunday School taking part. The choir loft was filled with the junior members while the senior members took part in a pageant entitled, "The Spirit of Motherhood."

In this there were four of the mothers of famous men represented dressed in costumes to correspond in those times. Miss Eleanor Johnson represented the Spirit of Motherhood and told the mother what each girl impersonated. Abraham Lincoln's mother was represented by Miss Helen Scott, while Kitty Kidd told the life story of this mother. Hazel Rodgers took the part of Charles Wesley's mother, while Margaret Brethen told the story. Lord Haldane's mother was represented by Joy Morrison and Mildred Puffer told this story, while the last mother represented was the colored mother of Booker T. Washington taken by Miss Lita Mason and this story was told by Kitty Edwards.

Alex Fairweather rendered a solo entitled "My Mother," while Robert Varley gave a blackboard talk on the flower of "Mother's Day" the carnation.

Cook With Gas

The lady of the house said:

I like to play bridge. I like to go to the movies and have a good time.

Frequently when I used to come home and dinner wasn't ready my husband would raise an awful row. A friend suggested I get an INSULATED GAS RANGE with the oven heat regulator. I did, and there hasn't been a meal late since.

I first put the meal in the oven, set this wonderful regulator at the proper temperature and then leave for my engagement. When I return the meal is all ready to put on the table—so deliciously done, too.

I'm giving you this tip just as somebody gave it to me. If you are smart you'll take it.

THE REVIVAL OF LACROSSE.

The announcement that Peterborough is to be put back on the lacrosse map again after an absence of some years, and that the Peterborough Lacrosse Club has been re-organized with every hope of success is gratifying to those who appreciate the red-blooded qualities of Canada's national game.

Lacrosse, almost killed by veiled professionalism and rough play, is too good a game to be laid low forever.

Like that other great Canadian game, hockey, lacrosse is typical of the Canadian spirit.

It is a game of speed, skill and endurance, a game that calls for individual cleverness as well as a recognition of the importance of team-play, a game that says that a man who plays it must be strong and fit and courageous.

In these days when the youth of our land are being lured into soften forms of recreation, it is refreshing to find that there is enough of the old spirit left to make it possible to field a lacrosse team, and that there are enough young men who are willing for the thrill of one of the most exciting games the world knows to face the hard knocks and the exertion that necessarily go with lacrosse.

It is to be hoped that the foundations of a permanent revival of the game are being laid at the present time in Peterborough.

LEGALIZED SWEEPSTAKES.

Fewer measures have aroused more general interest than the bill introduced into the Senate by Senator Lynch-Staunton which would legalize sweepstakes held for the purpose of financing hospitals.

That there will be strong opposition to the proposal goes without saying, for there are many people who will object to any widening of the laws in regard to gambling.

At the same time, however, there will be a large measure of support for Senator Lynch-Staunton's bill.

The majority of people are gamblers at heart, as is evidenced by the fact that despite the present laws against such things there are thousands of tickets in baseball pools, racing sweepstakes and similar lotteries being sold in all parts of Canada.

Everybody knows that to be a fact, for there is little attempt to cover up these illegal sales.

Few people regard the purchase of such tickets as a crime.

As the St. Catharines Standard puts it, "the state permits and protects gambling at the race tracks and takes its share in a substantial rake-off of every bet made. There is no outcry when marginal players of the stock market are cashing in and meeting all their obligations. The only outcry made against this form of gambling is when people lose. There is certainly no objection raised on moral grounds, and yet it is gambling, nevertheless, and far more dangerous than buying a dollar ticket in a sweepstakes, a percentage of which goes toward some hospital."

It will be interesting to follow the fate of this measure if it reaches the House of Commons.

BETTER MARKET FOR CATTLE.

One bright spot on the farmers' horizon at the present time is the fact that progress is being made by Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, in his campaign to find a greater market for Canadian cattle.

It is hoped by the Minister to recapture Canada's place in the British market so far as cattle are concerned, and figures just released at Ottawa indicate that he has already gone some distance in that direction.

Not a single head of Canadian cattle was shipped to Britain during the whole of 1929, nor during the first seven months last year.

Since August, however, shipments have begun again, with the result that up to the end of last month some 7,500 head of Canadian cattle have been shipped to the British Isles, with high hopes that during the next few months this total will be materially increased.

The announcement that the Co-operative Wholesale Society of Great Britain intend to purchase 500 head of Canadian cattle each week so long as standard quality is maintained is a most hopeful sign, and altogether there is some reason to expect that before long cattle from this country will be pouring into the British market in a volume equal to that of 1925 when 110,868 head were shipped from the Dominion.

DEPORTATIONS.

There is one feature in connection with deportations from Canada that is often lost sight of when the federal authorities are being assailed.

There is, of course, a ruthlessness about the way the law works out in some cases that suggests, as The Examiner pointed out the other day, that there is lack of common sense in the administration of the regulations.

This is particularly true as regards the movement of Canadian citizens into the United States and vice versa.

But in regard to the sending back to the country of their origin of recent arrivals from the British Isles and from Europe, it should not be forgotten that these deportations are almost invariably taken at the request of a Canadian municipality and very often at the desire of the immigrants themselves.

Under the present economic conditions the municipalities are finding the duty of taking care of people who are unable to support themselves a heavy one, and they are taking advantage of the law that provides for the deportation of new arrivals who have become public charges.

The Federal Department of Immigration does not act in such cases until a formal request has been made by a municipal council, something that should be remembered when there are complaints that too many people are being sent out of the country.

East Hamilton may have its by-election in July, which should ensure a hot contest.

WOMEN AS ELDERS.

The Oshawa Presbytery of the United Church of Canada has taken its stand in the controversy which is now raging as to whether or not women should be allowed to accept office as elders in the church. This question is agitating the church as a whole, and most Presbyteries are committing themselves either for or against the proposal. In the case of the Oshawa Presbytery, the vote was in favor of the appointment of women as elders, but the vote was far from unanimous, the count being 31 to 18.

It is interesting to note that in the course of the discussion on the question, there was general agreement as to the fitness of women to occupy these high lay posts in the United Church. That is only what one would expect. Churches would be in a rather perilous state to-day were it not for the self-sacrificing and whole-hearted efforts of the devoted women who interest themselves in church activities.

What then was the basis of objection? Simply this, that some doubted the wisdom of taking a step which they considered a departure from precedent. Now precedent is a fine thing—in a court of law, but in discussing a matter of common-sense, it is sometimes rather foolish. Thousands of precedents have been smashed in the last decade, without doing the world any harm. New conditions of living and working, advances in social and industrial condition, even in church ideas, have sent precedents by the board. The difficulty with the church is that it is too much bound to precedent, too prone to ignore the changed conditions of life, too unwilling to set new standards to meet the new conditions. Women have earned their right to the eldership by their centuries of unfailing service. Let them not be deprived of their right now simply because it has never been done before.—Oshawa Times.

BEATTY: HERO OF BOYS.

Evidently because he recognizes that the destiny of Canada depends principally upon the growing boy, E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has accepted the presidency of the Boy Scouts' Association of Canada. As head of one of the greatest corporations in the world, employing thousands of men, he has had ample opportunity at first hand to see the advantages of sound training in youth reflected in later years and the sad results that follow when proper direction and guidance in the elements of character have been denied to the boy.

As president of the Boy Scouts' Association of Canada, E. W. Beatty has become a hero to thousands of boys throughout the Dominion, and to be the hero of boys is rather a weighty responsibility. But Beatty will not disappoint the youth of Canada. As president of the Boy Scouts it is not his intention or purpose to be called hither and yon to attend jamborees or make speeches, but to offer himself as a ready source of advice and counsel for the benefit of the youth enrolled in the Scouts, now recognized as one of the most constructive organizations in existence for the development of boys both in mind and body.

Beatty's job as president of the Canadian Pacific Railway is no vest pocket trinket, but one that requires the qualities for great leadership. In the new great task he has cheerfully undertaken he has the opportunity to paint the country whatever color he wishes through the youth, for they are keen to respond to leadership, and, tremendously busy man though he is, he will do so in a shade that will reflect faith, hope and courage.

It is an encouraging factor that men like Beatty, whose leisure time is woefully limited, can be induced to find time to take on more work, but it is a truism that if there is a great job to be done, it is necessary to get a busy man to do it. Those who induced the president of the C.P.R. to accept the leadership of the Boy Scouts of Canada showed wisdom, and they may depend that he will not disappoint the boys whose mentor he has become.—Ottawa Journal.

THE SCIENCE OF BOYOLOGY.

Recently there were rounded up by the police of Kitchener a number of teen-age boys who were involved in charges covering wholesale thefts of bicycles. These youngsters did not steal bicycles just for the thrill of cycling. Police investigation revealed, it is said, that they had developed an organization for the dismantling and disguising of the stolen machines. Quite evidently they had been reading of the exploits of big city automobile thieves and the methods employed to frustrate the police. The energy of the youngsters involved and the ingenuity they displayed have been commented on by Mayor Bezeau, of Kitchener, who views with alarm the growth of juvenile delinquency and pleads for adults to interest themselves in the problem, either as individuals or as an organization.

A remarkable work is being done by the Big Brothers and kindred organizations in this field, and so gratifying are the results accruing that each year finds an increase in the number of adults interesting themselves in the science of boyology. Many of the universities have special courses of study for those desirous of engaging in the work of saving and reclaiming the youth of the land. The gang spirit is inherent in every healthy youngster. If the lads of a community are permitted to rove in packs without adult guidance, it should occasion no surprise that they drift into evil ways. Organized recreation is a solution. When competition is encouraged and sportsmanship in its highest sense is instilled, the youngsters participating get a bigger kick out of life by far than do those who hang around street corners, unsupervised. There will be general agreement with the assertion of Mayor Bezeau that, instead of being left to drift into harmful channels, the juvenile energy of the city should be taken stock of by community leaders and directed into ways that will bring about the fullest possible value in citizenship in the future.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Canada's conversion loan offers an opportunity for Canadians to attest to their faith in Canada.

It looks as if the farmers will have to hire a chartered accountant to figure out their census forms, which ask 264 questions.

Fatal accidents continue to throw a tragic cloud over the pleasures of week-end motoring. Consistent carefulness offers the only hope of safer conditions.

Sunday's storm was the kind of a week-end visitor that the people of Smith and Ennismore would prefer to do without.

Recent war fiction has been soundly attacked by a Toronto preacher, who declares that "the beastly war books of the last four or five years are an insult to both the living and the dead." And that sums up the opinion of the majority of readers.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"Wait and you shall see," replied Tanar, and drawing his dirk he stooped and turned Bulf over upon his back. Then with the razor-sharp blade of his weapon he commenced to hack off the bushy, black beard of the dead Korsar.

Spreading Bulf's head cloth flat upon the floor, Tanar deposited upon it the hair that he cut from the man's face, and when he had completed his gruesome tonsorial effort he folded the hair into the handkerchief and, rising, motioned for Stellara to follow him.

Going to the door that led into the tunnel through which he had escaped from the dungeon, Tanar opened it, and, smearing his fingers with the pitch that exuded from the boards upon the inside of the door, he smeared some of it upon the side of his face and then turned to Stellara.

"Put this hair upon my face in as natural a way as you can."
